167. The seeing and hearing of non-existent things from this group member refers to this erroneous glorification of your person, since the clear and rational thinking has been switched off and given way to an imagination, as unfortunately was the case much earlier, when his consciousness was confused by the performance of your fireworks at the time of your persecution.

I know that you have already informed me about this at an earlier time and explained that Peter never held the papal office. This statement of yours, however, has never been recorded in writing, which is why I am now once again officially asking you for the answer.

Ptaah:

104. It has its correctness with what you said.

105. Peter never held the office of pope.

Billy:

And what is it about the Vatican's claim that Peter's skeletal remains were found in the Vatican or something?

Ptaah:

106. This assertion corresponds to a deliberately created lie, because the mortal remains of Peter were then cremated by delusional Christian enemies because they were of the belief that he could return.

107. The matter with the found skeletal remains can be clarified by the fact that they belonged to a man who was a church servant during his lifetime, who had to maintain the church buildings and ensure order.

This event triggers the 'seven biblical plagues' (Moses time/Moses), whereby the waters of the Nile also turn red through the blood of the countless life-forms killed and their torn and battered bodies. The flood that rolls back again pushes back across the Mediterranean and forward to the northeast, where it then floods Syria and causes tremendous terror and devastation.

Billy:

... My time travels with Asket have taught me the correctness of the dates and information you have given, but I have recently read in various writings that the time of Moses and the Santorini eruption are calculated in completely different time periods, these calculations and assertions run from the 1500 B.C. empires back to the 5th millennium B.C. Why is that?

Quetzal:

547. It is because of the time falsifications of the chroniclers, whereby the Jewish chroniclers and other chroniclers influenced by them committed the worst evils in this respect, whereby time falsifications in the transmission of data up to several thousand years became apparent.

548. The Santorini erupted and exploded due to the powerful influence of the Destroyer exactly 3453 years ago, calculated back from 2000, whereby Moses lived at the same time and prepared the Exodus for the Hebrew-Jewish people in Egypt at that time.

549. These dates are correct, as you could see for yourself from your travels with Asket into the past.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_182

Billy:

The Plejaren explain that the earthly devices and apparatus for age determination and also the purely chemical age determination processes are very sophisticated and to a large extent exact, so that good and sometimes even approximately exact age determination results can be produced by the scientists, but that in age determination processes with certain materials, and which exceed an age of 1,438 years B.C., erroneous results occur, which can result in an error difference of up to 1,942 years. And this takes the form, it is explained by the Plejaren, of a material older than 1,438 years B.C. having suffered atomic degradation, whereby 1,942 years are simply missing from the decaying process. This, it is explained, affects the accurate measurement of the half-life decay of certain materials by up to 1,942 years, which means that anything measured and analysed with an age of 1,450 years B.C., for example, can actually be up to 1,942 years older, in this case 3,392 years B.C., because 1,450 B.C. and 1,942 add up to 3,392 B.C. The Plejaren further say that this blatant change in certain materials of the Earth came about because the human beings of the Earth, through their madness, caused atomic and chemical processes in all spheres (e.g. geosphere, atmosphere, chromosphere, stratosphere, etc.) which produced certain radiations, which influenced and changed certain materials on the Earth in such a wise that disturbances occurred in the atomic and molecular balance and caused changes in various materials of greater age than 1,438 years B.C. As it is explained, whole half-value structures are said to have been erased, so that an exact analysis is only possible if the missing time of the half-value structures of 1,942 is added to or subtracted from the obtained result, if the obtained age determination is over 1,438 years B.C. This also explains the difference between the Plejaren's and the Earth scientists' statements, e.g. in the case of the Santorini catastrophe and the time of Moses, which is given by the Earth scientists as approx. 1,500 B.C, while the Plejaren state the time of 1,453 B.C. The Plejaren's data for the time of Moses and the Santorini catastrophe up to the year 1,511 B.C. result in a difference of 1,942 years, thus the difference to the assumptions of the earthly scientists, who assume the events around Santorini and Moses to have taken place approximately in the time of 1,500 B.C. An assumption that is understandable when one considers that they do not include the missing 1,942 years of transformation and change of certain earthly matter in their calculations because they lack the necessary knowledge of this fact.

Quetzal:

145. Two factors were to blame for the fall of the Minoan culture, namely on the one hand, the disorder of the Minoan society, which was very divided in some respects and which created evil hatred in the various social structures, even due to the disagreement that the Minoan empire threatened to fall apart.

146. The cultural structures split apart, and soon, the whole thing threatened to degenerate into a war of the entire citizenry and, thus, of all levels of society.

147. But before this could happen, a tremendous natural disaster occurred, namely as the Santorini Volcano erupted and burst forth lava, gas, steam, and ash, whereby the ashes alone exhibited the large amount of 73.6 cubic kilometres.

148. Also vast sulfur fumes belonged to this, whereby the whole atmosphere was so polluted and shrouded in a veil that the Sun was darkened, and climate changes emerged from this, which lasted for several years.

149. Low temperatures arose from the veil of smoke and dust in the atmosphere, which caused many years of harvest failures.

150. The bad and poor harvests led to the great famine during the following period.

151. In addition, the Santorini volcano did the rest, for as a result of its powerful eruption and the subsequent explosion – which triggered gigantic tsunamis that devastated the large areas of the Minoan island when the waters raged across the island – many buildings and lands were destroyed, while very many people lost their lives.

152. The largest tsunami, however, the huge tidal wave caused by the explosion of the volcano, rolled far across the sea to Egypt, being red with the blood of countless slaughtered aquatic animals, whereby the river Nile then coloured itself red, and many people in Egypt died.

153. But the tsunami found no end in Egypt and rolled back into the sea, where it united with another tsunami, which was generated by the explosion of the Santorini volcano, and rolled eastward, where the country was destroyed once again and people were killed, when the wild waters penetrated into the country.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_225

Quetzal:

103. Tsunami is the right designation, as these wild waters are called among you.

104. They reach speeds that sometimes exceed 1,000 kilometers per hour, such as that gigantic tidal wave that emerged when the Santorini volcano in the Mediterranean Sea erupted and exploded, whereby the waters advanced far inland into Egypt and caused much life to die and the Nile to turn red from all the blood.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_361

Billy:

Regarding the eruption of the Santorini volcano, Ptaah dictates the following:

Greetings Christian Frehner and understand well what I have to explain: You write the following to our friend Eduard: 'Ellenberger points out another point which in his opinion should not be true, namely the eruption of the Santorini volcano. According to Quetzal, page 288, this happened in 1453 B.C. Ellenberger thinks that more recent research of the last 20 years has shown that this event happened around 1700 B.C.'. It should be explained that our very accurate records correspond to the fact that the great and Santorini destroying eruption of the volcano did not take place around 1700 BC, but undoubtedly in 1453 BC. My great-grandfather Hilak witnessed the event and made accurate records of the catastrophe. According to the annals, the Santorini volcano has often erupted and was endangered by natural gas and seawater eruptions from time immemorial, which actually caused it to explode when water and natural gases burst into the magma, forming an explosive mixture that led to the catastrophe. So it is not correct that the destruction of the island by the Santorini volcano took place in 1700 BC, but actually in 1453 BC. Other statements are therefore just as wrong as insufficient research results of a geological or other kind. But it is also a fact that the frequent eruptions of the Santorini volcano over hundreds and thousands of years have created deposits that bear witness to the eruptions of the volcano. The volcano has had several major eruptions in the last 2,400 years B.C., of which there were three between 1500 and 1760 B.C. alone, along with several smaller ones that were not too significant. In total, the entire ground and subsoil has changed so much that no exact reference points can be found for all small and large eruptions. In particular, the huge explosion of the Santorini volcano in 1,453 years B.C. threw the actual eruption material far out to sea, leaving hardly any traces on the remains of the once beautiful island and its surroundings, although older ones are easy to find. Thus everything is evident from the records of my great-grandfather.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_401

Billy:

It has now become apparent that in recent years, research has been carried out into the plagues in Egypt during the time of Moses, and it has actually come to the attention of researchers that these proven plagues were caused by the eruption and destruction of the volcano Santorini. However, they date the events of that time to a completely wrong time, namely about 200 years before the time that Semjase and Quetzal called. Scientists have found out that the enormous ash cloud of the exploded volcano reached Egypt, causing a so-called Fisteria or Phisteria epidemic to break out. Although this is not mentioned in the report of the conversation regarding the ash cloud and therefore not in the quoted, Semjase once mentioned it in a private conversation, as did Quetzal. All aquatic animals and many land animals died, and the water of the Nile turned red because of the blood of the fish, animals and humans, who were affected by rashes all over their bodies. Then there was a huge tsunami, caused by the volcanic explosion, which was about 200 metres high, 180 metres to be precise, and which rolled deep into the land, killing a great deal of life once again and also contributing to the epidemics. ...

...

Ptaah:

69. The earthly scientists are very wrong if they date the whole thing to another time.
70. Going back to the year 2000 A.D., it is 3,453 years since the events took place.
71. So, counting from today, the catastrophe happened 3,458 years ago.
72. There is nothing to be done about it even if the earthly scientists give different dates.
73. But if they do, then this may be due to the fact that for the first centuries backwards, false results are obtained due to changes in the materials to be tested, which results in false time results.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_492

Billy:

... But speaking of the Santorini disaster: Scientists claim to have found evidence that the Santorini volcano exploded around 1603 B.C. New evidence is supposed to prove this by means of a carbon analysis, which was made of two pieces of trees from that time. It is also claimed that the tidal wave caused by the volcano explosion was only 30 metres high.

Ptaah:

14. These are nonsensical claims that are not compatible with reality.
15. In fact, the explosive destruction of the volcano Santorini took place in 1453 B.C.
16. And I am aware of the matter regarding the tree fragments found and the carbon analysis, but the tree fragments found are those that can be traced back to a severe eruption of the volcano Santorini about 150 years before the great catastrophe.
17. Due to the gigantic ejections of the volcano, the trees from which the fragments originated were completely enclosed by falling volcanic material at the time and thus preserved, so to speak.
18. Santorini was a very active volcano with many small and also with large eruptions, whereby several times also smaller and larger tidal waves were caused.
19. Between 1500 and 1760 B.C. alone, we recorded three major eruptions.
20. When the volcano exploded in 1453 B.C., my great-great-grandfather Hilak witnessed and recorded everything, but the waters were piled up to a huge surge about 2,000 metres high, which, however, collapsed again and then moved at high speed as a 180 metre high tidal wave over the sea.
21. This tidal wave then also reached Egypt and flooded everything up to very far into the country, whereby with the enormous tide also much pumice stone and various other things were washed into Egypt.
22. In the process, countless living creatures of many different kinds were crushed and killed, also many human beings, whereby the Nile turned red.
23. This was also due to the enormous masses of red algae that grew on the bottom of the Nile and were torn open by the raging waters of the tidal wave. Together with the blood of the countless shattered creatures, they contributed to the red coloration of the Nile.
24. The killed creatures and the brackish waters led to swarms of billions of insects and all kinds of parasites, which caused epidemics.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_507

Ptaah:

14. Quetzal explained to you what really happened, because a lot of human beings, animals and creatures were killed.
15. According to our records, there must have been a total of millions who were shattered by the force of the tsunami and whose blood stained the water red.
16. But it can be said, as our annals show, that in addition to the blood coloured water, there was another factor that made the water of the Nile appear red, because blood algae grew at the bottom of the river, which shimmered through the water to such an extent that the Nile appeared blood red.

17. But what you think about a blood veil, that was probably the opinion of Quetzal.

18. So it was two factors that interacted, because the blood of the shattered life-forms alone would never have been enough to turn the Nile such a red colour that it was so visibly red.

19. So when Quetzal spoke of the Nile turning red through the blood of the killed life-forms, he was not thinking of a total red colouring, but only of a veiled red colouring of the water.

Billy:

By this I mean, for example, if I take a glass of water and pour one or two drops of red liquid into it, which creates a faint red colouring. It is really not to be assumed that the Nile's water was thoroughly saturated with blood when it turned red, but only that it was veiled in red by all the blood.

Ptaah:

20. This comparison corresponds to the situation at that time, so it must be assumed and also understood as such.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_534

Billy:

Yes, I recently saw another TV programme about Santorini and the Aegean Sea, what happened there in earlier times. And as I know, the Aegean is one of the most dangerous areas on Earth in terms of volcanic activity under the sea, along with the Yellowstone Caldera, the Eifel region, Iceland and Hawaii, etc. The Aegean region also includes Santorini, where the Santorini volcano blew up some 3,500 years ago, and it is precisely for this reason that I would like to ask whether there is a danger in the future that the activity of the Santorini volcano, which is still deep underground, will once again become outwardly active? The same question also applies to Vesuvius.

Ptaah:

9. This is undoubtedly the case for both, although in extreme cases the consequences will be monstrous.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_551

Billy:

Then there is the question I wanted to raise: In the course of time Semjase, Quetzal, you and I have spoken several times about Santorini, where about 1,453 years ago before Jmmanuel the volcano blew up respectively exploded and which then also caused the great plagues in Egypt. On the one hand, it was explained that the Nile was discoloured by the blood of countless animals, as well as by red algae, but then there was also the fact that so-called 'dead water' was mixed with it, which became red due to lack of oxygen. Where did this red water come from?

Ptaah:

82. We call the 'Dead Water' this way because it no longer contains any life in it due to an absolute lack of oxygen.

83. It can occur in great depths of the sea or in enormously large lakes, when the water streams no longer circulate the water to the bottom and no longer supply it with oxygen.

84. The red colouring of the Nile is due to the enormous amount of animal, creatures and human blood as well as red algae, but also to 'dead water', which was washed out of the depths of the Mediterranean by the gigantic tidal wave after the explosion of the Minoan volcano Thera – as it was called in former times, or Santorini today – into the Nile and into the interior of Egypt.

85. The 'dead water' was washed out of a very deep and extensive volcanic trough by the eruption under the foot of the Santorini in the Mediterranean Sea, carried away by the gigantic tidal wave and driven into Egypt.

86. The volcanic depression under the volcanic foot was formed in 1603 before Jmmanuel's time (B.C.), when the Thera volcano, also in a tremendous eruption, caused a far-reaching catastrophe, which also affected Egypt and Syria, but not to the same extent as in 1,453 years before Jmmanuel.

87. Another major eruption of the same volcano also occurred 1,554 years ago, of course also before Jmmanuel's time.

88. But all three eruptions are very significant.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_665

Billy:

... It is clear that the Greek volcano Santorin, formerly called Thera, was the real reason for everything, but other questions remain unanswered. So it would be interesting to know what caused the three-day eclipse, for example.

Ptaah:

31. In addition I can tell you from our records that the volcano Thera erupted twice in a short time in enormous manner, whereby with the second eruption during hours a gigantic black ash cloud was hurled up, which spread over the whole southern Mediterranean Sea and afterwards also over Egypt and covered during three days the whole Nilland into the so-called 'Egyptian darkness', as this darkness of several days is called since ancient times.

32. After this ash eruption, the Thera volcano collapsed, forming the Santorini ring crater that still exists today.

Billy:

Aha, then the question, what caused the bodily ulcers in the Egyptian population?

Ptaah:

33. This happened by sulphur rain, which rained over Egypt as a result of the Thera eruption.

34. This sulphur rain was so corrosive that it burned itself on the skin of humans and animals of all genera and species, causing ulcers and swelling and open and inflamed wounds.

Saturn

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Saturn>

Billy:

That is clear to me, but while we are already on the subject of the stars, I still have another question regarding Saturn. As is well known to you, the American space probe Voyager travels past Saturn and sends images back to Earth. This will make the scientists' eyes wide open once again, as they did with Jupiter, because they will inevitably have to realise once more from the recordings that around this immature dwarf sun more satellites also orbit, than was previously assumed. As far as I know, it has been claimed up to now that Saturn has only 10 or 12 moons, although in reality it has 29, if I leave out the Adons. Now I would be interested to know if these moons are all discovered by image transmissions from probes, etc.?

Quetzal:

158. This will be so – and more.

159. As you already could ascertain for yourself on your great journey {see Contact Report 31}, at the place and location, there are 29 moons orbiting Saturn, which are actually to be regarded as such.

160. These should be discovered, in their entire number, by probes and telescopes in about 25 years.

161. In reality, however, there are not so many moons that can still be discovered up to this number, because since your journey to Saturn, earthly scientists have discovered several more moons, which apparently escaped you in the course of the last few years.

162. After the discovery of the moons around Jupiter, scientists now reckon that they will also still find some undiscovered satellites around Saturn, but nevertheless, there will still be a surprise for them.

Billy:

You think because of the Adonis some of which orbit millions of kilometres outside Saturn?

Quetzal:

163. That is of correctness.

164. These small planets, called Adonis, as you correctly say, are so small that they cannot be detected and seen from Earth, at least not at present, because the necessary instruments do not yet exist.

165. A large part of these small planets will certainly be detected by various probes and Earth-orbiting telescopes, which will cause some confusion among scientists.

Billy:

I can imagine that, because there is quite a large number of them orbiting Saturn – besides the few small wandering Adonis that only pass by this SOL satellite from time to time. But I can understand why they are not visible from the Earth, because on average they only have a diameter of between 10 and 50 kilometres, if I remember correctly what Ptaah and Semjase explained to me back then in the year 1975. In addition, there are supposed to be some smaller ones as well as larger ones at a huge distance from Saturn.

Quetzal:

166. That is of correctness, but you should also know where these Adonis came to Saturn from.

Billy:

Of course. Semjase said at the time that these small satellites were in part larger fragments of the planet Malona, which had its orbit between Mars and Jupiter before it was destroyed and torn into thousands of pieces by an explosion unreasonably produced by the human beings there. While the greatest part of the destroyed planet orbited the Sun as an asteroid belt between Mars and Jupiter, some small groups of Adonis separated and flew out into space by the expansion forces of the planetary explosion, a larger group of which then came into the gravitational pull of Saturn, which has since held them as tiny satellites, which at the same time means that they are not actual moons of the unfinished solar planet, but just immigrant foreign bodies the size of Adonis, while the number of Saturn's actual moons is only 29.

Quetzal:

167. That is of correctness ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Asket%27s_Explanations_%E2%80%93_Part_1

Asket {3rd February 1953}:

130. But the time will pass very quickly for you because, at that point in time in which you will emerge {1975}, further dangerous things, which spring from the power-greedy forces, will already take their course.

131. At that time, and also even later, it will be America, Russia and China, that very strongly push for enslaving world domination, so it will not be at a later point in time the Jewish Zionists, as many people presume, who sharpen their blood sword through mass-murdering acts of violence and with the help of the Christian religion, to subjugate the Earth, rather smaller powers and various malignant sects, whereby one such really malignant one leads back to a certain Ron Hubbard.

132. In this regard they are already preparing the first decisive strikes in order to expand their power and to create dangerous country-controlling positions.

133. The Earth human should protect himself from providing any help to such power-greedy sects and rulers, because they cause the smallest help to become a deadly weapon against the helper, in order, therewith, to come closer, step by step, to the fulfilment of their addiction to world domination.

134. Sectarianism is just as much aligned only with greed for money and power as certain holders-of-power are aligned with enslaving world-domination.

135. Sectarianism likewise serves, for its believers and followers, only as a means to an end, as is peculiar to every actual religion, every ideology, as well as every secret society which demands world domination, and every political ruler.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_250

Billy:

... But what do you think of the Scientology sect?

Ptaah:

117. It is an illusory false religion that strives for a financial-political world power and even wants to become world-dominating, whereby any mumbling means of a material kind is just as right for it as any psycho-destroying act against people who succumb to the sect.

118. Brainwashing is a common process, as are death threats and assassinations of members who have jumped out or of persons who are hostile or simply disapproving of the sect.

119. Any malicious means is just good enough for the sect to achieve its bold and exploitative and psycho-slave goals.

120. Thus they also carry out questionable machinations regarding drug programs in order to bring even drug addicts into their power.

121. Thus these undertakings are also only means to an end, whereby unstable, illogical thinkers and people incapable of living are led astray, deceived, exploited and thus misled and turned into scientific handlers, whose power of judgement and ability to recognize truth is not only suppressed, but is also underdeveloped.

Billy:

This already brings us to L. Ron Hubbard and Scientology: What about the Scientology guidelines that exist today; were these actually created after his death by his cult heirs, as is repeatedly claimed, or were they fundamentally produced in their entirety by himself?

Ptaah:

151. First of all it must be said that this sect is one of the worst on earth, because it indulges and exists in an inhuman ethic.

Billy:

Well, we already dealt with this organization years ago and got the book from Mrs. Hartwig until we were told that it had now been incorporated by the Scientologists and was now talking and working at their mill. However, we could not find out whether this is really true. But now that we have seen the film 'The informers of Scientology' {[Die Spitzel von Scientology: Der Sektengeheimdienst OSA \[Scientology's Spies: The Cult Secret Service OSA\]](#)}, the whole thing topples us off again and shows us how this psychosect has evolved maliciously in the meantime, which has nothing else in mind but the establishment of a totalitarian world social order, which is also designed to exploit people both financially and in terms of labour. And when people who belong to the sect do not trace according to Scientology laws, then they are badly punished, not only physically but also psychologically. There are also testimonies of people who were cult members and turned away and liberated themselves from Scientology, but many of them have been harassed and psychologically harassed by Scientology spies for years, sometimes all their lives. And as the film shows, bribery, fraud, threats, blackmail, forgery and coercion are part of the everyday life of the psycho-sect, as well as the torture of delinquent cult members, which can probably be described as torture, in which the OSA or sect secret service also plays a major role. All this in addition to the fact that the cult infiltrates the authorities and organizations etc. and has established itself in the USA in their highest government as well as in the individual states in their authorities and their governments. The hammer was already in early sectarian time that Hillary Clinton, the wife of Present Clinton, was worried that Scientology would not have to pay taxes, while Clinton himself wrote and published articles for the Scientology newspapers, suggesting something about Clinton membership of the Scientology psycho sect.

Ptaah:

22. Since I have been involved with the machinations of this criminal organization since its inception, I can only confirm what you say.

23. The whole of the Scientology sect's endeavor, however, is not based solely on the establishment of a totalitarian world social order, but on the fact that a secret striving for effective world domination is prescribed, which is to encompass absolute control over all governments and authorities as well as armies, secret services and the entire economy.

24. And in order to achieve this, this sect regards no means as too small, too difficult or severe, consequently even the worst capital crimes have to be considered.

Billy:

I am aware of that, but as long as the governments and authorities and the economic bosses and so on reach out to this cult and allow it to go ahead or even belong to this criminal organisation themselves, nothing will improve and everything will only get worse. If all these responsible persons were to turn to the spiritual doctrine and learn the real, what life and evolution demand, then neither religions, sects, false philosophies, false world views and especially such criminal psycho-sects as Scientology would no longer exist. ...

According to our calculations, all of this effort costs a great deal of money for all security costs, whereby we estimate the costs incurred for all activities at around 12 to 14 million Swiss francs by Swiss standards. The super-rich – some of whom have hundreds of billions in assets and manage many trillions in super-corporations – and their meetings in Davos are secret, which is why they are not publicised to the people of Switzerland or to the world at large. The top-secret meeting of the really small group of the super-rich takes place in a back room of the congress centre, where they hold their secret meetings. William Shakespeare authorship https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Shakespeare_authorship_question

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_298

Billy:

Well, and if we are already with England or the English, then I would like to ask you about the English playwright and poet William Shakespeare or about his private life, of which not much is known. Semjase once told me a lot about it, in terms of his faith and one of his secret activities, which was in no way praiseworthy – in connection with the Vatican.

Ptaah:

22. Shakespeare was not born on 23.4.1564 on the one hand, as is generally assumed today among Earth-humans, but on 19.4.1564, after which he was baptized on 26.4.1564 and died on 23.4.1616.

23. At his time, pure Catholicism was forbidden in England, which is why William Shakespeare officially confessed to Protestantism, which, however, was tantamount to a fraud, because in truth he was very strict and almost fanatically addicted to Catholicism and thus a strict and fundamentalist believer of this religion.

24. However, he knew how to hide this so well that only his wife Anne, née Hathaway, who was eight years older and married to him in 1582, knew about it.

25. The wife had fallen for him, which is why she remained silent in spite of many marital quarrels and in spite of his jealousy, even when she learned through dream conversations on his part that he was treacherous and spying for the Holy See in Rome with regard to the Anglican Church – Church of England, State Church.

Billy:

Do you know anything about William Shakespeare?

Ptaah:

37. Of course.

Billy:

Then you also know that even today his real date of birth is not known, so it is still a mystery. Can you help there, because I was asked about it?

Ptaah:

38. That is possible for me.

39. According to the old calendar calculation he was born on the 21st of April 1564 and was baptised somewhat unusually late, on the 26th of April 1564.

40. He then died on 23rd of April 1616.

Billy:

By the 'old calendar calculation' you probably mean the one that was used before the Gregorian calendar, or? The Gregorian calendar was introduced in England in 1752.

Ptaah:

41. What you say is correct.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_530

Billy:

... Then again, a question about Shakespeare: It has long been said that he did not write all his works himself, but had a ghost writer. Is there any truth to this?

Ptaah:

40. Indeed, yes, because certain works were written for Shakespeare by the 17th Earl of Oxford, a poet and playwright called Edward of Vere, and a certain Christopher Marlowe.

Billy:

And that is all?

Ptaah:

41. Yes, because no further explanation is needed.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_532

Billy:

Good, it says 'Marlowe'. And then the question of how this man is in relation to what you said on the 19th of November about this man who, like Edward of Vere, also wrote for Shakespeare. How much did Shakespeare himself write, and why did the other two even write works for him? It also raises the question of who wrote 'Hamlet' and who wrote 'Romeo and Juliet'; were they really written by Shakespeare himself?

Ptaah:

4. 'Hamlet' and 'Romeo and Juliet' were not written by William Shakespeare but by Christopher Marlowe, as were various other works, although the 17th Earl of Oxford, Edward of Vere, also wrote various works for Shakespeare, who himself was not so good at writing in the manner attributed to him that he could have written the works attributed to him today.

5. From his own writing came only very trivial and insignificant things, which he also did not bring to the public, and so all the 38 known dramas, comedies, poems and histories attributed to him came from the pen of Edward of Vere and Christopher Marlowe.

6. Both used Shakespeare during 1589 to 1613 only as a makeshift to publish their works.

7. Edward of Vere was not so good, but Christopher Marlowe was a very good poet and playwright.

8. Both of them, however, had profound reasons to use Shakespeare as a makeshift, especially Marlowe.

Billy:

I am sorry, by makeshift you mean straw man, that Shakespeare gave his name to the works written by Edward of Vere and Christopher Marlowe, so he used them all under his own name and also took credit and honor for them. But what I do not understand is that they were both 'ghost writers' for Shakespeare.

Ptaah:

9. Edward of Vere was, as I said, not a particularly good poet and playwright, so he used Shakespeare for some of his works, so that he would not have to appear himself, because he feared bad criticism.

10. Christopher Marlowe, on the other hand, had to flee because he put his life in danger with regard to his faith.

11. So, in the spring of 1593, he arranged a well-considered brawl with friends in which he was allegedly stabbed to death, which allowed him to escape unrecognized.

12. The truth is that he fled and went to Italy, where he could live under a different name and without the danger of persecution.

13. It was there that he wrote most of the works he had sent to Shakespeare until 1613, who then used them under his name.

14. However, he was not allowed to do so under his own name, nor was he allowed to do so under his false name, because otherwise he would have been recognised, persecuted and handed over to the courts.

15. Christopher Marlowe himself died at the age of fifty on 28 May 1614, so that Shakespeare naturally did not receive any more works from him during the last two years of his life and nothing else became known under his name.

...

Billy:

An unparalleled murder and intrigue racket. Who and what is this murderer actually?

Quetzal:

411. He is the product of a marital disgrace and, moreover, a brother-in-arms of the criminal SHARON, who, in the most important army position, puts Begin's orders into practise.

412. Sharon is the real army leader, and this man standing as Begin's fighting brother, is in no wise inferior to Begin himself.

413. The fact of the reason of Begin's and Sharon's fighting brotherhood is, however, unknown everywhere else except to their parents, for only the parents of these two criminal and murderous elements know the secret of the ... relations of the two with each other as well as their tendencies, which they often also do together, which is, however, publicly unknown.

414. But enough of this, for these concerns are not of much importance, for what the future brings is more significant.

415. At the end of October or the beginning of November 1982, Begin and Sharon will be recognised as the perpetrators of the Beirut massacres, but unfortunately they will hardly be held accountable, even if many righteous Israelis intervene against the two criminals, thus, everything remains the same for the time being.

Shroud of Turin / Veil of Veronica

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Veil_of_Veronica

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_264

Billy:

The shroud of Turin - I am asked again and again about its origin and whether it is real, whether actually Jmmanuel is depicted on it. You have explained to me that the shroud is probably a real burial shroud and a deceased person is depicted on it, but that it is not of Jmmanuel.

Ptaah:

79. This corresponds to the facts.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_415

Billy:

Okay, then still the question about the shroud, the so-called Shroud of Turin, which is claimed to be a shroud that carries the image of Jmmanuel alias Jesus. However, about this you once told me that it would be an image of an Italian merchant.

Ptaah:

9. That is correct, because the shroud does not show the image of Jmmanuel, but that of a merchant from Turin/Italy, called Caesar Canova.

10. The shroud was made by the brother of the deceased, Luciano Canova, an alchemist.

11. The process took place on 7 June 1324 and lasted until 10 June, ie 4 days.

12. During this, the procedure was not such that the shroud was placed on the deceased and the latter was rubbed with chemicals, as is often claimed, but it was a very early form of photography, whereby the corpse was placed vertically in front of a large glass lens, through which the image was then projected for four days through an effect of sunlight onto a large fabric surface soaked in chemicals in a dark room, after which the shroud was then treated with silver nitrate and the image became in that way visible and retained.

Billy:

... But look here, a certain Paul Badde wrote a book called 'The Divine Face' and subtitled 'The Adventurous Search for the True Face of Jesus'. "... sensational discovery ... image of Jesus on shell silk ... original relic of Christianity found again ... Pope travels to Manopello ... 'A Vatican crime novel'". The 'Welt' editor Paul Badde is certain to have solved the mystery of the 'veil of Veronica', which has been missing for 400 years. Badde: "We now know what Jesus looked like!" In his book, the Rome correspondent of 'Die Welt' describes how the mysterious shell-silk veil was tracked down, and what a complex puzzle he had to put together, in an extremely exciting way. In his analysis of the possible meaning of the recovered shell-silk cloth, Paul Badde meticulously strings together circumstantial evidence: The cloth shows the face of Jesus! How the image of the Saviour on the relic was created, however, remains a mystery ... The book comprises 318 pages, 16 colour illustrations and is bound in 14x22 cm format. Cardinal Joachim Meisner of Cologne is said to have looked at the cloth in Manopello and said: "Do not doubt that it is genuine." Benedict XVI has informed himself extensively about the discovery of Paul Badde. The Pope is even considering visiting the mussel silk scarf in Manopello – and worshipping it as a great relic of Christianity. Do you have any idea what is behind all this? For my part, I myself have never heard of this shell-silk cloth.

Ptaah:

47. I do have some knowledge of it, yes, and it is explained very briefly:

48. As with the Shroud of Turin, this assertion that the image of Jmmanuel is supposed to be on the silk shroud is also an absolute nonsense.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_437

Billy:

Many people with a Christian touch try to prove by all possible and impossible means that the Shroud of Turin as well as the Tunic of Argenteuil and the so-called Blood Cloth of Christ would actually trace back to Jmmanuel, whereby also blood traces on the shrouds are supposed to prove this, etc. Can you perhaps say anything more about this?

Ptaah:

58. All these machinations are very well known to me, and they are machinations that have been falsified in the name of the Christianity.

59. Therefore, counterfeiters who had come into possession of the shrouds sold them as Jmmanuel relics to the believing Christians.

60. During the whole deception, a Jew was involved whose name we could not determine, but who inflicted a wound on himself in order to fabricate the forgery and caught the blood that was used to prepare the relics.

61. On this basis the false claim is now built up that the relics were indeed those that would belong to Jmmanuel and that the blood was that of Jmmanuel, which, however, does not correspond to the facts.

Billy:

That way thus. And do you know what blood group Jmmanuel had?

Ptaah:

62. Indeed, we know that:

63. It was blood group 0 negative.

Billy:

And the cloth of the Shroud, for example, do you know who had woven it?

Ptaah:

64. No, this is unknown to me.

65. Our very difficult investigations only revealed that the merchant Caesar Canova, depicted on the cloth in his death, had acquired this as an old piece in Syria to serve as a robe.

66. And because he cherished the old robe, he wore it on his commercial journeys to various countries, such as Israel, where he also traded at the Dead Sea and travelled through the Palestinian mountains.

67. But he also wore the robe in Turkey and when he was pursuing his trade in France and Italy etc.

68. When Canova then died, his brother paid his last respects by using the robe for the merchant's image.

Billy:

Then, I estimate, it is possible that soil, plant leaves, and plant pollen from all these places were able to deposit in the robe during his travels. Am I right with this assumption? If so, then that should be detectable.

Ptaah:

69. You are not mistaken, because that was actually the case.

70. And all these things can still be found today in the relics, therefore these are used for Christian-directed false analyses and false Christian-belief-based claims.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_557

Billy:

... I was asked what wound the man had inflicted on himself in order to use it to smear the cloth that is now known as the Shroud of Turin? Are you able to say anything more specific about it?

Ptaah:

6. That is indeed the case, yes.

7. The man was a Jew responsible for the traces of blood on the shroud, which had been created by a man named Luciano Canova, an alchemist, in 1324.

8. However, this man already died a little more than a year later, hence his entire legacy was sold, whereby the shroud then fell into the hands of the man who put the blood traces on the shroud.

9. The man was of Jewish origin and a fraud, counterfeiter, liar and swindler. 10. Since our last conversation on this matter, held by two of us in 2008, I have also been able to fathom its real name and further details.

11. He was a man of about 180 centimetres in size, just about as tall as the deceased merchant Caesar Canova, who was depicted on the cloth in his death.

12. He was called Jizchaq bin Nun, and he was a man who – as explained – spent his life with swindles, lies, counterfeiting and fraud, whereby nothing was of sufficient dignity and value for him not to eke out his criminal life through cheating, falsification, lying and swindle.

13. When it came to passing off the cloth as a shroud with regard to its name as that of Jesus of Nazareth, it was not too much for him to let an accomplice inflict the so-called Christ marks on all the right areas under the pain-killing influence of a drug, after which then immediately the shroud was laid very exactly on him, whereby the blood impressions resulted exactly at the precisely determined locations on the cloth, which was then in the year 1352 sold for a high price to the French King Jean II le Bon.

14. These are the facts that I was still able to fathom in relation to the facts of the falsification of blood.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_641

Billy:

... Yesterday on television I saw a program about the so-called 'Veronika welding cloth', which we already talked about in the 418th contact conversation on the 6th of May 2006 ('Plejadisich-Plejarische Kontaktberichte', Volume 10, page 413), about which you said that the whole thing was nonsense. The aforementioned alleged sweat cloth, which is supposed to contain the image of Jmmanuel alias Jesus, exists in several copies and of course as alleged original also in the Vatican, but also as original in the church of Manoppello, where it is known as 'Volto Santo' of Manoppello. It is an icon on a wafer-thin cloth of mussel silk that is revered as a relic in the small Italian town of Manoppello in Abruzzo. The cloth became famous because of the mysteriousness of its origin, its material and the face on it. The wafer-thin cloth consists of byssos or mussel silk, which is also called sea silk. ...

This, then, with regard to the mussel silk and the veronica image, which, as you have said, is absurd, precisely with regard to the assertion that the image represents the face of Jmmanuel and Jesus respectively. Whose face is depicted on this picture of mussel silk? That is one question, the second of which refers to what you once privately mentioned, that the name 'Veronica' was invented in relation to the woman who is said to have touched Jmmanuel's face with the sweatscarf.

Ptaah:

10. You seem to have misunderstood me or forgotten what I really said, because I did not say that the name Veronica was invented, but the person Veronica, because this woman never existed.

11. We've clearly clarified that.

12. So in principle we must say that there was neither this invented Veronica nor any other woman who gave Jmmanuel one of the several so-called sweat cloths or touched his face with one of them.

13. Even when he was unconscious in the tomb, no such cloth was laid on his face.

14. The origin of the picture, which is supposed to be traced back to a woman named Veronika, who neither existed nor Jmmanuel handed in or put on a so-called sweatscarf, as is traditionally claimed to be an invention, goes back to a painter named Caecilia, who lived in central Italy in the Tuscany region, which corresponds to today's Tuscany.

15. This woman made the face of her husband Marcellinus on a shell silk scarf which she had received from Sicily and which was bought only a few years after its completion by a Catholic priest named Fufetius, who called it the 'image of Christ'.

16. I do not know what happened to them, except that they were used to make images and were admitted to church circles.

17. That is what our notes make clear, but unfortunately not more.

Ptaah:

... But also regarding other falsifications of the truth, such as the so-called Christian Shroud of Death, whose fabric, as a result of our latest and extremely accurate analyses with Sona technology last year, shows an age of 669 years, proves how addicted to falsification and deceitful many Earth's humanity are. The head and the very peaceful-looking face on the alleged 'shroud of death' point to a man aged around 64, who was not dead at the time the image was made, but alive, because according to our very precise and absolutely error-free findings, there is no doubt that the reproduced image of the man does not show a dead but a living human being. We have not yet been able to find out how this was possible around 670 years ago and what kind of technology was used to produce this alleged 'shroud of death'. It was necessary to travel back in time to find out what kind of possibility was used to make this image, which was known on Earth at the time as ... and the like, so the imprint on the cloth was made in this way, which our new analysis revealed. That various other utensils resp. alleged props from Jmmanuel's time, but also elsewhere, in museums or simply as 'antiquities' etc., which are supposed to be in connection with Jmmanuel and are in circulation, is in every single case based on fraud and forgery, as Arlion's experts have investigated and clearly clarified. Regarding the alleged 'Shroud of Death', the last 3 millennia have also been researched, whereby it was found that 900 years after Jmmanuel, a forgery of a 'Shroud of Death' had already been made, which was also supposed to show an image of the dead body of Jmmanuel, after which, however, this forgery disintegrated into its components over time, while the forgery created around 400 years later has survived to this day.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_881

Billy:

... The alleged shroud of death is also an unparalleled hoax, because it was only made in later centuries ... and this happened several times at different times and in different places and the very first 'shroud of death' fell apart over time due to the poor quality of the fabric. This, along with other things that are also passed around and invented, tinkered with and lied about by believers, fanatics and, above all, fraudsters and forgers, such as that it is connected to Jmmanuel. This is actually the most important thing to say, but this alone is actually too much to do justice to the truth, because everything is dragged into the mud anyway and is not accepted, understood or recognised as such according to the truth by the unteachable and by those who have fallen hopelessly into delusional belief. This is because every form of faith is precisely the awareness of the blindness of faith ...

Sociopathy

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Psychopathy#Sociopathy>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_876

Ptaah:

This is really a very important topic that you bring up, because as I have noticed time and time again, when closely observing and judging certain Earth's humanity, sociopathy is very much in evidence.

Billy:

This is effectively so, especially with rulers, civil servants, security forces and military personnel, as I have felt time and again during my life. But I have also had experiences of this with religionists, as well as with 'everyday' personalities, which I also notice again and again with such people today.

Ptaah:

I can confirm from my point of view that this is indeed the case, because through my observations and clarifications that I make in my observations and clarifications that I carry out here on Earth, I recognise that sociopathy is strongly pronounced in certain human beings, this especially in persons who hold leadership positions of some kind and therefore consider themselves to be extremely important and irreplaceable. ...

{Billy:}

Sociopathy

Yes, what is sociopathy, that is the question here, which can only be answered in such a manner that it is nothing other than an abnormal, degenerate behaviour of a human being incapable of any form of empathy and sense of guilt towards fellow human beings. Basically, a sociopathic person is someone who has an antisocial personality disorder and is unable or only able to a very limited extent to empathise with the thoughts and feelings of another human being and to understand their creative energy processes resp. their thoughts, feelings, emotions and sensations. This indicates and testifies to an inability in this respect, as a result of which there is absolutely no willingness or ability to perceive, recognise, empathise with and understand the personality traits of other human beings, which can simply be described as an inability to feel. Sociopathic people therefore completely lack the normal emotional empathy, social empathy and cognitive empathy, as a result of which they are unable to 'empathise' with other human beings and even judge and treat them 'from above'.

And they do this in such a manner that they – the sociopath – thereby create a sense of well-being for themselves and are indifferent and selfish towards their fellow human beings, while always putting their own well-being at the centre. In addition, they talk often and a lot, immediately interfere in other people's conversations with lowly intelligent remarks, are unable to limit themselves to what is important when talking a lot, but 'chatter' constantly and a lot of unnecessary things, thus prolonging their speeches, so that, for example, something that could be said in less than a minute or explained in 2 minutes takes 10 minutes or even longer. They also keep on talking and talking about the same thing that has been mentioned, even if everything that needs to be said has already been said and clarified. They just go on chatting endlessly and do not find an end and do not realise that everything that needs to be said has been said. But sociopaths do not realise this because they are so full of themselves – which they usually do not realise themselves – that they do not realise that they believe themselves to be much more important than all other human beings, whom they treat as if they were air to them as a result of their arrogance. However, it is the case – and they do not think about this in any wise – that they could not live without this air, no matter how it is also seen.

The way a sociopath should be confronted is to treat him absolutely and in every case and without exception as what he is one way or another, namely a human being. But the way they are confronted is such that it must always be appropriate. Behaviour towards a sociopath is simply appropriate, without any aggression, calmly and at an appropriate distance, because human beings who are sociopaths react sensitively to being met aggressively or intrusively. Sociopaths have an antisocial personality and a corresponding demeanour and behaviour, which is not exactly easy to encounter. For this reason, it is counselled to react calmly and behave calmly, in a form of psychologically good behaviour. It is always good and also correct to behave logically in an interaction resp. in a reciprocal relationship with a sociopathic human being for self-protection in such a manner that, if necessary, a clear statement of one's own needs and ideas is made in a clear voice and manner of expression. The wording must be clear, factual, unambiguous and also well-founded, but should never correspond to a justification, because such a justification is always wrong and absolutely reveals one's own inability, helplessness and insecurity and leads to the sociopathic human being gaining the upper hand. It is therefore important for every human being to be open, correct and confident when dealing with a sociopath and also to make their own legitimate might clear. However, it is important to always allow such human beings to save face, also when their behaviour has been seen through. However, if this is disregarded, then this is evidence of their own sociopathic tendencies and usually also leads to aggression, hatred and violence being triggered in the sociopath.

A sociopathic human being is always and without exception more or less psychopathic to a certain extent, whereby it is always important for human beings afflicted with sociopathy to keep a low profile in this regard. It is therefore also better to ask the sociopath in one case or another before releasing any information yourself. This is true even if it is harmless things that are being discussed, because the sociopathic human being always wants to be right and more knowledgeable than the other person. However, if you have to deal with a sociopathic human being or even have to live with one, it is important to always maintain a serious facial expression and to maintain eye contact throughout any conversation with them, as well as to also ensure a firm gait and an upright posture, as this not only shows confidence, but also steadfastness and strength. If earthly humanity is examined and analysed very closely, it becomes clear that there are far more sociopaths running around in every society than is generally assumed. In particular, the rich, the educated and scientists are widespread in every society, although this is also common in working-class and teaching circles.

According to Plejaren's research resp. Spath's data, in the 1940s around 1.6% of the world's 2.6 billion human beings were affected by this type of behaviour. This is now the case in 2024, when 9.44 billion human beings populate the Earth ...

But let us get back to the actual topic and take a closer look at the average sociopath, who – it must be clearly explained – does not necessarily have to be a bad human being and who can behave reasonably normally or quite harmoniously with individual or whole groups of other human beings. As a rule, he is often 'annoying' and frequently indelicate, interfering in conversations in a nerve-wracking, ill-considered manner and with lowly intelligent and even stupid objections and remarks. His lowly intelligent and impudent character disorder and bad

Overall, for an effective sociopath, his fellow human beings are merely uneducated followers, while he considers himself to be infallible and perfect and believes that he alone is entitled to all rights to be treated well. They also believe that they are entitled to exercise such dominion over fellow human beings that they appear to be their personal slaves, regardless of whether they are their own partner or family members, any work colleagues, female or male colleagues or 'friendships' and acquaintances, relatives, foreigners or superiors, etc.

A sociopath, male or female, claims the right to systematically deceive fellow human beings, to betray and also deceive them, and even to take advantage of them in an evil way, to harm and exploit them in any wise. And they usually do this so deceitfully that those affected do not realise it at first, and if they do, they can hardly find a way to break away from the sociopath again, especially if a dependent 'love relationship' or other bond has arisen from the relationship. It is not uncommon for such a relationship in such a 'partnership' to become a 'life in hell' for the disadvantaged party, which cannot be dissolved due to 'not daring' out of fear, threats, physical violence, emotional abuse, sexual violence, dependency or out of false love or shame. This can take many different forms, characterised by verbal violence of all kinds and shades, such as verbal abuse, mental cruelty, embarrassment, mockery, blackmail, constant control, jealousy, character assassination, ignorance and slander, shouting, humiliation, rejection, accusations of guilt, death threats, intimidation, manipulation, withdrawal of love, ignorance, insults, bullying, constant criticism, silence, belittling resp. 'Humiliation', arguments, terrorising, neglect, humiliation, disregard, scathing looks, insults and ridicule, etc. All of this leads to a loss of appetite or, conversely, to frustrated eating in those affected – usually women – but not infrequently ultimately to suicide or even murder and manslaughter.

It is only rarely the case that human beings intuitively recognise sociopaths, contrary to other claims by psychologist 'experts' that there are more and more human beings who intuitively recognise sociopaths. However, this is not because people are developing more intuitive abilities, but because the ever-growing overpopulation means that more human beings are populating the world, which in turn means that more human beings with intuitive abilities are appearing on the scene. In other words, it is not more human beings who are developing intuitive abilities, but rather more of them are appearing as a result of the irrational and completely irresponsible growth of humanity. ...

Sociopaths of both sexes are being recognised less and less, which means that there are also more and more broken family relationships, frequent changes of partnerships and 'friendships', etc., as well as lying, thievery, cheating, criminality and crime and thus murder and manslaughter, war and terror. ...

act in their wise way. Very often, there are quite nasty sociopaths in the ranks of those in power – and also in the authorities – who are constantly bringing about new ordinances, regulations and laws etc. and thus restricting the freedom and rights of citizens more and more, allowing them to be controlled more and more by the security services, secretly observing, spying on and harassing citizens if they do not suit the authorities concerned for whatever reason. ...

Billy:

... what was it with Sodom and Gomorrah; what actually happened there – how were these two cities destroyed?

Quetzal:

117. Several factors are to be mentioned:

118. On the one hand, a meteorite fell to the Earth and exploded high over the area of the two cities, which would now actually be designated as larger villages.

119. This led to devastating destruction of both cities, triggering a massive earthquake, by which the Earth was torn open – like in Petra – and by underground volcanic activity, small and larger chunks of sulphur were flung high and across the country, which also naturally caused much disaster, and by this – as also by the exploding meteorite – many human beings were killed.

120. The remaining part of the total destruction was caused by the megalomaniac and crazy God of the Hebrews, an extraterrestrial who had his headquarters deep under the pyramid of Giza.

121. His punishment for the disobedience of the population of Sodom and Gomorrah, against his commands, was that he let two small atom bombs ignite over the two cities, which finally levelled everything to the ground, killing all humans and animals.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_230

Billy:

... Hence the question was asked how the Dead Sea came into being, on whose shores the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah were located. And it was asked where the volcano had been, and why no ruins of the two cities have been found so far, and so on.

...

Quetzal:

526. However, in order to explain the events of the volcanism and the invisible ruins of Sodom and Gomorrah in more detail, the following shall be said:

527. The events with the meteorite, the ignition of the two small nuclear bombs of the irrational God as well as the volcanic eruption and the earthquake took place within a few hours and thus in rapid succession.

528. There were two earthquakes, the first of which had a magnitude of 6.3 according to the terrestrial Richter scale and the second a magnitude of 8.6, which resulted in devastating consequences.

529. Since the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah were built on very unstable and loose ground in the near shore area of the Dead Sea, both cities slipped due to a huge landslide into the Dead Sea and sank on its bottom.

530. The landslide was caused by an enormous water pressure from the ground, from which water was pressed up, causing the layers of the ground to liquefy and slide.

531. From the beginning of the landslide to its end and until everything disappeared in the Dead Sea, a time of just 27 minutes passed.

532. This is the reason why practically no ruins of the cities can be found in the shore areas of the salt lake.

533. Only scattered ruins, which were located outside the cities, remained and were buried under sand and dust.

534. The fire, however, which rained from the sky before the two cities were completely destroyed and sank into the Dead Sea, consisted of glowing chunks of sulphur and glowing soil, whereby everything was flung up from within the ground by enormous volcanisms and rained down on the cities.

535. This volcanism, however, was not of the usual kind as it appears with normal volcanoes, because it was truthfully a methane volcanism, which means that methane gases ignited inside the Earth in large chambers.

536 This led to tremendous explosions, which tore open the ground in several places, eventually forming smaller craters from which the sulphur chunks and the glowing earth were ejected, thereby causing so to speak fire to rain from the sky.

145. This is regulated with us by a law, and indeed, in the way that wives and descendants resulting from the marriage bond, in each case, always bear the surname of the husband, respectively the father.

146. This is regulated in such a way because solely through this, confusions in the degree of kinship as well as in the family tree can be avoided.

147. Even at very early times, our ancestors made the discovery that there were incredible confusions when female spouses retained their premarital surnames or even transferred them to their descendants.

148. From this, there arose much disaster and confusion, from which incest emerged on a massive scale, as this happened in Sodom and Gomorrah with the ancient Jews, when the two cities degenerated into pure herds of incest.

Billy:

Did your ancestors have something to do with Sodom and Gomorrah?

Ptaah:

149. Not the ancestors of our own lineage but those of diverging lineages, for these interfered in the affairs of the ancient Jews, who degenerated – for example, in Sodom and Gomorrah – into wide-scale incest, for which they were punished with a total annihilation by nuclear fire, etc. by the one who was angry about these unbelievable activities.

Spartacus

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Spartacus>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_230

Billy:

Well, then the following: Spartacus was a warrior for the oppressed. Despite all ancient reports, his origin is still unknown today, as is his death. It is said that he died in the Battle of the River in 71 B.C., but his body was never found. The Romans had united all their military legions in this battle and thereby defeated the army of Spartacus. As punishment for the slave revolt the victors then crucified more than 6,000 defeated slaves, namely along the Via Appia from Capua to Rome. In Capua too was the gladiator school, run by a certain Gnaeus Lentulus Batiatus, where Spartacus also learned his gladiator craft, before it came to an uprising in the spring of 73 B.C. by a few more than 200 gladiators in Capua when they stormed the prison kitchen – armed with all sorts of things they could just get their hands on. So the prison itself became the arena. I know some things about Spartacus, but if you know more about it, then please let me hear.

Quetzal:

269. The term gladiator is based on the main combat tool of gladiators, the sword, which was called Gladius in Latin language.

270. Gladiators were not amateurs, but fiercely trained fighters.

271. A gladiator training center was in Capua, and being a gladiator meant practicing a veritable craft to perfection as any other craft was.

272. The gladiators were true masters of the art of fighting and true fighting machines, whose only destiny was to kill the opponent in the fight and to remain victorious, and not only in the fighting arena.

273. Truthly gladiators in special legions were actually also used for war purposes, which, however, has remained largely unknown to this day.

274. The gladiator school of Gnaeus Lentulus Batiatus, whom you mentioned, was a strictly guarded prison with thick stone walls in which slaves were trained to become gladiators.

275. Already the training often resulted in deaths, because ultimately, they also fought with sharp weapons, which, however, were only given out for practice fights and then kept under lock and key again under strict guard.

276. There were great and glorious heroes among the gladiators, but as a rule they were still no more than slaves without rights who were the property of slave owners, who used their enslaved fighters for betting, or who had to duel to the death for their owners over love affairs.

277. The unbreakable rule of gladiators was simple:

279. Ultimately, every gladiator ended up in his own blood when he was killed by his enemy and sank into the dust of the arena.

280. Some gladiators managed up to ten, twenty, or rarely even twenty-five or thirty fights, but then they were so worn out and exhausted that they could not endure another fight and were killed by their opponent.

281. And since there was no hope for the gladiators that they would ever be free and have a better life, the thought of insurrection was thus constantly smouldering among them, which was also known to the owners of slaves and the operators of the gladiator schools as well as the guards, which is why they took enormous security measures against a revolt.

282. This was also a reason why the gladiators were for security reasons only given sharp weapons when they had to fight in the arena or, which was rare, had to pass a special final test of combat training with sharp weapons, in which case there were already deaths.

283. Otherwise, in the gladiator schools, only the guards were heavily armed, whereby every outbreak and revolt was already nipped in the bud.

284. Nevertheless, the thought of an uprising was constantly smouldering among the gladiators, until in the spring of 71 B.C. what was considered impossible by the slave owners and their guardians actually happened:

285. 217 gladiators stormed the prison kitchen in Capua in the gladiator school and armed themselves with kitchen utensils suitable for fighting, such as skewers, meat axes, chopping instruments and knives, etc., with which they then attacked their brutal guards.

286. They fought against the guards with the courage of despair and used all the skills they had learnt during their training and until then had applied in hopeless fights for life and death in the arena.

287. However, the revolted had only limited chances against the heavily armed guards, which is also why 146 gladiators were killed by the guards before 71 of the insurgents were able to flee.

288. The guards themselves became prisoners, for they could not flee through the closed doors and over or through the thick walls of the prison, and so many of the guards were massacred by the revolting slave gladiators.

289. Their leader was the slave-gladiator Spartacus, who originated from the Indo-European folk of the Thracians and was enslaved by the Romans when he fell into captivity.

290. He belonged to an aristocratic family who were descendants of the tribe of Spartans and he therefore had great fighting experience and warfare qualities even before his enslaved gladiatorial life, so it was understandable that he could take over the leadership role during the escape and keep it after the escape.

291. Years prior to his enslavement and forced recruitment as a gladiator by the Romans, he fought in the war against their legions.

292. The Thracians and various other folks stood up against the Romans when they were incited by the Pontic king Mithridates VI, and it was precisely during this war that Spartacus was captured and brought to Rome as a slave.

293. Thus he changed from a fighter for freedom to a fighter in the arena – to a gladiator who had henceforth solely to fight for his life.

294. And since he was as good as a perfectionist in the handling of weapons and in combat, had enormous physical strength and a high intelligence as well as a brilliant intellect and a good education, his destiny was sealed.

295. Such persons were unceremoniously taken by the Romans to the gladiator elite school of Capua, where they, being experienced in weapons and combat, besides fighting, also had the task of acting as gladiator trainers, which from then on was also Spartacus' fate.

296. The revolt and the escape of the gladiators from the gladiator prison in Capua was certainly very annoying for the Romans, but at first nobody cared much about it, except for those legions who were chasing them.

297. Actually, the 71 gladiators were now free, but they still could not lull themselves to safety, because in fact they always ran the risk of falling back into the hands of a fifth part of a Roman legion, about a thousand men, who followed and chased them.

298. In Roman times, an entire legion comprised 4,000-6,000 men on foot and about 300 horsemen and the entourage.

299. The legion was divided into 10 cohorts, that is to say 400-600 men each, as well as 30 manipels, with 133-200 men, and 60 centuries, with 100 men each, and formed the highest unit of the Roman army.

300. Then in the late antiquity a legion was made up of only about a thousand men.

301. Although the gladiators had seized various weapons from the killed guards, so they had also in that regard quite a bit at their disposal in addition to the kitchen instruments, but nevertheless their chances of staying alive were much smaller than just before, when they were still enslaved gladiators and had to fight for their lives in the arena.

302. Thus 71 slave gladiators were on the run and always in danger to fall into the hands of the bloodhounds, who outnumbered them several times.

303. So the refugees had no choice but to keep on fleeing in order to escape the Roman legions chasing them.

304. In so doing, however, they managed to raid and plunder a weapons transport destined for another gladiator school, so that the escapees could better equip themselves.

305. Word got around, of course, and wherever the escaped gladiators appeared, slaves fled time and again from their owners and joined the Spartacus Legion, which is how the gladiator troupe was now popularly known.

306. And more and more joined in, also impoverished farmers and escaped prisoners, so that in the following weeks a small army assembled itself.

307. This required that as soon as possible new weapons were obtained, and more armed men were sought and also found in large numbers and trained in the handling of weapons and in combat, which of course did not remain hidden to Rome, which now slowly began to feel uneasy and to worry, because now it was foreseeable that a slave war might loom.

308. This was all the more dangerous because the Roman Empire had major domestic and foreign political problems and the majority of its legions were engaged in warfare at practically all borders of the Empire and beyond.

309. Therefore, there was a lack of time and the necessary army to follow and fight against the increasingly rebellious gladiators and all their companions, the escaped slaves and prisoners, as well as the peasants and adventurers, and figures who had struggled for all sorts of reasons.

310. Moreover, it was not glorious for the legions to militarily fight escaped slaves and prisoners, gladiators, peasants and all sorts of rabble, in contrast to the situation when through successful military campaigns at the borders of the empire or beyond, much fame and spoils of war could be gained.

311. And exactly this attitude as well as the lax chasing of the Spartacus Legion led to the fact that Spartacus was able to move through Italy almost unchallenged with his army and to gather more and more people around him.

312. Thus, for Rome, the size of the Spartacus Legion grew to become an ever more encompassing and dangerous threat, and many Romans were confronted with anxiety.

313. Then Spartacus set up a large camp in the volcanic crater of Vesuvius, where he felt safe with his army at least for the present situation.

314. From there, raids were carried out in the immediate vicinity and further afield to obtain food, but also new equipment and weapons for all the many new slaves who had escaped and joined the gladiator group and its Legion, impoverished peasants, adventurers, escaped prisoners and criminals.

315. Also further escaped gladiators as well as further asocial rabble of all kinds joined the Spartacus Legion, so that it finally comprised 11,803 men, which was roughly equivalent to two large Roman legions.

316. The raids thus became bigger and bigger, extending farther and farther and, of course, posed an ever-increasing threat to the security of the Roman citizens.

317. Thus the Roman Senate finally decided to take action against the two Spartacus Legions.

318. Thus the propraetor i.e. the proconsul Gaius Claudius Glaber was instructed to confront the threat with 3,000 military men provided to him and to destroy the two Spartacus Legions.

319. So a forced march to the volcano Vesuvius was undertaken by foot in the hope of blocking and occupying the only access from the valley to the Vesuvius crater and to encircle Spartacus with his two Legions, which however ultimately failed profoundly.

320. This because he underestimated Spartacus' intelligence, prowess and war tricks and carelessly waived to erect a palisade fence around his own camp.

321. This was seen by Spartacus and he took advantage of this grave error of the besiegers by at night having ladders made from wild vines, on which all the heavily armed Spartacus men rappelled down from the crater rim and raided the oftentimes sleeping Roman soldiers, who simply sought their salvation by fleeing.

322. In this way Spartacus defeated half a Roman legion with his Legions and came into possession of the whole camp, including many food supplies, weapons and all other Roman equipment.

323. This made it all the more clear that one was no longer dealing with just a small slave uprising, but actually with a great threat.

324. Therefore, haste was suddenly called for, and under the command of the Senate and under the leadership of the praetor Publius Varinius, a new army was newly equipped.

325. However, the Senate was mistaken about the newly-grown army of Spartacus, which had in the meantime increased to several legions and thus to 43,719 men due to further influxes, amongst them many Roman defectors.

326. An enormous military power that therefore also defeated two legates sent out by the praetor and their legions.

327. Legates were deputies or envoys of the emperor or the praetors as well as permanent assistants of the military commanders and vicegerents.

328. The praetor Publius Varinius barely escaped capture by Spartacus' warriors during the failed military campaign.

329. Although the mighty Spartacus army had many successes, the more time went by it became increasingly clear that it was only a community welded together by adversity, consisting of many members of different folks.

330. Thus Spartacus was originally eager to bring all of them back to their homelands because he knew that there was no future for any of them in the Roman land.

331. Therefore, he also wanted to cross the Alps, from beyond which many Teutons and Celts in his army originated.

332. However, a fellow sufferer named Krixos, who had been in Capua with Spartacus and stood by his side as leader, was not of the same opinion because he wanted to stay in the Roman land and lead the immense army against Rome.

333. The two, however, could not agree to forge a joint action against Rome, which is why the two separated together with their personal supporters.

334. Krixos remained in the south of the country in Apulia, whereby 9872 followers gathered around him.

335. As Spartacus made his way north, 35,416 men from the army that had grown further moved with him.

336. The Romans' anxiety grew enormously, as it was feared that Spartacus would now attack Rome.

337. Therefore, the Senate decreed that a Gewalt-strike against Spartacus and his Legions should be led, in order to get rid of the danger, hence a total of four large legions as well as a considerable number of other troops, altogether little more than 30,000 men, were ordered under the command of Gnaeus Cornelius Lentulus Clodianus and Lucius Gellius Poplicola, who in the year 72 BCE were both consuls and had therefore also the supreme command during times of war and authority over the legions.

338. Of course, the Romans learned of the separation of Spartacus and Krixos, so they set out to take out Krixos and his fighters.

339. This then took place at Mount Garganus in Apulia.

340. Krixos had no chance, was defeated devastatingly and died himself during this.

341. Only a few survived the heavy fight and then made it to Spartacus, whose situation was very unpleasant as he had lost a quarter of his troops because of Krixos, which put him in a critical situation.

342. The two consuls knew this, of course, and now they were deploying their troops against Spartacus and his legions.

343. Thus, with might, Gnaeus Cornelius Lentulus Clodianus obstructed the way to the north for Spartacus and his men, while Lucius Gellius Poplicola, with the help of Quintus Arrius' legions, ensured that the way back was blocked.

344. Another time the fate of Spartacus and his companions seemed to be sealed, but again he proved his strategic genius.

345. He led his legions with those of the consuls to an open field battle, won and put the enemies to flight.

346. Then he commemorated his friend Krixos, who had been killed by the Romans, and had a pompous funeral service organised for him, in that Spartacus chose 311 captured Roman legionnaires who had to fight as gladiators with each other until death.

347. Thus the Romans became aware that the former slaves, the peasants exploited and impoverished by the Romans and the slave gladiators had not forgotten their former ignominy and now transferred it to the captured legionnaires who had to fight for their lives as gladiators.

348. Spartacus' action was a clear act of revenge, which did not appeal to the Romans at all, however, and was by them regarded as proof that Spartacus and his men were infested with the worst cruelty.

349. They did not think about it, and it did not occur to anyone that the whole thing was nothing other than what they had done themselves.

350. The Romans were so stubborn that they could in nowise comprehend the act of revenge.

351. Spartacus, however, advanced further north with his legions and soon crossed the northern border of Umbria.

352. Thus, he soon managed the difficult crossing over the Apennines and marched towards the Po Valley, where he was opposed by the praetor Gaius Cassius Longinus with two legions, with 10,413 Roman legionaries, while Spartacus with his legions defeated the Romans again.

353. So the time had come that he could now have crossed the Alps, but that did not happen, because no one was in favour of this plan any longer, because now all the Spartacus warriors wanted to march against Rome, because the steady battles with the Roman legions had stirred up the hatred in the rebels in such a way manner they now wanted to destroy the Romans in their own country.

354. Thus the march southwards was resumed, while in Rome the situation became more and more complicated and confused for the Senate and the population, and the anxiety grew more and more.

355. In the autumn of 72 BCE, it was only with the greatest difficulty that the Senate was able to entice a volunteer to set out against Spartacus and his legions, namely via Marcus Licinius Crassus, who had become very wealthy during the reign of the dictator Lucius Cornelius Sulla (who also had the nickname Felix).

356. Crassus armed any man who was able to hold a weapon and thus assembled six new legions, irrespective of the fact that many were war invalids, hardly able to fight.

357. He also incorporated the remains of the four beaten legions and thus brought together an army of 53,608 legionnaires who set off with the slogan: "Total annihilation of the rebels".

358. Under the command of Mummius, the legate appointed by Crassus, two Roman legions were sent out to follow Spartacus and his fighters, whereby Mummius was however ordered not to engage in any fight with Spartacus and his legions.

359. But Mummius was ambitious and thought that he could win with his legionaries over the rebels, which is why he attacked them, whereupon he was defeated devastatingly.

360. There were only a few survivors, and those took flight.

361. Mummius too was among them, whose unauthorised actions led to the end of his career.

362. The defeated and fleeing legionaries were called to account by Crassus and disciplined by determining and executing every tenth, namely in front of all legionnaires, which was meant to serve as a deterrent that no one any longer would flee and show cowardice vis-à-vis the enemy.

363. And Crassus was boundlessly angry, which is why he now wanted to annihilate Spartacus and his legions with a single, mighty strike.

364. But Crassus was also mistaken, because when he and his army met the one of Spartacus, the victory went again to the rebels, which also continued to be so, this not least because Spartacus always knew how to avoid a direct encounter.

365. Thus they moved both armies slowly southwards, namely all the way down to the southern tip (note Billy = 'boot tip') of the Roman mainland e.g. Italy.

366. And that appealed to Crassus, because now he could cut off Spartacus and his legions' return to the north.

367. For this purpose, his legionnaires had to build a wall with a length of just over 30 kilometres, thereby locking in the Spartacus army.

368. At the narrowest point of the peninsula, moreover, a four-metre-deep ditch was dug, which was additionally protected on the back with a barricade.

369. However, since Crassus knew Spartacus' war tricks and the fighting power of his legions, he requested support from the Senate in Rome by Gnaeus Pompeius and Marcus Licinius Lucullus.

370. So a wearisome waiting period began on both sides of the armies ready for battle, whereby Spartacus forged plans to escape the looming annihilation.

371. And since the land route was completely blocked by Crassus' troops, only the sea route remained open and that would be the one over to Sicily.

372. Thus the plan was forged that the crossing by ship should take place by Cilician pirates, because these dominated the strait between the Roman mainland and Sicily.

373. Negotiations were also conducted in this regard, with the pirates demanding a very high price, which the Spartacus men had to pay in advance.

374. However, the pirates were fraudsters, because they disappeared with all the money and left the rebels behind, but this only because Crassus paid the pirates three times the price.

375. Spartacus, on the other hand, sent a scout to Sicily, who was however captured and crucified by the Romans and put on display directly at the harbour entrance.

376. Spartacus and his legions were finally locked up and could flee neither across the strait nor across the land, and so Crassus could simply wait with his army until the plight of hunger drove the rebels out of their holes.

377. And he did not want to enter into a compromise with Spartacus when the latter sent a messenger to him, so that he had to return to the camp of the rebels without having achieved anything.

378. Thus Spartacus not only ran ever shorter of time, but also of the food for the hungry men of his legions.

379. Also more and more diseases spread in his army, and many of the weakened fighters died away.

380. He had their corpses secretly thrown into the ditch created by Crassus' army, along with tree trunks and stones, etc.

381. Then Spartacus ordered a storm attack, which became a real massacre, in which 12,719 of his fighters were literally slaughtered by the Roman legions.

382. Only a part of the Spartacus army was left and was able to flee, however, haunted by the legions of Crassus.

383. During the flight there were renewed disagreements among the rebels, hence Spartacus separated several thousand fighters another time and went separate ways with them.

384. Obviously this was welcome for Crassus, who chased the splinter group and attacked them as they set up their first camp.

385. Still close together, Spartacus came with his main army to the aid of the attacked and could only just prevent that the defectors were completely exterminated.

386. Nevertheless, this no longer welded the breakaway men together with the main army, since after their rescue they continued to go their own ways.

387. Thus they moved to the north, where they were taken up only a short time later by Roman legions and destroyed to the last man.

388. And Spartacus knew that Lucullus was on his way with his legionnaires, namely with ships to the port of Brundisium (note Billy: today called Brindisi) on the east coast of the boot, which is why he was very worried.

389. Thus, three years after his escape from the gladiator prison in Capua, he ordered the last and desperate attack on the chasers, whereby the two armies then collided for many hours and, in addition to a real bloodbath, also left behind a field of deaths on which lay many thousands of Roman legionaries and umpteen thousands of rebels, all of whom had to fight tired and power-wise exhausted.

390. The Spartacus fighters had no realistic chance, and Spartacus himself too suffered a severe stab wound that forced him to the ground.

391. Nevertheless, he continued to fight against the legionnaires attacking him until he received a blow to the head with a sword, which, however, did not split his skull, but only tore a flesh wound open, causing him to fall to the ground, covered in blood and unconscious, and was left lying there, believed to be dead.

392. Then, when everything was over and the night had arrived, Spartacus regained consciousness and left the battlefield half walking half crawling and thus fled from the Romans, whereby he was lucky that a helpful peasant found him, who took him in and cared for him for about two months, until he was well again.

393. Afterwards Spartacus set off unrecognised to return to his homeland, which he eventually reached after several months and lived there as a free man until the end of his life, also unrecognised, and died at the age of 61 years.

Billy:

This is a long story. So, because he was able to flee, Spartacus was not found when they then searched for him on the battlefield. ...

Sphinx

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sphinx>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_222

Billy:

... the Khafre structure, I mean the Sphinx structure, was aligned to the constellation of Leo. The new pyramid, as well as all the others and the Sphinx structure, were built in more recent times, so about 4,500 years ago, solely by Earth-humans, by their own forces. The builders were early Egyptians, like also the largest part of the workers, who were free people and artisans to a certain part, while many others, who came in small numbers as slaves from other countries, had to perform their hard work, together with a small number of domestic slaves. That majority of the workers, however, was based on free Egyptians. For the purpose of the nourishment of all workforces, a veritable industrial food-city was built near the pyramid, and also mass campsites were provided for resting and sleeping, as well as tombs for the many deceased, who were at work there. That's how I remember it being explained to me by you. Now, is this right, or did I fall into a fallacy?

Quetzal:

41. Everything is of correctness; so therefore, no further explanation is necessary.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_625

Billy:

... Well, another problem, for palaeontology, seems to be the Sphinx in Egypt, which is again and again reported about, just as it has recently been again, whereby all sorts of guesses are made and impossible things are claimed about the creator of the Sphinx. On that Quetzal told me, as you however also said already in the 1980s, that according to your records Pharaoh Chephren resp. Chephren was the builder resp. originator for the building of the Sphinx. Can you explain a little more about that?

Ptaah:

83. Which is really like that.

84. Khafre resp. Chaefchufu or Chephren is the Greek name for Chafre or Chaefre, which means "Chaefre is big".

85. He was the fourth pharaoh of the 4th Dynasty in the Old Kingdom of Egypt.

86. Pharaoh Chephren was the half-brother of his predecessor Radjedef and the half-brother of Kawab, and he was buried in Giza, as was his father Pharaoh Cheops, who was actually called Chufu.

87. His reign lasted from 2567 to 2534 before Jmmanuel resp. before the Christian calendar.

88. He was also the originator and responsible for the construction of the temple and 12 statues, which showed the hours of daytime by sunlight.

89. In addition, he was also the originator and responsible for the construction of the second and second highest pyramid in Giza, as well as for numerous outstanding statues in the vicinity of the Sphinx, some of which have been preserved to this day.

96. The great pyramid was together with the others already in the early days and then also for the last recreation aligned on the Orion constellation, but the Sphinx according to the guidelines of Chephren on the Leo constellation.

97. 4,500 years ago, the pyramids and the Sphinx were built solely by human beings of the Earth, whereas in the first construction 73,300 years ago, non-terrestrials were also involved, partly using telekinetic powers.

Billy:

Yes, you already told me this in the 1980s, as well as that the actual Egyptians, who built the pyramids 4,500 years ago, were mostly free human beings and craftsmen, while only a small part of them had to work as slaves. The food for all the workers, who comprised a small army, was, so to speak, provided by a food-city not far from the pyramid, as well as facilities with dormitories were given for the workers.

Ptaah:

98. Yes, that had been so.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_879

Billy:

... The Sphinx, which was previously created as a lioness and whose head was cut off and replaced with a human head, was also altered several millennia ago. Forgeries were already conjured up in ancient times, just as original things were also simply changed and adapted to new circumstances etc., such as the head of the Sphinx, which unintentionally appears as a 'forgery', but truthfully does not correspond to a forgery, because it was only a change and adaptation to a new government.

Spontaneous Human Combustion

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Spontaneous_human_combustion

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_236

Billy:

My knowledge is that the spontaneous combustion of the body concerns life processes, respectively physiological and functional operations of the whole body, where the basic factors are the consciousness and the subconsciousness, the thoughts and feelings, the emotions, the nerves, the sensibility and sensitivity, and naturally also the psyche. Thus, it is an aggregate physiological condition, through which a spontaneous combustion of the body is triggered, by what means the vibrations, energies, and forces of the aforementioned factors are developed, which also attract certain cosmic energies, together with the fact that chemical reactions are caused in the body, through which gases develop, which spread throughout the whole body and into the individual cells. Depression, nerves, pain, suffering, delusions, sorrow, deep depression, and schizophrenic factors, along with many other factors, can fundamentally contribute to the process, by giving rise to the aforementioned vibrations, forces, and energies, which will then lead to the spontaneous combustion of the body, in that the gases produced ignite yourself. As a rule, combustion occurs from the inside out, more rarely from the outside, whereby a heat of up to 1500 degrees or more is created. Thus, the spontaneous combustion energies, etc. are generated by the person himself, together with the fact that during this process, he also attracts cosmic energies to himself, by what means a spontaneous combustion becomes final. But this does not mean that in every case, a fatal self-combustion must take place because depending on the psychological and consciousness-related condition of the person, also just external burns on the body and on the limbs can become visible or even mild or severe blistering. In such cases, the self-combustion processes can be stopped if the thoughts and feelings are arranged correctly, but usually, professional and good psychological or psychiatric help is required for this. Concerning a released self-combustion of the aforesaid kind, it is the case, with certain exceptions, that the combustion heat only appears centrally, and thus, the burning in the body only appears and lasts for a very short time, as the body disintegrates into ashes. This means that in general, the nearer and further surroundings are not affected by the combustion, respectively by the heat, or are only affected very little. That's what I know. Now, I would just like to know, to what extent all of what I said is true.

Ptaah:

264. Your explanation corresponds to our knowledge, which I could still scientifically explain more precisely, but I must refrain from this, in order not to violate our directives, because the Earth-humans must investigate and discover the exact insights themselves.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_250

Billy:

Whereby the so-called supernatural of course does not exist in any way, because everything and everything is always naturally explainable and also naturally given. The supernatural exists only in the ignorance and the incomprehension of man, because he has no knowledge about all those things which he cannot understand and cannot explain himself. Truthfully everything so-called supernatural is absolutely natural and thus also classified according to the corresponding laws of spirit or matter, which are able to give an explanation for everything and everyone, whereby something supernatural becomes a fact of non-existence. Everything that can be grasped and perceived, everything that can be seen and heard and everything that can be felt, recognized, experienced and experienced, etc., is always real, real and natural in every case, regardless of whether it takes place on a spiritual or material level or on a medium level between spirit and matter, which is so often called the level of the supernatural or the supernatural by parapsychologists and esoterics who do not understand it.

Asket {3rd February 1953}:

159. The ineluctable events of the future will be played out with such absolute exactness, as did also the events of the past, to which I want to explain to you that the events of the future will already begin in a short time, and indeed with the murder by poison of Joseph Stalin on the 5th of March 1953 in Russia and indeed on the order of inner-party elements.

160. The reason for the murder by poison will be Stalin's only little known Zionist-friendly stance which will now, during the following decades, be turned to world-wide Zionist-animosity also through neo-Nazi elements.

161. For these reasons, Nikita Sergejevich Khrushchev, the next grandee of Russia to follow, will be forcefully removed in the year 1964, in order to set the last framework for the in-no-way-justified Zionist-animosity.

Starchild Skull

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_469

Billy:

Is the term Star-Child familiar to you?

Ptaah:

143. Yes, this is a skull which has been found and is about 1,000 years old – the exact age is not known to me – and which has been described by irrational and irresponsible authors of dubious books and writings as the skull of an extraterrestrial or as a hybrid product between extraterrestrial and Earth-humans.

Billy:

Which, of course, is neither in one case nor the other.

Ptaah:

144. True, because the skull corresponds to nothing more than an earthly human skull anomaly.

145. The mother and father were Earth-humans, and the human to whom the skull belonged was a hermaphrodite, that is, a bisexual, in which both sexes were approximately equally pronounced.

146. The skull is very strongly deformed by the anomaly and looks a little strange, but this is not uncommon with skull anomalies.

147. With skull anomalies like this, it is also a rule that skeletal anomalies occur.

Stigmata

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Stigmata>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_251

Billy:

... he and his followers believe that his stigmata are a sign of God, and in truth, as with all stigmatized stigmata, they arise only from a religious insanity and fanaticism, through a psychogenic effect triggered by religious sectarianism, as was the case with the first known stigmatized Francis of Assisi and with several hundred others.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_358

Ptaah:

18. The statements and explanations of the man Gilliland do not correspond to the truth, but rather to fibs, if I may express this once with your words.

19. Either these are based on deliberate lies or on delusional experiences or other pathological imaginations, as are the unbelievable claims of the alleged burn marks on the chest.

20. But if such have actually occurred, then they have been caused by a stigmatization generated by delusion, which can only be traced back to pathological manic thoughts and feelings and, as a result, to a sick psyche.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_469

Billy:

... And the fact that so-called 'sanctified ones' or 'casteites' appear at the same time, and make the faithful even more nonsensical, by causing stigmatization or the five wounds of Christ on their bodies through their broken psyche or through clear self-mutilation, further encourages all this nonsense.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/FIGU_Bulletin_003

The stigmatization phenomenon, during which the wounds of Christ materialize as bleeding wounds on the back and palms of the persons' hands, as well as their loins, insteps, possibly also on their forehead, the head (from the crown of thorns) or on their backs (traces from flagellations), is a form of religious-sectarian manifestations of self-flagellation based on a psychogenic effect. This signifies that human beings who suffer from a stigma are ensnared in their religious-sectarian belief structure to the extent that the psyche rebels in a form whereby the bleeding wounds actually appear on the body and elsewhere. This occurs in the identical manner in which the religious-sectarian believer envisions the "wounds of Christ" to be, according to the examples presented in countless paintings of saints, along with various representations in Christian churches and so forth. The truthfulness of this statement is demonstrated by the fact that all stigmatized people display these wounds on their hands or the palms of their hands, respectively, just as they were depicted and presented on paintings and statements by the Church. Albeit they are fundamentally wrong. The fact is, it was extremely uncommon in those days for crucified individuals to be nailed to a cross with 8" to 10" long, handcrafted nails. Such cases were rare indeed because the doomed victims were usually tied to the cross. "Nailed" individuals, as they were called in those days, were nailed to the cross by their wrists. In other words, no nails were driven through the palms of the victim's hands but always, and without exception, through the wrists only, a fact which was falsified by the Churches and all their sects since time immemorial. Paintings and assertions have incorrectly rendered this information, and even the faithful today believe that Jmmanuel (who is falsely identified as Jesus Christ) was crucified with nails driven through the palms of his hands. This statement and falsification of facts holds no truth whatsoever, for even with Jmmanuel nails were driven through his wrists. This practice of nailing through the wrists was performed because the nailed victims' own bodyweight (in contrast with those who were tied to the cross) would have ripped them from the y-shaped structure since the palms and backs of their hands, that is, the hands in general, were too frail to hold the nailed person's weight for any length of time.

It also becomes clear that, by way of their psyche and their consciousness, these self-generated wounds of Christ manifest themselves in the same way and in the same place the stigmatized individuals envision them to be -- even though the manifestations fail to correspond to the actual truth in any way.

Christian religion-influenced stigmatizations must be taken for what they truly are, namely, religious-sectarian Christian materializations of psychogenic origin which influence all material substances; indeed, they can cause blood to flow upward instead of downward as would be the case according to the laws of physics. Likewise, hammer blows may be observed, indeed heard, as the wounds manifest on the person's hands and feet. The facts are plain and offer proof that physical matter is not the driving force here but, instead, the powers of the consciousness and the spirit, whereby it is not the Creational spirit that is at work during stigmatizations but the individual's material-consciousness, in conjunction with the psyche, which generate the fundamental forces within the person. As a rule, stigmatized persons are deeply religious, even sectarian, and they claim that God or the "Savior" afflicts them with the wounds and pain, so to speak as a token of his love, etc. How bloody a God or "Savior" it would be who tortures his faithful with such acts! Unfortunately the religious-sectarian delusion of the faith in Man knows no bounds, however, and such inadequate, idiotic claims will continue to spread, thereby influencing the faithful and luring them from the path of reason and reality. The following can be said: Whoever allows him- or herself to be influenced by the religious-sectarian nonsense that claims stigmatizations are "a gift from God" or the "Savior" is truly beyond help. May rational individuals live in cognisance of the fact that stigmatization is purely the human, psychogenic handiwork of those people who have fallen prey to stigmatization, from which they could liberate themselves if only they were to put aside their religious-sectarian thinking and feeling, and live according to bona fide reality.

While in their psychogenic condition, strongly stigmatized individuals are also capable of experiencing visions of living in the past, which enable them to register and define actual events from Jmmanuel's crucifixion. Furthermore, while in this state, they may be able to accurately describe the local sites, mores and customs from Jmmanuel's days; indeed, they may even have the capability to speak his or other ancient languages, which they achieve through the pertinent Akashic Records as well as through the terrestrial, human sub-consciousness-collective. It is therefore totally erroneous to view all of these matters from a "God perspective", as though God had wanted and caused all of this. This unreal view of the world must finally be revised so we may realize that forces are active within Man's consciousness which are quite capable of influencing matter and moving and producing feats termed "spiritual" even today. Of course there are spiritual worlds and forces beyond the material realm as well, but anything that transpires on the material plane is influenced, produced and guided by the laws within a material plane, i.e., through the level of material-consciousness which has nothing whatsoever to do with the imaginary God who is praised by the faithful as the Creator -- and who truthfully was nothing more than a human being, an extraterrestrial. This God and the material consciousness, which can produce and effect stigmatization and numerous other things, have no direct links whatsoever with the spirit and spiritual powers, let alone Creation itself. All of this is based upon the consciousnesspowers of the material consciousness, and Heaven knows that this is nothing mystical, but something that can be entirely explained through reasoning and judgment, although the faithful view all of this differently and compress it into religious-sectarian, mysterious, inexplicable, paranormal and godly aspects. The result is that for them nothing remains realistic or normal any longer, and reality is intended, therefore, to be understood only with the heart and faith, instead of reason and judgment.

As I have previously explained, stigmatization is a psychogenic phenomenon induced by a religioussectarian delusion, whereby the psyche and the consciousness collaborate and trigger the phenomenon.

This reaction has nothing to do with auto-suggestion in the prevailing sense, but with a religioussectarian delusional auto-suggestion which normally does not manifest itself externally. It forms within the material consciousness in the depth of the person's unconscious, through religious, delusional beliefs that occur in the conscious and then transfers itself onto the individual's own unconsciousness as well as the unconsciousness of the psyche, where a delusional dream is produced that wreaks its effects with incredible power in the wakeful state and triggers the stigmatization and delusional visions. These visions may release events and all forms of information with incredible accuracy as though the individual experiencing the vision were standing in the precise location of the event and giving a live report from that vantage point.

Stonehenge

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Stonehenge>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_216

Quetzal:

144. However, just like the Stonehenge structures - ie the megaliths, located to the north of Salisbury, Wiltshire in southern England - the Nazca layouts also served as general meeting places as well as judgment sites and sites of execution.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_285

Billy:

... But may I now still ask whether you are well versed in the original Stonehenge circumstances. By that I mean the megalithic monument north of Salisbury in England. The enormous ruins are partly still allowing to recognise quite accurately the arrangement of that time. The whole originally consisted of 30 mighty pillars, which were arranged in a circular row, whereby these were connected at the top with likewise large, stone horizontal beams. Within the large circle there was at least originally a second, smaller circle. In latter's central middle was something like an altar or sacrificial stone, but what it represented has hitherto remained a secret. Also the actual sense of the monument has not been clarified until today. It is generally assumed that it was originally a religious building, but there are many different interpretations, especially towards the occult.

Florena:

27. I have indeed dealt with the megalithic facility of Stonehenge.

28. The site, located in the Wiltshire area of southern England, was built in several construction phases, whereby almost concentric circles of mighty stones were inserted into an original trench and wall ring with radial extension.

29. There were initially in fact 30 stones, as you said, namely in the outer ring.

30. This one consisted of 4-metre-high stone pillars connected by capstones i.e. by horizontal beams, as you call them.

31. In this ring i.e. circle there was a horseshoe-shaped settlement consisting of five large gate-like trilithons.

32. In the centre of both circles there was in fact a structure, a large carved stone, which served as an altar as well as a sacrificial site and central observation and analysis point for astronomical calculations.

33. Furthermore, the whole was a place of worship of religious-barbarian form, whereby the altar played an important and very special role, because on this altar sacrifices were also offered, which were not rarely of human nature.

34. The altar was therefore also a sacrificial stone.

35. Moreover, the same altar and cult sacrificial stone was also used as an execution stone, which means that not only human sacrifices were offered on it, but also executions took place on it with regard to those sentenced to death.

Billy:

Then the whole thing was a site of cultic worship as well as place of astronomy and site of blood at the same time.

Florena:

36. That is right, whereby however, it must not be forgotten that at that place there was also taught and decided about right or wrong and thus also about life and death.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_710

Billy:

... This also happened with the peoples in South America and Asia, where the 'long-skulled', the Earth-foreigners and the other Earth-foreigners, who were physically 'Earth-foreign', 'normal-skulled' or small and 'big-headed' and 'big-eyed', but also giants, as for example in South America, were also involved and had a culturally completely different influence on the Earth-peoples on all continents. As a result, different buildings, villages, cities, cult objects and pyramids as well as sites with large menhirs were also created all over the world, such as Stonehenge in England, near Avesbury in Wiltshire, about 13 kilometres north of Salisbury, and in Armenia the Stonehenge or megalithic fields in Zorakarer, near the mighty mountain ranges of the Caucasus, whereby the techniques of the Earth-foreigners were used in transporting and erecting the megaliths, which weighed many tonnes. The earthlings at that time were not capable of doing such work themselves, quite contrary to the assumptions of the so-called 'clever' researchers and scientists of the new age, who think up all kinds of fantastic things concerning the creation and working of monoliths etc., which could have been brought about by the earlier earthlings with manpower. This, like e.g. also the heads on the Easter Islands, which were transported and erected there with the help of Earth-foreigners, as also happened in other places, where it is seriously claimed that not Earth-foreigners, but the Earth-foreigners themselves transported the enormous weights of tons rolling on tree trunks and then also lifted up the monoliths weighing many tons with tree trunks and other wood and multiple man-power, etc. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_829

Billy:

So, I think I may now speak openly and say that beings from the depths of the space of this universe visited the Earth before there were Earthlings.

Since then, however, their descendants have come here again and again, creating many things for the human beings of the Earth in the last 390,000 years or so, which were often only achieved with hovering techniques.

Especially what concerned the moving, setting up and stacking of building elements weighing tons – such as 10, 20, 30, 50 tons or even heavier elements – was done by technology that made it possible to levitate the materials.

In very few cases, something was also moved telekinetically, but this was a real rarity.

The processing of the heavy elements was usually done by machine, if one may say so to what was just used.

The machining was done such that the elements were so accurate to the hundredth or even thousandth of a millimetre that everything fitted together in such a manner that practically not even a hair could be pushed in between. This is precisely something that the 'clever' earthlings of today, who deal with these things of the past in big words and 'knowing', cannot understand how everything really came about in this respect.

Their wild fantasies of how it was and how it all came about are truly hilariously daft.

Well, when the earthlings at a much later time – as a result of traditions, etc. – worked, hewed and chiselled stones, that was primitive again.

But the fact is that the earthlings at that time did not have heavy machinery with which they could have done everything, and especially not with human power, as many archaeologists etc. imaginatively spout about and think up the most impossible constructions with which the human beings of earlier civilisations are supposed to have made the impossible possible and managed it.

Also, with guidance and assistance, entire cities were built all over the Earth, some of which, however, sank in the seas or in large lakes in later times as a result of natural phenomena, were overgrown by primeval forests or others were covered by sand drifts.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_832

Billy:

Now, also the thousands of languages of Earth-humans, as well as the gods and their worship, and the religions and faiths arising from them, as well as the technologies by which many things were erected in ancient times which would have been impossible by human beings' powers, were therefore not created by Earth-humans alone, but by the knowledge and the energy and the capabilities which were from outside the Earth.

Ptaah:

24. But you should mention that we Plejaren and our very distant ancestors, who first came to Earth already 25 million years ago, were in no manner involved in these developments, just as we also never had anything to do with the foreigners, so they still today and never in the future will be able to contact us or fathom our presence.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_836

Billy:

Therefore he/she {“the earthling, the human being”} also does not know that actually the all-embracing being depends on swinging waves, as also on sounds resulting from them. The sun, as the authoritative celestial body of the system, orders the distance of planets away from it in its system area by means of swinging waves and sounds. Something that is obviously not yet known to the 'great' science of astronomy, because at least I have never heard of it. But it is the case, as I learned from Sfath and was able to sense and hear through his apparatus, that every system satellite actually orbits around the sun with a very specific swinging wave resp. vibration. This swinging wave also corresponds to a very specific wavelength as well as an impulse, which in turn produces a special sound. I could perceive resp. feel and hear all this through Sfath's equipment. And such swinging waves and sounds were also known and useful to the far-away travellers, who also used them in early times on Earth and produced monumental works with them. They were even able to move the heaviest things through the air with it, which I mentioned years ago when I mentioned something about the building of pyramids in Egypt. At that time I simply used the term 'telekinesis' to explain it, because it is possible through the powers of thought, which it actually was, but in this respect it was used to handle everything in the manner that certain swinging waves were used in connection with sounds. So basically I said at that time what is really true, but I did not explain that it was not a matter of mental teleportation in the actual sense, in order to 'transport' the heavy cuboid blocks for the building of the pyramids, but precisely through a teleportation that was based on swinging waves and sounds, in other words in a natural manner. If natural energy and power were used at that time to lift and levitate, then it was done in a different manner than through the actual application of thought power. And this was actually used at that time and even earlier for 'transport' by those who had travelled far and wide, also for the precise production of the huge cuboid blocks, which today could not be moved even with huge machines and could not be produced so skilfully with all modern tools.

Sun

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sun>

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_130

Billy:

... I read recently in an article in GEO that the poor Earth scientists once again have to revise their current acceptances of the Sun because during a solar eclipse, they discovered that their previous acceptances were just nothing more than delusions of the brain. They have finally encountered the fact that the so-called glowing envelope of the Sun pulsates, but they are already so megalomaniacal again to claim that it is the Sun itself that pulsates so. According to the GEO report, this pulsation should amount to 3,000 km, which cannot be right, however, because you yourself explained to me once that, on the one hand, only just the fiery mantle or even the outer mantle layers – so to speak, the stratospheres and ionospheres, etc., if I may so call them – would pulsate and that the half pulsation width is to be calculated, according to our measures, at 7,000 km, so thus the entire pulsation width is 14,000 km. The twits still maintain, however, that the Sun is a true furnace all the way down to its core, where continuous nuclear fusions would take place. They still have not encountered or come to the thought that the fireball of the Sun could be just a purely external fact, while underneath a huge nuclear star of a special kind is hidden – a nuclear furnace, so to speak – which, through tremendous processes in its interior, hurls up its immense radiations and vibrations high above itself, and they become glowing and blazing seas of fire that shoot out like gigantic tongues of fire into outer space as prominences. One must really give one thing to the twits, though, because now they seem to have finally found out that the solar internal processes must be completely different than they accepted until now; perhaps now they will also slowly come to the fact that the Sun is not a wavering and glowing mass but rather a firm star. And once they have found that out, then they will probably also encounter the fact that our Sun, since its actual origin, is also many billions of years older than has been accepted up to now, just as they now also have to constantly revise the age of the universe. But they still have not come so far and, therefore, still maintain all kinds of nonsense. But the time will, indeed, come, for they have also already found out now that the Sun has become smaller by a fairly large piece in the last 500 years, which traces back to the fact, according to your own words, that the fiery mantle collapses more and more into itself due to less energy from the planetary interior. ...

Superhuman Strength

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Superhuman_strength

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_833

Billy:

Then I want to ask you something for once, and that is a question that has been brought to me and I have answered according to how I understand this through my thinking and think that this is actually logical. The question relates to the physical powers of the human being, whereby it happens again and again that in this respect people speak of a human being having developed 'miracle powers' when suddenly a situation arose in which so-called superpowers were developed in order to prevent a misfortune or to save a human being from death. In addition, I think that the human being actually normally uses only about 30 to 40 per cent of his really possible physical strength, which he usually uses to physically carry out daily life or his work. When the going gets tough, he might need 40 to 50 per cent of his real strength. On the other hand, I imagine that when something happens, especially when danger arises, personally or in the case of other human beings, that superstrength, 'superhuman powers' and the like occur, in which the human being develops powers that are far beyond normal and these are described as 'superhuman' and as 'miraculous powers'. I understand that in exceptional situations concerning danger etc., the human being suddenly unconsciously develops and uses his real powers, which he normally does not need for daily use, consequently he also does not use them, but only then, and moreover unconsciously, when the danger or need etc. requires it. So no 'miracles' happen in this respect, but simply unconscious feats of violence out of the otherwise dormant reserves of strength, because the situation or resp. the emergency situation requires it.

Ptaah:

Effectively, this cannot be judged differently and explained exactly as you have correctly explained it. Effectively there is no such thing in human beings that they are able to develop superhuman powers, for in every respect these are always limited to the potential that is most inherent in them and can be unconsciously brought to bear in case of danger and such necessity.

Billy:

That is also the conclusion of my consideration, for no more can be used than is always also available. That is one rule which cannot be broken, which refers not only to the power of human beings, but also to their abilities, to their knowledge and everything that exists at all.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_834

Ptaah:

Yes, and my father meticulously recorded everything in writing in his annals.

Billy:

That was just his way, and he was scrupulously accurate, as he also taught that way to me. But it was not easy to learn, and sometimes I really reached the limit mentally and strength-wise and thought that I would not make it, but Sfath taught me that it is also possible to persevere when it seems that the last of one's strength has been used up. But he taught me in this respect that the big reserve is always there and can be used if only the will is mustered and the reserve is actually used consciously and willingly. So I learned that even when this reserve is used, it is only partially used and there is always a small reserve of the reserve that remains unused and therefore left over, which really leaves a small reserve that can be used. This taught me to 'never throw the pickaxe in the grain', as the earthling says, when something seems impossible to him. Sfath, however, taught me to still do everything anyway and to look for it to work out, and also when success seemed completely hopeless. And he was always right, because a solution was always found, and it went on and led to success.

Swinging Waves

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_077

Ptaah:

26. Not only the treacherous elements in the group and the negative intelligences of Giza and the group in Brazil drive a malicious play of forces, but also the constellations of the stars and planets assert their influence in the strongest form.

34. A particular danger lies with them in their dealings with their means of locomotion, because in this line not only is a negative influence exerted on them by the malignant intelligences and the constellation swinging waves of the stars, but also because they are influenced by the negative utterances of third persons, which are partly life-threatening forms or which at least raise doubts about the truth.

35. These are forms of expressions and assertions which are applied to them, which are able to cause a strong thought contemplation at the wheel [while driving], which can lead to bad accidents.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_091

Semjase:

15. The Cygner represent a human race whose senses are highly sensitised to swinging-waves from outside their own bodies, but only in planetary or ship-internal regions.

16. Thus they are able to receive and analyse swinging-waves of all life forms.

17. And here lies the answer to your question:

18. The Cygner have a form of government on their homeworlds, which your Earth-humans designate as herd instinct, but which is nevertheless led by the strongest of the herd.

19. So this order is a resemblance of a herd order in animals, the strongest of which exercises the position of the leading animal.

20. Since the Cygner had held this form of government since time immemorial, they changed it in the course of the last millennia only to the extent that they replaced the strongest of their kind with the most knowledgeable in spiritual matters, who thus was also the one who emits the highest swinging-waves, which is synonymous with the most powerful swinging-waves.

21. Thus, it is only natural that on foreign worlds, when they visit such worlds intentionally or unintentionally, the Cygner search for their kind and their form of government also for the highest spirit-knowledge-based swinging-waves of this world and, if necessary, turn to it when they need it.

22. And through your spiritual-teaching [a.k.a. Creation-energy] based learning and your knowledge you are the person on the Earth who gives off this highest swinging-wave from himself.

23. This again means for the Cygner that, for them, you are that form of life on this world, in respect of that mentioned, above which no other form of life stands.

24. This alone can be the reason why they try to connect with you.

...

Billy:

15. Nevertheless, there are some things that do not make sense to me, for example, why these twits do not turn to you or to the other groups, because all of you have decidedly several times higher swinging-waves than me.

Semjase:

26. Your thoughts are very logical, but you forget that we have to leave our swinging-waves in our station, or in our ships, to be absorbed by them, in order not to influence the Earth-human beings through them.

Billy:

16. Are those swinging-waves that I know, for example, as sympathy and antipathy?

Semjase:

27. This is only partly correct, because there are other factors contained in it.

28. One of these, for example, is the one who shapes the pros or cons in a life-form when it enters such a swinging-wave.

29. If, for example, a teaching of the truth is spread by a life-form of truth, then its swinging-wave spreads very quickly and very intensely.

30. If now other life-forms find the truth in this teaching themselves, with which they themselves strive for the truth, then they become available for the swinging-wave reception of the swinging-wave of the respective swinging-wave sender.

31. As a result, the swinging-wave receivers calibrate themselves in the subconscious to work out the teaching of the truth in themselves for the best, whereby they automatically create a connection to the disseminator of the teaching and even to his/her place of residence.

...

Billy:

20. But what would happen if you were to fully release your swinging-waves?

Semjase:

36. It would happen that all of the Earth-humans, who would be hit by our swinging-waves, would only orient themselves towards us, whereby they would become completely foreign in their world and would no longer be able to endure.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_092

Semjase:

38. You destroyed your blockade by all your work and your burdens, which you did not realize, because your anger almost made you race and lose all control.

39. As a result, malignant swinging waves penetrated into you, which are directed at you by directional beam devices through the Giza Intelligences.

40. The rupture of the blockade meant that these swinging waves were able to penetrate you unhindered and trigger reactions in you that are dangerous not only for yourself but for all our tasks, because you act so unreasonably and emotionally when these swinging waves hit you that have to work destructively upon you.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_093

Semjase:

25. A quite confused form of thinking, as you can see, but very typical in particular for your wife, but also in general for all her loyal and erroneous ones, some of them born in the same sign of the zodiac [Scorpio] as she, because their forms of thinking are very confused and full of unfulfillable fantasies.

26. This is the rule at any rate, but also the fact that an uncontrolled and unfounded urge for destruction always breaks through, which is unfortunately completely disregarded by your so-called astrologers with such failures, because they proceed from completely wrong basic pre-assumptions concerning the swinging-wave implications of the stars, etc.

50. The reason that we cannot connect with you human beings of the Earth in physical form is this:

51. The levels of swinging waves between the human being on the Earth and us are so fundamentally different and pronounced in the forms of the negative and the positive as well as the balanced that this can lead to serious consequences if they touch each other.

52. As a rule, these human swinging waves reach up to 90 meters, which is why it must be ensured that this distance is not broached, i.e. that terrestrial humans do not reach us under this distance mark.

53. Our swinging waves are very highly sensitive, and we ourselves react equally highly sensitively to oscillations that penetrate our oscillation range.

54. In contrast to the terrestrial humans, we are very high in our consciousness-based overall development, 20-35 million years ahead of the terrestrial humans, which is why our entire swinging wave system has refined.

55. If the swinging waves of the much less sensitive human being on the Earth were to strike us now, precisely because earthly human, and thus also quite unbalanced and negative swinging waves, would penetrate into the area of our swinging waves, then this would amount to a very strong swinging wave structural agitation, which in reality also embodies it, which would have the consequence that the strong external influence would lead to an instantaneous uncontrollability of all reactions, thoughts and actions in us, which would at the same time trigger uncontrolled feelings of fear.

56. This means that when the swinging waves of an Earth-human meet us, who unfortunately still emits very negative swinging waves today, we would be affected in many respects in momentary speed and start to act uncontrollably, which was also the case with Semjase when she fell in the Centre and suffered the severe injury.

57. As a rule, when we go among terrestrial people, which is very rarely the case, we use a device that protects us from terrestrial human swinging waves.

58. But this was never necessary for you, because you are free of these swinging waves through all your knowledge and equalisedness, according to which it comes very close to ours.

59. In the Center now a certain protective ring, a small protective screen, was established, which keeps away such swinging waves of the terrestrial humans.

60. This protective shield, however, is only of limited strength, so only directly for the Centre itself, but in the lower space still weak radiation from outside can enter if someone goes directly to the entrance or to the outer wall.

61. Now, when Jacobus was at the outer door, his swinging wave penetrated to Semjase and produced in it the fear and uncontrollability I described earlier, which drove her to an uncontrolled action.

62. The consequences of this are known to you.

63. These swinging wave structure agitations, which are dangerous for us, together with our strict directives, are the main reason why we are not allowed to engage in physical contact with terrestrial humans.

64. Even with our telepathic or even only inspirational-impulse-based contacts we have to exercise extreme caution, because thrown back impulse-based swinging waves also have similar effects.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_104

Quetzal:

58. This does not mean that their swinging-wave quanta will be erased in the Sohar Centre {see the last entry here, a meditation area at the Semjase Silver Star Center}, but it does mean that they cannot be given any more opportunity to ever make up missed swinging wave deposits in the present or in the future.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_105

Billy:

16. I felt that because she {Claire} was telling me untruths that caused quite bad swinging waves in her.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_106

Quetzal:

30. It would therefore also be useless if you were to once again arouse anger to raise your voice, as you correctly recognise.

Billy:

18. How do you know that I do not want to scream and yell?

Quetzal:

31. Because you know the facts correctly and your swinging waves reveal that to me.

...

Billy:

24. Do you not understand that something suddenly curses me.

25. Listen to my thoughts for once.

Quetzal:

36. You would have to open your blockade, but that is exactly what you cannot do, because you control yourself too much to reveal your feelings through your thought forms.

37. But your swinging waves are enough for me to grasp that an evil storm is raging in you, causing you great pain.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_107

Billy:

... But girl, now tell me something else: you are very susceptible to our swinging waves, but nevertheless, you told me once that you would move among us Earth-humans every now and then. How does that make sense now? If you go crazy when you come into our vicinity, then how can it be that you yourselves still move among us?

Semjase:

115. That is very easy to explain:

116. If we move among you Earth-humans, then we use, as I have already explained to you before, a very small device to neutralise the swinging waves of the Earth-humans.

117. These devices, however, are very low-performance and only hold energy for barely 32 minutes.

118. Thus, it is not possible for us to use these devices for longer periods of time.

119. We still are not so far along that our devices could fully guard or protect us.

Billy:

But Asket already had such devices, which provided full and complete protection for many weeks and months. Why do you not make the same?

Semjase:

120. Their devices are designed completely differently and are absolutely unsuitable for our vibrations.

121. Asket also cannot help us with this, and thus, our scientists are dependent on developing their own devices that are coordinated to us, which are also based on an entirely different technology than the one that Asket had with herself.

Billy:

Then nothing can be done there. But about how long will it still take, before you have fully developed such devices?

Semjase:

122. It is a very lengthy process and can, therefore, take a very long time.

123. Unfortunately, not only do purely technological processes have to be observed and evaluated with everything but also psychological and consciousness-related ones, which makes everything even much more difficult.

124. If everything was only of a purely technological matter, then it would be of insignificance.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_109

Ptaah:

81. Both of them, so, therefore, Jacobus as well as your wife 'Cannibal', must strive in very strict form for the fact that when they enter the Sohar Centre {see the last entry here, a meditation area at the Semjase Silver Star Center}, they truly shut off all their thoughts, which, unfortunately, has not yet been the case in a satisfactory form.

82. If this is not done by both, they will impair the swinging waves of the Sohar Centre, which then, in turn, are reflected in the swinging waves of those reclining and affect them negatively.

83. All Sohar Centre users can confirm the difference between the two of them and you at any time because they inevitably have to tell the difference.

84. You can completely shut down all your thoughts in true perfection and, thus, can stay in the Sohar Centre for a very long time, without any swinging wave being affected, which is also the reason why – just in another respect and in other values – we can safely approach you.

85. But since your wife 'Cannibal' and Jacobus are not yet able to operate in this manner and are still constantly permeated by thoughts, when they enter the Sohar Centre, the Centre's swinging waves are impaired, and these then settle themselves into those reclining and fill them with restlessness and also impair their exercises.

86. At the same time, true love also plays a very important role, as you do, indeed, know.

87. Differentiated love may in nowise be present for the individuals who are to be brought into the Sohar Centre.

88. An authoritative, sincere love must be uniformly given by the representative and responsible person, who is registered by those brought in and whose swinging waves are collected.

89. This gives them the security of peace and security itself, as well as the security of love.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_135

Billy:

... And can anything happen to you from the swinging waves of the Earthlings at this distance? According to my knowledge, you can come within 90 or 100 metres of the Earth-humans without protective equipment and not expose yourselves to any type of swinging wave danger.

Semjase:

51. The last part of your assessment is correct ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_140

Semjase:

39. This is only a matter of time and, above all, a question of common sense of those group members who commit fallible actions and drive you into misery and distress, which is absolutely incomprehensible to all of us after the test results and the well-concerned efforts of last time.

40. We simply do not understand it because no logic is found in all of the events.

41. Somehow, it appears to us as if one or another group member could simply drift mindlessly at times, without any sense, whereby extreme swinging waves take power over him, which he then expresses in a highly negative form within himself and allows it to become effective.

42. It is, however, incomprehensible to us that no defence is taken against it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_144

Semjase:

22. These conflicts within him {Hans Schutzbach} finally led him to the case because through his steady insistence of getting in touch with me, I allowed myself to be led to approach him in my ship so close that he came into my personal swinging wave field.

23. Thus, he suddenly became aware of the true love and peace, which seemed like a paradise to him.

24. But disaster immediately fell upon him when I went away again and he fell out of my swinging wave field.

25. It seemed like the end of the world to him, which made him deal with suicidal intentions, from which I was able to prevent him only with great difficulty.

26. For this reason, I tried to influence him to the better through my own swinging-waves, but this was clearly wrong because he only responded to any attempt to help him on my part by starting to pity himself more and more, and at last, a dangerous hatred built up inside of him against everything that has to do with calm, peace, and love, as well as with truth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_149

Quetzal:

8. Today, we want to subject the {Meditation} Centre to a renewed cleaning.

Billy:

Ah, that is good. Somehow, I think that a damn funny and cold climate prevails here. Engelbert and some others were right about this. There are swinging waves present in here that are downright nauseating, destructive, and malicious.

Quetzal:

9. That is of correctness, and that is also the reason why I have my protective device in operation.

Billy:

Ah, yes, you take in this strangeness even much more than I do. But this is, indeed, clear because you do not have such an underdeveloped and slowly reactive body as I do.

Quetzal:

Billy:

Of course, that is also clear to me. But can you tell me, perhaps, from where these swinging waves actually come?

Quetzal:

11. They were produced by the mistake that unauthorised persons were allowed to stay in here.

Billy:

Aha, then the origin probably lies with Peter?

Quetzal:

12. Your sharp sense is admirable.

Billy:

This is not so bad, as even Engelbert and some others also bumped into this solution. On the other hand, there was virtually no other possibility, for only after Peter was lying in here did these ghastly swinging waves come about. ...

...

... You said that you want to clean the Centre. About how long will it take, and who will do this?

Quetzal:

17. We need about 30 to 35 minutes.

18. The cleaning will be carried out by the 'little ones', as you call them, about which they amuse themselves very much, by the way.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_154

Billy:

... Such commitments disturb destiny in its flow because they are usually wrongly based on emotions, and they also proceed from wrong thoughts, causing a mental disorder to appear, which displaces those necessary swinging waves that should decisively attract the destined life partner, even if this one belongs to another race and is tens of thousands or millions of kilometres away and has no direct, material, conscious knowledge of his/her partner. Nevertheless, the subconscious forms connect and find each other, so one partner will find the other with absolute certainty if the destiny-swinging waves of the psyche, which are sent out through the material as well as through the subconscious form and then received again, are functioning properly and are not disturbed by false influences. But the danger of the disturbance or even the destruction of destiny-swinging waves is presently very large, due to the wrong lifestyles and the wrong environmental influences associated with them and so on, but above all, due to the fact that the lack of knowledge of the human beings – in relation to the teaching and its impact, as well as to the causes and effects of thinking, of material consciousness, as well as of the workings of the subconscious and the determinations and the power of the psyche – usually lets the human beings act wrongfully, whereby they ignore their determinations and even destroy them in many cases. ...

Quetzal:

13. The difficulties are to be found in the swinging waves.

14. My device only works properly, in reference to the shielding of swinging waves and their neutralisation, if the group members of the watch, etc., are not approaching me in a range closer than 70 centimetres.

19. If I would now find myself somewhere, where I have no exact overview – thus, I cannot see a threat early on when someone approaches me, having swinging waves that are dangerous for me and that are beyond the 9-metre distance, then it could be fatal for me.

...

24. But now, if someone moves in the circle between 9 and 14 metres around me and is dangerous for me in their swinging waves, in this 9 to 14-metre circle, then there is no protection but only mortal danger.

43. ... we stayed in there {the Semjase Silver Star Centre} very often, though unobserved, especially at nighttime, when the swinging waves of the group members are better.

Billy:

Last Friday, you spoke of the matters of the Centre and of yourself as well as of your people, concerning the fact that a swinging wave endangers you here, and it slowly makes it impossible for you to be able to come here. But now, it has hit me that you were already often in the house, in the office, or even in the lounge with me, but still, you have not had any problems.

Quetzal:

5. But it is, in fact, the case that walls and glass, etc., strongly absorb the Earth-human swinging waves, which lowers the risk for us that we lose control.

6. But now, this does not mean that the danger is averted through this because, in truth, it only decreases, which is why we must protect ourselves from the consequences with our protective devices.

7. Moreover, the small devices are completely sufficient for this, but only for a short time, while in this connection, my large device grants absolute security for several hours when I am surrounded by protective walls.

...

Billy:

But I see, in accordance with your explanation, that your device can also be dangerous because if walls and glass strongly absorb the swinging waves, then the distances also have to collapse, according to which the device then only reacts much later when someone comes. So it could be that you are standing behind a wall, etc. and then suddenly, someone comes around the corner, after which then, the catastrophe would be baked.

Quetzal:

10. That is of correctness.

...

Quetzal:

25. Ingrid is, in fact, very strongly affected by a craze for domination, which expresses itself much more strongly than what is noticeable with Elizabeth, toward the children.

26. Until now, never have I experienced that children indulge so unnaturally, extensively, and intensively in agonising crying as what is the case with Ingrid with her children and with those of Elizabeth.

27. Their domineering swinging waves particularly affect the small children in such a manner that they feel excruciating pains in their emotional centres, which are so intense that they often cry.

28. But this also carries over to the other children, which is usually only expressed, however, when they are no longer in the Centre, where their sufferings have vanished through the neutralising swinging waves prevailing here.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_167

Billy:

... If it is okay by you, then I would now like to conclude our conversation for today; moreover, the boy could also wake up again as a result of our discussion.

Quetzal:

42. I understand, and Atlant is really very dear, as he sleeps there in his vehicle.

Billy:

It just surprises me that you are not afraid, when otherwise, you always react so sensitively.

Quetzal:

43. You are illogical, because you know very well that sleeping people and, above all, children of this age, cause us little or no risk.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_174

{Note: Please see the full Contact Report for the context of this entry.}

Quetzal:

23. We can offer some protection to the group members by and through the monitoring disk, by allowing the sending down of protective swinging waves over the area of the Center via the disk.

24. However, these are only effective if the group members are not directly bareheaded and if they wear some protection against wide-surface materials on or above the head, and the size of this protection must be at least 34.2 centimetres in diameter.

25. Above this protection, the swinging wave released from our disk then divides itself like a fan to the ground, whereby a protective coat forms, which provides absolute protection.

28. However, the flying apparatus of the Giza allies withdrew using a hyper-leap procedure that is not recognisable to us, so we also could not detect any structural swinging waves neither with the entry into hyperspace nor with the exit of the craft from the same.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_179

Quetzal:

17. As it turned out, these folk {Saban} have always been in constant touch with the real Giza Intelligences remaining on the Earth, so it was easy for them and their allies to get in touch after the deportation through us, through a consciousness block, after which the Sabans then helpfully stepped in and gave the Giza Intelligences every aid, while they themselves also actively cooperated and even pursued the same objectives since ancient times.

18. In addition, they had not remained idle over many centuries, but they developed malignant technologies that enabled them for several months to send out, across millions of light-years, negative swinging waves that were polarised toward the smallest targets, which exhibit the characteristic that they take the available negative swinging waves of the same kind from the target and concentrate them into an immense ball of power, without the originators of the swinging waves noticing a reduction in their strength and without the originators of the swinging waves losing anything of their own swinging waves.

Billy:

Ah, I understand. Then the negative swinging waves of the believers, sectarians, and religious fanatics, etc., are probably those which are taken and concentrated into an enormous and destructive ball of power, right?

Quetzal:

19. That is of correctness, but that is not enough because as a result of the acquired technology, the Sabans have succeeded in having their swinging waves affect targets, located millions of light-years away, in such a concentrated manner and exactly to the millimeter, such that they could locate and hit a fly on the Earth from their impulse location in the Karan system.

...

36. Until that time, which must be clear to all of you, there will still exist the influencing swinging wave impulses of a negative form, by which some group members are still unnoticeably influenced.

...

42. Fortunately, not all of the named are accessible in a strong form but rather many only in weaker measures, as for example Cornelia and Maria, as well as Gilgamesha, for they behave more passively to such swinging waves, without them being able to be strongly influenced.

43. But vulnerability is also expressed with them, such as with Cornelia, who can be misled by the influences of such swinging wave attacks, whereby her objectivity decreases.

44. Jacobus reacts in the most vulnerable form because his mind is still too focused on individualism instead of on solidarity, whereby he isolates himself inside of himself and blocks against the rest of the group members, through which no united assistance can be given to him by them, which is why he can be attacked by negative swinging waves of all kinds as a person alone and in a strong form and can be enormously impaired in his doing, thinking, and acting.

45. By excluding himself and being alone, he fends off all assistance and becomes the individual and single point of attack, who can become fully affected and influenced in all his strength.

49. Through such swinging wave impulse attacks, which also emanate from the Earth-humans themselves but in a different form than what is the case with the Giza Intelligences, the fallible ones are also always vulnerable, in a grossly susceptible manner, to ignore all laws and recommendations, so equality and equal rights also find no progress and no fulfilment here.

Billy:

And what about Ingrid and Ferdinand?

Quetzal:

50. Also with regard to them, I still would have addressed a few things from my side because they both are only in that phase of development which slowly leads them to become acquainted with the laws and recommendations of the Creation, without understanding them for the time being.

...

54. But this means that they still lack any defenses against negative swinging wave impulses of all kinds, which is also why their vulnerability and their enthusiasm toward false actions are very great.

55. It is the characteristic of this phase that the know-it-all quality is very pronounced, as this is also expressed with Ingrid and Ferdinand.

56. In addition, an illogical obstinacy and an inability to understand logical consequences and actions are linked with this.

60. In particular, Ingrid is like a huge magnet for such swinging wave impulses, which is why at that time, the forces were able to concentrate themselves so highly, in an unusually dangerous form that is well-known to you, and could penetrate into the Center.

61. The reason for this with Ingrid is that she is still tremendously fond of faith and builds up no defense against it.

62. She even constantly creates imaginations which still very strongly promote and build up her magnetic force of attraction to such negative swinging waves.

...

Quetzal:

81. 2) The SOHAR-Centre may only be accessed and used in psychically flawless condition and without any meditation- or swinging wave-impairing illnesses, such as increased body temperature due to not feeling well, etc.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_180

Quetzal:

79. The swinging waves of the male and female group members differ so strongly that they produce disturbing swinging waves in every case, for the entire blockade cannot be produced through the introduction [process].

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_182

Quetzal:

35. From our side, we can no longer agree, under the present circumstances, to be helpful to her through impulses, as we also can no longer do this in the future for other fallible group members.

36. Those who commit false actions will be excluded from our impulse swinging waves in the future, so they will be released to the harmful swinging waves of the environment and to the course of fate.

37. But this might mean serious harm for them.

38. On the one hand, as a result of being released from the positive impulse swinging waves, they will be susceptible to health hazards, which will likely lead to serious problems and to an uneasy life.

Arlion:

... Unfortunately, we have not yet been able to overcome the energy generated by the religious faith of around 9 billion of Earth's humanity. We have carried out very precise investigations in all known earthly sciences of all categories, but we have not found any findings or even indications that it is known in any science that thoughts generate strong swinging waves of energy that are then maintained for many thousands of years. This, as apparently there is also no knowledge that these swinging waves actually exist on a basis of pure energy, which have an adversarial force. This energy and power, however, are constantly reinforced by new, similarly orientated swinging waves from many Earth-humans, so that over the course of many millennia an immeasurable energy power has been formed, which has been able to unfold into self-activity and cast a spell over Earth's humanity. These are delusional energies of religious belief, which are able to form themselves independently through their great power and are directed against every form of truth and reality. In this respect, they have become attacking and even dangerous and are increasingly displaying a wise malignancy. We realised this a very long time ago, but since then these energies and their power have expanded and intensified to such an extent that they have become truly dangerous and malignant and interfere with the thoughts of Earth's humanity. Consequently, nothing can counteract this kind of self-acting increase in development as a result of the ever-increasing energy and its power through the continuing religious delusion of Earth's humanity, except the clear and absolutely incorruptible mind. However, only a small number of Earth's humanity possesses this, as we have analysed, which means that only a small minority is actually free from delusion. Only this small number can protect themselves from being influenced by a religiously based delusional belief because their absolutely clear and free mind does not allow for a completely confused and wrong manner of thinking.

However, it is doubtful that my explanation can be understood by the earthly sciences of the relevant categories resp. the scientists who practise them and that they can also grasp the whole thing. This is firstly because they lack the necessary Intelligentum, secondly because their intellect is unable to grasp the truth, and thirdly because their narrow-mindedness, as we have recognised, does not allow this due to their desire to know better. In addition, we have discovered that so far only very inadequate apparatus and instruments exist with regard to the perception of energy, power and recording of thought activity, as a result of which the thought energy of the Earth's humanity brain cannot be determined in the form in which it is truthfully given, which combines with similar energy of the mass of humanity and is self-acting. Consequently, they also do not understand and cannot comprehend that the swinging waves of the delusional thoughts of Earth's humanity, with their tremendous energy and power, determine about 87% of all evil and negativity on Earth and that Earth-humans trigger this and make it a reality through their confused thoughts and their energy and power.

Through the various and numerous types of religious delusions, there has long been a negative intervention in the minds of Earth's humanity, which inevitably results in an increase in religious belief and this becomes more and more widespread. This gives rise to evil thoughts of aversion and enmity, such as even malicious thoughts of hatred as well as thoughts of revenge, etc., which not only proliferate very widely to evil discord and to extremely many acts of violence and to degenerating killing instincts as well as to war, but also lead to a religious fanaticism of faith, from which unbridled hatred arises in many different and deviant ways, especially against Earth's humanity who cultivate a different faith, which even affects whole peoples. This also refers to the fact that this energy, which emerges from the swinging waves of Earth's humanity's religious beliefs, becomes dangerous for persons who endeavour to name the religious delusion as such.

Quetzal:

330. However, you also spoke of terrorism in your remarks, and it is precisely on this topic that I would like to give you a prediction that relates to your home country, Switzerland.

331. Namely, in Berne, so my calculations showed, in the year 1982, the Polish Embassy will be taken by terrorists, whereby a smaller number of hostages will fall into their hands.

332. This event will take place around the 6th of September 1982, whereby this terrorist game will not cause any damage to human lives and will already on the 9th of September in the course of the 10th to the 11th hour of the morning, it will find its end.

333. Through a smaller detonation of an explosive by the police forces of a Bernese special command, which is carried out under the name 'Stern' ['Star], the police forces gain entrance into the embassy and, first of all, the four extremists, the terrorists, will be taken into custody, after which then, in the second place, also the hostages will be released.

334. Since these events concern an incident in the capital of your home country, I made an effort, using a time bypass, to monitor closely the upcoming events, whereby I have made a very deplorable observation, which refers to the acting and thinking of the responsible and enforcing personnel.

335. The Swiss Federal Councillor Kurt Furgler will form a crisis committee, which he himself will chair.

336. Now on the one hand I determined that this responsible person is severely religiously entangled, and on the other hand, all of his actions paradoxically come from great insecurity, while another factor relating to this is that he is driven by an unusually strong craving for recognition in his actions and words.

337. At the time of the event, this peculiar combination will lead to the fact that at first there will be great perplexity in combating the terrorist act, after which a solution will only appear much too late.

338. If this person in charge were capable of logical thinking, then the whole event could be brought to an end barely one and a half hours after the hostage-taking and occupation, by the same process that will only be carried out on the 9th of September.

339. Furthermore, this Kurt Furgler is also very quickly afflicted with anxiety, also in this coming affair, which is why he is not exactly well placed in his post, if only for this reason.

340. Regarding the policemen that will be deployed, similar negative characteristics are to be criticised because all parties involved only act because the commands are given to them, while fear blazes within them, combined with a peculiar urge for exercising power and violence.

341. In my observations, their movements and actions also testified to their fear and arrogance at the same time.

Billy:

You want to say that they will behave like small young boys, who play Indianerlis [Swiss children's game] and who defeat their enemy in order then to place their foot into the necks of those defeated, while threatening the underdog with deadly weapons. That they will not beat themselves with their weapons across their proud-swollen chests like gorillas and give a Tarzan scream of victory will be like a miracle. But comfort yourself with this: I have already known these poses and practices with the Swiss police forces for 45 years because they do not differ one iota from all other megalomaniac weapon swingers of all other countries on the Earth. They all are small, megalomaniac, and illogical young boys, who have weapons in their hands to lift themselves up as gods, but they often behave worse than toddlers in their thinking and actions, who are able to think a thought for the first time and who get to play with a piece of wood for the first time. Small young boys with physically adult bodies who think they know who they are and what they can do.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_878

Billy:

Exactly, unfortunately that is the case, because violence and destruction rule this world, especially by murderous military forces of various countries, who are constantly waging war somewhere, murdering and destroying, which is unfortunate to say the least. Murder and manslaughter are also constantly being committed through crime, strife, retaliation, revenge and jealousy. And if I want to cite Switzerland, then – apart from the military – this is equally true with regard to what is happening among the people. The entry into force of Switzerland's neutrality in 1815 – which is an armed neutrality – which is intended to be perpetual and to secure and guarantee the inviolability of Switzerland's territory, as the major European powers have agreed by treaty, prevents Switzerland from taking part in acts of war itself, but this does not suit those Swiss who enlist as mercenaries in other armies, despite the fact that this is prohibited under Swiss law.

Neutrality would be good, all well and good if it were respected, but unfortunately completely irresponsible elements in the Swiss government have made a mockery of it and betrayed our expensive national neutrality by adopting sanctions against Russia from the EU dictatorship and applying them – completely irresponsibly and without these dirty and treacherous elements being removed from the government, so that they can continue to wreak havoc against Switzerland. Just like other rotten elements who call themselves Swiss and are possibly only so-called 'paper Swiss', who want to make a mess of Switzerland's neutrality by any means possible – "in the name of progress and the community of nations, etc." – in order to let foreign judges rule over the Swiss people and their rights. Such elements are truly only rabble that are dangerous to freedom, dangerous to the country, dangerous to neutrality and hostile to humanity. Such people never belong in any government or office, whether in Bern or anywhere else in Switzerland, because they are bereft of the true values of humanity and are only self-important and selfish. True freedom, neutrality, non-violence, humanity, righteousness and human dignity are just as foreign to them as respect for fellow human beings, as are independence, professionalism, privacy, openness, optimism and creativity, financial and general security, fun, happiness, perfection, kindness, compassion, perseverance, health, accuracy, family-orientation, loyalty, success, trust, modesty, spontaneity, and so on. All high values – along with others – that they should first learn before they can take on a government office or official position so that they can lead and handle it correctly.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_879

Billy:

I know that, because all these wannabes and power addicts are sick and power-hungry idiots. They are also lowly intelligent and simple-minded – and unfortunately we also have such simple-minded people in our national government here in Switzerland, who make a mockery of our neutrality and also want foreign judges to judge Switzerland and the Swiss people, which is why these traitors to the country are endeavouring to effectively sneak our country into the EU dictatorship. Our entire national government is unfortunately riddled with unworthy and irresponsible behaviour that is incapable of any logic, understanding and reason and in its madness not only disregards the righteous and sensible in the government and their clear foresight and destroys what is good, but also forces the country and its people into misery and ruin. This truth is currently being demonstrated by the whole nonsense of the endeavour to pay out a 13th AHV pension, because if this is accepted in the election vote against all reason, it will cause very big problems. ...

...

Ptaah:

But this injustice goes much further, because as I have fathomed during my stays here on Earth, for example, especially here in your home country, money is generously given by this state to foreign countries for alleged sponsorship and aid, whereby often very large sums of millions of francs, which are unjustly collected from the citizenry through taxes, are given away for dubious purposes, etc. and shifted and squandered in foreign states. I have noticed that large sums of money end up in the accounts of wealthy state leaders, who enrich themselves almost without limits in this wise and ...

Billy:

... at the expense of Switzerland's bona fide taxpayers. But this is actually public knowledge, which is tacitly tolerated by the population because nobody dares to do anything about it. Moreover, paradoxically, the people are in favour of this fraud because they are religiously delusional and believe that squandering taxpayers' money in this way serves good causes and is 'Christian'. This is despite the fact that many of the people actually know that some of the unjust people in foreign governments and the heads of aid organisations are enriching themselves and becoming millionaires through this 'aid money' from the tax money of the Swiss people, as your daughter Semjase and I have already discovered in our research.

...

Billy:

All this, i.e. regarding the squandering of money, the destruction of nature, fauna and flora, all ecosystems as a whole and thus landscapes and bodies of water, as well as forests and mountains, floodplains, fields, moors and marshes etc. and thus inevitably also the atmosphere and climate, is unfortunately not, little or not at all taken into account in Switzerland. Especially not by those who 'squander' masses of 'coal' for supposedly 'good causes' and 'development aid' abroad and privately fill the wallets and bank accounts of foreign rulers. And the fact that traitors to the country are still involved in the government, who make a mockery of our neutrality and are tolerated by the people instead of shunning such traitorous elements, is typical of the general low-mindedness and stupidity, the very non-thinking that should be done instead, but which is followed by some crazy, confused and useless belief that makes people indifferent, lacking in initiative and completely inactive, fearful, ignorant of reality and also dismissive of the truth. ...

Now, this is different from the fact that certain individual incompetent elements are sitting in the government in Bern, also in the Federal Council in peacetime as traitors to the country, and are drawing a salary of no less than CHF 472,958.00 in the current year. However, the people are too cowardly to remove such elements from the government, just as the co-governors also fail to do so, but instead protect these nasty 'co-governing' elements who, for example, make a mockery of Switzerland's neutrality and allow them to wreak further havoc. The majority of the people obviously prefer to twiddle their thumbs and put up with everything that such government incompetents and traitors to the country do, which also includes those who want to sell off our homeland to the EU dictatorship and are already doing so step by step, so that when everything in this regard is over, foreign judges will decide on the weal and woe of the Swiss.

Ptaah:

The way I see Swiss politics, it is on the road to ruin.

Billy:

You are probably right, because when I consider all that is true and correct, how far-sighted, correct thinking and acting Switzerland's rulers also were at the time, when I was still young, but see how wrong, confused and destructive thinking, acting and ruling is today, then it is more than just recognisable that Switzerland is rapidly going downhill. It is very regrettable and absolutely incomprehensible that the Swiss people are sleeping with their eyes open – as is also the case with Earth's humanity in general. The truth is simply not perceived, because indifference, pleasure and allotria dominate human beings, as does the desire to be rich without having to work, as does also making oneself important in public, e.g. on television through self-branding or influencing, whereby a lot of money is 'siphoned off' from viewers as a result of stupid influencing, which they pay lowly intelligent and simple-minded. The same happens with sport, especially football, as high entrance fees are paid to watch footballers 'chug' a leather ball around. This is instead of keeping themselves busy and doing something for the health of their own bodies. Many people who do this are then surprised when their health suddenly leaves a lot to be desired. ...

Billy:

As for the question relating to the Federal Palace in Bern, where it is handled in such a way that those in power there enjoy very special treatment and rights with regard to any of their unfair or incorrect dealings – if any – than those granted to ordinary citizens. This also applies, for example, to the Federal Councillor who made a mockery of our neutrality and thus betrayed Switzerland. It is doubtful that she will still be held accountable because she is a member of the Federal Council, which makes it questionable, as the saying goes: "One crow does not peck out another crow's eye." The question is who speaks up and speaks justice, or which crow simply accepts the injustice. It is not my place to intervene in this matter, just as I am also not willing to politicise, but only want to observe and say what is really the truth and what needs to be said. So basically I do not interfere, because the people responsible are always those in the Federal Parliament who were in favour of the whole thing and who should also bear responsibility for it, but they did not, even though they had to know that the whole thing was against the constitution and neutrality. This also applies to the fact that foreign judges must never, ever be allowed to decide on any matters and laws in Switzerland – and this also applies to the European Union dictatorship, with which lowly intelligent and unrighteous elements of those in power in Bern are irresponsibly flirting and doing many wrong things that every true and good Swiss person advocates, in the sense of what Schiller formulated in his 'William Tell', but which has obviously been forgotten by many Swiss of both sexes. What Schiller wrote in his 'William Tell' has been forgotten by countless Swiss people, especially those who 'spar' with the EU dictatorship. I changed the form of these words from Schiller many years ago and would like to reproduce them here for you, as I once called Saddam Hussein in Iraq and still have them saved on my computer:

"We want to be one people of sisters and brothers who never separate in adversity and also not in danger.

We want to be free at all times, just as our ancestors were. We do not want death, nor do we want to live in servitude, trusting in ourselves, our logic, understanding and reason, so that we are not afraid of the unrighteousness of human beings, but are constantly faithful to the truth and also to our country."

Unfortunately, it is the case in Switzerland today that there are various parties in government in Bern that are extremely divided among themselves and are therefore also unable to reach a unified consensus. On the contrary, everything that would be right and good for the country and the people is usually contested and destroyed, as the SVP in particular always strives to do, but is demonised for it and called right-wing extremist ... In Switzerland, for example, various parties are also working against the SVP because it wants what is good and correct for the country and its people through its endeavours, but its opponents are too lowly intelligent to understand this.

...

Ptaah:

That all this is indeed as you have said it has come about in the unpleasant and very negative change in the attitude and behaviour of human beings here in this beautiful country – as also in other states – is particularly regrettable, for it does not correspond in any wise with what I have learned from all the old books and writings concerning Switzerland, as also with all that has been made known to me by you and with what I have become acquainted as a result of all my father's annals. What you have told me about the traditional behaviour, thoughts, actions and love of country of the human beings of Switzerland and about the freedom of this country and its people in earlier times is obviously no longer true, but corresponds today only to a persiflage.

Yes, Sfath even said this, explaining that language serves only for communication, and the communication contains only everything that is of a harmonious nature, which is why there are human races that only communicate with each other in song/musical form.

But I have fully understood your explanations, because I do know the New Testament, which allegedly contains your teaching.

But for a short time now I have known that the allegedly-handed-down teaching is only an evil falsification and only corresponds to the actual truth in very few things. Not at all to mention, thereby, regarding your own person, who has been pressed into a form of a god and a form of Creation and who is proclaimed as the redeemer of Earth humanity. You sit before me and I see that you are precisely as much a human as is Asket here, as is Jitschi over there and your brothers and students, who, in our time are called disciples. Now I wonder how it has come about that no direct documentation of your teaching has been handed down, because, to my knowledge, the first words of the New Testament which exists in my time were written only around 200 years after your alleged death on the cross. Do you not write down any facts at all of your teaching, in such a way that they can be kept for posterity?

Jmmanuel:

80. Truly, your question is very precisely directed.

81. Consider; my time is about two millennia before yours, and in this time only certain forms of society are literate.

82. On account of my mission, I did also learn writing and reading, yet I have insufficient time to write down my teaching.

83. And if I speak of my teaching, truly, then I thereby name the teaching of all great ages - the teaching of the spirit and the teaching of the laws and recommendations of Creation - which are eternally imperishable.

84. I learnt it in a similar way to you and furthermore spent long years in the distant land of Kush (note from Billy: today part of North India), where I was permitted to experience further learning.

85. So the teaching is indeed preached by me, yet it is truly not originally from me.

86. Truly, your question is, however, warranted.

87. I fully know the false and wrong teachings of the future about my true teachings and about my person.

88. But no practical steps are planned to change these coming misleading events, because the mass of erring and falsifying humans is too great to be able to influence them even on a small scale.

89. This will unfortunately lead to a false teaching of much longer than three thousand years, and to very much need, pain, hate, misery and bloodshed.

90. Truly, in spite of that, however, the truth will not be lost, because it will - in a safe place - remain transmitted and also outlast the time, in a written form.

91. Among my followers, I have a literate man named Judas Iscariot {Ischkerioth}, who writes down the most important parts of the teaching and events, which later, well preserved, shall outlast the time in order to hand down the actual truth to posterity.

92. With the help of an ex-priest, these texts will be found by you, in your time, in Jerusalem and you will spread them again, true to their meaning, and make them accessible to the humans.

93. But your time is still not ripe enough for that, and only in little more than two decades, in your own time, will the seed of truth find a little fertile ground.

Eduard:

That is good. You therefore mean that your teaching really remains preserved and then it will also be found by me somewhere?

Jmmanuel:

94. Truly, that is what I am saying.

95. Already the texts are being sought now in order to destroy them and to use them as indictments against me.

96. One scroll has already been stolen from the writer and kept closed by the Pharisees and the scribes.

97. Juda Ihariot, a son of a Pharisee, secretly took it out of Judas Iscariot's bag in order to sell it to my persecutors for 70 pieces of silver, in order, thereby, to be able to charge me with blasphemy against God.

98. But Judas Iscariot has been ordered by me to write the text once again and now to keep it quite safe whereby its purpose will outlast the ages.

Eduard:

You speak of Judas Iscariot, who is supposed to be your betrayer, as the texts of my time still convey, nonetheless falsified!

Jmmanuel:

99. Truly, I speak of him.

100. But he will in no way be the guilty one.

101. He who will hand me over to the persecutors is the same one who stole the texts and sold them.

Eduard:

Therefore Juda Ihariot?

Jmmanuel:

102. So is it.

103. But his father will spread the lie that Judas Iscariot is the betrayer, because the Pharisee name Ihariot must not be soiled.

104. But the reason is also based on the fact that the priests, scribes and Pharisees and their followers can say:

105. "Behold, one from his own ranks has betrayed him and handed him over to a death on the cross.

106. Behold, behold, how can his teaching be truth if his own people betray him and sell him?"

Eduard:

So that is the way it is. Now I understand quite a bit more. But now I ask myself, who then really hanged himself in Potters Field - respectively, who will hang himself there in the coming time?

Jmmanuel:

107. Juda Ihariot.

Eduard:

... But now it interests me whether the texts mentioned by you {Talmud Jmmanuel} will really serve the truth in my time.

I mean thereby the records of Judas Iscariot?

Jmmanuel:

158. Truly, it will be they, even if they will initially be greatly doubted.

159. Initially the accusation will be made that they are lies and a falsification, yet with time the truth will be victorious.

160. But first much adversity and defamation will come about due to the text, even out of your own ranks.

161. Yet the Great Time truth within the truth will always be victorious.

162. Many attempts will be undertaken to cause the truth and the genuineness of the text to appear in a dark light and appear to be untruth.

163. Yet all attempts will be useless, because the breaking through of the truth in your time is now already certain.

164. Truly, very evil things against the text will be brought into play in order to revile it as lies and to destroy it.

165. Very many paths will be trodden to that end.

do the scribes, the Pharisees and the priests of my time, who are only able to come into contact with very lowly, ignorant and misled humans and influence them by means of belief.

167. So will it also be in your time, because the humans of your time will have succumbed just as much to delusional beliefs and ignorance as have the humans of my time.

168. That will truly be a wicked evil in your time too.

Eduard:

They are indeed not exactly rosy outlooks.

What will be asserted then in order to put into question the genuineness of your teaching and the text and to make the accusation that they are lies?

Jmmanuel:

169. Truly, there will be very many paths trodden to that end.

170. A new form of the lie will, however, be this: it will be asserted that the text is indeed very valuable and contains certain truths, yet it does not transmit my teaching, rather it is only the teaching of another who has also borne the name Jmmanuel.

171. It will even be doubted that I am Jmmanuel and I will be forced into another person's identity.

172. This will result in association with the name Jesus Christ, malevolently given to me.

173. It will be asserted that I, Jmmanuel, would not be falsely named Jesus Christ, so it is supposed to appear that I, Jmmanuel, and the person of Jesus Christ, who I am imputed to be, have been two different people.

174. These further lies about me will be invented about me very early in your time.

Eduard:

But now I want to come back once again to your teaching, said more precisely, to your text, which indeed is now being written down by Judas Iscariot.

You said that it remains preserved up to my time.

Thus it must, in my time, be therefore hidden somewhere.

Can you tell me where it is located, and can I fetch it from there?

Jmmanuel:

192. Truly, I know where it will be, and I will tell you the precise place at a later point in time.

193. But it is not intended that you will fetch the text prematurely from the place where it will be hidden.

194. Nor is this intended for any others.

Jmmanuel:

214. I already told you that Judas Iscariot's text, which contained sections of my teaching, was stolen.

215. This text will be the basis of all falsifications.

216. Presently they are also continued, in a falsified manner, by the Pharisees and scribes and are not completed according to my teachings.

217. The reason that this is happening is truly, however, only in order to falsify them now - and even more at a later time - to the point of being unrecognisable, and also to use them against me in court.

218. As I therefore speak and teach of Creation the texts are being falsely modified in such a way that mendacious words are put into my mouth, and I am supposed to have spoken of a father in heaven, the gathering of a host of angels and many other false things.

219. But I have never done that because these forms do not correspond to the truth.

220. I have always faithfully spoken of the truth of Creation as being of Creation, and of God as being of God.

221. God was never put on a level with Creation by me, because God is a creature of Creation as are you and I and every other human.

222. In his form, he is a King of Wisdom and a ruler over human races, in the same way that a king or emperor also is a ruler over human races on Earth.

223. But Creation is the immeasurable secret and the Creation of every creation.

224. It is omnipotence, knowledge, wisdom, love, omniscience and BEING.

225. And my teachings speak of it alone, when I talk of it and its laws and recommendations and of the power of eternity.

[Translator's note: sentence 226 is omitted in the original.]

227. Truly, this alone is the truth and nothing else.

228. But, in your time, when everything is handed down differently, then that corresponds to an evil deception and abominable falsification on the part of the twisters of the texts and false teachers.

229. Truly, the point of the falsifications lies just in the slander against me from the side of the scribes, Pharisees and priests in order to have me die on the cross.

230. But the further reason also lies in the fact that, through these false and twisted teachings, the humans of Earth are to be beaten into serfdom so that they are caused to succumb to poverty in regard to knowledge and reason, whereby they will be able to be shamefully enslaved through belief so they can be exploited in evil ways.

Semjase:

61. We know that you have cognisance of a secret old writing, whose originals were unfortunately destroyed because of the carelessness of our entrusted one, who was your friend and unfortunately failed in anxiety.

62. Spread the translation of this writing, for it is the only one that is genuine in truth and contains no lie.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_003

Semjase:

35. You know the script of Judas Ischarioth, which fully corresponds to the truth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_006

Billy:

... But I still have a question, if you allow me. It is about the Talmud Jmmanuel and the entrusted one by whose fault the original scrolls were destroyed, as you told me at an earlier time. With this entrusted one do you mean M. Rashid and if so, what are the connections between him and you?

Semjase:

...

114. Yes, it concerns Rashid, whom we had won for our tasks.

115. But unfortunately, he has failed in many things.

116. For too long he was dependent on the unreality of religion, so that it could grow roots in him, which often allowed him to think and act illogically.

117. A fact that unfortunately cannot be made good again.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_007

Semjase:

25. First, I would like to answer the question you asked me last time: M. Rashid was already one of our contacts since 1956.

26. As you do know, he was a priest of the Greek Orthodox Catholic Church.

27. We engaged him to take several things in hand, which he also promised us to do.

28. Thus, we thought that he would be the right man to solve a very difficult task.

29. Consequently, we showed him the spot where he could have found the Talmud Jmmanuel, but which you then found; that original script that Judas Iscariot had written during the lifetime of Jmmanuel (alias Jesus Christ).

30. Through our help, he learned the Old Aramaic language and was thus able to translate the scripts.

31. He did this very correctly and made a German language translation that is, indeed, known to you.

32. Through the reading of the original scripts, M. Rashid succumbed to pangs of conscience and suddenly no longer knew what he should acknowledge as truth.

33. To the outside he made the feigned conviction known that he would give belief to the Talmud, but in reality the religion was too deeply anchored in him, and he suffered from pangs of conscience.

34. This, then, was also the reason why he officially withdrew from his religious belief and devoted himself solemnly to the task of translating aforementioned script, which he did very correctly in spite of everything.

35. But as I said; he was not convinced and never knew what he should do.

36. In addition he lived constantly in anxiety that his found scripts might become discovered and known, so as a precaution we had to associate him with someone who did not know anxiety and who guaranteed us according to his character and knowledge that he was able to secure the scripts, so therefore you.

37. Unfortunately, however, M. Rashid became more and more entangled in his anxiety, and he began to divulge things that could become dangerous to him and the Talmud.

38. He took it so far that by the middle of 1974, he had no choice but to flee from Jerusalem and take off to Lebanon, where he lived in a refugee camp under a false name – together with his family.

39. But he then also had to flee again from there and left the country.

40. His anxiety, however, was to blame for the fact that he locked all scripts in a wooden wall, where they were completely destroyed by a fire just a few hours later when Israeli military invaded.

41. Therefore, it was his fault that everything was destroyed.

42. But actually it is also our fault, because we trusted him too much and expected too much of him, whereby the most valuable evidence could be destroyed, which could ever have revealed the untruth of the Christian and all other sects and religions connected with it.

43. But there still exists more than a quarter of the script in its German version, and it will also in this way be sufficient to bring the truth to light and free the human being from a deadly delusion.

45. We broke off all contacts with him when he fled with his family from Lebanon and left the script for destruction.

46. We only know that he was most recently in Iraq.

47. From then on, we were no longer interested in him.

48. He and his family have gotten lost somewhere in the world, just as he has also lost his real name.

Billy:

What is that supposed to mean again; is his name not M. Rashid?

Semjase:

49. No, because only his cousin is called by that name.

50. I do not want to mention his real name officially, because perhaps he is now using it again just as he did as a priest.

51. Despite everything we are not hostile-minded towards him and do not want to cause him any difficulties; that is why I do not want to mention his name openly.

Billy:

All right, Semjase, I also do not want to know it.

Semjase:

52. You are not curious at all, although you know the real name.

Billy:

Otherwise now and then I am indeed, but when I do not want to be, then I just am not. With your allusion, however, do you mean the real given name or first name that begins with an "I"?

Semjase:

...

54. Yes, that name is meant.

Billy:

... We have already spoken several times about the Talmud Jmmanuel. Jmmanuel himself has over the course of the last 2000 years fundamentally been used again and again as main religious figure. Is the intention of once again using this already long dead human being to make a new belief-direction and an idol out of him? Is the Talmud Jmmanuel supposed to serve this purpose?

Semjase:

204. No.

...

211. The teaching of Jmmanuel is not his teaching but that of the Creation and the laws of the Creation, which Jmmanuel also first had to learn, recognise, and acknowledge.

212. Because of that, he has only made known what the natural laws call for.

214. The truth of the Talmud shall be taught and recognised as such, without a calling into play the name of Jmmanuel and his glorification.

215. Important are only the truth and the laws, but not the person who brought this teaching, laws, and the truth.

Semjase:

72. With regard to Mr Reiz's concerns and book, however, I have to say that the records are quite erroneous, because they originate from a hierarchical view that is to be connected with a technology.

73. So Mr Reiz puts his only approximately understandable mental forces and facts into a technology even more incomprehensible to him, whereby he unfortunately presses everything into hierarchical forms.

74. Therefore, the records are of absolutely no value and of no importance.

75. I have tried to read the book (The Chronicle of Akakor), but the things contained therein are completely unknown to me.

76. All of us have tried very hard to get to grips with this matter and to check the information given in the book.

77. Unfortunately, however, everything was without result and we could not find any information confirmed.

79. We might have missed something, but this possibility is not very great.

...

Billy:

58. So you mean that there is not much to think of the records, etc. of Mr Reiz'?

Semjase:

83. Certainly, because they come from a lost way of thinking of hierarchical unvalues, as they correspond in this case to the 'bridge to freedom'.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_155

Quetzal:

76. But now, we should turn again to other things because a question from you is still open, which you already gave us a long time ago, but which we could not answer to your satisfaction because we first had to fathom and clarify everything.

77. By this, I am referring to the question that you asked in the name of Helmut Reiz, with regard to the book "The Chronicle of Akakor" and the one who appears in it, TATUNCA NARA, chief of the white Indian peoples known as the Ugha Mongulala, written by an ARD correspondent named Karl Brugger.

78. The entire history of the alleged Chief Tatanca Nara is based on lies and deception, just like the one named Tatanca Nara, who, in truth, was born a German.

79. His real name is Hansi Richard Günter Hauck, who has learned the trade of a bricklayer and who was born on the 5th of October, 1941 as a son of Johann Hauck and Meta Hauck and who was born in Grub am Forst in Bayern.

80. Married on 15.2.62, he disappeared a few years later, after which his marriage was ended by divorce by the district court, Nürnberg-Fürth, on the 10th of January, 1966.

81. After his willful abandonment of his wife, he worked for a short time on a ship named DORTE OLDENDORF, from which he soon departed, however, and disappeared into South America, where he entered into strange connections with the Brazilian Secret Service SNI, then conspired with the military there and then settled down in the jungle under a fanciful pack of lies, in order to appear from then on as Chief Tatanca Nara and to make talk of himself.

82. Thanks to the fantasists Erich von Daniken and Peter Krassa, as well as the correspondent Dieter Kronzucker, his pack of lies has been carried out and distributed into the world, which entailed that various people fell into the murderous clutches of Hansi Hauck, whom he then treacherously murdered in the depths of the jungle, in order to get at their money and valuables.

83. Unfortunately, through the fault of the money-greedy fantasists and believers in the matter of Tatanca Nara, it also will not be avoided in the future that other people will fall victim to his murderous sense and greed, such as the correspondent Karl Brugger, whom Hauck will allow to be shot by an assassin in Rio de Janeiro in the year 1984.

84. Also a Swiss named Herbert Wanner from Zofingen will become one of his victims, as well as a German living in Sweden and who bears the name Christine Hauser, but also an Englishman by the name of John Ried.

85. However, these will not be the only murder victims in the life of Hansi Hauck because by the time of the murder of Karl Brugger in Rio, Hauck will already be a 12-time murderer.

Billy:

Well, the next question: Does an artificial tunnel system exist under Ecuador and is a large number of metal foils in the format 96 x 48 cm there, which are printed with unknown characters?

Semjase:

75. Underground tunnel systems from the past exist all over the world, including Ecuador.

76. There, however, many of these tunnels collapsed due to the recent earthquakes in Guatemala.

77. However, various Earth-humans claim that these Ecuador tunnels are inhabited and connected to underground cities where extraterrestrials and other human life-forms live.

78. This however corresponds to a pure fantasy, which is evaluated in a mischievous and also maliciously profitable way.

Billy:

Well, what about the metal foils?

Semjase:

79. There are no such things there or in the adjoining space that would be of extraterrestrial origin.

80. There probably exist foils of the measurement you have referred to, but they were fraudulently made for unfair purposes by Earth-humans a number of years ago.

Billy:

This answer is clear; but what kind of characters are there on these man-made foils?

Semjase:

81. They were confusingly, but logically, made by a whole group of earthlings for fraudulent charlatan purposes.

82. But they are truthfully of complete insignificance.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_002

Billy:

What about so-called UFO contactees claiming that their friends from the stars would only communicate telepathically between themselves?

Semjase:

28. Certainly there are such creatures, who only communicate telepathically.

29. However, their communication was telepathic from the very beginning, or else they quite simply let their spoken language wither away.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_034

Semjase:

25. However, as I have explained to you before, such Earth-humans who are capable of telepathy are very few in number, and they very rarely, if ever, come forward with their ability.

...

Semjase:

277. You also know very well that every human is able to influence other human beings at unlimited distances in such a manner that they do exactly what they are commanded to do.

278. You yourself have become mighty in these powers through the teachings of Sfath and Asket.

286. The time has now come for you, when you are to steer such events in certain directions for the benefit of humankind.

287. This means that you are to influence influential persons to take certain steps.

Billy:

You demand a great deal from me, and besides, I have not done such things for years. I don't know if I can still do it.

Semjase:

288. It will, because if you have learned something, then it is always present to you.

Billy:

Well, then I will try it, even if it doesn't suit me. Because I do not want to influence other people and let them dance according to my will.

Semjase:

289. There can be no question of that, and you should never do that either.

290. You are to direct only certain events and influence them for the better, but only where it becomes an absolute necessity.

291. In this case {see Patty Hearst kidnapping} the point is that you make sure that some certain people are led on a certain track.

292. Otherwise you should not influence certain events in the future.

293. So you should not steer the events, but only influence them in such a form that very specific steps are taken, whereby very malignant degenerations cannot occur.

Semjase:

133. Unfortunately, people will see the landing support imprints, that is not good.

134. I cannot just eliminate the whole meadow to cover the tracks.

135. But I will find a solution.

Semjase's solution was to order the farmer through an impulsive telepathic urge to get up immediately and mow his meadow.

A few weeks later Billy spoke with the farmer and told him that he heard that the farmer had mowed his meadow at 3:00 hrs in the morning. The man confirmed this and explained that he had immediately awakened from a dream with the unconditional urge to mow his meadow. The urge was so strong that he immediately got up to do the work he had dreamed of, although he still did not really understand why he had done it.

6. In these efforts I also came across the property you mentioned then and found that it was exactly the right time to access it, so I let impulses penetrate you that reminded you of this predetermined property and urged you to inform yourself immediately afterwards, because it really is the predetermined building and therefore the very best property and the most suitable place where you can build the Centre.

32. Of course; I was interested in your meeting, which is why I observed you for some time.

33. I could see that you were very absorbed in your response when Elsi joined you.

34. Her thoughts rushed to you, but you did not register them because you were busy elsewhere.

35. So I tried to draw Elsi's attention with an impulse, but apparently I did not succeed.

36. But why do you ask?

Billy:

73. That is why.

74. Elsi caught an impulse that was not from me, so it must have been from you.

Semjase:

37. She often receives impulses from me, because she is very receptive to them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_086

Semjase:

13. Emotional degenerations of a jealous form come very strongly to the fore, as this is clearly established and ...

Billy:

14. I know, because sometimes I caught quite wild thoughts from some of them, especially from

...

15. It was interesting to notice that these jealousy thoughts were mainly to be assigned to men, in a rather ambivalent way.

thoughts, but on the other hand, at the same time, wild jealousy thoughts were chased out of the same brains, which had just expressed the opposite of it through words.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_087

Semjase:

54. Well, then I would like to send you very dear greetings to all my friends, to whom I often direct my thoughts, but unfortunately there are only very few who are able to catch them in impulsive form.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_091

Semjase:

10. According to the Cygner, the four ships with unknown whereabouts are older expedition ships, which unfortunately only have very limited means of remote communication on a technological basis.

11. This means that the Cygner here on Earth cannot communicate with their home planet, precisely because their means of remote communication cannot bridge the distance of 2,000 light-years.

12. The maximum range of their devices is unfortunately less than 1,400 light-years.

Billy:

8. But then they would be able to make a mental-telepathic connection.

Semjase:

13. Unfortunately this is not possible for them, because the Cygner only master the primary telepathy, not the spirit-telepathy.

Billy:

9. Oh so, then they are planet bound with this telepathy form.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_101

Billy:

62. Why do you not give me the reports after the contacts in the fast form, like you did it twice?

63. It would save me a lot of time.

Quetzal:

67. I can do this here and there, but not too often, because it tears and pulls too much at your powers.

68. If the reports are sent to you in the usual form as they have always been, then you are doing an unprecedented amount of work.

69. But if I give it to you in the fast form I have developed, your work effort will increase massively.

Billy:

64. Aha.

65. How much time of normal work does it take if you send me a typewriter page report with the usual time?

Quetzal:

70. I have not calculated that, which is why I can only turn to you my self-calculated data, which is divided into minutes.

71. One minute of telepathic transmission in the duration of the normal speaking time requires from you a power consumption of physical power of 23 minutes of normal work performance, which means that if you have 30 minutes of telepathic recording to make, you perform a physical work performance of great magnitude, namely one that corresponds to 690 minutes of continuous and strenuous physical work.

72. A one-hour telepathic record to you thus requires 1,380 minutes of physical effort, while data triples in rapid transmission.

Billy:

66. So this means that for one hour of data transfer at normal work rate, 23 hours of physical work is involved?

67. That is crazy, how am I supposed to do that?

Quetzal:

73. You constantly regenerate your strength, which is why you are always exhausted after a transmission – by the power consumption itself and by the regeneration process.

Billy:

68. But no one can keep that up.

Quetzal:

74. Usually not, but somehow, and this is an unsolved riddle for us as well, you manage it and keep it going.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_118

Billy:

... Now tell me, my son, could you find out something to do with that which I communicated to Semjase by way of thought?

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_145

Billy:

... You {Quetzal} were with some of your people in America with your group there. Together with them, you tried, through strong impulses, to win some Americans over to our cause, and you also tried for a long time to give Elsi suitable impulses, to which she should have complied, and she should have sought out those influenced by you.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_159

Billy:

... You see, Elektra, we send our thoughts back and forth daily. You do not yet master our language so thoroughly that you can immediately understand the right terms for each name. This is why we must mentally converse very strenuously, in order to find the right meanings. But for me, this is tremendously strenuous, which is why I already have an unusually large headache after two hours in each case. Hence, I would be very happy if you would give me a break from time to time, so that I can recover a bit. I am certainly not just soft, but the strains are really very great.

Elektra:

14. I also wanted to talk with you about that because for me, it is all very strenuous and strength-demanding.

15. My head also hurts very strongly every time, and that after only a short time.

16. None of us are used to such overloads.

17. For my part, I only cooperated in this strength-demanding wise because I adapted myself into your working speed.

18. It is my wish, that you work in a slower manner.

Quetzal:

26. That is of correctness, for the overload becomes too great.

27. As you know, I once calculated for you that one hour of such work is equivalent to an output that normally comprises about 20 normal working hours, whereby the average is still somewhat higher than that.

28. Now, if you both work together in this form for 7 to 8 hours a day, then there results a daily work performance of 140 to 160 normal working hours each.

29. This is, however, an achievement that is monstrous and inhuman, but which also cannot be answered for, neither by you nor by Elektra.

30. Even though you call an earthly body your own – which is very powerful, as we know very well – it also needs many powers.

31. But Elektra's body also relies on the powers, even more than yours, because it is more sensitive.

32. You both have powers of a material consciousness-related form of approximately the same proportion, through which you can overload your bodies to a certain extent.

33. Nevertheless, you are not able to do this for a longer duration because your bodies would be injured.

34. With you, like with Elektra, I have seen that you were daily at the end of your strength, when you finished working.

35. For this reason, I am giving you the advice that in the future, you only work together in this manner for 5 hours a day, whereby you also limit the pace of work and often include breaks in the work.

36. Even so, you still have to take all sorts of overloads upon yourself, for even in this manner, you still daily achieve 100 normal working hours each.

...

Billy:

Good, then we will just continue slowly. Do you also think so, Elektra?

Elektra:

20. I am glad about that, because for me, it really was unusually strenuous and painful.

Billy:

If you are satisfied with that, then I am happy. It really was strenuous and painful, even if the human beings of the Earth presumably cannot understand that.

Quetzal:

41. I do not understand that again?

Billy:

They still think that thought transmissions of any kind would require little or no powers at all and that all this is practically child's play.

Quetzal:

Billy:

So it also seems to me, especially since there are so many frauds in this area, who claim that they would have these abilities. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_172

Quetzal:

82. We have also thought of that, because in light of the new given conditions, we now will not stand back from giving a little help to all group members, thus, we will once again be helpful with impulses.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_181

Quetzal:

28. That is also the reason why I let this idea impulse penetrate into you, so that you would regulate it so.

...

Billy:

So it was you, for I could not even explain to myself from where I suddenly had this thought. Only today did I talk to Engelbert about this and told him that it was puzzling to me as to why and how I had this idea and that it seemed to me as if the thought had come from somewhere outside and had settled itself inside of me.

Quetzal:

31. Then you have correctly recognised things.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_182

Quetzal:

35. From our side, we can no longer agree, under the present circumstances, to be helpful to her through impulses, as we also can no longer do this in the future for other fallible group members.

36. Those who commit false actions will be excluded from our impulse swinging waves in the future, so they will be released to the harmful swinging waves of the environment and to the course of fate.

37. But this might mean serious harm for them.

38. On the one hand, as a result of being released from the positive impulse swinging waves, they will be susceptible to health hazards, which will likely lead to serious problems and to an uneasy life.

...

Quetzal:

166. ... those impulses that we have contributed before and since the births of all group members.

...

Quetzal:

276. As I told you at that time, we were compelled by this to discontinue some forms of impulses, which had been emitted toward Elsa since her birth.

277. In the absence of these impulses, she got ever more tangled up, and she deviated from her determinations and their fulfilment more and more.

278. And now that she has become even more alienated to everything in malicious wise, I am forced to stop other forms of impulses, whereby her initiative and concentration in her private life and with regard to her private work as a sewing teacher will decrease and rapidly decline, whereby a mental and physical decay will also take place, but this will occur at a very slow pace.

279. Thus, it is given that she escapes from our protection, as well as from her group membership, and that naturally, she lives against her own death determination, which we had influenced and canceled through our impulses, so that she could fulfil her task and could still have a long time to learn.

280. But under the given circumstances, with her wrong and contentious doing, thinking, and acting, we see no reason not to surrender her to her own, self-destructive destiny, uninfluenced by us, whereby she manoeuvres herself into her own ruin and remoteness.

281. As a result of the renewed discontinuances of impulses, everything with her will have so worsened in a month that she will flow into a state of counter-defenseless helplessness, which she can no longer work herself out of, and she will long for relief.

282. This, if she does not deliberate herself to the better and if she does not return to the truth and to the fulfilment of her duties in reference to the mission and responsibility, which if she does, we are prepared to let all impulses act upon her again, whereby everything would turn to the good for her again, and she would learn far beyond her own life culmination point determination.

...

Quetzal:

285. These concerns should not disturb you any further because Eva will strive around this matter, in order to give you some data about your past lives.

286. She has long been occupied with this, and I will also send her the appropriate impulses.

Teleprojection

{Note: This is a technology not yet known on Earth. Perhaps the closest technology currently available might be Holography.}

see also Real Visions

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_057

Billy:

... So I want to ask the first question. Amata {Stetter} writes it this way: "Are these large ships, which I see again and again, with a large superstructure and many cabins, simply spaceships or even large-capacity ships? How many people are on a ship like this?"

Quetzal:

5. This description of the objects is neither one nor the other, but quite simply very large emigration ships with an average diameter of 120 kilometres, with a capacity for human life-forms of around one million.
6. These gigantic ships serve exclusively for emigration purposes, especially when a world is very endangered and destruction is to be considered.
7. These are the same giant migratory ships that were used by our ancestors at the earliest times, when they came from the Lyra-Vega region to Earth and later also settled on our Plejaren constellation.
8. Their external shape and size have been maintained since then, but they have been subject to constant innovations of a technological form, so they are equipped today according to the state of the art.
9. When Amata received our teleimpulses as teleprojections, she saw everything in an extremely reduced form, because she would not have been able to grasp and overview the gigantic size and the reality of it.

Billy:

Aha, then she practically saw something like models?

Quetzal:

10. No, that is not quite so, because she sees the projections as quite large.

...

Billy:

She goes on to write: "What do these creatures mean who, on Thursday night, climbed out of a wonderful blush in the sky, each time after a bolt of lightning that was not followed by thunder, got out of a vehicle and descended on UFOs stationed in the vicinity of our house, on or over trees, etc.? They were all dressed in white robes and they were all looking at me. One climbed down a staircase in a long white garment with wonderful glittering silver stars on the robe. He went under my window and then went to a UFO stationed under a tree. From there he looked up to me, while more and more other beings in white clothes and in whole groups came here.

Quetzal:

12. This phenomenon is a teleprojection on our part, for the purpose of triggering memory.
13. The beings wrapped in white clothes embody our ancestors from a period of approximately 70,000 years ago, who came to Earth at that time, but who did not live in fixed houses, but in their free-floating beamships, which they had stationed mainly over forests.
14. Hence the UFOs seen by Amata and floating above trees, as she says.
15. Between the ships there were radiation belts of visible nature, which served as connections between the formations and lit up at intervals.
16. These are the flashes Amata saw.
17. The man dressed in the wonderful robe with the adorning stars was the JHWH of this emigration group, whose most distant descendants still live somewhere on the Earth as their own smallest group of former extraterrestrials, but whom we have not yet been able to find by any means imaginable.

18. In the meantime we could only find out with certainty that Amata, from her old personalities, must today be a very distant descendant of the brother of the former JHWH, which means that this group of extraterrestrials, who as mentioned were a part of our ancestors, must have mixed with terrestrial people here on Earth and forgot their actual origin.

19. And to find out how these connections extend now and how, and where today's descendants of these ancestors live is one of our tasks, and that is why we also are making an effort for Amata.

Billy:

This is really fantastic; then here's another question from Amata: On Friday evening a vehicle came out behind the moon, hanging on two clouds, and floated down onto the roof opposite our house, which was suddenly covered as if by a white blanket of snow. An old man with white glasses looked out of the window. The vehicle remained only briefly on the roof, rose again and floated past my window, while the old man looked at me insistently. Then it ascended again to the sky and disappeared behind the moon.

Quetzal:

20. This teleprojection is the representation of the brother of the old JHWH to solve further memory factors in Amata.

21. The beamship or vehicle, as Amata says, floating between two clouds, means the representative position of the old man as JHWH.

Billy:

Good, then the next Amata question: Other white figures sat again on the opposite balconies. A man in a white robe was lifted out of a UFO by two men in grey working clothes and lifted onto a stage where he sat down and looked up to me. Down in the courtyard of the neighbouring house stood a bunch of people in grey working clothes right next to this stage. One of these men detached himself from the group, lit a star and hung it over the garden railing. More and more people came in large beam or space ships and settled on the surrounding roofs. Then came again beings in white garments and in vehicles which looked like thick tree trunks and had large cabins. With these vehicles they drove directly into an already present big ship. Could these white creatures be sons of heaven?

Quetzal:

22. Our ancestors and us in former times were called sons of heaven by the Earth-humans.

23. This teleprojection is a reference to the past, the present and the future.

24. However, I cannot officially give the interpretation, because these are exactly those things that I am only allowed to explain to you and your closest group, as I indicated earlier.

...

Billy:

... It seems that Amata is very much involved with teleprojections. Is there not a danger that she will be overwhelmed?

...

Quetzal:

40. But now I want to give you the explanations:

41. The white figures Amata had seen on the opposite balconies are teleprojections of the old venerable ones of long gone times.

42. These are the beings who begat and ruled the white earthly human races.

43. But there are also their descendants among them who in peaceful form pushed forward and determined, up to a certain value, the later earthly development of humankind.

44. So they are the true ancestors of the white earthly human race, while the people in grey working clothes (the folk, as Amata calls them) represent earthly mankind in all its colours and races of today, standing next to a large platform.

45. This platform symbolises the foundation of truth, knowledge and wisdom.

46. Onto which two grey clad Earth-humans lift a man dressed in a white gown, whom they have previously lifted out of a beamship.

47. After they have lifted the white-dressed man onto the stage, one of the two men takes a star and lets it shine in bright light, in order then to hang it brightly on a fence.

48. These pictures symbolise the present.

49. This is the call of time and evolution in the sense of knowledge and dissemination of truth in the Aquarian era.

50. The venerables, dressed in white mentioned above, are and were the origin of all human life existing on the Earth today in their known form.

51. Everything was determined and directed and partly pre-programmed by them, but this never elevates them to hierarchical forces or powers, because such values do not exist.

52. However, due to the wilfulness of the Earth-humans, who are many races, many things failed and went in very ausgearteteten [got very badly out of control of the good human nature] and negative tracks

53. Thus it was determined by the decision of the old venerable ones in foreseeing of the coming events that at the time of the Aquarian era a new prophet should appear, who already would have been so in former times as other personalities had who walked the Earth and patiently fulfilled his very heavy duty, true to his mission.

54. So it had been foretold by the venerable ones that at a certain time the same prophet would come again incarnated in a new personality, begotten by predestination and born by earthly parents, as was the case in former times, but begotten at that time by the seed of a son of the heavens.

55. The incarnation of the prophet in the Aquarian age is represented by the image, of two beings dressed in grey, a man and a woman, two Earth-humans, lifting a man dressed in white out of a beam ship and putting him on a platform, from where he will spread the knowledge of truth, wisdom and love.

56. The great multitude, as Amata says, represents the mass of earthly humanity that hears and receives his teaching, while his light of wisdom shines and radiates, symbolised by the shining star suspended from the fence.

57. This action takes place through another grey clad being, an Earth woman.

58. This is Amata herself, for she makes the star shine and hangs it on the fence, which represents the barrier between knowledge and ignorance and between truth and untruth.

59. The hanging or placing of the star on the fence symbolises the state of the Prophet who has overcome the 'barrier of ignorance' so he is able to fulfil his mission.

60. But the doing of enlightening and putting the star on the fence also shows the state of Amata, her important role which she has to exercise in connection with the mission fulfilment of the prophet, because through her connection to our ancestors, which we have meanwhile established, she was destined to help the prophet in the form of her teleprojective connections and contacts to us, to be able to testify through her teleprojective connections and contacts to us that we exist and maintain actual contacts with the prophet himself.

61. This, however, is only of importance in the narrowest of circles through which the basic values in every relationship are developed and disseminated.

62. This should remain a secret of the inner circle until 1980 at the earliest, because it would not be of value and not of good to reveal this secret too early.

63. This is fundamentally the interpretive value of this important teleprojection.

64. In Amata's important interest it should also be mentioned that certain projections of these things are unavoidable for us, because only through them can we track down these very old facts anchored in the memory banks and memories penetrating very deeply into her subconscious, which can provide us with valuable information about the connections that are extremely important to us.

65. But Amata should be careful not to deal with the projections more than necessary.
66. On the other hand, we have also noticed that Amata is burdened with misleading teleprojections from an unknown side, which obviously serve a lower purpose.
67. We have known this for some time, but have not yet been able to produce an analysis.
68. So let her exercise caution.
69. We will continue our efforts to find out where these strange teleprojections come from and what their real reasons are.
70. However, this task is made very difficult for us because the teleprojection impulses are so distorted that we cannot locate their origin.
71. But now I want to interpret the last part of our teleprojection, if you are also informed about it, because also this is important for you to know, about which you should also keep the deepest silence until the year 1980.
72. Consider that the religious powers of the Earth are always anxious to maintain and preserve their power thus they would act maliciously and treacherously against you if the interpretations given to you here were made known to them.
73. They would not shy away from terror, murder and other evil acts of violence and would pursue you everywhere and try to destroy you.
74. The further appearing figures with white clothes are the Earth-humans of the future, who through the teachings of the prophet will knowingly become wise and defeat ignorance in any form, whereby they will build large but still primitive spaceships, with which they will fly to other stars and planets foreign to the [Sol] system for the first time after a very long time and establish contact with other races of humans in the universe.
75. This is represented by the flying tree trunks with the large cabins that fly into an already present large ship.
76. This is the interpretation of this teleprojection, which we sent out by teleimpulses for certain reasons and which was apparently actually received by Amata.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_061

Billy:

... How many people in Europe are actually in tele-projective contact with you Plejaren at the moment in a conscious form?

Semjase:

135. Two.

Billy:

Are these men or women?

Semjase:

136. They are two female beings, one of whom is Amata.

Billy:

Aha, and how many other contacts in conscious tele-projective form do the Plejaren maintain around the world?

Semjase:

137. In really conscious form, so that the Earth-humans know this, only the two are total, Amata and the other woman.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_779

Billy:

... But what do you think about these recordings here another time, which you have already seen and said that they are probably real. They also remind me very much of what N.T. told me on a return trip with Sfath before he was murdered in the hotel in 1943, but which was then made out to be suicide. One moment, please ... So here again ... What do you think about it today? Michael beamed the film material onto my computer ...

{Note: Michael Horn refers to these comments and indicates that the film(s) in question are this YouTube video, and this one.}

Ptaah:

Now, if the recordings I see here again are genuine, and they seem to be, they clearly show what you have known since the time you saw with my father Sfath, that the invention of N.T. had fallen into the hands of the NAZIs and was further developed by them. That means – which you knew – that N.T.'s plans of the invention were found and further developed by the Allies at the end of the war, just as the plans were passed on through espionage and their data further developed, from which they came to fruition. If the Nazi researchers who were working on it at the time had been able to complete the invention entirely, and before Hitler, together with his wife who had married him shortly before, was shot by his servants in his bunker in Berlin, then he would have become the ruler of the world with this weapon.

Billy:

So that means that what was filmed here is real.

Ptaah:

Yes, that's how I see and appreciate it. But you should know that the plans were secretly copied and passed on as a result of espionage, so that today two states have this weapon, although not even the highest leadership of these states knows anything about it, but only the military and possibly the secret services. But if this is really the case – and it seems to be reality – then only certain few people are privy to it, including those who know how to operate this weapon, are unbound by friendship or marriage, and are monitored in such a way that they are killed immediately if they make the slightest noise to other human beings. We have seen this method in secrecy projects and therefore know about it. Everything was handled in this way even before the last war, as well as that not even the leaders of the state found out about it, but everything was concealed from them. This happened because the who have their people even in the state leaders direct everything secretly.

Thule Society

see also Ashtar Sheran

see also Extraterrestrials – Giza Intelligences / Bafath

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Thule_Society

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_034

Billy:

... We have some writings from a group in Berlin who are dealing with this Asthar {Sheran}. ...

...

Semjase:

72. I already said that we know the name very well.

73. But we also know of the writings you mentioned and more of various other things.

74. Despite all our efforts, which we have been doing for years, we were not able to connect with these life forms.

75. We could neither find them in the places mentioned nor ever locate them.

76. We searched countless systems of normal time and countless dimensions for them, but nowhere was there a clue from them.

77. Everything is very mysterious, and interestingly enough the traces from all systems of this and other times and from all dimensions lead back again and again to the Earth, especially to Germany.

78. There the traces bundle together and concentrate in a very specific place and on a very specific entity.

79. This is a centre of a very powerful secret organisation, which you certainly do not know and which calls itself the Thule- or Arus-Society.

80. In years of work we have not been able to clarify why all this is so, why we continue to research in this relationship.

81. However, it is absolutely clear that all impulses undoubtedly emanate from this centre.

82. The initiators of these impulses possess great knowledge and many powers.

83. They are also in possession of few primary telepathic powers and many kinds of knowledge about extraterrestrial technologies, events and about extraterrestrial intelligences, etc.

84. We have established with absolute certainty that they transmit this knowledge through primary telepathy via impulsives and thus influence many Earth-humans who are sensitive to it.

85. But we have also established with absolute certainty that in the originators of these impulses a goal prevails with the aim: Preservation and elevation of the white race on this Earth from the descendants of the Arus race.

86. Up to the present time we have not yet been able to clarify what the meaning of the whole should be and which actual powers are hidden in the originator.

87. Everything is very well shielded through powers that are very difficult to penetrate.

88. At any rate, one thing is certain:

89. The primary telepathically radiated impulses are captured by various groups of humans and recorded in writing.

90. These are sometimes very good transmissions and explanations that come astonishingly close to the truth or even state it in fact.

91. But the reason for this was so far inscrutable and unclear.

92. However, we have certain values about it, which I am not allowed to name officially, because they do not yet give an overall picture.

93. However, it is clear that everything is concentrated around the Thule-Arus-Bund, but where it is actually controlled from is still unclear.

94. Traces of this lead into a foreign galaxy, and it seems that behind the 'Asthar Sheran'-group there is even more than what we currently know and that it is also quite evil.

95. Surprisingly, the writings mentioned contain an enormous amount of knowledge about valuable and good things and about facts that are quite unknown on the Earth.

96. Mixed in with these truths, however, are also very strange, unreal and untrue as well as quite negative and evil lies and things that seem like an evil foreign body in the block of good.

97. Thus, for example, gross falsehoods are interspersed, such as the naming of false contact persons who appear or have appeared on the scene in a fraudulent form.

98. These are also immediately noticeable as evil foreign bodies and do not make any sense in their naming.

99. It could not be clarified so far by us, why these falsehoods are interspersed and asserted as truth and what is the actual and quite obviously very malicious purpose of the whole.

100. On the whole, it is certain that the primary telepathic transmissions are very valuable and sometimes even truthful in relation to things that appear unusual to the earthly man, but to which the evil falsehoods manoeuvred in do not rhyme in any way.

101. The whole thing simply makes no sense, for the logic of the very many truths is interestingly overplayed again by an unusually great illogicalness and falsehood.

102. It is undoubtedly that the primary telepathic impulses of truth seekers were and are partly truthfully recorded in written form, because the persons doing this are or were very truthful.

103. But it is incomprehensible that the real truth is in short again destroyed and made questionable by untruth as well as by lies and falsehood.

Billy:

Is it possible that perhaps some alien people have their hands in the game? You spoke of the Thule Arus Society and of another galaxy or of the Arus allies. Arus was an alien after all.

Semjase:

104. I am not allowed to give any official information about that yet.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_036

Semjase:

29. Via the then leaders of the Thule Society and their clairvoyant Hanussen I {see Erik Jan Hanussen}, the Giza intelligences managed to take possession of the being of Adolf Hitler and to abuse him for their dark and malicious purposes, without him resisting it, because a delusional greed for power had flared up in him himself.

...

33. Adolf Hitler had succumbed to a delusion of power and was also maliciously abused by the Giza intelligences, with the old Thule Society playing a not inconsiderable part in this, which, however, cannot be transferred to the society of the same name of the new form.

...

35. A few days ago, through painstaking research and surveillance, we were able to gain a clear understanding of the fact that Ashtar Sheran actually exists and that the only reason we could not recognise him was because he fraudulently wrapped himself in this name.

36. A part of his real name is ARUSEAK along with another sequence of names, and he is a cousin of the supreme Giza intelligence.

37. On their behalf he controlled the old German Thule society, in which he introduced two strong telepathic factors, but which also influenced many Thule society members and various outside groups on a telenotic basis, including those who received the pseudo-messages of Ashtar Sheran.

38. Sheran's machinations in this regard continue today and will continue in the future, but no longer in connection with the reorganised Thule Society.

110. The reason for his {Adolf Hitler's} wrongly chosen path developed quite early on, when he secretly came in contact with the Thule Society of that time, in consequence of which he also came in contact with Hermann Steinschneider, who also belonged to the Thule Society and supported its unfair goals and who called himself the clairvoyant, Eric Jan Hanussen.

111. Steinschneider, i.e. Hanussen, moved in all circles of major Nazi figures, among whom he had many clients, so even also Adolf Hitler, who became enslaved to him, and indeed, even before he seized the leadership for himself.

112. Steinschneider/Hanussen emerged as a middle man between the Thule Society and Hitler, and, so to speak, directed Adolf Hitler according to the Thule Society's leaders' will.

113. The efforts of the leaders at that time of the Thule Society went out for the acquisition of world domination; consequently, already very early on, they allowed Steinschneider to influence and shape Hitler in this direction, by what means this then began, in accordance with their will, with terror and murder, to trigger World War II in the end.

114. At the same time, Steinschneider became ever more powerful in the course of time, with respect to his domination over Adolf Hitler, which didn't appeal to various people who were against Hitler and his machinations.

115. The consequence of this was that they allowed Steinschneider, alias Hanussen, to be murdered in 1933, but this didn't change anything in Hitler's attitude and course; therefore, he became more and more of a monster, as you would say.

116. It's interesting to know that Adolf Hitler was born on 4/20/1889 in Braunau, Upper Austria, and Hermann Steinschneider, alias Eric Jan Hanussen, was born in Vienna, also in the year 1889.

117. Thus, both were Austrians. –

Billy:

... The term New Age is however much older than the current trends and leads back into the 19th century, and indeed to occult and esoteric world-views, which, as said, were also influenced by Helena Blavatsky. Influenced by that were indeed also the national-socialistic [NAZI] Rudolf Hess and Sebottendorf, who, together in 1918, respectively, 1919, in Munich, founded the secret Thule Society, a lodge-type association which was constructed on the principles of Lamaist teaching. This alliance functioned as an umbrella organization for Old German, fatherland-orientated and ethnicity-orientated societies of Munich. The alliance pushed predominantly anti-Semitic propaganda, whereby the crowning joke of the matter is that from out of these assimilated ideologies, which were popular at the time, the founding of the United Nations came forth in the year 1945. The entire thing came forth out of the 1912-founded German Thule sect which was connected with the 1910-founded Hammer Alliance and with the radical Peoples' Old-German Association. Their symbols were the swastika, respectively, the hooked cross and the Germanic runes. The association had its own newspaper, the "Municher Observer". The Thule Society was comprised of 1,500 members who had connections with broad sectors of Bavarian society. Along with Rudolf Hess and Sebottendorf, many other National Socialists also belonged to the Thule Society, who also contributed to the development of subversive plans and promoted counter-revolutionary groups, as for example, the German Workers' Party and the NSDAP [NAZI Party, byname of National Socialist German Workers' Party, German Nationalsozialistische Deutsche Arbeiterpartei (NSDAP)] which had come out of it. Then, in 1919, the Thule Society organized a militant fighting union which decisively took part in the Free Corps to strike down the Bavarian Council Republic. That, my friend, correlates to that which I still know in regard to the history, whereby, however, I have still read up somewhat to freshen my memory.

20. Hitler, who himself was partly of Jewish descent, took the false 'Protocols' and used them to fulfil his lust for power, for his criminal work and to trigger the Second World War.

21. With the help of the falsified 'Protocols of the Wise Men of Zion' he incited himself and the German population against the Jews, finding particularly diligent supporters for his anti-Jewish propaganda among those who glorified him and with whom he was able to build up the Nazi system.

22. And it is a fact that Adolf Hitler's plans for world conquest, which were criminal to humanity, were only discovered through the wrong 'protocols', with the old Thule Society supporting him in his mania for war and world domination.

23. Only through this it was also possible, against false 'chroniclers' and false 'factual experts' in the matter of Adolf Hitler etc., that this fanatical and insane criminal of humanity could lead the world into the Second World War and the Holocaust.

10. The Universe is divided into seven units, i.e. rings or belts that, entirely together, form the whole Universe, and all of these rings are rotating against each other and have different diameters and an ovoid shape.

11. These seven rings, which we call belts, are the following:

12. 1) Central Core,
- 2) Ur-Core Belt,
- 3) Ur-Space Belt,
- 4) Solid-state Matter Universe Belt,
- 5) Transformation Belt,
- 6) Creation Belt, and
- 7) Displacement Belt,

And we also call the Creation Belt the Creation Matter Belt or the Expansion Belt, and the Displacement Belt, the last and extreme, embodies, according to your sense, a bumper belt.

13. Now, the Solid-state Universe is that part of the Universe in which the new births exist, so the nascent stars, etc. with all their life-forms.

14. This real Solid-state Universe is calculated from the end of the Creation Ur-Core's outer wall up to the beginning of the outer wall of the Transformation Belt, which exhibits a half diameter of 7,869 octillion light-years and is, thus, the next largest belt after the Creation Belt.

15. In addition, the outer wall of the Transformation Belt is where this belt collides with the inner wall of the real Creation Belt, also known as the Expansion Belt or Creation Matter Belt.

16. So this is that space which embodies the Solid-state Universe and is so called because in these three areas, the coarse-material becomes existent and is existent, and the course-material becomes existent in the Transformation Belt only by a transformation from remains of the penetrating Creation Belt, which are converted into course-material from immaterial energy.

17. This is the real Solid-state Universe, which consists of the Transformation Belt, the Universe Belt, and the Ur-Space Belt.

18. In addition, the Transformation Belt exhibits such a gigantic mass and is the next largest belt to the Creation Belt because it is responsible for ensuring that in the space created by the Expansion Belt, the transformation of fine-material energies into course-material takes place, and at the same time, time itself appears and becomes existent.

19. Already in this Transformation Belt, time begins to run into the past, from which aging originates.

20. This means that in this Transformation Belt, chronons begin to exist, then are aging and becoming tachyons and are representing the past. By the way, tachyons may be proven by the terrestrial scientists in a short time.

21. At the same time, the speed also decreases from the Transformation Belt in an irregular manner but in a certain half-life.

22. The irregular decrease in speed, which amounts to 147 times the speed of light in its starting point and expansion point, comes about through mutually self-influencing and different time streams that have already changed in their speed.

Billy:

... I was talking to Michael about time, how that is an earthly invention after all.

You Plejaren do not know the concept of time, which is why Michael wonders how you handle everything in order to cope with everything you have to do.

Unfortunately, however, it is very difficult for the earthling, who is time-dependent, to understand the whole of duration and how to cope with it without the concept of time, which is why I do not want to go into it here in order to explain what is not understood after all.

... time is relative and divided by human beings into exactly 60 seconds, 60 minutes, 1 hour and 24 hours for a day.

Furthermore, 365 days are 1 year, while 7 days are 1 week, 1 month is 4.34524 weeks and 52.1429 weeks are 1 year.

These are human calculations, but time is nevertheless, in my opinion, deeply relative.

...

... In earlier times, burning candles were used to measure certain durations, not time, but durations.

These candles were precisely weighed and provided with markings carved on the side, which served to measure a certain duration that the candle needed to burn.

So there was no time, only a certain duration that was needed during which, for example, something had to be done.

If you like, you can say that this kind of permanent meter was a 'timekeeper'.

At that time, human beings had not yet invented 'time'.

The permanent knives served as 'timekeepers', just like nails, among other things, which were inserted into wax candles and fell down when they reached the point that was calculated for a certain duration and made a noise when they fell down.

So that shaped the duration in early history, which was then followed by the time, and that was at the end of the Middle Ages, about 600 years ago, when the idea of a mechanical alarm clock came about.

As far as I know from Sfath, this actual alarm clock was invented in Italy, by a Benedictine monk in a monastery not far from Milan.

The monk, he was called Fratello Arminius, I remember, was very concerned about keeping to prayer times, which is why he invented the alarm clock, which then actually led to the origin of the development of the clock.

Well, what I learnt was that time is finite and does not expand infinitely and is not of only one dimension as 'scientists' claim.

Thus, the past, present and future are not uniquely fixed, but are changeable in themselves through a wide variety of dimensions, which means that there are an infinite number of dimensions to the past and future, while the present has only the dimension of the moment.

What I learned and could see on all the various time journeys with Sfath, the ancient Egyptians already had all kinds of methods to divide the day; among other things, I could see that the day was divided according to the position of the sun, for which even large obelisks were used on which the movement of the sun was tracked, which I also saw, for example, with Sfath in the city of Tunis or Tanis, or whatever it was called.

Also, when I was able to see the huge lighthouse in Alexandria back in the past – Sfath said at the time that this tower was about 111 metres high – there was a stone structure next to it that also had a solar altimeter on it.

During my travels with Sfath, I got to know that observations of the celestial bodies were already being made at that time, after which calculations were made that were probably based on distances, but which I did not understand, as I was also not interested in, because, as Sfath told me, they were wrong anyway.

It was also the case at that time that a scorpion was very important in an Egyptian kingdom, why I do not know, it was about 3,000 years ago or so, if I remember correctly, because human beings spoke of it, as well as the position of the sun, as I could understand with Sfath's language device.

Water clocks, I also know, were among the first 'timekeepers', the division of the day into twelve parts coming from that, which probably comes from the sundials of the ancient Egyptians, where the division of the day was done with the help of sunlight.

I know that Egyptian astronomers also discovered over 30 stars, which then divided the sky into equal parts.

Then somewhere, I do not remember where, but I remember that it was 5,000 or 6,000 years ago, I saw a kind of sundial made of clay or something, into which a wooden stick was stuck, which cast a shadow on the plate in which it was stuck.

Sfath {1945}:

145. You shall already now know that the successor to my person, will, as at 1953, be a young woman from the DAL universe, where you will certainly be taken someday.

146. The name of your contact person will be Asket.

147. She belongs to one of the branches of our peoples, others of which still reside in the Lyra and Vega systems, however, shifted a split-second from this space-time plane, just as is our space-time configuration in which our Plejaren systems exist.

Asket {3rd February 1953}:

3. And to fulfill our mission, we have to neutralize the spacetime connection barrier between our and your universes, so that we can achieve a harmonious passage through without damage to ships and universes.

4. Because our home world lies in the DAL universe, in the AKON system, in a system foreign to you Earth-humans, of a universe just as foreign to you, of which several surround the universe known to you, on the seventh outer belt.

5. Many of these universes lie in other time planes, and in, for you, expanses of utter foreignness.

6. Our universe is a parallel sister universe to yours, respectively a twin universe, and, calculated according to your concepts, it lies in a similar plane.

7. The difference between your time and ours is only very slight.

8. The reason for our coming into this, your DERN universe, lies in earlier times, that are calculated in several centuries, and, indeed, in the urge to explore, and in a fulfilment of an obligation of our race, who, from the earliest times, came from your DERN universe.

15. Certainly, today, the actual direct decedents of the terrestrial forefathers {the Plejaren} no longer populate the territory and spaces and systems around the Ring Nebula and the Vega and Lyra heavenly bodies in a spacetime shifted configuration, rather they live today on space and time shifted world bodies far on the other side of the system that you name the Seven Heavenly Bodies "Seven Sisters", respectively, the Pleiades, approximately four hundred light-years distant.

...

251. Our technology allows us very many things, thus even journeys into the future and into the past.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Asket%27s_Explanations_%E2%80%93_Part_3

Asket:

3. I have already explained to you the possibility of time-travel into the past or future.

4. In accordance with our technology, we are in a position to undertake such trips and to now also employ them for the benefit of your coming mission.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Asket%27s_Explanations_%E2%80%93_Part_4

Asket:

29. To begin with, we will now jump back into the Thirteenth Century.

...

...

41. First we will fly out to a great height, in order to, from there, effect a transmission into the past.

{Billy:}

(And already the ship took off and shot ragingly fast into the sky, out of the Earth's atmosphere, ever higher up, up into open space, where suddenly a multitude of stars sparkled. ...)

Asket:

42. We will be that far along in a moment. The transmission takes only a split second.

{Billy:}

(Asket busied herself with her apparatuses and quite suddenly I seemed, for a split second, to no longer physically exist. I suddenly seemed to have been simply "extinguished" corporally. ...)

...

Jitschi:

76. But now I still want to put a question to you,

77. Asket: Jechieli has giving me some things which I would like to take back into our time, because they would, with certainty, have a very high antique value there.

78. Can I take the things back with me?

Asket:

66. If you want to, naturally.

67. But the value of the things would not be great for your time, and indeed, because the gifts from Jechieli are clearly from his epoch, from the Thirteenth Century, yet, in your time, will not be older.

68. We require only a tiny split second to go from this epoch back to your time, during which everything in my ship and these things will also only age by just this time.

69. If Jechieli's gifts are to become antiques, then you must bury them somewhere or deposit them in some other way, and arrange for them to endure in the normal time-span of centuries so they then really age.

70. With our ship, if I may so speak, we bridge space and time by way of a transmission through parabolic space, whereby space and time become finite and shrink to a denominator of a split second.

71. That means that we can, in this way, bridge time-spans of billions of years in a tiny split second without becoming older than that specific split second.

Jitschi:

79. The mathematics are too high for me.

Asket:

72. It is an equation.

...

74. But let us go now, because we still want to change to another time today.

{Billy:}

(We did as she ordered. Some half hour later the ship again sped with us into the sky, then, for a short split second, I again felt that I simply no longer was.)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Asket%27s_Explanations_%E2%80%93_Part_5

{Billy:}

The required procedure, leading up to the time-travel transmission, took about 10 minutes, whereby, however, the actual jump, required to go from one epoch to another, only lasted a split second.

All that which appertained to the technology and the procedure was not explained by Asket.

With the launching of the transmission a quite weird thing happened in the form that the entire surroundings of the ship slowly shimmered and then quite suddenly simply no longer existed.

I also observed the same process in regard to myself, and in the moment of the "jump" it was, to me, actually as if I suddenly no longer corporally existed.

Somehow I felt transferred into something which I sensed as being eternity itself and in which an indescribable silence and endless, calming peace and enormous love ruled. The actual procedure, from a technical viewpoint, remained a puzzle to me, and certainly I will also never be able to solve this because I am unfortunately completely ignorant in regard to technology.

Asket:

24. When the gigantic comet actually came - which penetrated this universe and the solar system from another space-time configuration, and is still today named The Destroyer by many life-forms - the humans made their way to the pyramids and underground villages and shut themselves into them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Asket%27s_Explanations_%E2%80%93_Part_6
{Billy:}

Then we still made several special small preparations before Asket took us into outer space again with her ship and then carried out the transmission into the past.

Our landing place in the past, in the year 32, was the same place where we had taken off only minutes before; minutes which, however, now suddenly lay about 2,000 years in the past.

I am still able to remember very well that the entire landscape of the past was only very slightly different from the way it was in the normal present time of the year 1953.

Several ranges of hills and mountains were somewhat different, as were the immediate surroundings of the landing place.

That which had been subject to fundamental alterations were villages and the little town of Jerusalem, as I was also able to determine in the later time, in the 1960's.

But all in all, everything had otherwise remained about the same, at least as far as the landscape was concerned.

Eduard:

You mean, according to the understanding of my time, that it is the eternal truth, and indeed in all dimensions of the material and the spiritual?

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_001

Semjase:

I am called Semjase and I come from the Pleiades.

...

Billy:

Nice trip, if I may say so. How do you accomplish that? Maybe through the hyperspace?

Semjase:

You often know more than we would like you to know.

...

22. It is true that the Earth-human has taken the first very small step towards outer space flight, but that means nothing more than the first rather primitive attempts.

23. Even though he/she has reached the moon with rockets, he/she still hasn't reached the outer space yet.

24. He/she would also never reach it in the present form; what is needed for this is a propulsion system capable of penetrating hyperspace and causing the unending distances to collapse.

25. Space and time are not overcome by space and time, but by the spaceless and the timeless, which means that space and time collapse in themselves and become equally directed to null time.

26. As a result, a few fractions of a second can suffice to rush through millions of light-years, practically without a loss of time, because null time paralyzes space and time.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_004

Billy:

My next question relates to the fact that you explained to me at my / our first meeting, that the Earth-humans would not be able to travel to the deep and real outer space unless they would invent another method of propulsion. I can only imagine here that with this drive, you mean that it must be, for example, a beam propulsion system, a hyperdrive, so to speak. In my opinion, this would have to be a drive that somehow alters the material matter, presumably when the speed of light is exceeded and the beamship is thereby hurtled into a hyperspace, in which space and time paralyse themselves, as you have already explained. I suppose that space and time collapse in such a way that they are completely cancelled out

Semjase:

...

32. You are absolutely right with your assumptions.

33. To traverse the real outer space, a drive is needed that exceeds the speed of light many times over.

34. But this drive can only come into operation when the speed of light is reached.

35. It follows from this that another drive regulates the normal speed up to that of light.

36. This means thus that a beamship must have two drives; first, the normal drive, which allows acceleration up to and below the speed of light, and second, the hyperdrive, as you call it.

37. So the drive that generates million and thousand million of times the speed of light; thus, the hyperspeed, by which hyperspace is broken into.

38. A space in which every mass expands in relation to the increase in speed.

39. As a result, time and space collapse and become the null time and the null space.

40. This means:

41. Space and time simply cease to exist.

42. And this is exactly what allows the fact that distances of countless light-years can be rushed through in fractions of a second, without a time shift occurring.

Billy:

So, this means that just as much time passes for a beamship and its occupants as it does on the home planet or on another planet or star?

Semjase:

43. Of course.

44. So for example, when we leave our Pleiades and need around 7 hours to reach Earth, then only 7 hours pass on our home planet and on Earth, as well.

45. We need this long of a time because we first have to fly beyond the planetary ranges with the normal propulsion and can only go to hyperspeed once very far out in space.

46. We then also come back from hyperspace far outside of your solar system and fly here with the normal drive.

47. We are never allowed to break into hyperspace while too close to a planet.

Billy:

I understand. The breaking into hyperspace would presumably also tear one or more planets into the superspace and spew them back out as deadly projectiles when the beamship bursts out of it. Perhaps even various huge comets have become raging and dangerous objects speeding through outer space in this way; due to the fault of irresponsible starfarers.

Semjase:

48. You are partially right:

49. The hyperspace really must be broken into only very far out in space because, otherwise, planets would be dragged into it.

50. Also, regarding the exit from hyperspace, you were thinking absolutely right.

51. It is also a fact that some comets originated in this manner, but only some, because most of them have been led onto their dangerous paths by other and natural events.

52. So you are only partially right about this, if you assume that all comets were created in this manner, as you might have suspected.

53. But the fact is that such incidents are due to irresponsibility, as this does exist throughout the entire cosmic space, not just on the Earth.

54. An irresponsibility also exists when highly developed intelligences make their first hyperspace trials and carry them out too close to planets.

55. The recommendation for safety has indeed to be calculated, and it states that the hyperspeed may only be initiated 153 million kilometres away from the nearest planet.

Billy:

That is very interesting, but I did not suppose that all comets originated in the manner mentioned. But how does such a hyperdrive actually work, and what about the normal drive?

Semjase:

56. Unfortunately, I am not allowed to tell you any details about that.

57. If the Earth scientists had more specific details, then they would solve their propulsion problems in a very short time.

58. But this is neither in our nor in the cosmic interest, because the Earth-human is still not free and not mature enough to fly around in the outer space.

59. However, at the given time, which is not too far away any more, s/he will find the solution of her/his problem all by herself/himself.

60. I may only tell you so much that very many of your scientists are nevertheless already on the right track and are theoretically working and researching on the necessary drives.

61. I may also tell you that these also concern drives that are already known in their basic features within your initiated scientific circles as light-emission drives and as tachyon drives.

62. The light-emission drive serves as normal drive and has the function of moving the beamship to planets or within their vicinity, up to 153 million kilometres of distance, so up to the safety limit.

63. Beyond that, the tachyon drive, among other things, is put into operation, if greater distances are to be bridged.

64. This is one of the hyperdrives, capable of controlling hyperspace as well as space and time.

65. We call these two drives by other names, but the sense remains the same.

66. We have a different language than the Earth-humans, and so I have to explain it to you in the terms that you understand.

Billy:

That makes sense to me, but I don't understand how such a drive functions. I know the basic concepts of an emission and I know what tachyons mean, but I cannot imagine or guess the actual processes with a drive resulting from them. Can you tell me more details about that?

Semjase:

67. No, I am not allowed to do that, because by doing so I would reveal the secret of the whole drive and also the generation and utilisation of the tachyons, however also the secret of the emitting drive.

120. The celestial sons or starfarers, as we want to call our forebears, were at home on many different planets of stars, in a different space-time configuration or far away from the SOL-system, whereby the planets were fundamentally different in climatic terms, hence they also produced other races which were able to adapt to the climate from the ur-beginning.

184. A "world of spirits," as you called it, does not exist.

185. There are only the fine-fluidal worlds in this regard.

186. These are worlds that are located in other dimensions and harbour bodiless spirit forms.

187. When a spirit leaves a material body, then it cannot simply settle down anywhere; it must inhabit a body again, i.e. it enters a fine-fluidal world, thus a world of spirit forms, of which there are countless ones.

188. There, the spirit lives as its own form for so long, until it returns again into a newly created host body.

96. There are various possibilities for mastering the space.

97. To describe them all, however, would make no sense, as they would be too incomprehensible and too fantastic for the human beings of Earth.

98. With flying objects, however, there is only a single possibility for mastering the space safely.

99. This possibility is that of hyperspace, in which a dilation of time is abolished, since the theory of relativity remains just that – a theory.

100. But the elimination of a time shift or time dilation requires the breaking through to the hyperspace, as I have already explained before.

101. I am not allowed to give more precise details.

102. But in any case, the "jump" occurs very quickly under the momentary paralysis of the protective shield and with suddenly increased speed, which results in an instantaneous expansion of the mass.

103. This means that the process to be initiated occurs so quickly that the speed and certain processes, which are generated by apparatuses, distort the material within millionths of a fraction of a second, making it a fine form, which is capable of timelessly traversing the superspace.

104. As said, it's not just about the speed, even though it exceeds that of light thousands of millions of times, but various other processes are additionally required.

105. Only due to the speed itself the effect of the mass changing is created, which is what makes a hyperjump possible.

106. The mass of a body grows in proportion to the increase in its speed.

107. This means that the mass grows endlessly.

108. However, our ships are protected by protective shields, and these prevent this process, and only the switching off of the shield allows for the distorting effect.

109. It is precisely this process, then, that is then exploited to accelerate the actual distortion and to cause a dematerialisation.

110. As a result, space and time become paralysed at the same time and cancel each other out, meaning that the ship is already rematerialising at its destination when it dematerialises at the point of departure.

111. This whole process lasts no longer than a millionth of a fraction of a second, so that also life-forms crossing the hyperspace do not have to pay the price for changes of any kind.

112. If spaceships fly slower than the speed of light, then this requires firstly an irresponsible amount of time, which is however particularly with newcomers to space travel always the case.

113. Everyone only learns from experiences and cognitions.

114. Secondly, this type of space flight is very dangerous and puts every reaching of destination into question.

115. If a spaceship breaks through the speed of light without using the hyperspace, however, then that catastrophe, which you call the theory of relativity, befalls the ship and its occupants.

116. Speeds above that of the light harbour all sorts of dangers, if the barrier of hyperspace is not breached and superspace is not made an ally

117. Time dilation is just one of these dangers.

118. Another danger is that in this case, too, the mass of a spacecraft expands to infinity in relation to its speed and can, under certain circumstances, result in the destruction of the ship and its occupants.

119. There are, however, still many other dangers.

120. Nevertheless, all life-forms must complete their evolutionary process, through which they gain experiences and knowledge.

121. Also our forebears had to struggle with these problems and got lost in space and time.

122. However, the same has happened and is happening to other life-forms.

123. Hence, it happens again and again that some "time-travellers" from the past appear, which often causes very big problems for them.

124. Often they can no longer find their home worlds or else find them completely destroyed.

125. Now and then, beings of this kind that are foreign to the galaxy also appear, which have already penetrated as far as Earth and will also continue to come again and again.

126. Some such "time-travellers" have also been stranded on the Earth in earlier times and never left here.

127. Old strange legends and tales about them are known among you.

128. Nevertheless, in the course of time many of these creatures died out, or they degenerated or mixed with the earthly life-forms.

129. It is also not uncommon for such "time-travellers" to visit the Earth even today.

130. And many are among them, who never find their home worlds again and, therefore, simply settle somewhere on other worlds.

131. Often, however, they also get lost in the expanse of space and die.

132. Not seldom they are thousands and even millions of years on the move, while for them however only few minutes or few years pass.

133. The dangers of speed are very great, and they already start at just a few kilometres per hour, if the flying objects or vehicles are not shielded.

134. Even minimal speeds of a few kilometres per hour impair the material in its shape, structure, and stability, if no protective measures are present.

135. A natural consequence is the expansion of mass and the decomposition of material.

136. This means that even at low speeds, the mass of a vehicle or flying object imperceptibly increases in relation to the speed and causes the effect of slow destruction.
137. As said, this already happens at a few kilometres per hour of speed and in minimalistic terms that are hardly detectable with your technology.
138. At low speeds, the process also takes a very long time and may under certain circumstances require hundreds of years.
139. At very high speeds, however, the time is reduced to decades or a few years.
140. Also the life-forms themselves are impaired by this process, because also their masses change because of the speed.
141. The function of the brain becomes affected because its mass changes.
142. This has the consequence that all functions are slowed down and outages occur.
143. In other words, this means that all of a sudden, the thinking and reaction functions stop and a void develops.
144. The life-form thereby loses control over itself and its vehicle.
145. The life-form effectively loses control over its own functions.
146. Of course, any life-form is capable of gradually getting used to and controlling these factors to some extent.
147. However, for every life-form there is somewhere the absolute limit where it simply must fail.
148. According to earthly terms, it may often take years before such incidents plague a human being.

75. We know two possibilities in order to see the future.

76. One possibility is that we travel into the future in a material-conscious based manner and observe and register the events of the time in question on the spot, as I did with Mr Jacob, for example.

77. This is what we call the direct vision of the future.

78. The second possibility is that of calculating combinatorial seeing, as it is also done in part by you and is known under the wrong name or the wrong designation CLAIRVOYANCE.

79. This kind of future view is also doubtful and erroneous with us and does not exclude false observations and false descriptions.

107. But be aware that these kinds of predictions may be subject to certain changes or that they may contain errors.

108. They are not the result of a direct material vision of the future, but only the product of calculating combinatorial seeing, as your clairvoyants do.

109. For a direct material view of the future, however, the great mass of your humanity is not capable of experiencing and coping with it, which is why I am not allowed to give it.

74. Millions of years ago a giant dark star in another space-time configuration destroyed half a planetary system in many light-years distance from the earthly system.

75. After the destruction of that distant system, the wanderer rushed out into the vastness of space, entered the space-time structure of the Milky Way of the DERN universe, and set course for Earth.

9. ... you will undertake a very long flight, which is still impossible even for many space travelling life-forms.

10. There are currently very few life-forms in the universe that are able to travel such long distances, because this is only possible through the refraction and use of hyperspace.

11. But where this was made possible by highly developed technologies, the universe no longer offers any limits.

12. Even space and time no longer form barriers, nor do the barriers between different universes.

13. As you know from earlier times, time-travel is also known to certain life-forms ...

17. We will not be able to make the next voyage in my small beam ship, because it is not suitable for such distances.

18. After finishing your photographic work we will change to a very spacious ship.

19. So try to have a total of at least thirty hours, because with this ship we will really travel very far outside of all constellations and galaxies known to you and will measure several billion light-years.

35. You forget the paralysis of space and time through the use of hyperspace.

36. A hyper-jump over countless trillions and even higher nominal values of kilometres only takes fractions of a second.

79. This spaceship represents our latest development, and has been working together with other ones of this same kind for four years now in Earth's chronology.

80. They find useful applications as self-sustained expeditionary ships and for intergalactic order keeping.

81. They are able to move within all times and spaces, and for them negotiating the barrier between Universes is no longer an obstacle, whereby an all-universal community made of countless life-forms can be included.

...

Billy:

That is still fantastic! If I understood right what you have just explained, you are able, with this great ship, as well as with the others of the same type, to shift from one Universe to another?

Semjase:

83. Sure, you have understood me correctly.

84. However this only applies to aligned Universes.

...

Billy:

... But for how much longer will we be flying through the Universe?

Ptaah:

35. For about 30 minutes more, then we will transmit to a different, remote system.

Billy:

Transmit? That means, among other things, time travel, right?

Semjase:

180. Sure, but you already know about this.

Billy:

Yes, but that was with Asket and not with such a gigantic ship. And how will it be then, when I return to Earth? We would have to go back in time now, to return to Earth at the right time. That doesn't make sense to me, because you said that you had to do something at a Universe barrier. If that falls chronologically in our time, then it is no longer possible.

Ptaah:

36. You are not taking some important things into consideration, because Semjase once explained to you the possibilities offered by our means of transportation, namely the use of hyperspace, by which space and time become paralysed.

...

Semjase:

105. However it did not happen in Turkey but in Iran, near Zahedan early one morning.

106. I have, luckily while I was shielded from vibrations, dug out from the earth a time-spiral, which was of great importance.

107. We had been searching for it for three years until we finally found it.

108. It was a time projectile for research purposes.

109. At least that's what you would probably call it.

110. Here, this is the projectile. (Semjase brings out a conical spiral shaped device.)

111. This is also the reason why we are going to the edge of the Universe now, because this device came from another Universe.

...

Ptaah:

36. ... Semjase once explained to you the possibilities offered by our means of transportation, namely the use of hyperspace, by which space and time become paralysed.

...

Ptaah:

62. Only when Asket stepped into official contact with us and through the DAL race, we acquired the knowledge and the ability to make time travel equipment, did we first manage to undertake this kind of trip.

63. This was only four years ago by Earth chronology {1971} while you had already had your time travel experience with Asket and your friend a number of years before that.

...

Billy:

... We were talking about time travel and related things, and about this great spacer too. I would now like to ask you whether I might be right about the following assumptions: Semjase has given me an explanation about the utilisation of hyper-space, as you have already mentioned. As I now conceive the matter, this utilisation of hyper-space, this phenomenon that I have experienced earlier, consists of a real time travel, offering all the possibilities of past, present and future, as well as other dimensions and spaces. Semjase had explained then, that a hyper-leap through endless distances only takes a split second to happen, but unfortunately I only noticed that correctly just now. Therefore, in my estimation, it does not consist of a simple hyperspace crossing but of a time travel, through which space and time become paralysed, something that would certainly not happen on a normal hyper-leap. For me, this results in the moment of the simultaneous point of view in simultaneous time: space and time are thus paralysed, taken in a literal sense. That is, they become pushed together, if I can put it like that, whereby an absolute timelessness arises and also a spacelessness. That time- and spacelessness can then get traversed with immeasurable speed in a split second, without any shifts or distortions. When Semjase uses the hyperspace with her small beamship, it must also consist of the same principle. By that manner of using the hyper-space it must also be possible to do a time travel also in time that stands still, through which one appears at the targeted location, right in the same second as when one disappears from the starting point. From my estimation it does not deal with anything other than with a technologically generated dematerialisation and rematerialisation, when the time travel is carried out in present time. Only then can one see virtually no passing of time while everything remains free from shifts and distortions.

{Billy:}

(Ptaah and Semjase turn to the instruments at the horseshoe-shaped console. Small light-bodies light up, and dark picture screens come alive. Shapes that are completely strange to me appear on them, and for the first time I hear a tone now, a very faint and somewhat soothing singing like metal. I look up at the transparent dome and see that stars of all sizes go by very quickly, and now suddenly merge into a milky white veil. This only takes a few seconds, and now they are already recognisable as bright stars again, passing by at tremendous speed. But that only lasts a few seconds as well, until they go along slowly like before. During this whole time, I feel somewhat weird, but I feel a very profound peace in me. ...)

...

Semjase:

194. We have made the first hyper-leap.

...

Ptaah:

107. Watch the stars now – we will start the next jump in 9 seconds.

{Billy:}

(I do as advised, and experience it all again, like the first time. And also here, the whole process and everything seems much more familiar now. But I notice the peculiarity, that for seconds I find myself again in a deep tranquillity, which is much more familiar to me now than on the first time. I am even able to analyse it somehow as something timeless, eternal. ...)

...

(Once more the preparations for the hyper-leap are taken, and this time I will attempt to observe things other than just the overhead view. I watch Semjase and Ptaah very carefully, and like the starscape before, they suddenly turn into a milky shimmering mass. But the horseshoe-shaped console also turns into the same white mass, and like Ptaah and Semjase it also returns to a solid form after a few seconds.

The impression of deep tranquillity that has come over me this time is much greater than before, and I think that I have now solved the riddle: This deep tranquillity and this unbelievable peacefulness flowing through me is eternity itself, the absolute timelessness, which obviously is no longer subject to outside influences, such as the restlessness, strife and worries that trouble the consciousness. I realise suddenly that during these few seconds I was in the eternity itself experiencing myself as eternity, where I only exist as fine spiritual matter, and am completely free of all that can influence my material life. I actually travelled to eternity for a few seconds.)

...

Ptaah:

117. Even many of our own life-forms only reach such insights after being in the fine-material for a longer time.

...

Ptaah:

121. In a few seconds we will start the next leap.

{Billy:}

(I only half hear his words, because my thoughts are elsewhere. Automatically I put my focus on myself and wonder about the fact that I suddenly cannot see my body. Once again this takes only seconds, which I can verify by looking at my watch. ...)

...

Semjase:

206. Because distances are no longer a difficulty for us, we can safely leap back and forth across space without having to keep a certain line.

...

{Billy:}

(... shortly thereafter experience again the immersion into eternity. However, I do not advance further into it, and everything is suddenly blocked. Something is simply inhibiting me from penetrating further. But what is it... oh, of course, the time, the damned time, it must be what keeps me from plunging deeper. These few seconds are not enough, they are just enough for a lightning-fast plunge into eternity... and to emerge back just as fast. It is still ...)

Ptaah:

124. Hello – you are very far away in your thoughts, and once again you have realised something new.

125. Everything is right with the time, but this can be changed if you are interested.

126. The great leap to the Universe barrier can be altered so that the re-materialisation can be delayed and the time shifted by a few minutes.

127. For this purpose we have to travel into the future, and the lost time cannot be recovered.

128. In ordinary time-travel into the future, the time interval would be neutralised, yet for this form of penetrating into the timelessness, other technologies are necessary.

129. In this manner time cannot become paralysed; we have to live through it and therefore to also let it go over and through us.

130. However there are limits set to this, so that while 5 seconds pass by your time measurements in ordinary time-space, only one second passes for us when penetrating into the timelessness.

131. We can do this because we can regulate the time between dematerialisation and rematerialisation by modulating speed, since according to our understanding true timelessness also prevails in the timeless.

132. This, of course, is only relatively speaking, for this shift out of the timelessness also keeps its own time, but it is imbedded into such a huge interval, that we cannot fully control it.

133. A single second of the timeless amounts to millions of years in ordinary time-space.

134. If we were then to penetrate while standing still or with insufficient speed into the timeless, we would never be able to return to our homeworld.

135. If we were to remain standing still for only a few seconds in the timeless, many millions of years of ordinary time would pass on Earth – which would turn into dust – while you would return into normal space only a few seconds older, though in truth you would be thousands of millions of years older.

136. That may all seem incomprehensible and fantastic to you, yet it is so.

137. Even with your greatest consciousness-based efforts you will not be able to understand the actual connections, as even for us with our development, these are still not available and this mystery is not exactly transparent.

138. In this respect, we too know only a few solutions to these enormous mysteries and are therefore continuously striving for further knowledge.

139. Though we have the technology required to travel through the universe with the help of hyper-space and can also use timelessness as an ally, we are still at the initial stages in our related research and development.

140. We can however take responsibility for giving you an incursion into the timeless, which you call the eternity, with our great spacer.

141. To enable the desired awareness for you, we will need seven minutes of leap time, which in normal time-space increase fivefold.

142. This means for you and for all of us, that we need from dematerialisation to rematerialisation an experiential time of seven minutes within the spaceship, while in the timeless only the thousand-billionth fraction of a second passes, whereas in ordinary time 35 minutes elapse and everything gets older by this amount.

143. In this special case the course of time changes for all of us, for instead of growing older there happens a rejuvenation of exactly 28 minutes.

144. The mathematical calculation for this is very easy:

145. While we are in timelessness for seven minutes.

146. These seven minutes are our ordinary time to speed factor which is also carried over into our older self as seven minutes.

147. However as we spend this time in the timeless and to a great extent can be protected from its influence, thus the time effect being of one to five in ordinary space, our space is slowed down and as a result acquires the difference of 28 minutes.

148. So for us there is only a passage of seven minutes while in normal time-space 35 minutes pass.

149. Therefore then, if 35 minutes pass on your homeworld, then of course everything gets older by this time.

150. Yet during this same interval, because of the altered time effect in reality you only live for seven minutes.

151. You now have to subtract these seven minutes from the elapsed 35 minutes on Earth to reach the result of 28 minutes that you have not aged.

152. So during these seven minutes you become only seven minutes older while everything on Earth ages by 35 minutes.

153. In other words this means that while 35 minutes pass, you only become older for seven minutes, while also becoming younger by 28 minutes.

...

Ptaah:

166. Our last jump will be to the Andromeda Galaxy, which rests, as seen from Earth, at a distance of roughly 2.2 million light-years.

167. From there we will setup for the great leap to the Universe barrier by which we want to give you the seven minutes opportunity to experience the timeless.

...

Semjase:

254. And since I am already speaking of this, I want to ask you something before we jump into null-time, the timeless, or in the eternity, as you call it, for seven minutes, which will happen in a few minutes.

255. The perceptions there are completely different from the ones that are normal in material life.

256. For that reason it is also not possible for us to empfinde and receive your thoughts and feelings, because we are still in the process of consciousness-related and spiritual evolution.

...

everything exists only as radiant light. It is stronger than all the suns of the Universe put together. Man oh man, this bright light, and it doesn't even hurt me in the eyes. Man, this is the eternity, the bright radiant light of eternity. Look, there exists nothing else but the eternal. Man, how splendid. Splendid? Man, that is the splendour itself. Eternity and splendour are one and the same. Why do I separate them? Why do I put the eternal in terms of time? Time does not exist, and eternity is splendour. Man, what is this? This calm, this peace, what is it, how did I get here? Love, oh this deep all-embracing love. There is nothing but love. Splendid! Oh yes, I am in the eternity. Just how can I forget that? This radiant light, this more splendid, this love in everything. Oh, yes, I am a human being, but how can I? Why do I forget that? I am just a guest in eternity... and these lovely voices, that call me by. Where do they come from? I see nothing but radiant, soothing light? Who is calling for me? I don't see anything. Man, I am no more, I don't see myself, I am eternity in the eternity. Oh, how is this, I cannot see with my eyes anymore, and yet I can see everything, and I cannot hear with my ears, and yet I hear everything. Yes, love, how powerful it is, how vast, infinite and splendid. Everything is love and splendour, just why does the human being not want to understand that? How? Oh, yes... but that cannot be, I am not a human being, I am the eternity. This light, this radiant light, such profound love, calm and peace it has. Oh... now I understand; I cannot see or hear, but I empfinde. I feel, I live, I empfinde. How beautiful is this peace... am I not human? Am I not the eternity? Who is calling for me? Interesting, I sense the hearing without needing the ears and I see without needing the eyes. I feel the seeing and I feel the hearing. Where am I, why is this like this? Oh, yes, the eternity, now I understand, I am the eternity. Just why was everything so unclear? Just why did I not find the connection? Just why did I forget that I am in the eternity as a human being? Just why can I only think clearly now? Think? I rather empfinde, I feel. How is this possible... and from where do these voices come from, which I cannot hear with my ears, but only empfinde? Only? Why do I empfinde it as only? It's just not like that, hearing with the ears is so painful and materially-bound. Hearing by empfinden doesn't hurt, and seeing by empfinden doesn't hurt either, it simply penetrates in me, soft and full of love. It lets me hear and see. But this call... who calls me, then? Who is calling me? I feel that someone is calling me... who is there? This light, this splendid, radiant light, the call comes from this light. Is it the call of eternity? Oh, but how hard it is, how hard it is, not to think, that I am only a guest in eternity, that I am a human being. How painful it is, this humanity. I don't want to be that no more, I want to stay here forever as eternity in the eternity. This call of eternity, this deep love. Yes, I want to stay here, I will never go back. In here is the EXISTENCE, the real EXISTENCE. I don't understand... this call? How can I be here as a human being? Am I not a human being? No, I am not, now I know it. I am me. I am EXISTENCE. Just how could I empfinden myself as a human being. How could I empfinden myself as a stranger here, who has to return to a material world. I am here and I belong here. Something wanted to mislead me, and it inspired unreal Empfindungs in me. But why? I must have already left the material life and died a long time ago. But how long has my transition to here lasted? What have I lived through? There are so many confusing things, there is Semjase and Ptaah and many other things. But those are just dreams... dreams of the dead? Would this perhaps be always so? Is that the transition from physical being to EXISTENCE? Would this conversion be dominated by those dreams of the dead? Perhaps to mould the transition correctly, to release the fear of the unknown? I don't know. Or maybe everything was real? No, this is not so, because now I am eternity and empfinde it. These were surely only dreams of the dead... dreams of crossing from material life to real EXISTENCE. Death is only the intermediate space, the intermediate station between life and EXISTENCE. Death? That's incorrect, it isn't so... but how do I know that? Who tells me that? Oh, yes, I empfinde it from this mysterious call from the splendid radiant light of love, from eternity itself. But am I not eternity myself? Oh, of course, that's why I can understand the call. What do I care then about material life and intermediate stations? Just why? I don't understand, because it doesn't affect me. I am EXISTENCE now and have everything behind me. Finally I am EXISTENCE, finally I am me. Yes, I empfinde the call... but why just now and not then? Yes, it's the call.. it's the call of eternity. There are no more individual beings, there is only the great unity of the whole. Why did I not know that? I don't understand it... but why should I understand it? All is really so. Yes, but... what... yes, it is so, I dissolve, but why, it... yes, the EXISTENCE is vast... why are these Empfindungen so strange? Why do I think of me? It's not me, it's EXISTENCE, it's the great unity of the whole. How could I only empfinden of myself? Would this arise from thinking of the long past material lives? It must be so, because in here there are only Empfinden in the great unity of the whole. Now I arrive to the understanding, that the self has become consciousness, the self is inexistent and has become EXISTENCE. Everything is only consciousness and empfinden. That's the understanding, that's the EXISTENCE. Now I understand the empfinden of the strange call, which now isn't strange anymore. It's really the call of eternity, the call of the EXISTENCE... and now the empfinden is fulfilled with the deepest understanding. Now calm and peace are no more than infinite love, because from it emerge calm and peace. Then why does the human being not understand this? Why does he only seek love in unreal untruths? But why do these Empfindungen exist in the great-EXISTENCE? Why would the great unity bring such Empfindungen into awareness? Oh yes, the Empfinden understands: The eternity is the existence and monitors what takes place in the inexistence, the material life-forms. It monitors the life of the human being. So that's why... that's why the Empfinden penetrates the consciousness. The Empfinden offers the possibility of conscious recognition, and the EXISTENCE of the eternity monitors all the events of the inexistence. Therefore also the Empfinden for the human beings. But what does the human being know about it? He strays on dark paths, trapped in irrational teachings and fails to recognise the truth of the real consciousness of the eternity. How mistaken are the human teachings about truth, which base everything on ignorance. Oh, how painful this is. Why does the human being just not want to understand the real truth and the love? Why does he/she keep themselves imprisoned in cultic heresies and tread the path of destruction with them? Strange, the Empfinden does not register a deity; how mistaken are the human teachings. They are just an evil delusion, which leads to destruction. Just why does the human being not want to be eternity and to become real EXISTENCE? Why does he/she not free themselves of cultic heresies, and run to their doom? Human, why do you do that? See here the eternity, see the real EXISTENCE and see, here is the great- and spirit-consciousness, the great unity of the whole. Above the consciousness of the EXISTENCE stands only the Creation, and it is infinitely vaster and more powerful in its awareness of its existence than this level of consciousness. This awareness is the final stage of all spirit levels before becoming one with the Creation. Here is the last stage of the possible relative completion before the oneness with the Creation. This is the last stage of the final truth and the fulfilment of the relative completion. This is the stage of EXISTING in the consciousness of the existence in the fulfilment of the relative completion. This is the stage of the great unity in the oneness, and here all the self and all the personality is overcome. The consciousness is the call of the eternity and the eternal call of the truth and the all-embracing love, and what can be greater than it, because everything is born out of it. It's the EXISTENCE of the Creation and the EXISTENCE of all EXISTENCE. Beside it, truly nothing exists. Just why does the human being not understand this, why does he/she chase after irrational teachings and why does they let themselves be captured by heresies? Nothing exists outside of the Creation, and there is no other Creation besides it. It alone is the truth of the Universe and it alone is consummate spirit-consciousness, perfect love and consummate EXISTENCE. It's not shaped and not formed, it's spiritual consciousness, spiritual love and consummate spiritual EXISTENCE alone. And outside of it is nothing. Human being, why do you not recognise this truth? Why do you let yourself be misled by cultic heresies, and why do you place human creatures and many other things next to it, which should take the place of the EXISTENCE of the Creation? Human being, why do you foreordain a deity in place of the EXISTENCE of Creation, and why do you curse the EXISTENCE of the Creation through the nomination of a god, which mendaciously and fraudulently should be the EXISTENCE of the Creation? Human being, how evil you are in your arrogance, and how can you presume yourself to be above the Creation or to equate it with the creatures created by it, by appointing them as gods and imagining them as the Creation? How you have become vicious in your thinking, unreasonable and autocratic. Oh, human being, you advance in very evil paths, which lead to destruction, yet by no means will you find in them the way to the real EXISTENCE of the Creation. Here is the eternity and here only the truth rules, and so also only the truth is expressed. Oh human being, how great and infinite is the Empfinden of pain at your ignorance. Despite endless love a thorn of pain resonates through the Empfinden of the consciousness and makes the splendour of the radiant light melancholic. Recognise the love, still; recognise the truth, human being, so that you too experience the splendour of happiness in the existence of the eternity. You human being of the distant material world, human being of the Earth, hear the call of eternity; let yourself be instructed about the truth and use the power of the spirit and consciousness to recognise the love. Make it your own and thereby flow in the consciousness of the eternal EXISTENCE. Work your way consciously up to the level of the radiant light and receive here the conscience of the great unity in the unity. Realise the falsity of all cultic heresies and deities, and realise alone the path of the light and the universal love, realise the way of the truth, the only one which leads to the splendour of the Creation. It alone is all-encompassing and all-magnificent. Conceive that, human being, and allow only the truth to be the real truth, because only it leads to the kingdom of eternity. Conceive: the word of the truth is imperishable, because it is Empfindung and recognition in the EXISTENCE of the consciousness of the great unity. The heavens and worlds will perish, but the words of the truth will never perish. They are... oh... no. It's so strange... the Earth-human knows only half the truth, for he/she is misguided by cultic heresy. Yes... but why then? Great unity in consciousness, is what? It's so strange, I empfinde so very painful for the Earth-human, why is that? Oh, it's.. no, don't! You go away from me. What is it now? I hear your call from somewhere, and it's going away. Why do you go, oh, the light, its radiance decreases. Why is that? I am me again... no... no... that should not be... no I don't want to go back. No, no, I belong here, I know, I am thinking again, I no longer empfinde. Oh... I understand, the light... the radiance is gone now and already it shimmers gold, and now silver. No... no, I don't want to. Leave me, I... I... I...

I hang in the cabin chair as if I had been executed and stare forward. I don't want and cannot understand being here. I don't want to return to here at all. I want to remain in the "beyond", and yet I am here, just why? I don't understand the world anymore. Why, oh why? The "beyond" is love and EXISTENCE, and what is here at all? These burdens, these worries, problems and needs, that cannot be true... I want to go back. Oh, this misery, this sad reality of material life. Oh, man oh man, this sad misery, this life, this misery; just why did I come back? Man oh man, I could howl, oh, just how can I go back? There must be a way, it's not easy to... ? Oh, what is that now? Man, what is that? Uh, what... ? Oh, is that you? What are you doing here, Semjase??? Uh, why are you shaking me like that? What's happening?)

...

Semjase:

274. We have reached our goal, but we have done a big hyper-jump and the rematerialisation was delayed by seven minutes, to allow you an intrusion into null-time... into the timelessness.

Billy:

??? Timelessness?

Semjase:

275. Do you still not understand

I ... Oh yes, of course ... pitiful ... how very pitiful ... why have you brought me back here?

Semjase:

276. You like to joke; but we have all been inside the timelessness, and would all like to stay there.

277. But we must not do that, because we have to complete the path of evolution step-by-step, as you also must do, dear friend.

278. I know very well the pain you feel now, as we have all experienced the same thing.

279. But we have become accustomed to it, and know that we can under no circumstances stay there, before we have reached that stage of consciousness, which belongs to the great consciousness level.

...

Ptaah:

173. We have reached our goal... we are almost at the end of the material universe.

174. Until we reach the barrier we will go through completely empty space, resp. the outer Creation belt up to the displacement belt.

175. Up to that point, there are now not only a few million kilometres, but many billions of light-years.

176. So we leave the actual material Universe resp. the solid-state matter universe belt, and go into the transformation belt and beyond, up to the very end of our DERN Universe, where across a barrier, resp. a Universal barrier, we will then create a passageway to the DAL Universe.

Billy:

Fantastic. But tell me now, why have I had so many thoughts in the great unity of the null-time? They were only seven minutes according to your information, but I have thought more than is possible in seven minutes.

Semjase:

288. You have thought no more, you have only empfunden [from Empfinden: to perceive in a fine-fluidal manner].

289. In the null-time, in the timeless, only Empfinden exists in the great unity.

290. You were yourself no more, but only a tiny part of the whole great unity.

291. And in this great unity the Empfindungen penetrated into you.

Billy:

I was able to analyse that, that's right. Only at the beginning did I notice a certain I-force, but then this dissolved in the infinite level and mass of the eternity.

...

Ptaah:

183. Because if in the timelessness you were already in a position to realise the truth of the great unity, then you have realised many other truths, which the immature Earth-human is not ready to harvest yet.

...

Billy:

... As I see, we are flying with tremendous speed through the increasingly emptier space, and in here there are no stars in the way, so to speak. Only far ahead I see that star, which is now becoming bigger and bigger, and far behind it I can see five small blue dots. What star is that, and what are the blue dots?

Ptaah:

189. That is Galtos, the last big star in this part of the material Universe.

...

Ptaah:

252. This structure is produced by a spaceship that you can recognise there, very far ahead in the ring-like centre.

253. Here our Universe ends, and this structure stands as the gateway to another Universe, which we call the DAL Universe.

Billy:

Man, but this is enormous, it must certainly have close to 50 kilometres in diameter. And the length of this tunnel, man oh man.

Semjase:

299. You err very much in your measuring.

300. The diameter of the tunnel amounts to 177,000 metres, and its length totals 7,103 thousand million kilometres.

...

Billy:

Do we have to go to another space-time dimension or something? And, what is it actually about this DAL Universe, that seems so familiar to me?

Semjase:

304. We will remain in the normal time and normal space.

305. You see, we are already far inside the tunnel, and nothing changes.

306. But as for the DAL Universe; does this not remind you of anything?

307. It is a twin Universe of our DERN Universe.

Billy:

It seems very familiar, at least the name. Semjase, that light there in the center...

Semjase:

308. We have crossed over; we are on the other side.

...

Nera:

27. Semjase is bringing a time projectile back to us.

28. That's what she has gone to get now.

Billy:

Oh yes, Semjase told me something about it. Are you allowed to tell me what this thing is?

Nera:

29. For nine years we have been researching a new technology for time travel over unmeasurable distances and time periods, and also across various Universes, without the need to open a barrier.

30. For this purpose, we have developed small spiral-shaped time projectiles, which for now we are transmitting from and to the present time, specifically from our Universe's present time into yours.

31. And since Semjase understands these technologies and works with us, it's only understandable that we guide some of our projectiles to your own Earth.

32. Three years ago we transmitted the last projectile to there, where unfortunately it could not be found for a long time, because of a very small error that had arisen in the time calculation.

33. Thus, the projectile landed several thousand kilometres to the east of the intended target, because the Earth had rotated by this distance during the course of the projectile's journey.

34. This mistake was discovered some months ago by us, and so we were able to find out where the projectile had really landed.

35. Semjase effectively found it then and has brought it back to us now, because it is very valuable for us.

...

Semjase:

378. Each dimension of a universe has different parallel universes with parallel worlds.

379. They are parallel dimensions or other space-time structures.

380. So also beyond your home world, the Earth, other dimensions and worlds exist.

381. These parallel worlds exist in superordinate or subordinate dimensions, in space-time structures that are alien to normal time.

382. On one of these kinds of parallel worlds, almost everything is the same as on the worlds of normal time.

383. Only small differences prevail, especially in the times.

384. And into such a parallel world I want to travel with you.

385. It is a different form of time travel into the future or past than you experienced with Asket.

388. There are the same human beings and buildings there as on Earth, only everything is just shifted in time and space.

...

Semjase:

424. Unfortunately, however, we really must hurry now; we have already overrun our time.

Asket:

237. You can settle this again with a short time leap, can't you?

Semjase:

425. Sure.

Billy:

Is this supposed to make me younger again, or maybe a little older for a change?

Asket:

238. A few seconds younger.

...

Ptaah:

261. We are just about to cross back into our own universe.

262. After that we will stay at the end of the barrier for fifty minutes to close it again.

Billy:

Does it take that long?

Semjase:

433. Sure, because we can't just let it collapse, we have to close it systematically.

434. That just takes time and requires a lot of care.

435. From universe to universe there are very few barrier points that can be used as a transition.

436. They must also not be overused or overloaded, otherwise the barrier structure will be destroyed, which could lead to a universal ram belt catastrophe.

437. So everything has to be done very precisely according to its order and according to the given laws, which of course always takes its time.

...

Ptaah:

264. The whole process of closure is programmed and will take care of itself without any special intervention on our part.

...

Ptaah:

516. The truth is that invisible and unrecognisable forms of beings live in the most diverse spheres and dimensions.

517. These are spheres and dimensions that are superimposed on or subordinate to your normal time and that form independent spheres and space-time planes.

518. In and of themselves these spheres and dimensions, and likewise the life-forms or being-forms that animate them, are of as material a nature as the Earth human being, his world and his time-plane.

519. The swinging waves of the time planes concerned are, however, structurally fundamentally displaced, whereby these other spheres, dimensions and forms of life or beings remain invisible and unrecognisable to the Earth human being.

520. The vibrational spheres far inferior to Earth-humans are just as invisible and unrecognisable to them as the spheres far superior to them.

521. If this were not so, the most diverse spheres, dimensions and life-forms would flow into each other and cause universal chaos.

522. Fundamentally, nothing at all could exist as a result.

523. So there must be sharp dividing lines to ensure the existence of spheres, dimensions and entities.

524. Now these OTHERS, the being-forms or life-forms from other spheres and dimensions, which are just as material in their time-plane as Earth-humans are in their space-time structure, also have their worries and problems, and they too are classified in the cosmic course of evolution.

525. In nowise are they interested in making contact with the time-plane, which is yours and means the normal time-plane for you.

526. On the other hand, also in various other spheres and dimensions, only very few life-forms are capable of opening time barriers and penetrating other spheres, just as this is not the case on Earth.

527. In other spheres and dimensions, then, the beings or life-forms are just as material as they are on Earth, except that they are invisible and unrecognisable to you through the vibrational shifts.

528. But there are still the high spiritual planes, the purely spiritual spheres and dimensions.

529. These, however, are no longer material in any form known to you, but are purely spiritual.

530. This means, then, that in these spheres and dimensions there live only beings who are released from the material body and vibrate towards the goal of relative perfection.

531. These are partly the beings which already in the highest planes begin to direct the destinies of the universe in harmony with the Creation and are capable of creation.

532. But these entities also do not make contact with Earth-humans.

533. This only happens in certain exceptional cases, which are very rarely repeated in millennia of time, when lower beings capable of communication are addressed by higher purely spiritual life-forms and made aware of certain happenings.

534. Without exception, however, this only occurs in connection with the appearance of a life-form at some place in a sphere and dimension, which has a mission to fulfil as a prophet, etc.

535. And such prophets exist in all spheres and dimensions, that is, not only on Earth.

...

Billy:

... Semjase once told me that for a hyperleap you would have to keep a safety distance of 153 million kilometres from the nearest stars and planets so that they would not be pulled into the maelstrom of the hyperleap hole. Why are you now disregarding this precaution?

Ptaah:

...

653. With my ship, we have much better distance-management capabilities.

654. The technology of this ship allows us to neutralise time, as you know and have experienced.

655. Through this process, it is possible for us to get the safety distance of 153 million kilometres behind us in a fraction of a second, and then transmit.

657. On the one hand, we neutralise time to just short of the transmission point, and on the other, we create a neutral timeless channel in outer space through which we can then travel the short distance of 153 million kilometres in a split second.

...

659. The timeless channel is actually easier to manage than a hyperleap.

660. But such a channel can only be created at certain distances, always taking into account the nature of the environment.

661. The various energies of the different galaxies and systems limit the range of a timeless channel, with distances varying from 210 billion to 735 billion kilometres.

Billy:

Aha, so then this time neutralisation only takes place through purely galactic and systemic energies, which you make use of, while for the hyper-leaps you can practically use an intergalactic or rather the most diverse universal energies. According to my calculation, these universal energies should be far superimposed on the galactic energies and, accordingly, should be sought in much higher values, or am I mistaken in that?

Ptaah:

662. You speak like a good scientist.

663. Your figures are exactly right.

...

Semjase:

513. Since we are in free space and do not influence any events etc., we can travel back in time for a few days without hesitation and continue to live there without anything changing.

514. Although you will be away from your home for more than three days in total, you will only have been away for about 20 hours according to earthly normal time.

Billy:

That sounds a bit crazy. So I have been away from home for a little over two days now and I will be away for a total of three or more days. So that means I started this journey with you on the 17th and I am now on the road with you for more than two days, because today is the 19th. But now I am going to spend more days with you and then I am going to travel back in time with you to be back home on the 18th, although in reality I am still on a great journey on the 20th or so and I am going to curve through the universe with you. Is that right?

Semjase:

515. Sure.

...

Ptaah:

1045. Besides other races from those worlds come to Earth very often through an old dimension-gate.

1055. The others also come from time to time through the old dimensions-gate to the Earth, but this happens actually rather rarely.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_034

Semjase:

109. In the past I had once explained to you, that there are three different locations on the Earth, where fully natural dimension-gates arise periodically.

110. These gates signify a nature-based danger, cosmically caused and originating from time-flows.

111. This natural danger is the originator of many happenings, which affect the normal-time of Earth, but just at those places where they appear.

139. But now I want to explain the dimension-gate to you:

140. As already said, it is a cosmic phenomenon.

141. Such a dimension-gate represents a natural-cosmic phenomenon, a barrier between your normal-time and a dimension unknown to you.

142. In the given case, this other dimension has a parallel world to Earth, which is, however, subject to greater fluctuations in landscape at some points.

143. The dimension-barrier or the dimension-gate is caused by a cosmic elimination-transformation-radiation, which wavers and occurs periodically.
144. Its point of origin are various giant suns in a galaxy unknown to you within a universe of other dimensions, which are sending out their radiations and are meeting in the other space-time-structure in 7.2 light-years' distance beyond the Earth.
145. Over there they begin to flow into one another and to bundle up.
146. The Earth is the exact endpoint in the space-time-structure of the DERN-universe, where this radiation is hitting highly concentratedly and producing the effect of a dimension-barrier.
147. As the Earth moves, like all structures in the universe, this radiation – divided into a three-arm – only hits the planet at three locations, when the Earth is moving exactly in the focus of the wandering radiation, causing the two dimensions to be able to touch each other via the radiation.
148. The radiation itself produces the effect of an elimination of the normal-time, in a manner of evoking a transformation.
149. That means that the structure of the earthly normal-time is at the radiation-flashpoints transformed into the timeless, through which the normal-time is eliminated.
150. This transformation layer is still located far outside of the actual centre, which is already located in the other dimension.
151. It is a similar process as the one known to you with cyclones.
152. In the actual centre of the storm there is calm, while the vortex contains the actual storm.
153. The outer rings and whirls are the transition layer from storm-less to the storm.
154. It is similar with the dimension gate.
155. The outer layers represent the transformation layer from the earthly normal-time to the other dimension.
156. The vortex's radiation contains the actual transition in it, while the centre constitutes already the other dimension, a different universe resp. a different dimension within a different time-layer.
157. Look, if you want to depict it, you can do it so, as I am drawing it here in the sand. (Semjase uses a piece of wood for creating a drawing on the floor.)
158. When later on recreating this drawing on paper, you will be able to easily recognise the facts from it and they will also be understandable to all others.
- ...
167. You see in my drawing that the principle of the storm follows and acts according to a precise harmony with the cosmic construction.
168. This is the same event that emerges during the formation of a galaxy.
169. The laws in macrocosm and microcosm are exactly the same and differ only in their order of magnitude.
170. When you now start with the same drawing and imagine to see the dimensions-barrier in it, you are again getting the same principle.
171. Relatively seen, the processes remain exactly the same, with the only difference of their forces equalling fundamentally different types.
172. Concerning the dimension-gate the forces are purely cosmic energies, radiations of a very special kind.
173. The effect of the vortex or the spiral does anyhow remain the same, even if the appearance is different.
174. The transition belt, the storm belt and the centre are here also present, just in a different form than for a galaxy or for a storm of nature's elements on a planet or a star resp. on a sun.
175. The transition zone or the transition layer is to be compared with a transition time between two world eras.
176. The old and traditional normal-time is still available, but it is already allowing a view into the other time level, into the other dimension and other world.

177. So when a flying object enters this zone, with life forms sitting in it, well then they are still in the normal-time, but are already looking into the other time layer, into the other world.

178. Because during their flight they looking forwards, they see a world totally foreign to them and a foreign landscape, as long as they had never been there before.

179. By the powers of the vortex, life forms – as long as they are not familiar with these happenings and are not possessing the required devices and apparatuses – lose control over their flying devices and are driven that way into the actual passage-whirl, into the actual dimension-gate.

180. Over there they are then already solely seeing the other world in the other dimension, while their normal-time is already behind them.

181. Then they are driven into the centre of the spiral whirl and are therefore in the other time layer, thus in another world resp. in a dimension totally foreign to them.

182. Should they lack the required apparatuses and other devices, they become prisoners of the foreign dimension for all times, and a return into their normal-time won't be there anymore for them.

...

Billy:

But you had in the past mentioned that humans are also kidnapped by aliens in the Bermuda-triangle.

Semjase:

188. Sure, but it is as rare as it is on all the rest of the Earth.

189. For those abductions mainly the Giza-Intelligences are predominant, together with time travellers and other elements of the universe.

190. However, these incidents are truly very rare and count for less than 0.02% of all abduction cases on the Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_037

Billy:

... with which life-forms do you have contact?

Semjase:

72. With forms from your time level, thus from your present-day dimension, because these life-forms are not yet capable of the change of dimensions in the manner we are.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_038

Billy:

... Now, however, I have one last question, namely concerning the Bermuda Triangle, and here especially because of the world in the other dimension. Can you describe this world to me?

Semjase:

217. There are several worlds and several dimensions, and if I had to describe them, it would go much too far.

218. One of these worlds, however, is a parallel world to yours and has only minor differences.

219. A second one, however, is very remarkable because three almost similar planets are in a line behind each other.

220. So if you were to go through the dimensional gate, you would again come to an Earth or world, but in another dimension and thus in another time level.

221. But the time lies very far back from your present time, namely in that time, when the Earth, still inhabited by flying dinosaurs, was quite wild and fissured.

...

Billy:

So this means that the dimensional gate fluctuates in its intensity and thus opens gates to different dimensions or spheres?

Semjase:

223. Sure, you expressed that very precisely.

Billy:

Well, but now again to this triple world: If I would now go through the dimensional gate, then according to your explanation I would again be on a world or Earth, but millions of years back in the flying dinosaur era, is that right?

Semjase:

224. Certainly.

Billy:

Well, then I am actually again or still on a world similar to Earth, even if many millions of years in the past. If I now come into this world of the past, then according to your statements I would still have to see the other worlds from that world, right?

Semjase:

225. Sure, and you would even see the other two planets very close, because they are only a few hundred thousand kilometres apart.

226. So once you would see the horizon of that primeval world on which you would just stand, as a second world you would see the middle world, which is still wrapped in a radiant steam coat, and as a third world you would see it roughly like the Earth as it exists here in the present time.

Billy:

But that doesn't make sense.

Semjase:

227. It also took us a very long time to solve this strange mystery.

228. In all parallel universes, there are also dimensional radiations that create the gate in the Bermuda Triangle.

229. However 3,500 years ago, when Venus shook the Earth, the dimensional harmony was disturbed and two planets, the primordial planet and the gaseous planet, were dragged into the dimension of the completed planet, after which the dimensional gate returned to normal.

230. Therefore, in that dimension these three different planets exist in that solar system.

231. So you could almost say that the same worlds there exist three times in three different stages of development, which of course is illogical.

235. With my beam ship I can penetrate into that or any other dimension, but I cannot return.

236. We'll need Father's spaceship to do that.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_039

Billy:

... But how does it stand, now, with the dimension gate in the Devil's Triangle? Can one see this?

Semjase:

36. With eyes alone, it is not recognisable, but it is possible to make the radiation visible.

...

37. Sure, I can make the radiation visible by my ship.

38. Only two paths of radiation are currently recognisable from this side of the Earth, however, while the third is behind the Earth and, therefore, cannot be seen from here.

...

Semjase:

95. You can steer my ship calmly, if you like.

96. But please pay attention here; if you should lose control, then simply press these three contact points in the grid.

97. By these, everything turns to the zero position and the automatic control mechanism regulates everything within a split-second; thus, no dangers can appear.

98. But despite everything, please pay attention to the speed.

...

Semjase:

109. It may well be because of our high level of development that we have a different nature in such concerns.

110. With certainty, our somewhat finer dimension also exerts a certain influence on it.

...

Semjase:

184. The number of these people, however, who could actually enter into connection with human beings of other dimensions, is only to be reckoned as 16 of these all over the world, but these do not use their capabilities.

...

187. Only important to us are those who could enter into connection with other-dimensioned human forms.

...

Billy:

What am I to understand by the WE-subconsciousness-level?

Semjase:

195. It concerns subconsciousness-connections to the WE-form of the Earth-humans and, therewith, to same-dimensioned life forms in this world's area, who stand in nowise higher in their evolution than the connection-seeking Earth-humans themselves; thus, they cannot convey or obtain any translated or higher knowledge (= collective subconsciousness).

...

Billy:

... Something is just a bit fishy to me with this journey, namely the time. I am now already about two hours away from home, and I should still stay away for another two days. At the same time, I simply do not understand how one would not notice my absence. This is something that just does not make any sense to me. These time shifts quite simply go beyond my "spiritual" horizon. These little time cramps really do not make me any wiser. I understand what really happens, but how everything is connected together, this is a sevenfold mystery to me.

Semjase:

203. Accept my consolation, because I do not understand any more than you.

204. Even our best scientists know only very few secrets of these matters.

205. They do, indeed, know the how, when, and where, etc., but they do not know the basic causes of the process.

206. Therefore, do not think about it too much, for it would be pointless.

207. I can, however, explain to you what happens, in order for you to be able to have two days with us.

208. It is the simplest possibility for us.

209. You will be with us for two days, while on Earth, only two hours will pass.

210. These two hours, however, are only the length of time that you needed to come to the contact place, arrive here with me, and then go home again.

211. It...

Billy:

But these two hours are, nevertheless, already over and are even exceeded by more than about 40 minutes.

Semjase:

212. Sure, I just wanted to explain that to you.

213. Your way from your house to the contact place, our greeting, and the flight here lasted only 45 minutes.

214. You will also need this time for the return.

215. Besides this, what you do not know is that on the flight here from Earth, I leaped about two days into the past.

216. You do, indeed, know how easy this is.

217. Hence ...

Billy:

Girl, now I understand, I ...

Semjase:

218. You do not understand, because we have not done a normal leap into the past.

219. It is a time shift that is still unknown to you.

220. You now live twice, namely once here and once down there on the Earth.

Billy:

Now I really do not understand.

Semjase:

221. Understand yet:

222. We do, indeed, live here at present, but we are, at the same time, two days in the past.

223. For us, it is now, indeed, Wednesday, but on Earth, it is now only Monday.

Billy:

I really do not understand. According to your statement, I would now have to be down there on Earth and would be going straight to bed, because on Monday, I did not go to bed until morning. So we are now having Monday there on the Earth, as you say; nevertheless, I am here and, thus, am not climbing into bed. This is, therefore, not clear.

Semjase:

224. You understand everything very well; you just do not want to accept it because you find it too fantastic.

Billy:

Well, well, you claim, then, that I am here in my normal present and, at the same time, two days in the past. I already lived these two past days on the Earth below – as seen from my present. But since I am now moved two days back, I should first start to live these two days down there, or rather live through them, while I will, in reality, first live through these two days with you yet. This is, nevertheless, crazy. Now, according to your statement, I would actually have to exist twice, namely down there on Earth, where I am going straight to bed, and once here. Thus, I could now visit myself down there, eh?

Semjase:

225. Sure, if we would now return to the Earth, then you could – theoretically or practically, depending on the case – talk with yourself.

Billy:

Aha, I could, therefore, go to my own front door and knock until the door would be opened for me. And who would open for me, eh? I for myself, in my own person. Man, girl, I would just like to see my dumb face once, when I suddenly stand before me and even say “hello” to myself. At the same time, it just does not make sense to me that in the normal time, only two hours pass, while the past requires two days for it?

Semjase:

226. That is regulated by a time manipulation.

...

Semjase:

322. ... but now look, there are the Bermudas.

Billy:

The view from here is magnificent. Geez! Do you want us to drown in the sea?

Semjase:

323. I just want to go down close, so that I can demonstrate the transition to you, as it is also experienced by earthly pilots and crews of ships.

...

325. Consider now that, with this transition, it does not concern that which normally exists.

326. This is the transition into the dimension of the threefold world.

327. So this is a different dimension than that one, into which ships and airplanes penetrate.

Billy:

What type of dimension, then, does it concern with the other one?

Semjase:

328. In that dimension, the world is already suspended in the distant future, but the inhabitants on the Earth of that time very rarely penetrate from that.

Billy:

So be it, girl, but – human child, we are already in the middle of the thing, and at the same time, one cannot see anything at all that would indicate a radiation or something. Girl, this is really fantastic. Wait, yes – girl, behind us, I see my own world, and there in front is something completely foreign, something wild and quaint.

Semjase:

329. We are now at the exact crossroads of the vortex; thus, you can see both dimensions.

330. In front of us is the primeval world, as I described it to you.

...

Ptaah:

14. It is no secret; we are searching here for an overdue beamship of a life form known to us from our dimension.

15. It penetrated a few days ago and has no possibilities for its own return.

...

Ptaah:

25. You know very well that this is not the case and that the majority of the so-called mediums truly have no contacts at all with such life forms or even other-dimensioned life forms and that some of them are just subject to a self-deception or are quite consciously and deceitfully led to believe such contacts.

...

Ptaah:

217. Our next goal shall be the moon of the third world.

...

Semjase:

355. The human beings of this dimension and time have, indeed, become much more peaceful than those on your world in your time, but they are still barbaric and quite aggressive, so they would force us to land, which would be very unpleasant for us.

...

356. ... They do live here approximately 500 years in the future.

357. Look over there; that is one of their beamships.

358. Sure, they also have about 500 years more development behind themselves than the Earth-humans of your time, which I already said.

...

365. ...

{Billy}:

(A few minutes later, we are already on the planet, only in another dimension and about 500 years in the future. ... When we fly out again into space, I notice by my watch that we were in this world for seven hours. Far out in space, we come to Ptaah's giant ship, go in, and then Ptaah leads his ship back into my time and into my dimension. ...)

Semjase:

44. Only for the contact with us or other extraterrestrial or differently dimensioned life-forms it would not have been necessary to train you and to let you find enormous knowledge, realisations and wisdom and the truth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_043

Semjase:

96. ... after your passing away we have fulfilled our task here and will return to our dimension.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_044

Semjase:

76. The people I have marked as negative are not contact persons

77. In any case, they never had contact with extraterrestrial intelligences that reached them from outside of the Earth, neither through free space nor through a dimensional gate, because these penetration possibilities are so hermetically controlled that it is completely impossible for even a tiny particle unit to be able to pass through without being registered by us or the other intelligences monitoring the Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_048

Semjase:

60. The great innovations are housed inside and offer many more possibilities than is the case in my current ship.

61. With the new one, I am also able to penetrate dimensions in both directions.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_053

Semjase:

158. The closest one I know is in Madagascar, which is a dimensional gate.

Billy:

You mean the same effect as in the Bermuda Triangle and the Japanese Sea?

Semjase:

159. Certainly.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_054

Semjase:

64. Our one technical communication possibility you would call radio, but with the possibility of no delay in transmission.

65. Also the transmission does not take place through the normal space, but in use of the hyperspace, through which we pass our signals, disassembled, with faster-than-light particles, which spread over the whole hyperspace in fractions of minus seconds due to their million-fold speed of light and thus form again at the same moment at the target.

Billy:

What you are explaining to me is a mystery, because I do not know anything about these things. However, I have probably understood a few things, e.g. the disassembling of the signals. Could it be a distortion taking place in some distortion device?

Semjase:

66. No, the disassembling is a universal expansion of the signals and impulses in relation to the speed, with just the signals and impulses charged faster-than-light particles, which you call Tachyons.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_055

Billy:

Now another question: You explained to me at the beginning of our acquaintance that your beamships are equipped with a light emitting drive and further with a tachyon drive. Is that why you call the ships beamships?

Semjase:

147. No, because the drives you mentioned do not correspond to direct beam drives.

148. The beam drives were of a different kind, and we have not used them for about 400 years, although we have kept the name beamships for ourselves.

149. My ship, which I still had in my possession at our first encounter, was still half radiant, which is why you were able to see the radiations.

150. However, these were only highly concentrated light beams.

151. My last ship already had an antigravity propulsion based on the principle of repulsion

152. However, this drive was only suitable for planetary flight, while the tachyon drive was retained for free space.

153. The present ship is equipped with an antimatter propulsion system for free space, which was developed more than 50,000 years ago.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_057

Semjase:

166. My tasks are closely connected with my learned knowledge, which relates to spiritual education, coordination, technology, archeology research through time travel into the past, earthly religion, politics and economics, earthly history of humankind and various other things, for which I am taught and trained in every single value.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_060

Semjase:

50. ... while great scientists were able to flee with their space ships and returned to the former home-worlds of our seven-stars, being our Pleiades, which were settled by the earliest forefathers when they left their original home worlds in another space-time configuration in the Vega-Lyra-region.

...

Billy:

... The next sun system seen from us belongs to the Centauri group. To my knowledge is the first Proxima-Centauri, then Alpha-Centauri and Beta-Centauri, which by us though, is being called something else, namely the BARNARD star or similar, which is at a distance of a little bit more than 6 light-years away from us. Now, are you informed about whether any humans live in those sun systems who come to Earth?

Semjase:

124. Certainly, I myself know, there, in other space-time-structures, several dear friends in all three systems, although only in the Barnard system, meaning Beta-Centauri, can it be discovered from Earth that small planets are circling around the Sun there.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_063

Billy:

... But tell me, was his {Sfath's} pear-shaped ship one of your usual ships? You had a completely different 300-year-old box.

Semjase:

85. His ship was a gift from a Sirian people.

Billy:

You mean from people of Sirius?

Semjase:

86. Certainly, from one of the two inhabited planets of Sirius, but in a different space-time configuration.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_064

Semjase:

84. ... I was only able to find out that at that time {1962} there were actually two Cassiopeian ships with several crew members on the Earth for about 4 months ...

...

86. Unfortunately, however, our research has now revealed that one of the ships was destroyed during the return flight to the home star in 1962 with the entire crew, whereby all records were also destroyed.

87. The reasons of the destruction are shrouded in darkness and could not be clarified, because it took place in hyperspace, which was determined at that time by coordinate impulses.

88. The second ship started from the Earth about 7 years ago, because the crew was expeditionarily busy until then.

90. Unfortunately this ship did not reach home either, because some influences threw the ship into a foreign dimension when it wanted to break hyperspace.

91. This resulted in the fact that all control devices of the home base, which were coupling remotely with the devices of the ship, suddenly did not pick up any impulses any more when the breakthrough should have taken place, which indicates with compelling clarity that the ship was thrown into a foreign dimension.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_069

Semjase:

165. These visitors are very small people, only 110 cm tall.

166. They inhabit a small planetary world in a galaxy that was previously unknown to us.

167. They came to Earth by an involuntary time shift, by a faulty manipulation of their still insufficient space technology.

...

Billy:

Oh, that is how it is. But – where are these dwarves now? Can they even go back to their homeland? You said that they came here because of a time difference, just because of an unwanted one. That does mean that they have been thrown out of their own time, right?

Semjase:

171. Sure.

172. But they will find their homeland again, because father brings them back to their time and to their homeworld through a leap in time.

173. But this still offers some difficulties, because we still have no information about their home galaxy, which is why we first have to work out the coordinates.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_070

Semjase:

24. The later original home worlds were planets in the constellation known to you as Lyra and near Vega, in a different space-time structure, which is shifted from yours by a fraction of a second.

...

36. So the time came when they built themselves flying ships, with which they could also leave their space-time structure and could rush through the free and wide space of the levels of the universe.

...

48. Preparations took four long centuries in secret form to break out in one sudden blow into a far-reaching and open war of liberation, which spread and dragged on over many other dimensioned worlds of the Lyra and Vega systems.

...

55. The commander-in-chief of the terrorising forces was an Jschwisch called ASAEL, who, after realising the hopelessness of the struggle, escaped the vengeful and victorious peoples by a quick escape into the space-time structure of this level of the universe.

...

57. They quickly left the home systems, only to wander through the again shifted space-time structures for many restless years, before one day they found a large star system, which offered them the necessary possibilities for life, far away from their original home systems.

...

61. Of the three worlds made habitable, various expedition ships were equipped, after which the Titan fugitives flew out into the vastness of space to reach and take possession of their predetermined destination after 17 years.

62. These were stars and planets in their dimension beyond those stars known to you as Hesperides, which have their own worlds circling around them and were only weakly inhabited by human life-forms, which were subjugated by the conquerors.

63. During two centuries a new culture was created on these differently dimensioned Hesperide worlds and inhabited by emigrants from the Asael system.

66. Under the supreme command of the new leader, Plejara, further expeditions were prepared to expedite a very distant and lonely solar system, located in this, your space-time-plane, which according to all calculations must have come into possession of a section of a planet from the original earliest home systems, after the Destroyer had destroyed the earliest original home worlds many millions of years ago.

...

91. According to the coordinates of old records, the refugees entered this space-time structure and the SOL system, and thus once again arrived on Earth, where the Titans once again settled.

...

107. Many hundreds of thousands fled with large and small ships into free space, set down and settled in another space-time structure in Beta-Centaurus, which you know in your space-time structure as the Barnard star.

...

119. Through an accomplice, the scientists obtained possession of spaceships and fled into the space-time-shifted regions of Beta-Centauri.

...

192. The Pleiades stars of your space-time plane are much younger than the Earth, but not so [with] our stars and planets, which were named only by numerical values until the time when the 'High Council' took control.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_076

Billy:

... Two days ago it was exactly three months since I last saw Semjase. Since then I have only had a brief telepathic contact with her, which also seemed to come from another dimension. ...

...

Menara:

13. You see that I am here with Quetzal's ship, which earlier was piloted by Semjase.
14. So you also know that time jumps can be made here with this device, which is why I think that we can discuss the necessary things in peace before I make a time shift and bring you back to the place where you left your wife in such a hurry just a few minutes after the time to rush to me.

19. On the other hand, she {Semjase} is currently indispensable and held in another time plane, where she is on the go for your concerns.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_078

Alena:

4. I come from the planet SATER, which is about $\frac{1}{3}$ smaller than your home planet.
5. Seen from Earth, Sater is situated in the constellation of Lyra, 157.3 million kilometres away from the Sun MEL.
6. However, the planets are not recognisable from the Earth with its still very underdeveloped technology, because they are in another space-time-level.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_079

Semjase:

311. What the life-abandoned human body is only imperfectly able to unravel, the part of Creation in you is able to reveal with all clarity and truth, namely the certainty of your absolute duration in the all-great-timeliness.
312. You should look unswervingly to the tasks of your life on the Earth, in the knowledge that on this side the realms of coarse matter rule and in the otherworld the realms of fine matter rule, but that the divided realms of this side and the other side [the other world] are a single realm, present in the same place, but dimensioned differently, and therefore not in the same period.

Ptaah:

42. Certain events of the recent past can even be traced back to this, because through the unreasonableness of a certain member (Margreth Flammer) who, despite repeated warnings, continues to indulge herself with new spiritualistic sessions, negative swinging-waves were able to spread from the medium in question, registered by a brain-analyser of the Giza intelligence's that found a weak spot and consequently created that artificial insect, with the help of a malignant refugee group from a space-time displaced area of the Pegasus constellation, guilty of bacterial contamination in the Center.

...

Semjase:

19. Due to this migration of the entire SOL system, the axis point of the radiation of those large celestial bodies which caused the dimensional gates in the Bermuda Triangle, in Madagascar and in the Japanese Devil's Sea has slowly shifted more and more.

...

23. Since then the Earth is out of the range of the radiation and no dimension barrier or dimension gate still exists at any other place on the planet.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_093

Semjase:

98. Everyone is with us at the station, including her {Asina's} ship, whose intergalactic propulsion was destroyed by an explosion.

{Note: see Contact Reports 90, 91, and 93 for information on Billy's first encounter with Asina.}

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_096

Isados:

27. Obviously, however, no one expected that you would undertake a spiritual consciousness journey through space and time into our dimension, in the deepest concern, in order to give you clarity.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_097

Billy:

57. Semjase once made a rather strange remark to me.

58. This led me to speculate, which is why I assume that you live on your Pleiades in a differently dimensioned form.

59. By this I mean that you are probably up there in our universe and in our time, as Semjase once explained to me, but that you are dimensionally shifted, namely in a parallel system of our Pleiades.

...

Quetzal:

74. But this does not change anything, because we are just as compact and present in this dimension of ours as we are in that of our Pleiades systems, because we are descended from this dimension and also from your dimension.

75. Why we live in a parallel dimension on Erra and in our Plejades systems, in general, is due to the fact that the Pleiades systems are not habitable for us in this dimension, your dimension, and could not be made habitable by our ancestors either, because the system for habitation is still much too young for us in this dimension.

Billy:

66. Your explanation is plausible, but what is the nature of the Pleiades system in the other dimension?

67. Is it as solid as our Earth?

Quetzal:

76. It is a parallel dimension, that is what I said, therefore matter is also of the same strength as the Earth's matter.

77. The dimensions are simply different in their structure, but not in time and space.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_104

Billy:

29. But tell me, Quetzal, can you also penetrate other dimensions with this old box?

...

30. It makes me wonder whether you can also travel to the past and the future with Menara's ship?

Quetzal:

83. It is possible ...

...

91. Of course, I agree with that, but it takes several hours if I want to go there with you.

92. This old ship, I do not have another one available at the moment, needs a longer preparation time, after which you will only be back in normal time at dawn.

Billy:

38. It does not matter, because you can bring me back at about the same time as you got me out of bed.

Quetzal:

93. That would be possible.

...

120. So, my friend, here we are again.

121. We are here about 30 minutes earlier than you left your warm bed.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_107

Pleija:

19. You are surely still able to remember that in autumn of last year, a flying object unknown to us appeared, which responded to none of our calls.

20. To this day, we still have not been able to get a hold of it either, even though it still moves in the earthly space.

21. So far, if we tried to get a hold of this object, it regularly escaped by retreating into a dimension unknown to us.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_109

Semjase:

38. Our time is no longer long, and as it looks, we must perform a leap through time, in order still to be able to meet our commitments at the appointed time.

...

Quetzal:

68. But it is now necessary, due to the advanced time, that we perform a leap back in time, for otherwise, we will not be back in time for the fulfilment of our duty.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_114

Quetzal:

54. Thus, if you want to get to know more of this {“ the following persons, in their former personalities, had direct contact with the group”}, then you must strive yourself, in which case you should very wisely use the Sohar Centre {see the last entry here, a meditation area at the Semjase Silver Star Center}.

Billy:

I wanted to anyway for a long time, because I would like to try a leap into the past.

Quetzal:

55. You know how very dangerous that can be?

Semjase:

1. If he has planned something, then he does not let himself be deterred even by the greatest dangers, which you should know, nevertheless.

2. Perhaps it will then simply be the case that we have to go searching for him somewhere between thousands of years, if he miscalculates or is hurled incorrectly by some circumstances.

Billy:

Well roared, my child.

Semjase:

3. Then at least enlighten us before your doing, into what time and area you want to leap back.

Billy:

Okay, I promise.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_119

Billy:

Ah, by that, you mean the UFOs that showed up recently in Italy and Australia and in various other countries?

Semjase:

3. Sure.

4. These flying devices are obviously constructions of a very well-developed technology, which is not yet so advanced, however, that they could move into our refined areas of communication.

Billy:

By that, you probably mean, at the same time, your somewhat different physical structure, right? By that, I mean even the dimensional difference, through which you, in a moderate measure, exhibit different and much finer vibrations compared to us Earth worms.

Semjase:

5. Sure.

...

Billy:

Then just not. But is it right, now, if I have calculated that the Creation's expansion rate, for the initial period, was 44,069,497.5 kilometres per second, with a steadily constant half-life rate of almost exactly 6,347,755,102,040 years, from which the results arise that the expansion rate of the Creation at its universal beginning was 147 times the speed of today's speed of light constant, but this speed decreased with a half-life of 6,347,755,102,040 years and continues to decrease, so the starting point of today's light constant lay at a speed of 344,292.9 kilometres per second, but through the already elapsed portion of half-time, it has already dropped by 44,500.4 kilometres per second, whereby the present and current light constant of 299,792.5 kilometres per second arises, according to which an original light-year, from the starting point of the current light constant, of around 1.390×10^{15} km has amounted. This means, according to my calculations, that the constant of one second of the initial period of the expansion rate must have been 147 times faster than the constant of one second today, because at that time, around 46 trillion years ago, the speed of light was even 44,069,497.5 kilometres per second. From this, it also arose in my calculations that one second has, in each case, exactly that number of chronons that the light constant of one septillionth of a millimeter contains in itself because a chronon has a length of 105 septillionths of 140 mm and because exactly that number of chronons is able to pass a certain point, from the source to the fade-out of a beam of light, as the speed of light contains in itself – so in the present case, around 20.394×10^{30} chronons per second. This was even easier to calculate since I knew that space and time are dependent on each other; therefore, both time holds space in itself as also space holds time. From these results, however, my acceptance has arisen that through the transformation and lowering of the speed of light by the half-life, also space and the chronons change themselves, according to which, then, normal space would have to change itself to hyperspace and the chronons would have to change themselves to tachyons, which continue to exist in hyperspace as the smallest units of time at their own, old speed, according to which the oldest tachyons would, therefore, have to have a speed of 44,069,497.5 kilometres per second in their own hyperspace. It also became clear to me that each dwindling away of a half-life creates its own hyperspace; thus, already seven different hyperspaces (7 half-lives = $7 \times 6,347,755,102,040 = 44.434 \times 10^{12}$ years) would have to exist in our universe. Furthermore, it also became clear to me that time travels into the past or future can only be associated with this fact, because somehow, the travelling object must be manipulated in such a way that the flow of chronons is steered. So for example, if tachyons with a speed of light higher than ours and present in hyperspace or normal space would be stored around a travelling object, then it would be hurled into the past, while a flow of chronons below our current speed of light must have a journey into the future as a consequence. This has become clear to me, but the HOW, that has remained a riddle to me. It is now also clear to me that the chronons can only stay and move in normal space, while the tachyons only move in hyperspace. This, then, along with many other things that have become perceptible to me, about which I would still like to say nothing today, however, because I am not yet sure of the results. Ah yes, what could still be said: According to my calculations, after the end of the next half-life, our light constant would have to be 172,146.45 kilometres per second.

...

Billy:

I would still have a few more questions: Is it right that the absolute hyper-light-constant lies at a value of 10^{7000} , as Sfath once explained this to me?

Quetzal:

40. That is of correctness.

41. At the same time, it concerns the constant in the space of the Absolutum of Creation, so the highest speed of Creation and the Creation's expansion rate at the origin.

...

Billy:

So it is, therefore, also true that the expansion of the universe takes place all-dimensionally and spirally, where the shape, then, resembles a somewhat round egg?

Quetzal:

47. Also that is of correctness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_121

Billy:

... It seems to me, by the complete silence, just as if the three would be absent in some other dimension outside of my calling ability. ...

...

{Note: The following excerpt refers to a detailed history of the Plejaren civilization and their expeditions to Earth and the Solar system given in Contact Report 5:S67-193, Contact Report 9:S120-170, and Contact Report 70:S23-181.}

Billy:

... Then I have a somewhat complicated question: through various calculations, I have, another time, encountered the fact that something cannot be right with the dimensions of our present, from this to the Centaurus groups as well as to Lyra and Vega and even to the Pleiades. According to my calculations, these suns and planets addressed – of which there was already often talk between Semjase, Quetzal and me as well as between Ptaah and me – would really have to be in other dimensions, as it was said to me repeatedly. This would, therefore, actually mean that their Lyra and Vega human beings, and still some others, are just as non-existent in our present dimension as also the Pleiadians and the Centaurus human beings. And if my calculations are right, then you all would have to live just a fraction of a second in the future to our space-time configuration, which for us, however, results in a difference of several thousand years, with regard to technological development. But how this is connected, that is a riddle to me, and it could even be very difficult to understand. But Ptaah once spoke of the fact that on that or on a planet of the Centaurus groups, a people lives in overpopulation, which comprises about 120 billion, so these, then, would have to live in the future, as seen by us. On the other hand, I also calculated that at that time - around twenty-two million years ago, when the events took place in the Lyra and Vega area, which eventually led to the visits to our Earth - at that time, through some skillful manipulation, the Lyra and Vega refugees fell into the past and so penetrated into our space-time level. With certainty, this was no so-called chance but rather a full calculation. This arose from my contemplation of the fact that the technology of your ancestors was already so widely developed at that time that these would have tracked and found the refugees with certainty. But since that was not the case, the refugees must have retreated into areas that fell outside of the control of the pursuers. But concerning this, there are only two possibilities, namely the past or the future. But as I know the things now, the refugees were not able to venture into the future, so only the past remained open to them, to where they then actually also retreated. And because the past comprises millions of years and even billions of years in a life-potential form, the pursuit was given up, but this, in turn, means that the technology of your ancestors was not yet developed so far that they would have been able to carry out detections in the areas of the past or the future. But I now know from Ptaah's Great Spacer that this is possible for you today and that you know how to locate any structural vibration in any area of the past or future within seconds on the basis of computer analyses.

Menara:

195. How did you reach these results?

Billy:

Through various calculations, when I grappled with the expansion rate {see previous entry, Contact Report 119} and, thus, also with hyperspace, normal space, and with time, as well as with the pertinent information and remarks from Semjase, Ptaah, Quetzal, and Asket.

...

Menara:

201. I now suppose that you will even understand the issues surrounding space shifts and time shifts, when I explain this to you in detail, about which you would have to preserve silence, however, under all circumstances.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_123

Semjase:

48. The objects observed and photographed by you come from the Andromeda areas, and these are fine-material flying objects – similar to the bio-organic flying objects that you know.

49. In this case, however, it is such that these flying objects are fine-material and not bio-organic and that these, depending on preference and need, are generated by powers of consciousness from a very highly developed, human dwarf race, whose size amounts to approximately 70 cm, whereby I speak of body height.

50. This race {Nabulanians}, which is even unknown to us, is fine-dimensional and stands in the advice of the High Council, which has sent it here to clarify our interests with you in detail, because it was found that we would not assert ourselves strictly enough.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_127

Semjase:

99. If your time is short, then I can put you back by a time manipulation, so that you are back in your workroom about 10 minutes after you left it.

Billy:

You mean, after you took me out of there and moved me up here! Well, I am in agreement with that. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_133

Ptaah:

59. You are so very bitter that you see no hope.

60. You are destroyed within yourself in terms of your expectations and all positives are trumped by negatives.

61. You need at least three to four years before you can return to your old self again.

62. From now on, we will often, through my daughter, remove you from the Earth for longer periods of time for you to become familiarised with yourself again and then drop you back into your time using time shifts.

63. Only in this manner, after adjusting to Earth time again, will you be able to do what you are now no longer able to do.

Ptaah:

178. As you understand absolutely correctly, the basic building blocks of original material consisting of 280 elements, which were the basis for all later matter and today's Universe, were included in the Energy-Fetchen, which was the original core of all that exists in today's Universe and all its dimensions.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_137

Semjase:

13. Unfortunately, I currently cannot reach Quetzal, either personally or by our communication device, because he is staying in another time dimension.

14. As soon as he returns to our time dimension, however, then he will call me, and then I can convey your question to him and can then receive his answer.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_139

Semjase:

4. Also, with this device, it is possible for me to dive directly into the past or future, but also to penetrate into other dimensions.

5. The flight from my home world to Earth is reduced with this new aircraft to zero-time, which I will also explain to you at a later time.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_141

Semjase:

85. With ethically and very highly distinct lifestyles, the inhabitants of Haster are very peaceful and loving, and besides this, they live in the same time-level as the SOL system, thus, in the present level, as this would be said or called by you.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_142

Semjase:

9. The few human races in the area of the Cassiopeia constellation in another space-time configuration are well-known to us, but they have no resemblance to the life-forms mentioned in this letter.

...

13. Among these facts is the further complication that both of these races of human life-forms exist in a different time plane in relation to the Earth, like I said, so separated from the time plane that is known to the Earth human being and in which they live.

14. So when the human beings of the Cassiopeia constellation one day master space travel, they still will not be able, for a long time, to penetrate into the time plane in which the Earth-humans live their existence.

Billy:

And in our time plane known to us, no human life-forms exist, who would be capable of space flight in Cassiopeia, i.e. in that area?

Semjase:

15. Sure, there are human beings there, but these are not yet advanced in space flight or are not yet so far advanced that they could carry out journeys through universal space.

...

19. To these facts, there is still to add that many of the space-traveling races that come to the Earth are not resident in the time plane known to the Earth-humans.

Billy:

Ah, we already spoke very often about space-traveling human races that do not belong to you and which come, nevertheless, to the Earth. In which time plane do they all belong?

Semjase:

20. It is different for each.

21. To mention all of them would be difficult and time-consuming.

Billy:

Then let's say, for example, the humans of the area of Alpha Centauri, then Reticuli, or whatever it is, then...

Semjase:

22. The first ones live a tiny fraction of a second shifted from the Earth-time plane, so therefore, they cannot be reached by Earth inhabitants before they master time-travel.

23. The second human race you mentioned also does not live in the same time plane as the Earth-humans.

...

Billy:

... Yes, recently, I had a video rental. Its title was "The Final Countdown." The story goes that an American aircraft carrier was driven by a magnetic storm into a dimension gate and was hurled from the year 1980 into the year 1941. Then, by an accident, so to speak, a crew member of the ship stayed behind in 1941, while the aircraft carrier returned to the year 1980 again by a new magnetic storm and by the dimension gate. Now, in the film, the left-behind crew member, who was approximately 30 years old in 1980, logically lived on from the time of 1941. This seems to be rather logical to me according to my knowledge. Now, however, comes what can no longer be logically placed into reality: the crew member left behind in 1941 pursued the outlet of the aircraft carrier in 1980, and this man, who would have had to become 69 years old in the meantime, could see himself as he went about as an approximately 30-year old crew member on the ship, which then transported him, via the magnetic storm, into the past. According to this story, he would have been left behind in the year 1941 and then would have witnessed his own birth in 1950 and then would have lived parallel with himself for thirty years, so once young and once old.

Semjase:

91. That is impossible.

Billy:

Precisely, nevertheless, it is impossible if both want to live in the same time plane – both who are, nevertheless, only one person. The one staying in the past of 1941 would have had to die in 1949 at the latest, after which he would then have to be born again in 1950. This is so because the spirit form of the man is the same one at both times of his life, right?

Semjase:

92. That is very clearly explained.

93. So it behaves in reality.

Billy:

Well, such a coexistence of life would only be possible if two different dimensions existed.

Semjase:

94. That is right.

Billy:

Good, then this case is clear. Then to the next one: many people are of the view that they could do different things in the past and change the future if they had the opportunity for a journey into the past. But according to my knowledge, this is impossible because the future and the apparent present have already happened, that is, because the events of the future follow from the ones that already occurred in the past. Therefore, a man could not travel, for example, into the past to kill his own father or mother. He was begotten and born by a mother. Therefore, if a man returned to the past to kill his mother or his father still before his birth, then this past-traveler could have never been born. Is this right?

Semjase:

95. Sure.

Billy:

Good, so far so clear. Everything would be a paradox. And just to get around such a paradox, one would have to switch off the laws of space and time, so such a journey to the past can never take place in the way that the time-traveling person also actually arrives in the same material plane that exists in the past. And this also applies to the future. However, this also means that space and time are different in their expansion and in their speed in the past and in the future, which has the consequence for the time traveler that he penetrates into another dimension that is not handy for him materially. He could, indeed, live in this other dimension and exist if the living conditions there allowed it, but he could not enter into connection with the life-forms there if he did not have special aids for this. He would remain virtually invisible to the life-forms of the past or future, or he could be recognised, at most, as silhouettes. Am I properly oriented there?

Semjase:

96. Your explanation corresponds to the facts.

Billy:

So this also means that with the events of the film, "The Final Countdown," a certain logic does, indeed, play along with them, but in truth, the one staying in the past obviously could not have lived on in material form in the normal time plane, even if he would have then skillfully died in 1949. He only could have lived on in an invisible form or, at most, as silhouettes in the next possible time dimension during the time from 1941 to 1980, but not in material form, as this was given from 1941 to 1980, when the young man was born and was later launched with the ship into the past. Is this also right?

Semjase:

97. Surely.

Billy:

Ah, now it starts to take form. Now, if people or machines and such travel into the past or the future, these are invisible there to the people or other life-forms living there, although the time travelers can live there if they find suitable living conditions. This is in contrast to when people or machines simply penetrate into parallel times and, thus, into parallel dimensions, which are temporal and spatial and are, thus, exactly materially the same as the time plane from which the time travelers came. This is so even if such another parallel dimension was created somewhat sooner or later than the one from which the time travelers came. It is just important that the spatial and temporal relationships are exactly the same, right?

Semjase:

98. Why do you always ask me if you have sufficient knowledge about this?

Billy:

I just want to be sure. Well then: time travel into the past or future is always other-dimensional than the past or future itself. Now, however, the possibility exists, as I know from Asket and from you and was also allowed to experience myself, that there are technical possibilities for one to make himself visible in the past or in the future and to communicate with the life-forms there. However, this can only happen if the matter of the time traveler is condensed by technological devices or by consciousness forces to such an extent that the life form becomes visible as a body of energy, which one can pass through, however, because it remains, in any case, differently dimensioned. Did I say this right?

Semjase:

99. Surely.

Billy:

So next: the aforementioned relates to time traveling with the aid of purely natural or technological processes, as they are known to human and other life-forms or will one day become known, according to their level of development. Time travels, therefore, offer no possibility at all for changing any events, which already happened in the present or future, in the past. To these forms, however, there is still to be added that a time travel exists which comes about via pure consciousness-related forces and, by which means, it is possible to materialise oneself in the past or in the future, but for help in each case, the matter of the past or of the future must be taken. Nevertheless, a life form only becomes strong in this ability if he/she is accordingly developed in his/her consciousness-evolution and lives out the necessary love for that purpose. This means that such a life form is no longer capable of committing illogical violence against the laws of nature. Thus, he/she never even enters into temptation any more, if he/she travels to the past or to the future, to commit illogical violence, such as wanting to change the future through additional acts or deeds in the past. On the other hand, his/her logical understanding is already so highly evolved that he/she already recognises and knows that nothing more can be changed in the past that would shape the future differently than what has already happened, for the future, from which the time traveler came, has already happened as an effect of the preceding causes. If now, however, a time traveler materialises in the past or in the future and meets himself/herself there, then this will also happen in the future if he/she came from there because the spirit, i.e. the spirit form, of the time traveler from the future also materialises in the past or in the future, depending on whether the trip leads from the future to the past or from the past to the future. This happened, for example, when I traveled with Asket into the past and then also into the future, and it also happened when I performed the experiment in Hinwil with the letters, which I then carried in the past, two days before the date of writing, to the post office.

Semjase:

100. That is all correctly explained; it is just that for the Earth-humans, everything will be very confusing and incomprehensible.

Billy:

I have already often experienced this because for normal-thinking human beings, these things seem to be confusing and crazy. I have also noticed this in each case when talk was made about time traveling, which I performed with you. Time and space are still inexplicable to the Earth-human, even though everything is easy to understand.

Semjase:

101. That is understandable because the Earth-human still has no great knowledge about space and time.

102. But on the other hand, you yourself have forgotten another important factor in your explanations, namely that time traveling can also be carried out in a materialised form in the past or future with technological assistance.

103. Just as we have demonstrated it to you.

Billy:

I have not forgotten that, and on the other hand, I even spoke of it when I mentioned time traveling with the help of consciousness forces.

Semjase:

104. Sure, but that technological aids can become highly effective time-traveling missiles through the power of consciousness, you did not mention this.

...

Billy:

Then that is also good. In regards to this, that was actually everything that I had to say about time traveling, except that now, I have the problem that we have talked too long, and nevertheless, I promised to be with my guests again in about 30 minutes. But now, 1.5 hours have passed, and somehow, I ought to be back again at the right time.

...

Semjase:

112. Then we will go back in time about 75 minutes.

Billy:

That is enough, then I can possibly go back into the kitchen again at 12:30 AM.

Semjase:

113. Then now, position yourself here.

Billy:

What is that?

Semjase:

114. You would say that it is a time transmitter.

Billy:

There are all kinds of new stuff in this new ship. Can you explain this in a little more detail once?

Semjase:

115. Not today.

Billy:

I agree with you, but I would still have a question now: when you restore me back to time in each case, this is, once more, another kind of time travel. But how this works, I have not yet found out with all my contemplating. It is only clear to me that this type of time travel has nothing to do with forms, of which we have spoken just now.

Semjase:

116. I will explain this to you once in detail, when everything is in place.

117. But about this form of time travel, you may give no one information.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_143

Semjase:

10. The Universe is divided into seven units, i.e. rings or belts that, entirely together, form the whole Universe, and all of these rings are rotating against each other and have different diameters and an ovoid shape.

11. These seven rings, which we call belts, are the following:

12. 1) Central Core,
- 2) Ur-Core Belt,
- 3) Ur-Space Belt,
- 4) Solid-state Matter Universe Belt,
- 5) Transformation Belt,
- 6) Creation Belt, and
- 7) Displacement Belt,

And we also call the Creation Belt the Creation Matter Belt or the Expansion Belt, and the Displacement Belt, the last and extreme, embodies, according to your sense, a bumper belt.

13. Now, the Solid-state Universe is that part of the Universe in which the new births exist, so the nascent stars, etc. with all their life forms.

14. This real Solid-state Universe is calculated from the end of the Creation Ur-Core's outer wall up to the beginning of the outer wall of the Transformation Belt, which exhibits a half diameter of 7,869 octillion light-years and is, thus, the next largest belt after the Creation Belt.

15. In addition, the outer wall of the Transformation Belt is where this belt collides with the inner wall of the real Creation Belt, also known as the Expansion Belt or Creation Matter Belt.

16. So this is that space which embodies the Solid-state Universe and is so called because in these three areas, the coarse-material becomes existent and is existent, and the course-material becomes existent in the Transformation Belt only by a transformation from remains of the penetrating Creation Belt, which are converted into course-material from immaterial energy.

17. This is the real Solid-state Universe, which consists of the Transformation Belt, the Universe Belt, and the Ur-Space Belt.

18. In addition, the Transformation Belt exhibits such a gigantic mass and is the next largest belt to the Creation Belt because it is responsible for ensuring that in the space created by the Expansion Belt, the transformation of fine-material energies into course-material takes place, and at the same time, time itself appears and becomes existent.

19. Already in this Transformation Belt, time begins to run into the past, from which aging originates.
20. This means that in this Transformation Belt, chronons begin to exist, then are aging and becoming tachyons and are representing the past. By the way, tachyons may be proven by the terrestrial scientists in a short time.
21. At the same time, the speed also decreases from the Transformation Belt in an irregular manner but in a certain half-life.
22. The irregular decrease in speed, which amounts to 147 times the speed of light in its starting point and expansion point, comes about through mutually self-influencing and different time streams that have already changed in their speed.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_146

Billy:

Today, I once again had all sorts of trouble in reaching you telepathically.

Quetzal:

1. I was shielded in an Intrablock.

Billy:

Ah, accepted, even though I do not know what this devil's thing is again.

Quetzal:

2. An Intrablock is not a device but rather a state between two dimensions.

Billy:

You still see me, unfortunately, in futile non-understanding.

Quetzal:

3. An Intrablock is identical to:

4. A dematerialised state between two different dimensions, whereby the energy of the dematerialised body remains as an independent energy block in itself, without mixing with the surrounding energy.

Billy:

Aha, now this is understandable. Apparently, the whole thing is connected to time-travel?

Quetzal:

5. You are sometimes really unbeatable.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_150

Billy:

I know, that is why I will also immediately do what is necessary in the morning.

...

Probably, but I would like to get some sleep first.

Quetzal:

28. I will have two to three hours to talk to you though.

...

...

Billy:

... But tell me, you also told me during my great journey {see Contact Report 31} at that time about a serious illness that was to arise with regard to space travel. You said something at that time about the human beings of Earth finding out very soon through their space experiments that they could not do this primitive kind of space travel they were doing without serious damage. If I remember correctly, you told me at that time that this earthly primitive kind of space travel posed the danger of an incurable disease for the would-be astronauts and that all those who had flown beyond the earthly ozone layer in space capsules had already been afflicted with it. You declared then that something would happen to the brains of these human beings.

Quetzal:

274. That is of correctness, because we explained to you at that time the dangers of space travel, because conquering interstellar space is not as easy as Earth-humans imagine it to be.

275. Free space holds many dangers of which Earth-humans are not yet aware.

276. In particular, the very dangerous kind of space conquest practised by the Earth-humans causes damage to human beings' health.

277. In the first place, Earth-humans have no knowledge whatsoever of the dangerous and organ-damaging radiations which prevail in and pervade outer space.

278. On the other hand, they also lack the knowledge that weightlessness cannot be tolerated by the human body in the long term, which is why it begins to suffer physical and organic damage after seventy hours in a weightless state.

279. If Earth-humans, as well as any other omnipotent race is to be classified as such, want to operate space flight in space, then the space flight equipment must be adapted in every respect to the given conditions, as must also the space suits for the life-forms themselves.

280. Space flight equipment and space suits must be protected and made resistant by a special insulating shielding layer with regard to the most diverse body- and organ-damaging space radiations and space swinging waves.

281. This is the most important factor for the preservation of life in space for human beings, but it is also the most important factor for the preservation of the physical and organic health of human beings who move in space with flying objects or in protective suits.

282. The second and equally important factor in this respect emanates from gravity and is to be considered with just as much importance as shielding from space radiation and space vibrations.

283. If these factors are not taken into account and the flying apparatus and protective suits of the human beings are not made accordingly, that the flying objects and protective suits are made resistant to the external influences of radiation and swinging waves by means of special insulating shields, and that the flying apparatus and protective suits are equipped with their own gravity fields, then the body and the entire organs as well as the bones of the space-faring human beings will suffer damage to their health.

284. Radiation, swinging waves and the like, unprotected flying objects and protective suits, as well as the weightlessness of interstellar space, lead in the first instance to damage to the health of bone and brain organs in human beings and many other life-forms.

285. This is in addition to many other forms of health damage that affect the whole body and all organs.

286. If the human being as a life-form is not protected by special shielding and by artificial fields of gravity in the space of the world against space radiation and space vibration and against weightlessness, then it will succumb to health damage which, in the most extreme case, will as a rule lead to death.

287. The first severe reaction of brain damage I have mentioned, for example, leads in very slight cases to hardly detectable brain swellings, which after some time lead to uncertainty of thought and action and then inevitably to loss of reaction, as a result of which, for example, a sudden loss of control of a vehicle or flying apparatus or completely wrong actions against all reason appear.

288. This kind of mild case already occurs in those human beings who stay on Earth itself in containers in which weightlessness is produced, but on the other hand it also occurs in all those Earth-humans who do not leave the Earth for only a very short time and reach beyond the Earth's ozone layer.

289. All this may truly only be done if the necessary protective measures are sufficient, otherwise the damage to health is inevitable.

290. If, however, the human being or another life-form remains unprotected in weightlessness in space for a very long time, i.e. for many months or years, then the initially developing brain swelling of inflamed form suddenly develops in reverse order, which then results in brain atrophy, as in the case of weak-minded and old human beings.

291. The substance of the brain itself also undergoes atrophy, so that the whole mass of the brain is subject to this phenomenon of a morbid nature.

292. This disease phenomenon, and it has been proved that it is of this kind, is caused on the one hand by the unrestrained influence of space vibrations and space rays of various kinds, but also by weightlessness.

293. The disease arising from these factors inflames the brain substances and the brain organ itself, after which a new disease factor arises in the short term, which expresses itself as a reduction in brain activity, through a kind of brain substance paralysis, which then leads to a general dwindling of the total brain mass and can no longer be stopped by human and medical and similar means.

294. If the human being remains long enough unprotected and weightless in world-space, then the brain shrinkage will eventually lead to the point where the human being loses absolute control over himself, his thoughts and actions and life.

295. The final end is then madness and death.

Billy:

Exactly, you explained that to me at the time, but how long will it be before the human beings of Earth will realise the first facts of these facts?

Quetzal:

296. It will be around the middle of the year 1982.

297. In truth, however, only a few facts will be fathomed for the time being, while the final or at least further implications of the effective space dangers will be recognised much later, after the budding space travel will have already claimed Earth human lives.

...

Quetzal:

334. Since these events concern an incident in the capital of your home country, I made an effort, using a time bypass, to monitor closely the upcoming events, whereby I have made a very deplorable observation, which refers to the acting and thinking of the responsible and enforcing personnel.

...

Quetzal:

569. Then you will be back in your camp now just fifteen minutes later than you left it.

Billy:

Okay, thank you. Thus, no one will know I was gone for two and a half hours. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_161

Billy:

First, one more thing: since last June, I have all sorts of uncomfortable feelings with respect to the construction of the necessary premises. These have now increased to such an extent that I no longer even come to ask you to clarify whether we can still let ourselves conduct this business.

Quetzal:

52. In regards to this, I will perform a look into the future, in order to get to the bottom of things with certainty.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_163

Billy:

Good, then I have a question regarding so-called UFOs, which are truly none at all. As I know from you, the so-called flying objects that are considered UFOs are often observed in the day as well as at night. At night, it is often observed that these so-called UFOs light up and are vibrant in their intensity and also variable in colour. On the one hand, you were able to make it understandable to me, with tangible evidence and through my personal observations, that these sometimes deal with bio-organic flying bodies that are truly other-dimensioned life forms that, as a rule, can be captured on infrared film and that penetrate from other dimensions into our dimension area, in order to romp around here somehow in earthly airspace for playful and whimsical reasons. You also explained to me that these bio-organisms {"Rods"} are completely harmless and that they always return back to their dimension. But on the other hand, you have also spoken of the fact that similar phenomena appear in terrestrial airspace, but these are purely terrestrial in origin.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_168

Quetzal:

57. Why I say so-called 'weightlessness' is because of the fact that this only seems to exist for the Earth-humans in their spacecraft because they are not in a position to measure that these flying apparatuses also have a small attraction, but this cannot be measured yet by the primitive instrumentation of the Earth-humans.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_174

Quetzal:

28. However, the aircraft of Giza's allies withdrew using a hyper-leap procedure that is not recognisable to us, so we also could not detect any structural swinging waves neither with the entry into hyperspace nor with the exit of the craft from the same.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_176

Quetzal:

33. On next Sunday morning, you should ready yourself at 8:15 hrs because at this time, you will be able, for the first time, to greet our entire spirit leadership on Erra.

Billy:

Man, you are crazy. You have actually meant this seriously. But ... man, how am I simply supposed to be able to leave? This will certainly take many hours.

Quetzal:

34. That is of correctness.

35. You will be on Erra for three days.

Billy:

That will not work, you know that.

Quetzal:

36. We have thought about that, which is why we will create a manipulation of time.

37. You will have been away from the Earth for less than 5 hours, when I bring you back here again.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_194

Quetzal:

17. This, at least until the year 2029, after which, presumably, we will then finally remove ourselves and will turn our attention to other tasks that are foreign to the Earth, with the assurance that we permanently withdraw ourselves into our time dimension and never again return to this space-time configuration.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_202

Billy:

... Sfath said that at the turn of the century, respectively the millennium, genetic engineering, respectively genetic manipulation, would very strongly step into appearance again, as this was already the case a long time ago and was practiced here on Earth by extraterrestrials, as well as in a space-time configuration of Sirius that is shifted to our space-time configuration, when there, a large group of humans from the Henoah lineage became genetically manipulated by the Sirians. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_207

Billy:

Today, I first have a question about your space-time configuration, which is practically another dimension, but which is equally directed to ours and, therefore, is therefore equally material. Our universe is called the DERN universe, how is it with our dimension and your dimension, what do you call these?

Quetzal:

1. We denote your dimension with the term Goran, while we call ours Siras.

Billy:

Aha, and these two dimensions, respectively these two different space-time configurations, are materially identical in their buildup and existence?

Quetzal:

2. That is of correctness.

...

Billy:

But in contrast, you explained that the Earth's moon penetrated from your space-time configuration into ours and then into the SOL-system, in which it allowed itself then to be captured by the Earth as a satellite.

...

Quetzal:

5. The Moon found its way out of our space-time configuration at an early time and penetrated into yours, after which it was held by the Earth by its force of attraction and orbits around the planet since that time, deviating more and more from the Earth, and it still influences the Earth's rotation today as it did at the very beginning and, thus, creates a braking effect.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_216

Billy:

Do you know of even other universes than the DAL Universe and ours? With this, I do not just mean other dimensions or other space-time configurations in our DERN Universe but actually other universes, so foreign ones that do not belong to our two twin universes.

Quetzal:

44. Actually, we have already concerned ourselves scientifically with foreign universes for a long time, but so far, we have not been able to gain any concrete insights that would enable us to penetrate into such universes.

45. We have knowledge and proof of the existence of foreign universes, but it is still impossible for us to break them open; Therefore, we can presently only visit the DERN's sister universe, ie the DERN's twin universe and, thus, the DAL Universe.

...

Billy:

Semjase once explained to me, in response to one of my questions, that antimatter is real and that this was already discovered by your ancestors more than 50,000 years ago and has been used by you since that time as beamship propulsion. Since then, have you researched and developed new techniques for this?

Quetzal:

51. Of course.

52. Negative matter, as we call antimatter, has already been used by us for fifty millennia for all sorts of purposes, and of course, so much other research was connected with it and still is, therefore, new insights will also constantly be won and will create new ones, with which negative matter is brought to application or is used.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_219

Billy:

... the Sirius regions, from where the refugees broke out, were in a different space-time configuration, and the refugees settled in another space-time plane, simply in our space and our time, which was a foreign area to the Sirians and which could not be found by them up to this day, for on the one hand, there are simply too many of the most diverse space-time configurations in the entire Universe, and on the other hand, the Sirians did not have the Henok-technology of the space-time exchange. But now, two specific questions about this: first of all, do the distant descendants of the Sirians from their other space-time configuration, or from their other space-time plane, still presently search for the refugees of Henok's line, whose most distant descendants are some of today's Earth-humans? And secondly, are the distant descendants of these Sirians in a position today to penetrate into other space-time configurations? ...

...

Quetzal:

75. But still, they also developed their technology further in every form, consequently, they also became capable of changing from their space-time plane into another.

...

78. Unfortunately, they also arrived into the possession of the technology that enables them to change into the most diverse space-time planes, so even into this one, in which the SOL-system exists, which they have, indeed, found after centuries of searching.

...

86. Unfortunately, we are not able to catch these extraterrestrial 'Black men' elements because they always vanish into a space-time plane whose coordinates we cannot detect and cannot register, for quite obviously, these Sirius renegades have a coordinate-distorter or otherwise have a possibility to distort the coordinate data, whereby we cannot capture them and cannot get a hold of the offenders.

...

88. We have to wait until they make a mistake or until our scientists find a possibility to decipher their coordinates upon the disappearance of the renegades into another space-time plane.

Billy:

... The electromagnetic spectrum, this comprises 7 main forms and naturally also exhibits different high frequencies and wavelengths. The electromagnetic radiations, which are known to our earthly scientists, are called gamma rays, X-rays, ultraviolet rays, light rays, infrared rays, microwaves, short waves, ultra-short waves, and radio waves, and to my knowledge, gamma rays exhibit the smallest wavelengths and radio waves exhibit the largest. But now, you already told me some time ago that there are still other rays, and indeed, in addition to the radioactive radiation, also neutrino radiation, electron radiation, and also tachyon radiation. Most forms of radiation are, however, invisible. Is this right?

Quetzal:

38. That is of correctness.

...

Billy:

... About the origin of the Moon, which drifted many millions of years ago out of your space-time configuration into ours and was captured by the Earth ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_222

Quetzal:

24. You are mistaken in reference to the fact that the home galaxy of Gilgamesh is unknown on Earth because it was already discovered in the year 1781 by an astronomer named Méchain.

25. This is a somewhat oval spiral galaxy, which is simply called M94 – NGC 4736 by the earthly astro-scientists and which is seen about 20 million light-years away from the Earth.

Billy:

In our space-time configuration?

Quetzal:

26. That is of correctness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_224

Billy:

... Semjase once said that there are sometimes very powerful convulsions in the Universe that are released by black holes. What explanation lies behind this?

Quetzal:

36. It concerns space-time convulsions, which we also call space-time quakes.

37. These occur when two black holes collide and merge with one another.

Billy:

You mean that when two black holes collide and merge with one another, then structural quakes will result in the levels of space and time or even structural convulsions, if I understand that correctly?

Quetzal:

38. That is of correctness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_225

Quetzal:

112. This possibility only exists in the material belt, which forms the visible universe with all its stars, etc., for this belt is the only one, in which coarse-material matter can develop.

Billy:

And solely this material belt forms our visible and explorable universe, but still other time levels and, thus, other-dimensioned universe levels are incorporated into this.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_228

Quetzal:

101. The universe with all its galaxies is very sparsely populated with human life-forms, which also includes all space and time-shifted dimensions or all existing space-time structures.

...

108. Overall universally in your material space-time fabric, our scientists estimate that there should be about 6000 to 7000 billion actual human civilisations of high and low form.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_512

Quetzal:

101. This universe with all its galaxies is very sparsely populated with human life-forms, which also includes all space and time-shifted dimensions respectively all existing space-time continuums.

...

108. Universe-wide in your material space-time continuum, our scientists estimate that about 6,000,000,000,000 to 7,000,000,000,000 human civilisations of high and low form probably exist.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_236

Billy:

... You also said, when I asked about it once, that other dimensions couldn't be penetrated and time traveling couldn't be carried out through black holes. Is this right as such?

Ptaah:

301. Yes, your explanation is correct.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_238

Ptaah:

111. Maybe Quetzal will do this trip with you, because he wants to see you as well as my daughter Semjase.

112. Until then, however, it may be possible for the two of you to travel with our latest achievement and get to my daughter, with our latest transport system, with a transmitter that has made it possible for us to reach any and even the farthest point in no-decompression time, if there is a counter-equipment there, so a transmitter receiving station.

113. Through different relay stations we can reach any point in the universe.

114. However, these relay stations are necessary because we do not yet have transmitters with unlimited range.

115. Nevertheless, we do not need any time to get from one point to another, except for the time it takes to get from the receiving transmitter to the radiating transmitter and to program the new coordinates of the new target.

116. But even this programming by station will soon be a thing of the past, and so will the switching from one transmitter to another, because soon it will be possible to program the final destination at the output transmitter and the individual relay stations will automatically carry out the next programming together with the onward transmission, so that no more time is required for this either.

117. Over the next three years, our scientists should be able to put into operation a transmitter apparatus that no longer requires relay stations, but has an unlimited range and is designed in such a way that the transmitter can radiate a receiving transmitter to any and even the farthest target in the universe, where it materializes by a certain sequence of impulses and in which all goods and materials, forms of life etc. radiated to it materialize.

118. At present, however, a chain of relay stations is being created which itself extends into the DAL universe, making it possible to reach the DAL universe from Erra with a delay of only 14 minutes.

...

Ptaah:

410. To answer your question, however, I would like to explain to you that our ancestors discovered the principle of electron energy, which is present on all planets and stars as well as in all forms of life, as well as in inexhaustible form in the entire universe.

411. We make use of these electron energies even today just as our early and later ancestors did, only that we make energy transformations and are incomparably advanced in the use of these energies and their application as well as in the technology required for them than our ancestors were.

412. Tachyon engines as well as ray engines and antimatter engines, and our newest means of transportation with transmitters are based on electron energy, which we have been using for many millennia in ever more perfected form.

413. Also the cosmic-electromagnetic life energy, from which any form of life lives, is a product of the never-exhaustible electron energy of the universe.

414. Also any form of existence, no matter what kind, lives from it, even the spirit-forms, even if their energy is infinitely finer.

Billy:

Aren't electrons also vibrations?

Ptaah:

415. That's right.

Billy:

Aha, then an electron impulse engine should actually operate in such a way that it finds a hold on the electrons in free space itself, at which it can repel itself and move by its own oscillations. A perfect perpetuum mobile, so to speak, if one knows the technology and is able to apply it. This also explains why your spacecraft never lack energy, neither in free space nor on a planet. Also it dawns on me slowly that you can regulate and apply the redirection of light to make your flying machines invisible, but probably also the phenomenon that you can also fly in an air envelope with unlimited speed without being fried by a friction heat, because if you protect your ships or other flying bodies with electron oscillations, with an electron oscillation mantle so to speak, then no more the slightest friction can arise. Is that right, or am I right?

Ptaah:

416. You amaze me as always.

...

Billy:

Without a doubt, these skrills are human beings, even if they are completely vicious, brutal and bestial and incredibly sex-hungry, males as well as females. The horror of these differently dimensioned beings is only that they are completely degenerate and capable of switching from their dimension to other dimensions, whereby they then attack and rape people in the other dimensions. It is a good thing that this does not happen very often and that people of other dimensions, such as our dimension, can only clear and pave the way for these skrills through psychological misconduct. By this I mean that these skrills can only penetrate into other dimensions and work there if other humans of this dimension clear the way for them by self-destructively driving their psyche to malfunctions and thus psychically collapsing.

...

Billy:

I know that, but my question and speech doesn't really get that far, but it refers to the star system, which is shifted by a fraction of a second to our time and space. All the liars, swindlers and deceivers as well as the sick and lunatics don't know what you call your star system. In order to make it clear to the Earth-humans from where you come, we always said until now that you would come from the Pleiades, which is why we always spoke of this cluster of stars, also in reference to your home system, which is shifted to our space-time level. So your space-time structure is a fraction of a second shifted to ours, which means so much that on your Plejades you are living in a completely different space-time structure than we are here in the SOL system, although you are materially aligned as we are here in our space-time structure. Now the actual question: Is it possible that humans on Earth are so far evolutionary that they could break through the split-second space-time barrier between our and your space-time structure consciously, telepathically or spirit telepathically in order to maintain contact with humans or spirit-forms etc. from your space-time structure?

Ptaah:

768. That applies with absolute certainty only in one case, and that is with you.

769. Otherwise no human or material life-form lives on Earth that would be capable of such contacts through the space-time barrier.

770. Almost three millennia will pass before the first humans on Earth will be able to do this.

...

Billy:

Do you know if any of your people constantly, periodically or sporadically change from your space-time structure into our space-time structure to do any work or to maintain contact with people from Earth, whereby I don't mean you and all those who have to do with me or in relation to the mission, but whose number to know would be extremely interesting?

Ptaah:

772. I can fully answer your question:

773. In this or in your space-time-structure there are at the moment 16 persons each in a fixed cycle, who are on Earth as mission-related and missionary representatives and who are exchanged in a fixed cycle.

778. Otherwise no people from our space-time structure come into your space and into your time, consequently never any contacts of any kind could be maintained by such persons.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_241

Ptaah:

424. They {other extraterrestrials who may one day make official contact with Earth} will also not yet be able to grasp our dimension in which we live and exist.

...

427. If the mentioned contacts actually take place, but what is really questionable for the next decades, then Earth-humans will enter into connections and alliances with Earth strangers, into which we may interfere according to our laws in no case and under no circumstances.

428. This means that we must then withdraw into our dimension and no longer be active on Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_244

Ptaah:

53. The planet Amateban is in a system of our space-time structure, which we call Harkomen and which belongs to our federation.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_246

Ptaah:

8. My task was to create a colony on an uninhabited planet called KATHAN in the space area IDAM, known on Earth in this space-time structure as the Spiral Nebula NGC 2997, at a distance of 45 million light-years.

9. I was also busy in the space area NOSIR, where we also founded a new colony.

10. This also happened on an uninhabited planet called NASADAN.

11. The space region NOSIR is a galaxy which is 16 million light-years away from the SOL system in this space-time structure and which is referred to as M 83 in earthly astronomy science.

...

Ptaah:

163. He {Andron} has some tasks to fulfil on the planet CANADIN.

Billy:

So – ha, and where is this planet speeding through the world space, if you may ask?

Ptaah:

164. About 161,000 light-years from Earth, in a system we call NARANKA.

Billy:

You are once again sparse with information. What is the galaxy called?

Ptaah:

165. SUNDAJARIS.

166. It is known to earthly astronomical science in this space-time structure as the neighbouring galaxy 'Magellanic Cloud'.

...

Billy:

Well, then I would like to know what your new travel and transport options are. How does this transmitter system work, and how long will it take to get it up and running?

Ptaah:

204. Do you see this little device integrated into the chest of my clothes?

Billy:

You mean this little matchbox-sized thing?

Ptaah:

205. Yes.

Billy:

It's hard to tell that from the clothes. Without my flashlight I couldn't see it at all. It doesn't stand out at all.

Ptaah:

206. This enables me to generate a transmitter gate by thought power, through which I can simply step through, after which I am already at my destination without any loss of time, even if this is billions of light-years away.

207. More precisely, I have to concentrate my thoughts in such a way that they are picked up by the device and amplified in such a way that the resulting forces create the transmitter gate through which my transmission to the destination is made possible.

208. The system is not yet fully operational and usable, but we are constantly experimenting with it by transporting objects, etc., in this way for testing purposes.

209. The required target data are created by the personal knowledge of the destination, which is then mentally programmed by the device, whereupon the transmitter gate is created, in the form that the destination appears as a gate into which one can directly enter and is immediately at the destination.

210. If the destination is unknown to one in such a way that one knows it neither by picture information nor by a personal being there ever, then mathematical coordinates are sufficient, which one enters into the device by thought power and which must be known to one naturally.

211. If you like, I can give you a small demonstration of the possibility of such a transmitter gate.

212. However, you must promise me that you will not let yourself be carried away by your indomitable thirst for adventure and that you will simply step into the gate, because it is not yet fully developed for human transmissions and can therefore still be dangerous.

213. The danger is still that transmitted objects etc. do not reach their destination, but disappear somewhere untraceable and not retrievable between the dimensions and thus get lost.

...

Billy:

Would it be possible for you to open the gate to Quetzal's house where the fountain is at the pond?

...

Fantastic – two steps, and I would be on Quetzal's terrain on Erra; ah, look, Quetzal's Ulrak passes. By the way, where did he get this little cattle from? And can't that suddenly enter the transmission gate and get lost here?

Ptaah:

216. It's an animal that lives on Erra.

217. It can't get here, because the gate is only visible from here on the one hand, but not from the other side, and on the other hand it can only be used from this side.

218. This has been designed for safety reasons to prevent unwanted life forms from passing through the gate.

219. If it were different, it would be very dangerous.

220. On the other hand, the gate can only exist as long as it is thought to exist.

...

Billy:

And how far is this gate visible here, I mean, if there's someone up there on the street looking over here. Can you see it then?

Ptaah:

222. There is no danger, because the transmission gate is only visible on a few steps.

223. Go back only once three steps, then you won't see it anymore.

...

Billy:

And – is this technique of transport then the absolute ultimate for all time, or is a further development still possible?

Ptaah:

226. The development only ends where the power of consciousness alone is sufficient to transport oneself and materials of all kinds by teleportation or telekinesis from a point of departure to a specific destination, without any technical aids being required.

227. This also means that you do not need any spacecraft etc. to move from one place to another or to transport materials from one place to another.

228. The next development, however, will be to find and use the means to move from one place to another without a transmission gate, and to do so solely by the power of thought, which is technically amplified in such a way that a teleportation can be carried out that can bridge billions of light-years as well as the technology of transmitters that is now emerging.

229. Nevertheless, even then the spacecraft will still be needed, which will also be further advanced in development.

Billy:

And everything is based on the speed of Creation, 107,000 times the speed of light. Even with the present transmitter gate this cannot be any different.

Ptaah:

230. That is not quite correct, because for the time being it is based only on 21,000 times the speed of light.

231. Besides, the speed of the spirit should never be reachable by technical means.

Billy:

The size of the gate is about 2 metres by 90 centimetres and ...

...

... For a human, the gate is just good in size, but what if a larger gate is needed, such as for large goods and the like?

Ptaah:

233. The size of the transmitter gate can be customized according to your needs.

234. This is done by a simple command, mentally directed to the gate generator device.

Billy:

Fabulous. It really could not be simpler. But what happens now, if somebody takes over the transmitter gate generating device without authorization, is there perhaps a safety device, as you use it with your weapon tools, that only the owner of the device can use it, because it is tuned to his thought frequency?

Ptaah:

235. That's what you say.

236. This alone guarantees the best possible security, so that no one can use the devices for unfair and nonsensical purposes without authorisation, should they fall into unauthorised hands for any reason, if we are active on worlds whose people cannot yet be expected to use such devices.

...

Billy:

Well, now you also have devices and the like, which look like a simple piece of metal or plastic etc., without these being recognizable as devices or apparatus etc., but in which there is a high-quality super-mini-electronics, which again is not recognizable as such, if you cut the metal or the plastic, because everything is poured into each other.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_248

Billy:

... I would gladly like to know how far you have progressed with the technology of the new transportation systems. ...

Ptaah:

5. Everything has not yet advanced so far that our transportation systems would be useful for life-forms and, thus, for humans.

6. Errors still appear that demand from us that we still perform tests with some materials that still frequently get lost during transport; they probably leave from the output location, respectively from the sending location, but they do not arrive at the destination.

Billy:

Then they get lost somewhere in the dematerialized, energetic state between the place of departure and the destination. They get lost, so to speak, between dimensions or in foreign dimensions, right?

Ptaah:

7. That is right.

...

Ptaah:

55. But these facts shouldn't be so important for the Earth-humans that we would still have to talk about them in more detail or subsequently, especially since it concerns those planets of Lyra that are beyond this space-time plane.

...

Ptaah:

92. No, it is not so simple to master, to leave the material universe, the Material Belt.

93. Very great physical skills and experiences as well as quite special technologies are required for this, which are still completely unknown even to many advanced humanities, respectively civilizations, of many space-knowledgeable peoples of many worlds, as this is also the case with regard to a change of dimensions as well as regarding time-travelling.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_249

Billy:

... It is always doubted that plejadic spaceships can fly with umpteen times the speed of light in normal space or that objects can only fly through space with approximately the speed of light without time shifts, because Einstein's theory of relativity simply forbids this. Is the assumption correct that the calculation formulas of this theory of relativity are basically correct, but only with limitations, so that they have to be replaced by other and further additions in the end? In my opinion this should be the case, because if I consider that certain galaxies drift apart at approximately the speed of light, without time shifts arising, then it would have to be so for this reason alone – quite apart from my own experience, which I was allowed to experience and make through you during my Great Journey {see Contact Report 31} and during other occasions.

Ptaah:

75. Your assumption is absolutely correct, but I am not allowed to give any official details about it and therefore no information.

...

Billy:

... would it be possible to learn more about the origin and propagation of time streams in the universe?

Ptaah:

78. I have to give you the same answer here as well.

...

Billy:

This was also the case about six years ago with Kohan's people – on the planet in the Centauri area, which had 120 billion people and which is somewhat delayed to our time and space.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_250

Billy:

... I am referring to the fact that unidentified flying objects do not only come from our space-time continuum, but also from other dimensions. ...

...

Ptaah:

71. If we consider a further form of terrestrial flying objects, which are considered UFOs and which are not of extraterrestrial origin, then we have to speak of those flying machines which originate from the terrestrial future in terms of their dimensions to the space-time continuum prevailing here.

72. So we are dealing here with flying bodies of earthly origin, but built in a dimension of the future on earth, whereby Earth-humans living there in the future have found the ways of time travel, whereby it becomes possible for them to travel back into their own past and thus also into the present time on Earth.

73. So these visitors are not extraterrestrial intelligences either, but also inhabitants of Earth, whose technology is many centuries and sometimes even thousands of years ahead of the present time of Earth-humans and in the future.

74. Further forms of unidentified flying bodies concern life-forms that are actually extraterrestrial and that also belong to this space-time continuum prevailing here.

75. Such life-forms with their flying objects visit Earth only very rarely, except for three different races, which have been flying to Earth for a long time, apart from us Pleiadians of course.

76. Furthermore, Earth is also approached here and there by extraterrestrial human life-forms, which happens however extremely rarely and is to be counted often in decades or in centuries, who come with their flying objects from parallel spaces and/or from parallel planes to the space-time continuum predominant here, like e.g. we ourselves, who live in a parallel space, which is shifted, fractions of a second, attached to this space-time continuum predominant here.

77. It ...

Billy:

Sorry to interrupt. On the one hand, you talked about earthlings who live in the future and visit Earth from there. That's what you call time-travellers!

Ptaah:

78. Of course.

Billy:

But what should we call those who simply come from parallel spaces?

Ptaah:

79. According to your sense we simply call it transfer or parallel transfer.

Billy:

So nothing that would be complicated to say. But just go on with your explanations now. Does it actually happen frequently that people with their flying machines come to us from parallel spaces and come to Earth?

Ptaah:

80. No, that's very rare, apart from us and our allies.

81. In contrast, however, it is more common for bioorganic flying objects to appear in this space-time continuum, not only on Earth, but also on many other inhabited and uninhabitable world spheres.

82. So we can observe such bio-organisms, as we call them, also on our worlds, whereby we do not know however yet exactly which kind these life-forms are now.

83. The dimension changers, as we also call them, are larger and smaller airworthy, bioorganic life-forms, which are often fluorescent or very brightly radiating and located in a parallel space or parallel universe.

84. In their way they are absolutely harmless and even playful.

85. They often appear individually or in smaller groups, ranging in size from a few metres to several hundred metres in diameter.

86. They live in a parallel space that we have not yet been able to access, whose data we know well, but into which we have not yet been able to penetrate in form in order to establish communicative contact with these forms of life.

...

Billy:

... But may I ask a question about the name of what you call your system beyond our space-time continuum? Together, we always speak of the Pleiadians, by which we mean only the distant and punctual place from which you come, for instance, while you name your system differently in our time-shifted parallel space. Can we perhaps now speak openly about it and name the right name, which is almost identical to Pleiadians?

...

Well then I will now officially say that you call your star system Plejaren, but you name the system suns and the planets equally, as we call the stars of the Pleiades in our space-time continuum.

...

Billy:

... But there is a question that relates to statements of Asket and Semjase: The two spoke in their time often of the fact that an atomic destruction of the earth, etc., could create disasters that would affect other universes. Somehow, however, the worm seems to be in these statements, because I cannot imagine that other universes can be affected by a planetary destruction.

Ptaah:

123. This is also true, because such destructions have no influence on other universes if they are outside this Creation universe.

124. This is what you mean by the worm, which is apparently given in the statements of my daughter and of Asket.

125. But the two spoke not of foreign Creation universes, but of this universe's own universes, into which very well destructive effects are possible, if planetary or galactic destructions take place.

Billy:

Oh well, you mean that Semjase and Asket each spoke of parallel universes and thus of other space-time continuums that are located in our Creation universe.

Ptaah:

126. Right.

Billy:

Then all is well. The matter was simply unclear. – So large format destructions in our material universe can also have a destructive effect on other space-time continuums or parallel universes. I did not know that. What happens there basically or what can happen there?

Ptaah:

127. The barriers between different dimensions are torn, whereby the destructive forces can spread into other dimensions or even into other universes or space-time continuums and act there.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_251

Billy:

... From Henok's primitive peoples two lineages divided out, after the great reparations actions after the peace struggles by the peace troops were over and all peoples and planets were pacified. One lineage went its long way to the Lyra regions, where they settled in a space-time continuum offset by a fraction of a second by another space-time continuum, where they lived from then on; but only after they had inhabited other worlds and systems in various other areas of foreign galaxies for many billions of years, as a result of which warfare then again developed. In this episode again space-wide emigrations of peoples were carried out, which finally ended in another space-time continuum, which is shifted by a fraction of a second to our space-time continuum, whereby the area was located in the space of the Lyra stars, which is why today one still speaks of the Lyra regions and of the old Lyrians, which then returned to later time again partly expeditionary and partly hasty into our space-time continuum, in whose consequence they came then also to Earth, in order to work here in known way, in order to work here in known way. This lineage has retained the entire knowledge of their original origins to this day, and this lineage also gave rise to the Pleiadians respectively the Plejaren, who in their language call themselves the same as they call their celestial cluster beyond the Pleiades, which is also shifted a fraction of a second in relation to our space-time continuum in another space-time continuum. ...

...

... The populations of today's Sirius regions, which are located in space-time configuration offset to the earthly dimension ...

...

... This retreat opened the way for the old Lyrians to Earth and to Earth-humans, when these came out of their space-time continuum expedition- as well as escape-moderate into our space-time continuum and into the SOL-system and thus to Earth, in order to play themselves here with the time likewise as deities and to cause disaster. ...

...

There comes a time when, with the weakening of the Sun's nuclear fusions, enormous changes will take place in the SOL system. Not only will the entire gravitational field be out of control and change, but large scale climate change will also be the order of the day. This is spurring scientists on to peak performance, because they want to counteract the negative effects of the sun, which, in contrast to erroneous scientific assumptions, appear much earlier over many millennia than previously assumed. Only now it is recognized correctly that the sun is a dying star and thus the setting of the SOL system is already determined, even if the sun will continue to exist still approximately 4.1 billion (4,100,000,000) years, however then already as dead star, which is swallowed then after this time by a black hole and is destroyed. So the scientists begin to perform at their best – and find the miscalculations underlying the pi number. By correcting and now correctly calculating the pi number, the scientists and the incredibly sophisticated technology will be able to harness unimaginable energies for Earth, by making it possible for them to derive energies from black holes in the wide area of the Milky Way and make them usable for Earth. At this time, however, scientists will still not be able to reach the centre of our galaxy to tap into the black hole there. However, this will not be necessary for the time being, because the surrounding objects for energy generation are completely sufficient to serve Earth. This new energy production as well as the kind of the energy itself, make it possible from now on for the terrestrial human being to develop new space travel forms, in whose consequence and extension also that travel and transport factor becomes reality, which in the year 1995 and all time before as well as still long time into the future is called fantasy and impossible i.e. the time-travel. This invention, in turn, enables man to travel into the past and the future, as well as into the vastness of the universe, which was previously impossible. In this consequence it naturally cannot be missing that new human life forms are discovered, extraterrestrials, from which Earth-humans will learn very much and unimagined and which are around uncommonly much more intelligent than the humans of Earth themselves. ...

In the prophecies, predictions and visions that have been made so far, it has probably been said that man on earth will discover and invent time travel and break up the dimensions of the future and the past. However, it was not said that various other dimensions would be discovered and found and that undreamt-of possibilities would be opened up to man. However, there will also be many dangers associated with this, both physical and caused by intelligences of foreign dimensions.

...

... A third group left our universe, the DERN-universe, and penetrated into the twin-universe, into the DAL-universe, where the people multiplied and united with many other peoples to form a huge federation, as it also happened with the Pleiadians/Plejaren, whose federation exists offset to our space-time continuum by a fraction of a second and covers an area of about 70 million light-years in diameter, whereby also some few federation members respectively federation planets are located in our space-time continuum. ...

...

Ptaah:

133. The film and photo material of UFOs made in all the years worldwide and especially in America and South America as well as in England etc. does not always show extraterrestrial flying objects, but also such strangely working flying machines, which are manufactured since several decades by terrestrial humans on earth, as well as flying bodies, which come from the terrestrial future or which are known as bioorganic flying bodies with us, which are the so-called dimension changers, life forms, which penetrate from another dimension into the terrestrial airspace.

...

Billy:

Your world-monitoring control disks, what about them – do they remain stationed around the world?

Ptaah:

182. All these control apparatuses have already been removed, so only the one intended for the centre still exists.

183. But it is no larger than 7 millimetres in diameter and 3.2 millimetres in thickness.

185. The control apparatus also contains transmitters and receivers and associated image transmission equipment, which transmit everything at multiple speeds of light to a control point near our dimensional passage at a star far beyond the Pleiades cluster, in order to reach our space-time structure and thus our dimension from there through a dimensional transmitter.

...

Billy:

You are once again silent tight, my friend – you mean probably that certain earth visitors of other worlds outside of our solar system could get hold of your information and find the way into your dimension?

Ptaah:

189. That is the meaning of my words, yes.

190. At least from a group of such intelligences we know that they are capable of changing dimensions in such a way that they could reach our dimension, which would be unpleasant.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_252

Billy:

... And now I have a question that has been on my mind for years: Other dimensions and other universes – do the same physical laws apply in them as in our universe and in our dimension?

Ptaah:

140. No, that's not the rule.

141. The laws of physics are different in other dimensions and universes, if they are not aligned to the DERN universe, i.e. to our universe.

142. There must therefore be a rectification of the nature of the universe and its age, as is the case, for example, with the DAL universe, which is known to embody a twin universe of the DERN universe.

143. If the same laws of physics are to prevail in other dimensions or universes, then all their physical concerns must be aligned with those of our universe, otherwise other physical laws are given.

...

Billy:

Then I now have a question that has preoccupied me for a long time: Why did practically all your ancestors choose solar systems and worlds to live in, which are in a different space-time continuum than we are here?

Ptaah:

165. Extrasolar planetary systems in solar systems in this space-time continuum of the DERN universe can be found relatively few, because they are extremely rare.

166. In the dimension in which we and all the other Henok lineage groups live, on the other hand, there are many solar systems in which planets are also classified, and which are also capable of carrying a variety of life.

167. Already our earliest ancestors travelled the dimension time-shifted to this space-time continuum, in which we live, consequently it is known to us and all Henok lineage groups since ancient times.

Billy:

What does that mean in relation to planetary solar systems?

Ptaah:

168. In this space-time continuum of our DERN universe, many planets probably exist in many solar systems, but they are extremely thinly arranged in relation to our dimension, if I may say so.

169. This means that the many planetary solar systems lie very far apart in this galaxy, the Milky Way, while in our dimension and in our galaxy many solar systems with planets lie very close to each other or are arranged more closely to each other.

Billy:

So this is caused differently depending on the dimension?

Ptaah:

170. Right, because in every dimension of a universe there are different prerequisites and often different physical laws, as I already explained to you.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_254

Ptaah:

32. The sun Alkyone in our space-time continuum have no planets, therefore no humans can live on them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_257

Billy:

One moment, please, before I forget: The aliens you mentioned, who are supposed to contact Earthlings in the near future, do they have any knowledge about you and your dimension?

Ptaah:

100. No, in no way.

101. They will have neither knowledge of our presence here nor knowledge of our home dimension and our home worlds.

...

{Billy:}

... there actually are still enough cases of UFO observations that undoubtedly rest upon such really-occurring extraterrestrial, and partly also other-dimensional, flying devices which have nothing to do with the Plejadian/Plejaren, and their confederates, rather they belong to other worlds and civilizations. ...

... Silence was maintained regarding what the UFOs effectively were, namely extraterrestrial, and partly foreign-dimensional, interplanetary flying devices controlled by crews foreign to Earth.

...

Billy:

... Well, here I have another question concerning the destroyer: Semjase told me pretty much at the beginning of our contacts that the destroyer has been doing his mischief in our solar system since time immemorial and destroyed about 22 million years ago or so old homeworlds of the Lyrans. To my knowledge, however, these lay in a different space-time structure, shifted by a fraction of a second to our space and time. How is it there that the destroyer came after the destruction work with the old Lyranern into our space-time-structure?

Ptaah:

164. The Destroyer then broke through a space-time barrier created by the ancient Syrians, as we still use it today, but in a modernized form, as you would say.

165. At that time, these passage or dimensional gates, as we call them, were constructed in such a way that they opened as soon as any object approached.

166. This also happened as the Destroyer approached, who through unfortunate circumstances came to one of these dimensional gates, shot through and entered this, your space-time continuum, then found his way into this solar system.

167. Today this would no longer be possible, because our passage gates from one dimension to another or to the DAL universe have already been constructed and secured for several million years in such a way that they are probably constant in one place, but only open in response to very specific impulses emitted by our spacecraft.

168. So today it would no longer be possible for a world body to pass unintentionally through one of our many dimensional gates.

172. The development and construction of this fuse took place as an urgent need after the incident when the destroyer of our ancestors was unintentionally able to change from one space-time structure to another.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_264

Billy:

... The bioorganic flying objects; can these life-forms take on human form and in this form, for example, come into contact with terrestrial humans?

Ptaah:

83. No, this possibility is not given to them.

84. Nor are they of any human-like nature, but pure energy bodies capable of transformation and dimensional change, which appear as floating forms of light energy in one or the other dimension, are able to change their light intensity, but do not have any form of conscious consciousness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_265

Florena:

29. It's not that strange, because at least the group of these foreigners who were up to no good in the first few years {"Men In Black"} are prevented from appearing on the Centre-grounds themselves by a reporting system we installed.

30. However, if they were to try this, which was the case several times before, we would immediately take action against them, which they find extremely unpopular, so they disappear without a trace, without us being able to decipher their flight coordinates for their leap in time, because they are so cleverly coded and torn that we are not able to decipher them even with our best technical means, which is also the reason why we have not yet been able to put their evil handicraft to them, as you like to say.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_269

Billy:

Then again a question: The unknown flying objects, the so-called UFOs, which are sighted more and more frequently in all countries, sometimes even in larger arrangements, and which are also sighted in larger numbers, all concern the same place of origin?

Ptaah:

46. No, that is not the case, because there are several different places of origin from where the flying objects come.

47. Besides, not all are at home in your space-time-structure, because as we noticed, Earth is also visited by differently dimensioned flying objects and beings that do not come from your space-time-structure.

Billy:

Can one also speak of future visitors?

Ptaah:

48. Yes, that is the case.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_291

Asina:

5. As usual, we are on an expedition, and since the Earth serves us well as a stopover to our next destination, we have moved into your time by a leap in time.

Billy:

Aha, I suspected something like that when I saw the lights in the sky. I assume that you jumped out of your dimension directly into our time and we became aware of you just at the moment you were materialized, and I assume that this must have happened about 200 kilometres away from our Centre, somewhere in the north and over German territory.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_296

Ptaah:

97. My area of responsibility lies in our own space-time structure, about 60 light-years beyond the Mekbuda region known on Earth, which is about 1550 light-years away from Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_297

Billy:

... In the parallel dimensions, does time run parallel to our time? I do not mean the time that is determined by the human beings of the different dimensions, but the time that is determined by the universe and the time-streams.

Ptaah:

31. The purely universal time is uniform in all dimensions.

32. Differences only appear in dimensions of the past or the future, and only in the form of a time shift to the present time.

Billy:

Which means that in the past as well as in the future universal time remains uniform and only the time shift to the present is of significance.

Ptaah:

33. Right.

Billy:

Then a further question, which is obviously still unclear with different group members: To my knowledge and understanding one must consider the terms dimension and space-time-structure as a value. So dimension also means space-time-structure and space-time-structure also means dimension. Am I right, or have I explained it wrong?

Ptaah:

34. You know that your explanation is of correctness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_306

Billy:

... Now, I would like to ask about what technology and energy source you actually use for your intergalactic and planetary communication. As I know, your technology is aligned in such a way that there is no loss of time during communication, not even when this is carried out across millions and billions of light-years. Can you explain something about this to me, or is it all a secret?

Ptaah:

83. We use the technology of negative speed, by what means a signal is already manifested at the destination through corresponding communication devices before the actual transmission or sending of the signal has even begun.

84. Thus, the signal already reaches the goal upon input of the signal.

85. The sending distance is unlimited and, therefore, extends throughout the whole Universe.

86. The energy sources, for which you ask, are actual signal carriers, by which everything is linked together throughout the whole Universe and through which the cosmic communication of all things, all life, and all existence takes place.

87. These energy sources are not detectable and are not at all usable without suitable and high-precision auxiliary apparatuses.

88. For the human eye, they are completely invisible, and they have the capacity to penetrate any matter irresistibly, and when I say any matter, I mean it, for no matter or antimatter exists throughout the whole Universe that could not be penetrated by these energy sources that travel billions of times faster than the speed of light with unimpeded speed.

89. These faster-than-light energy sources are sub-neutrinos.

90. Our technology allows us to equip these with signals, which also happens with billions of times the speed of light and has the effect that the signals spread like lightning throughout the whole Universe, and indeed, indefinitely in all directions.

91. In order, then, to catch the signals, special and highly sensitive sensors are necessary, through which the signals are then transmitted to an equalizer and deciphered.

Billy:

Our science knows about neutrinos, however.

Ptaah:

92. That's right, but I am not speaking of the neutrinos that are known to the earthly scientists but of sub-neutrinos, concerning which the scientists of the Earth do not know that they exist.

...

Ptaah:

99. The personal protective shields function in the same way as the protective shields of our aircraft.

100. Any energy hitting them is converted and reinforces the shields, by what means they become absolutely impenetrable and indestructible.

101. Also, any matter hitting the protective shields, including firearm bullets, etc., immediately turn into pure energy, which the protective shield takes in and absorbs, strengthening it.

102. Larger objects, such as large meteors or comets, on the other hand, are only partially dissolved into energy, while the largest part is hurled away by the impact on the protective shield.

Sfath {1945}:

145. The following for my person, you should already know this, will be from 1953 a young woman from the DAL universe, where you will certainly be taken once.

146. The name of the person you meet will be Asket.

147. She is a member of one of our branching peoples, some of whom are still at home in the lyra and pathas systems, but shifted to this space-time level by a fraction of a second as well as our space-time structure, in which our plejar systems exist.

Ptaah:

8. That is not a need for us because ultimately, our most distant ancestors were responsible for the fact that the traveller {the Destroyer comet} could penetrate into this space-time configuration and could arrive into the SOL system, for at that time, they did not have their dimension gate under control.

Billy:

Of course, one can also look at it in such a way. – Here is another question. Regarding the Sirians who at that time presented Sfath with their pear-shaped space ship: did that concern a people who, here on the Earth, is called "Nommo", and did those who provided the gift belong to the genetic manipulators?

Ptaah:

9. A people called "Nommo" is unknown to us, and indeed in our space-time configuration as well as in yours.

10. My father Sfath received his flying device as a gift from a Sirian people who are called Samanet.

Billy:

Did these people have something to do with the genetic manipulators?

Ptaah:

11. No, that is not the case.

12. With the Samanet people it deals with a people who live in a space-time configuration which is not identical with that in which the genetic manipulators live.

Billy:

Does it deal then with our space-time configuration?

Ptaah:

13. No, that is not the case.

Billy:

Then, in 1976 Semjase, your daughter, also did not speak of two solar systems of the planets of Sirius in our space time configuration, rather of a completely different one?

Ptaah:

14. Certainly.

15. We always only speak of the constellations known to you in your space-time configuration in order to show, in terms of direction, approximately what the talk is about in regard to the space-time configuration spoken about by us.

Billy:

Aha, and how does it stand then with that in regard to inhabited systems in our space-time configuration?

Ptaah:

16. Then we also do not speak of another space-time configuration or of other dimensions.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_321

Billy:

... During a conversation with Quetzal in the eighties, it was once mentioned that you do research on the refraction of foreign universes, which means that you want to construct or construct a trans-universe transmission gate that enables you to advance into another universe, which is not a parallel universe like the DAL-universe or a sister-universe, but effectively a foreign universe. And if you succeed in this, Quetzal said at the time, then it should be possible for you to advance into many other foreign universes. At that time Quetzal spoke about it, it was 1987 or so, as far as I know, that it would take another 15 years or so until your research and the corresponding technology had progressed so far that one could talk about it again. The question now is, has all the research and construction progressed so far that everything is nearing completion? And what about the other project, the transmitter gate through which I can go to Semjase one day, as you promised me?

...

But what about when you have finished the new technology with the Trans-Universe-Transmitter-Gate or Trans-Universe-Transmission-Gate, as it was called by Quetzal, is there a chance for me to be taken with you and your giant space traveller to one or more of the foreign universes?

...

When I think that I was not only the first and so far the only human being on Earth to be allowed to visit the Plejaren and the DAL universe and now I am to be given the opportunity to be taken into a foreign universe or into several of them, then I could go directly megalomaniac. But if that really happens, then I will probably be so overwhelmed by everything that I will only become small and ugly.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_325

Billy:

DERN universe and DAL universe or DERN creation and DAL creation, what does that mean, I mean DERN and DAL?

Quetzal:

22. The meaning is given in an ancient language that goes back to Nokodemion.

23. The wording is as follows:

24. DERN-universe or DERN-creation means: "Dajansini ern ruan nitrapralano", which means: "Creation that unveils itself".

25. DAL-universe or DAL-creation means in the ancient language: "Dajansini arg lasergnoralin", which means: "Creation as second born".

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_328

Billy:

... Now and then earth humans from our future come into our dimension and thus into our space-time continuum, as you explained to me on my Great Journey {see Contact Report 31}. Also the Skrills and bio-organic flying objects, two special species, penetrate into our dimension from a dimension affiliated to us. Does this also apply to other humans of other dimensions who do not belong to you or to the Earth from the future?

Ptaah:

139. That is the case, yes.

140. But such occurrences are very rarely observed by us.

Billy:

And what about strangers from outside our DERN universe coming into our universe area from an alien universe, apart from Asket's race from the DAL universe?

Ptaah:

141. Something like that is not known to us.

142. Even our very extensive monitoring and constant checks have never revealed anything that would indicate such events.

Billy:

There's no possibility?

Ptaah:

143. At least it's extremely small, because outside of our DERN-DAL twin universe we are mostly surrounded by universes that are only subtle and therefore much more highly developed than our two universes.

144. This is also the reason why we cannot break into these universes.

Billy:

So you have already explored this. Interesting, but how are you supposed to get into another material universe, as you want to do? It's a mystery to me. Somehow you should be able to create a highly concentrated energy channel through the subtle universes, something like a wormhole that goes through all the higher evolutionary universes to a lower, material creation universe, as stated in Nokodemion's teachings. But you cannot reach its memory banks.

Ptaah:

145. Amazing what you know about this.

146. Apparently you have more knowledge in these matters than you ever mentioned to us.

147. Your explanation corresponds to the actual facts, but I must confess to you that our own scientists did not gain the knowledge and find the solution to be able to enter foreign universes.

148. The truth is that we have obtained the knowledge and plans and formulas etc. elsewhere.

Billy:

This can only be the very advanced humans of Asket's friends. But when will the enterprise that is to take you to a foreign universe take place now, and when can my jump to Semjase through the transmitter gate take place?

Ptaah:

149. There is nothing to hide from you.

150. However, with regard to your question, I can assure you that at least my journey to the foreign universe we have already determined, which is a universe of creation like ours, will take place this year.

155. We have already transported a transmitter station into the alien universe through the energy channel you mentioned, in order to create attempts to get test objects transported back through this station, which we transport to it through the energy channel.

156. All the experiments in eight hundred thousand ways have been flawless, and without the slightest malfunction.

Billy:

Is this technology identical to the Gate, through which one can bridge immeasurable distances in our universe simply by passing through it?

Ptaah:

157. No, it's not the same technical achievement, because the technology by which an energy channel can be used by an alien universe of higher energetic form is a much higher evolution of the technology than the one you address with the transmitter gate.

Billy:

Of course, it's understandable. For my part, I have not dealt with Nokodemion's technology, nor have I retrieved the relevant data. For reasons of principle, I have been content with simply informing myself about what is necessary to be able to enter a foreign universe of creation and how it can be managed to penetrate or bridge higher-energy universes or forms of creation, etc. Of course I was interested in this information when you told me some time ago that you would soon be making a journey to a foreign universe, as your technology was already so highly developed that it now allowed such a journey.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_331

Florena:

20. For my part, I am to order from Ptaah to you and all group members that he sends his greetings to everyone and that he and all his companions are well and that no problems have arisen.

21. Meanwhile he has penetrated into the material part of the universe, as I told you earlier, they have not yet found any life forms of any higher kind.

22. Finds of life-forms are limited so far only to micro-organisms.

23. Furthermore it is a first universe resp. universe of creation, like our DERN-universe.

...

Billy:

And the universe adjacent to our DERN-universe, what form is that – could that already be fathomed? A channel had to be created through it, which is probably called a wormhole here. In any case, it must be something that falls within this framework.

Florena:

25. The adjacent universe, which we have not yet named, as well as the one where Ptaah is not located, is a higher universe, a central universe, which we cannot travel to.

26. Since it is dimensioned differently in its evolution than our DERN-universe and its dimensions, we are only able to create an energy tunnel through it in order to reach the other side of the universe where Ptaah is located.

27. So what you call channel, we call energy tunnel.

Billy:

Ptaah is over there with his giant room – and it must take enormous masses of energy to create this tunnel and maintain it – and how do you create this energy?

Florena:

28. That is correct.

29. Ptaah is in the alien universe with his wide-bodied flying machine.

30. The energy for the creation of the energy tunnel and its maintenance we get from a 'black hole', as you call it.

31. Other sources would be far too small in every way to generate the necessary energy.

Billy:

Could you make a comparison?

Florena:

32. I am not familiar with this field, but I know that the energies needed per second include several times the mass of energy, as you call it, that a sun like the one in your system releases in one second.

Billy:

As a layman in physics, I am afraid this is a closed book. But it gives me the notion that an enormous mass of energy is needed, which we on Earth are probably not yet capable of producing by any means, right?

Florena:

33. That is absolutely correct.

34. Such enormous energies cannot be created by pure technical means, as they are available to terrestrial human beings or even to us.

35. In fact, gigantic cosmic objects are required for this purpose, which must also be inexhaustible in their energy supply, as is only the case with a 'black hole'.

Billy:

Can any kind of 'black hole' be used for this purpose, i.e. a stationary or a moving one?

Florena:

36. In principle the energies can be used by everyone, but for the specific purpose of the energy tunnel only the energies of a stationary 'black hole' can be used.

37. In the case of our energy tunnel, however, we do not use a simple 'black hole' to generate energy, but a twin structure, by which I mean two similar 'black holes' that are close to each other and allow their energies to flow into each other.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_334

Billy:

Whatever interests me: What is to be expected in terms of life and physical matters in the alien universe?

Enjana:

25. According to the latest information, no human life forms have been found yet, neither in a more highly developed nor in an original form.

26. On several occasions, however, very low life has already been found.

Billy:

You mean microorganisms?

Enjana:

27. Yes, and in many different forms.

28. But higher life must already exist in this universe, because different amino acids etc. were found.

29. Ptaah expects that sooner or later he will also encounter human life.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_340

Quetzal:

10. He {Ptaah} reported that many new things were discovered which are unknown in our universe and which must have developed and changed and dissolved at the earliest times.

11. The calculations showed that the foreign universe in its total existence is 22 trillion years younger than our DERN universe.

12. The material belt, and thus the visible material universe, has a current age of 9 billion years and is therefore much younger than ours.

13. Apart from micro-organisms, diverse small life forms and a planet with primeval human life forms and all kinds of small, medium, large and very large animals as well as air and water beings, no highly developed life forms have yet been found, by which I mean beings of the human species.

14. Probably it will still take a long time before such life is found.

15. As has been shown by the discovery of the primeval human forms, highly developed beings must therefore also exist.

Billy:

Let's be surprised at the possibilities that lie ahead. Have you actually created a name for the alien universe yet?

Quetzal:

16. A provisional name was given, but in the meantime, according to Ptaah's proposal, the name RADERN universe has been established for the foreign universe.

Billy:

I see, I see, I see. What does this designation mean?

Quetzal:

17. Of course, you cannot know that.

18. The term RADERN refers to the abbreviation of 'Rane Alinu-Dajansini ern ruan nitrapralano'.

Billy:

Right. Very interesting, but I am standing like a donkey on a mountain, because apart from 'Dajansini', which means Creation, and 'Nitrapralano', which means unveiled, everything is like a Bohemian village to me. Unfortunately I cannot understand more. And how is everything written?

Quetzal:

19. I understand.

20. In our written language, all nouns are written with capital letters, as is every word at the beginning of a sentence.

21. You can take the German written language as a model.

22. The name 'Rane Alinu-Dajansini ern ruan nitrapralano' comes from the old language of Nokodemion and means: "New foreign creation that unveils itself."

{Note: A summary of the findings of the expedition into this foreign universe is given in Contact Report 345 with additional details given in Contact Report 449.}

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_359

Ptaah:

21. Nevertheless, I cannot exclude the possibility that they could have been bioorganic missiles of different dimensions, which, as you know, are harmless life forms from a neighbouring dimension and which can usually only be photographed by infrared cameras or recorded on infrared film.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_367

Ptaah:

83. And should it be that in the coming time other alien beings find their way to earth in such a way that they establish open contact with earthly humanity, then we will withdraw definitively into our space-time structure, because our directives are aligned in this form.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_402

Billy:

... Apart from the differently dimensioned bio-organic missiles there are similar species on earth, which show the most different forms. {see Rods}

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_410

Ptaah:

49. The direct ancestors of the yellow races, as the races of China and Japan are called with you on Earth, came to Earth 25,994 years ago – counted from today on – and settled in the areas of today's China and Japan.

50. Their very distant ancestors were at very early times or millions of years – like the white, red and brown races – partly refugees from the Sirius areas, which were shifted to the Dern space-time structure.

51. The yellow races first settled in distant regions beyond the sun or central sun, where they founded large races in the Nisan system on a planet called KUDRA and created a huge overpopulation.

52. As a result – in addition to the fact that the planet was slowly becoming uninhabitable – a great emigration took place about 2.4 million years ago, with large masses migrating and settling in the Lyra systems on this side of the central sun, on a neighbouring planet of Lasan.

53. Their planet was called NISSAN.

54. These systems and planets in the Lyra regions were also offset to our space-time structure by fractions of a second or seconds, whereas the Nisan system and its planets – thus also Kudra – beyond the galaxy belonged to the Dern space-time structure.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_424

Ptaah:

46. In the last century, only one unintentional contact took place in South America whereby the space travellers came from another space-time structure from the region of Alpha Centauri.

...

Billy:

... Another question regarding your federation: You once said that it stretches over many dimensions or space-time structures, and over 50 million light-years. May I ask you, how many different dimensions your federation consists of?

Ptaah:

...

88. And it has to be said in regard to our federation, that it is spread out over three dimensions, and that our two dimensions – ours and yours – are included.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_428

Ptaah:

11. The great space ship which at that time suffered a breakdown and was destroyed, out of which the so-called Tunguska event resulted, belonged to a people who live in a distant galaxy in your space-time configuration.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_433

Billy:

... But tell me: Have you discovered anything new about the fact that such strange things happen to us in the Center, such as things which disappear without a trace, without having someone visible taking them away? A few days ago, Eva put two photographic slides on the box for me, and without anyone being able to take them away from us, they simply vanished without a trace, as did the book – at that time which was placed in the bookshelf, as we both saw on the recordings – just suddenly, from one moment to the next, disappeared without a trace, never to reappear, as have many other things, too. Also, it is indeed inexplicable that Guido's alarm clock regularly runs backwards if he has it here in the Center, but normally runs forwards when he has it at home again. And now, the same phenomenon also occurred with a second alarm clock, which he brought with him. Also, there is the matter of when I write something on the computer and then later something completely different is expressed and it often has the opposite of that which I have written, or that entire paragraphs or individual words disappear or are altered, which is just as strange as many other occurrences which go along the same lines and have already often created irritation. And this has been going on for years, and it looks as if any number of goblins, were such to exist, want to drive us mad.

Ptaah:

33. This is certainly not the case, because goblins are mythical creatures which have never existed, as you have immediately corrected your remark.

34. We cannot explain all these incidents either. However, I have a suspicion that any number of human entities from another dimension are making mischief – perhaps out of the terrestrial future, whereby a justification for that, however, appears to be extremely puzzling.

42. Should people of the Earth's future be in on the act – which more likely to be excluded, nonetheless is still not completely ruled out – then the grounds for the whole thing could rest in the fact that, in the future, your mission will conflict with certain things in a group's plans, for which reason they are trying to hinder or falsify certain things in the Center, in their past, which is your present time.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_443

Ptaah:

25. Reptoid, respectively, reptilian beings, as these are described in the nonsensical books, exist even less in the entire universe than they do in other dimensions of this universe, so however, also not on the Earth - also not in forms of transmuted humans.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_446

Ptaah:

16. Our very extensive research on all planets known to us and inhabited by human life of various kinds in extensive areas of your galaxy, as well as in our space-time continuum, has not been successful.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_448

Billy:

This probably includes the dimension gate, which you are probably still working on, right? Here, on television, there is a series running that is called “Star Gate,” which is roughly comparable with your dimension gate. Only, its appearance and function are a little different than what you showed me three times. In this science fiction on television, a large ring is used, which is equipped with control symbols, and in front of this, there is a kind of control panel. This in contrast to your mechanism, which needs nothing of the sort, but which is set into operation just by a small device on your overalls, out of which nothing appears like a gate flickering at the edges, i.e. a passageway, through which one recognizes the other dimension or the area, etc. that exists beyond the gate. The whole thing works as though one would look through a window or through a door that would have simply been placed in the open countryside.

Ptaah:

26. Yes, this gate is also among the achievements of the Sonaer, with whom we have developed it.

27. And in addition, it is to be said that the whole thing became so functional a few weeks ago that it can also be used perfectly and safely for the passage of humans.

28. We can move back and forth through it, both in the present time as well as in different space-time configurations, i.e. dimensions.

Billy:

And can you also go to the DAL Universe with it?

Ptaah:

29. That is not possible for us, but our engineers and scientists are working together with the Sonaer, in order to make this a reality.

Billy:

Then another question about the foreigners, who have already circled around here on Earth for a very long time, as you say, and with whom you cannot enter into contact: is it possible that these unknowns may come from the future, perhaps from other planets or even from the Earth itself or else from another dimension?

Ptaah:

30. We have also thought about that and have come to the conclusion that this may very well be possible, both the one and the other possibility.

31. The Earth-humans will undoubtedly create the possibility of dimension traveling in the distant future, which we have not investigated, however.

Billy:

And why have you held back in this connection?

Ptaah:

32. We only operate our past and future travels and previews under certain conditions, but not just to know the distant or most distant future, which is why, if necessary, we limit ourselves to a maximum time of 100 years for future investigation, while no boundaries are set for travels to the past.

33. We don't want to know the distant and most distant future for logical reasons, for we know that only the path of normal development leads to the real and right goal.

34. The reason for the limitation of future investigation is so that the present is not influenced as a result of knowing the future, which would disturb the normal course of development.

35. Such a disturbance wouldn't be good because the appearing causes of the ongoing development would naturally be changed and be distorted, which would cause a disaster as an effect.

36. It is not like what many Earth-humans suppose, that something could be changed for the better if the facts of the future would be known, for logic proves that the person acts totally incorrectly if he knows the effective future, for he thinks that he could cause something better than what is determined by the logical consistency of cause and effect.

37. This is proven by the absurd ideas of Earth-humans, who think that if they travelled to the past, they could change what has already happened in the future.

Billy:

I understand, like those who believe that they, for example, could travel back in time, could kill Adolf Hitler and, thus, could prevent World War II and all its horrors. This means that the person always wants to be cleverer and more knowledgeable than what the effective truth and reality are.

...

Ptaah:

...

43. First of all, we Plejaren and our confederates live in other space-time configurations, into which no normal telepathic impulses of Earth-humans or other inhabitants from this, your space-time configuration, can penetrate.

44. A penetration into our space-time configuration from yours is only possible through spirit telepathy, but no Earth-human is capable of this except you.

55. And after your being, we withdraw ourselves finally into our space-time configuration, without ever having to return, for we fulfilled our obligation that was assigned to us by your former personalities and by you at present.

56. Only the old, assigned obligation led us to the fulfilment of duty in this space-time configuration, in which you lead your life and fulfil your difficult mission.

57. Only in the very distant future – when Earth humanity has progressed so far on a technological basis, in order to be ready to penetrate into our space-time configuration – will they encounter our worlds and civilizations and be able to take up contact with them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_450

Ptaah:

34. And that you have never seen this shape, size and intensity of light before, that is because it is a completely new flying apparatus with many innovations, including the type of light.

36. So we can with this new technology penetrate into other dimensions and other space-time structures and thus also move into the future and into the past.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_451

Ptaah:

20. This is definitely not the case, because our new and extremely accurate devices, which we received from the Sonaern, are much more advanced than ours, but even with these devices we could not detect any other extraterrestrial or Earth foreign flying objects of any kind in the entire terrestrial space.

21. The new devices also work in a very extensive range of fine material as well as dimension-jumping vibrations, but even in these areas we could not detect any other Earth visitors.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_452

Ptaah:

5. We were only later able to clarify the facts about the Pegasus-refugees, when the whole story about the Gizeh-Intelligences clarified.

6. The refugees belonged to a splinter-group of the Gizeh-Intelligences, who lived in the space-time-displaced region of the Pegasus-constellation and who had entered an alliance with the faction living on the Earth, therefore they were counted as one of the Gizeh-Intelligences and consequently were not described as special foreigners.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_460

Billy:

... Are there any new things concerning the alien universe, RADERN universe you call it, if I remember correctly? Are there any new insights?

Florena:

34. If your question refers to new worlds inhabited by humans, then I must disappoint you, because more such worlds have not been found yet except those you already know about.

35. Like the DERN universe, the RADERN universe is also sparsely populated by human life-forms.

Billy:

I guess it is. But are you already exploring other space-time structures in the new universe?

Florena:

36. No, we are not yet given the opportunity for this, which will remain so for a long time to come, because the necessary conditions must first be created.

Billy:

But even if you do, it will not be possible to find masses of planets with humanities.

Florena:

37. That will be the case.

Billy:

Reality is a little different than what science fiction movies make us believe that there are worlds inhabited by humans in every corner of the universe. In truth, they are extremely rare, which is why your Federation is scattered over 50 million light-years and comprises two different space-time structures, if I remember Quetzal's explanations correctly.

Florena:

38. Your memory is not deceiving you.

39. Worlds habitable by human life-forms are seldom found in all space-time structures of the universe.

Billy:

Quetzal once said that the same is true of planets that support only animal and vegetable life. Worlds on which the lowest life exists, such as microbes and bacteria, are more frequent. Such worlds could be very hot, also normal or very cold, so to speak, if there is also life that exists in or on fire planets or ice planets etc.

Florena:

40. That corresponds to our scientific findings.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_463

Billy:

... Well, then I would like to ask about what your daughter Semjase said to me once, and, indeed, that somewhere in your space-time-configuration, a planet exists where women live exclusively. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_465

Billy:

Other than our mythologies that speak of chimeras, are there actually such creatures on other worlds?

Ptaah:

74. They do exist, but we know of only one planet where such beings exist.

...

76. They are purely human life-forms and float through the air by levitation, but also walk on the ground in a normal way.

...

79. They live in your space-time structure, on a world in the spiral galaxy which you call galaxy NGC 2770 {link}, which is about 12 billion years old.

80. This is the spiral galaxy we came to on your Great Journey {see Contact Report 31} through a time jump of about 90 million years back into the past, where you could observe the huge explosion of a supernova at the outer edge of the galaxy.

81. At that time, however, there were not yet higher life-forms in that galaxy.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_466

Billy:

... You fly at a single and multiple speed of light in your spaceships, and our earthly scientists claim that this is impossible and that a spaceship can never reach this high speed, because the friction with matter, or with material space and ether prevents this. Yes, it cannot be the electromagnetic radiation by which you protect yourself from the cosmic influences and the so-called cosmic ether in order to reach the speed of light and beyond. Yes, electromagnetic radiation of all kinds has the same speed, so about 300,000 kilometres per second, so it is probably not possible that you can use it to prevent friction, so it must be something else that you can use to prevent any friction with the ether or any matter. Is there something very special that you can name, that allows you to go one and multiple times the speed of light? Is that a secret or are you allowed to say something about it? I have never asked about it before, but I am always being asked questions about it that I cannot answer.

Ptaah:

8. It is not a secret, and when I talk about it I do not give away anything with which the earthly scientists can start something, because their knowledge and ability is far from being sufficient for them to make use of it at the present time and thus cause harm.

9. So I can say that we use the photons resp. the light particles and time radiation to shield our spaceflights from the material and antimaterial environment.

10. So, we wrap our spaceflights in a photon force field and in a time radiation screen and protect them from friction against the material space.

11. The photons do not have any weight, but the mass 0, as it is also the case with respect to the time radiation, because they are both pure energy without any medium of their own, which is why they are neutral against any matter and are repelled by gravity.

12. So we make use of this, namely by enclosing our spaceflight devices in a photon and time radiation screen, so that no friction with the material space can occur, which enables us to reach the speed of light and even to exceed it by a very high multiple, because no resistance by any matter appears.

13. To explain details would be irresponsible, because Earth-humans are not yet allowed to possess these, because they maliciously use all special achievements for weapon systems and war purposes etc., which would also be the case with regard to photon technology.

14. And as far as the ether in world space is concerned, it truly does not exist, because this is a mistaken assumption of the earthly scientists.

15. That what they assume to be ether is indeed pure energy, a radiation, and this does not have its own medium and therefore no mass.

Billy:

Explained briefly and concisely. Thank you. Time radiation – could one perhaps also call it tachyon matter, which must also be without medium? Ether thus does not exist, but only radiation, which is pure energy without mass. However now the question how you can do it, to shield your spaceships against view and make them invisible for eyes and radar etc. Are you allowed to say something about this? But I think that now finally something becomes clearer to me. If you shield your flying apparatus against any material friction by a photon shield or photon protection shield, then it is probably so – so I assume – that these always light up when you have switched on this photon shield. Is that true?

Ptaah:

16. This corresponds to the actual situation, and the term tachyon matter can be applied in a certain way, but it is a time vibration or time radiation and has nothing to do with matter of any form.

17. And regarding the invisibility of our flying apparatus:

18. We can actually make our space flight apparatuses, as well as those we use in planetary airspaces, invisible to any view of any kind, by using special metallic alloys, the basis of which is, among other things, silver, as you know from the metallurgical analyses of the material of our flying apparatuses made in the USA.

19. The materials used in our flying apparatus and space flight devices are transformed and superordinate composite materials, the composition and manufacture of which I cannot mention, but I can say that we obtain everything through cold fusion processes, as Marcel Vogel in the USA already discovered through his metallurgical analysis when you gave him the metal samples we received for analysis.

20. So, when a flying apparatus, a spacecraft, a human or any other object is made invisible, it is by directing light around it.

21. The light waves are not reflected, but flow unbroken and uninhibitedly around the object, so that it becomes invisible to any natural or technical eye of any kind, also radar etc., and simply allows the background to be seen unchanged.

Ptaah:

48. ... the Destroyer, which came out of our space-time-structure through a dimensional gate into your space-time-structure and caused a lot of trouble in it, which is why we removed it from the SOL system some years ago and made it harmless.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_476

Ptaah:

75. The population of the planet Akart belonged to our federation, as well as also, the population of the worlds of Proxima-Centauri and others from there and other local regions of space around there, from which several of them have come to the Earth .

76. However, all of these worlds belong in our space-time configuration, consequently they also possess several of our technologies, like for example, that technology with which they are able to bridge the time barrier and come into your space-time configuration.

...

Ptaah:

139. This is indeed the case, which is why we also use completely different techniques for interplanetary and intergalactic communication.

140. Radio and television waves have a maximum range of only one to two light years, after which they become completely distorted and become rushing, clattering, hissing and other sounds from which data can no longer be deciphered.

...

Billy:

... your interdimensional and intergalactic communication is based on a faster-than-light technology.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_503

Billy:

... you and your Lyrian ancestors, who also come from your space-time structure ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_510

Billy:

... At that time, you also spoke of the Destroyer, which came from your space-time structure and which you had rendered harmless. But you also spoke of the space-walker known from the ancestors of the Celts, Sumerians and Egyptians as a destroyer. How is this to be understood?

Ptaah:

25. The ancestors of the Celts, but also the Sumerians and Egyptians used the term 'destroyer'.

26. So they used the same name as we did for the wandering planet, which entered the SOL system from our space-time structure through a dimensional gate.

Billy:

So for many thousands of years there were two such space walkers with the same names in our solar system.

Ptaah:

27. That is correct.

28. We called the wandering planet from the Kuiper Belt 'Kuiper Destroyer'.

29. The one that broke into the SOL system from our space-time structure we simply called 'Destroyer'.

30. This one, as you say, we eliminated years ago, while the other one, the 'Kuiper Destroyer', continues to orbit the SOL system.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_511

Ptaah:

38. But we Plejaren and our Federation and the ancient Lyrians are excluded from this, because even our very distant ancestors knew the SOL system and the Earth, and so they visited the Earth millions of years ago.

Billy:

This is familiar to me, because they came to the SOL system because of the Moon, whose path they followed when it blasted out of their space-time structure through a dimensional gate into our space-time structure and settled on Earth. ...

...

Ptaah:

72. Interstellar space travel is extremely rare, as is the possibility of moving through dimensional gates into another space-time continuum, as we do and can also create such gates.

73. And it must also be said that those who came to Earth from other space-time continuums could not deliberately create and fix the necessary dimensional gates, because in fact they were only able to move into this dimension of the DERN universe through momentary natural cracks in their space-time continuum.

74. Others, on the other hand, who came from the DERN dimension, only came to Earth because they could create and use space-time gates, which is also a rarity.

Billy:

Interesting, but you never told about that, neither did your daughter Semjase, nor Quetzal. Space-time gates, are they identical to the so-called wormholes that earthly astronomers suspect?

Ptaah:

...

78. Space-time gates do not concern so-called wormholes, but rather, similar to a momentary natural crack in the space-time continuum, a crack in the space-time continuum caused by tremendous explosions or technical manipulations.

79. This creates an effect that changes the universal wave structure of the universal space, which is similar to the effect of two rooms being separated from each other by a curtain of radiation or heat, which can easily be passed through from one side to the other respectively from one room to the other.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_519

Ptaah:

69. Only such Earth-foreigners and future Earth-followers have come to Earth, but never any others from foreign galaxies and solar systems that did not have the coordinates handed down.

70. So others did not reach Earth, as alleged contactors lie and claim.

Billy:

This apart from the Skrills and the bioorganic flying objects and the future of Earth from other dimensions, as you say. If all the many claims about contacts between the human beings of Earth and extraterrestrials were true, then Earth would be teeming with extraterrestrials

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_521

Billy:

... What interests me now: There are an infinite number of universes, which also have different developments, i.e. they are lower and higher developed. What is your knowledge about the natural laws of all these universes, are they uniform or different?

Ptaah:

17. According to our research findings, we know that universes like our DERN-universe and its sister universe, the DAL-universe, also have the same laws of nature as the parallel universe we discovered, which we call the RADERN-universe, into which we could penetrate and explore.

18. More highly developed universes, which no longer have a belt of matter, but only consist of pure fine- or finest material energy, no longer have any laws of nature, because they are only classified as energetic-fine or finest material laws.

19. Laws of nature are thus only given in universes that have a matter belt in which such laws are active.

20. But since we only know our DERN- and the DAL- and RADERN-universes, which are all oriented in the same direction with respect to the laws of nature, we cannot say with absolute certainty, whether there are other laws of nature than the ones we know, as they exist in our DERN- and the DAL- and RADERN-universes.

Billy:

So far so clear, but there is another question that concerns me: Since there are infinitely many universes that one might imagine to be an infinitely gigantic pile of soap bubbles, I wonder why they all do not pressurize and not destroy each other. Admittedly, I know that the seventh belt, the ramming belt, serves on the one hand to allow the universe to expand, and on the other hand that two universes can align themselves like soap bubbles without destroying each other.

Ptaah:

21. Our very far-reaching knowledge says that in absolute non-space, in addition to seven Absolutum universes, there are also 10^{49} different universe forms which exist in infinite numbers and which all have different stages of development, from the simple universe, as it is our DERN-universe, up to the most highly developed fine-material-spiritual-energetic universe-form.

22. But what they all have in common is that they all consist of seven different belts, also the finest material-energetic belts.

23. It is also common to them all that they are all uniformly energetically poled in the ram belt, in the outermost belt area.

24. This is the reason why all the most different universes do not interfere with each other in any way, and therefore they also do not collide directly with each other and cannot become dangerous.

Billy:

In a structure of soap bubbles there is only a thin skin from one bubble to the other, therefore in the universes the outermost edge of the ramming belt must have a specially formed energy layer, so to speak, through which practically no collision with another universe respectively with its ramming belt can occur. This outermost energy layer of the ramming belt would therefore be present in all universes in the same way and with the same polarisation and would prevent universes from being able to pressurise each other or even destroy each other, if I have understood you correctly. The only thing that can happen is that the universes repel or respectively displace each other, whereby the multi-universe expands more and more, if I may say and explain it in this way. If I have understood the whole thing correctly, then all universes, all lower ones as well as all higher and highest ones, are equally polarized in the outermost part of their ramming belts, so that they repel each other, as is also the case with magnets of the same polarity, which repel each other and keep a certain space between each other.

Ptaah:

25. This is very well explained and corresponds to the effective facts.

Billy:

Some researchers suspect that there really are many universes and that a so-called big bang has taken place in each one of them, which is in line with the facts. But scientists are not yet ready to know that new universes will continue to be created endlessly. They also suspect that the individual universes, which they compare with bubbles respectively with soap bubbles, deviate from our DERN-universe with regard to the laws of nature, so that there must be universes without stars. Of course they are right, except that in the fine- and ultra-fine energetic universes there are no laws of nature, but according to your explanation there are only fine- and ultra-fine energetic laws, so that in such universes there can be no matter-belts and no galaxies, suns, planets, meteors and comets etc. But it is well known that there is still a great deal that our scientists do not know, which is why they have to keep revising. Today they do not even know that our DERN-universe, like every other universe, also consists of seven different egg-shaped respectively oval belts and that in our universe the fourth belt alone represents the material part of the universe. They also do not know that all galaxies move in such a way that they move towards a certain point in the material universe, where a constant change takes place and where matter renews itself, so the matter belt experiences a complete renewal in the course of 49 billion years.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_528

Billy:

... The Moon is not from the Earth, as our scientists claim, but from your space-time structure, and it came into our space-time structure as a result of a cosmic catastrophe and through an artificial dimension gate, where it was held by the gravity of the earth. ...

...

Ptaah:

19. However, in 1995, when we dissolved our stations on Earth, the danger still existed.

20. According to our calculations of probability, from that time on there was the impending possibility that we Pleiar peoples could have been drawn into a war.

21. As we explained to you at that time – to which we obliged you to remain silent – an attack on Earth could have taken place, namely by a large armada of space planes of a planet-wide dictatorially led and warlike multi-ethnic state from the same space-time structure from which we Plejaren also come.

22. These peoples, who did not belong to the Plejaren Federation, were very warlike and conquest-addicted in nature, similar to Earth-humans.

23. They had been constantly fighting with their own races for more than 1,700 years, and at that time they were about to penetrate the space-time structure of the DERN universe through their space technology, on the same path that also gives us the possibility to enter this dimension, where the Milky Way galaxy and therefore also the SOL system and Earth are located.

24. With us, the Plejaren, these peoples maintained constant and contentious contacts, and often warlike actions were also threatened, because the dictatorial powers of the planetary multi-ethnic state called 'Hardem' were constantly trying to invade and conquer the Plejaren worlds.

25. As a result, we had to be on constant defensive alert to these peoples – while also keeping our secrets, which were related to many things of our technology and which we had to protect – in order to protect ourselves against these ever-present aggressors.

26. But through infamous machinations they managed to get hold of the technology regarding the possibility of breaking through into other space-time structures, so they learned to master them in the course of time and also gained knowledge regarding the DERN-space-time structure and the Milky Way as well as the SOL system and the Earth.

...

29. In 1918, through some unpleasant events, they learned of our efforts in the SOL system and on Earth, in terms of Earth years, so that from then on they tried to come into this space-time continuum and to Earth, which we always managed to prevent.

...

39. This has been going on since 1996, and fortunately the 'Hardem' are making a very serious effort to grow into a completely new way of life, which in just 16 years has led to the 'Hardem' being incorporated into our Plejaren Federation protection and thus becoming a candidate for our Plejaren Federation.

40. It was only in this way that we were able to interfere in the foreign things and that it was also possible to stop the 'Hardem' from breaking through into your space-time structure and wreaking havoc on Earth.

27. Admittedly since that time we have registered activities again and again in the terrestrial airspace, and I mean up to the present time, but in connection to this we see the three alien groups to us, as those who are truthfully already here for a long time or even belong to the Earth, perhaps also in a future dimension.

... Skrill beings are beings that switch between their foreign dimension and other dimensions, which is why they are called dimension changers. The term 'Skrill' means 'degenerate' for the Plejaren. The Skrills call themselves 'Skrill', which in their language means 'dimension changer'. Without a doubt, the human beings are human beings, but they are brutal, bestial and extremely sex-crazed, male and female. The only horror about these other-dimensioned beings is that they are completely degenerate and able to change from their dimension into other dimensions, where they attack and rape living beings in the other dimensions. But this does not happen very often, so the human beings of other dimensions, such as our dimension, can only clear and pave the way for these Skrills by a special psychic-depressive misbehaviour. This is to say that these Skrills can only penetrate into other dimensions and work there if other living beings of other dimensions clear the way for them by self-destructively driving their psyche to malfunctions and thus collapsing psychically depressively. This, however, is so rare that with regard to a million psychic depressive human beings, it might just happen to one who can be attacked by a Skrill being. ...

Regarding the planet, the beyond plane therefore is arranged around it, like this plane however also is further existing universe wide, however in contrast to the material reality plane in a finest material, to which the human as material life-form in no way has access and consequently nothing can be seen and nothing detected. When the spirit leaves the human body, then it escapes into its beyond plane, which exists in the same space as the present reality of the planet, whereby the so-called beyond plane, contrary to the real material reality space, is differently dimensioned, namely in a subtle spiritual-energetic nature. In relation to the planet, therefore, the otherworldly plane is arranged around the planet, just as this plane continues to exist throughout the universe, but in relation to the material reality plane it is in a subtle reality to which human beings, as a material life-form, have no access whatsoever, and consequently they can neither see nor perceive anything. Therefore, on this level it is impossible for human beings to see or otherwise perceive the spirit respectively the spirit-form that has escaped from the material body.

1. Time is not the same everywhere, because it depends on gravity and speed.
2. In the case of a sun or a planet, time fluctuates depending on its size and distance from the centre of gravity.
3. This means that the further time is measured from the gravitational centre, the faster it becomes as it slows down, but the closer it is to the gravitational centre.
4. With moons, planets and suns etc. this concerns per year however only millionth seconds.
5. This means that near the gravitational centre of a sun or planet, etc., the time flow is slowest, while it becomes faster on the sun or planet surface, etc., as well as on mountains and in space.
6. In this respect, this is dependent on the size and mass of a body and thus on its gravitation.
7. So the more massive a celestial body is, the slower the time is, consequently it loses itself in extremely low values and even in the standstill of time with a dark giant structure or with a massive object, which tears suns, planets, other world space objects, gases and all kinds of matter into itself by its force of attraction and thereby becomes more and more powerful and massive and finally completely cancels the flow of time.

8. The enormous masses of such dark giant formations, which even tear entire galaxies into themselves and into which they cannot penetrate, but which can radiate externally through torn suns and galaxies etc. as bright spherical formations, exhibit such an enormous attraction, which is so extremely strong that no matter and no light signal can penetrate from this space area to the outside and also no time can exist.

9. Time exists only there, where solid space-structures, like evenly suns, planets and other structures are, as these are given evenly in galaxies or outside these as world space wanderers.

10. So time only exists where there are gravitational forces.

11. Where however no gravity exists, there is also no time, but only endless duration and thus timelessness.

12. The world space is also traversed by dark and mighty world space wanderers with great gravitational force, through which time streams are created, so that those who travel the world space can get into such time streams, although we are protected against their effects.

13. This is because our spacecrafts have their own gravitations and are therefore protected against external time influences – as well as against matter and radiation.

15. And in order to compensate for the flow of time outside the spacecraft, which is caused by high speeds, we have a special technique of time travel, which allows us on the one hand to remain in the so-called normal time despite high speeds, but on the other hand also to travel into the past and future.

16. Concerning Earth, the present on Earth's surface, according to earthly time determination, lasts exactly 2.67778 seconds and is placed between the past and the future, whereby this present time is to be calculated according to the period of time during which the human brain is normally able to bring about a conscious concentration with regard to a matter.

17. However, this concentration build-up time changes, depending on the mental development of Earth-humans, as well as the amount of time changes depending on the invasion of world space material on Earth, whereby Earth also changes its gravitational strength over time.

18. The collision with meteorites and fine space material makes Earth heavier every year, by thousands of tons.

19. So in this way Earth increases in mass every year, whereby by far the largest part of it is dust-fine and too small to burn up with corresponding speed in the atmosphere, consequently the fine particles sink slowly to Earth and cannot be observed, just like shooting stars and bigger or big meteorites.

Billy:

... Back in 1947 your father spoke of 'dark giant formations' and 'dark giant formations', which I must understand as 'black holes' today.

Billy:

Excuse me, by time bridges you mean time-travel, as we say? In this case, the future Earth-humans are those Earthlings of the distant Earthly time who already live on Earth in the distant future and who, through the possibility of their time travel technique with their various small and large futuristic flying machines, have been coming into Earthly present since time immemorial and also into our present today.

26. This is where amino acids come into play, because without amino acids there would be no life, because they are the basis of all life, not only on Earth, but in the whole universe and in all its many dimensions.

...

Ptaah:

141. Evil in terrestrial humans arose because a very long time ago by a distant Plejar descendant humanity beyond the DERN universe-space-time structure many still later immigrated very distant Plejaren descendants were turned by manipulation into merciless warrior slaves who had to fight against foreign aggressors.

142. Later, some genetically manipulated peoples fled and penetrated into the space-time continuum of the DERN universe and into the space-time continuum of this present, i.e. into the area of the Milky Way galaxy, where they settled on the planets Phaeton/Malona and Mars.

143. In total, they were around 78 million people, of whom around 280,000 also emigrated to Earth.

144. In addition, several thousand rebellious genetically manipulated persons were also exposed to punishment in various places on Earth.

145. There were also peoples who first fled from the Sirius region into the DERN Continuum and were able to reach the Milky Way Galaxy beyond, from which emigrants also came to Earth, on which they, like all other immigrants, divided into all the old existing groups of Earthlings.

146. These descendants thus carried altered or compulsorily manipulated genes in them, which made them merciless fighters, criminals and criminals, which they of course transferred or genetically inherited at an early stage to the still primitive, wild terrestrial humans by mixing them.

147. Thus the evil has spread in the course of time in Earthly mankind and has been passed on to the present time, which, by the way, has also occurred on other worlds in the DERN universe and thus in your space-time structure as well as on worlds in our own space-time structure and has been preserved until today.

... But now I want to ask my questions, the first of which relates to your daughter Semjase's beamship, the corrugated iron beamship or washboard beamship. Semjase once told me that this was her personal beamship and that it was 300 years or so old and that she had owned it almost all her life.

Ptaah:

4. That is correct.
5. This beamship is a personal possession of my daughter Semjase, and she received it from me when she turned 14, and has also been piloting it ever since.
6. This beamship is a first model approved for interdimensional ranges in the known universe of the multiverse for youngsters.
8. However, the basic model was more than 1,100 years old, but it was redesigned about 400 years ago and was also approved for youngsters.

Sfath {1945}:

109. Furthermore, I must explain that the 11 years of time you will spend with me in this present plane will never be sufficient for you to learn everything so that you can be prepared for everything necessary in your life and for your great task.

110. So we must extend the time by years, which will also be so in connection with my succession, which will take you into its care after my departure.

111. But this can only be done by controlling and shifting (note Ptaah: manipulating) time and using it outside the present plane in planes of the past or future, as I have already done several times with you since 1942 and have let you observe and see different countries, many significant, interesting, instructive things and also several theatres and events of war, etc.

112. This will naturally make you older by all the times – which will be years – but this will not have a strong effect on your body, because in spite of your additional times in other planes of other celestial spaces (Ptaah's note: other dimensions or space-time structures) you will certainly age, but you will retain your youthfulness until your old age.

113. It will be the same if you continue your learning with those who follow me in commitment for longer or shorter periods of time outside the present plane in planes of the past or future.

116. But all this is inexorably necessary for you, which is why we must continue to use the times of the past and the future, for only in this way do we gain long times (note Ptaah: more years) enough to use for your learning.

117. So it must be that I take you away from the present for more or less or longer times, which may be days, weeks, months or years, during which you have strictly to learn, after which I bring you back at the same time to the same present time from which I took you away.

118. In this way you will not be missed by your parents and siblings, nor by anyone else, nor at school, for through the control and shifting of time (note Ptaah: time manipulation) it will be that you will always be present in the present plane and at the time that prevails here.

119. And this must be so, because the 11 years in this present plane alone would never be enough to teach you all that you have to learn.

120. You will, of course, also age by the times during which you learn outside the present time prevailing here in this world in other time periods, but it will be that you will nevertheless remain youthful until old age.

3. The various epochs and each era of the ancient history of the planet are to be reckoned in millions of years, during which the Earth-foreigners came to Earth again and again, whereby, however – as Ptaah has already explained to you several times, as he mentioned – we have not been able to fathom their effective origin until the present time, whereby we have, however, been able to discover that even these Earth-foreigners no longer know their own prehistoric origin.

4. Our research so far has only revealed that their prehistoric ancestors came into the DERN universe from another space-time structure or from another dimension, unknown to us so far, and then also reached Earth and other SOL system planets.

Billy:

... So I want to ask what you Plejaren call your space-time structure or your dimension? I have wanted to ask this for a long time, but I have always forgotten.

Ptaah:

22. ANKAR Universe.

Billy:

Thanks. I have also learned a lot from Sfath about the dimensions of our creation, Universal Consciousness, which is of benefit to me today, because lately I have been asked more often about the subject of dimensions ... Besides, it is not only various core-group members and passive members who are playing mind games about the dimensions topic, but also scientists and other persons, whereby especially the scientists have strange ideas about parallel worlds and parallel universes. Sfath, however, has never said anything to me about such a thing, which is supposed to be a mirror universe – or several – and which is supposed to be such that it would be a mirror image of our universe. Of course, scientists are not simply thinking of our present dimension, but of a differently dimensioned universe that is mirrored and aligned with our present, so that, for example, if I could go into such a parallel universe, I could meet myself there in a double version or as a mirrored person and talk to myself, whereby my double and I would always make the same physical movements, carry out the same actions and thus also make the same gestures, as well as speak the same words, etc. As I said, however, your father Sfath never said or taught me anything in this regard, but only spoke of completely different dimensions or space-time structures or of universes, which I was also able to visit with him and experience and also learn a lot there, as a result of which I assume that Sfath was either unaware of such mirror or parallel universes or that they do not exist, which is why I want to ask you about the correctness.

Ptaah:

23. Parallel universes and parallel worlds, as you describe them, are unknown to us, as they are also unknown to the Sonaern, if you should also ask about their findings and knowledge in this regard, as I assume, because you always want to know everything very precisely when you bring up questions.

Billy:

Yes, I wanted to, because the Sonaer are still far ahead with their technology compared to yours. Since you, like the Sonaer, are much more highly educated compared to the knowledge of earthly scientists and are tremendously advanced in terms of the entire earthly technology and therefore should also have knowledge of parallel worlds, which is not the case according to your words, I think that the whole mirror universe issue is based on pure fantasy. This also explains to me why Sfath never said anything about parallel worlds and parallel universes in that sense and also did not explain how such mirror worlds etc. are accepted by earthly scientists. But then I do not want to hold back now and talk about what I have learnt from Sfath about the dimensions resp. space-time-structure and I will also use the term ANKAR when I talk about the Plejaren space-time-structure. I feel the need to explain what I have been asked about several times recently, which is why I want to talk about it now and then hear your opinion. According to the questions put to me, it has become really necessary to explain a little further and in more detail than usual with regard to Creation or Creation Universal Consciousness, its 7 belts/planes, the material belt as well as its dimensions or space-time structures, which are also called universe/universes or cosmos/cosmoi or world space/world spaces. ...

...

Billy:

... In order to explain the whole thing, it must first of all be made clear that in explanations everything can never be explained as precisely as the entire facts of a matter actually require, consequently only just the facts that arise can be explained as well as possible, but never completely, but only just directly in relation to an arising process. This unfortunately leads to the fact that not infrequently ambiguities arise, which again and again lead to further questions that require new explanations. In addition, it is inevitable that explanations of the same topics are always presented in a different way and with different terms, etc., resulting in erroneous or apparent misunderstandings due to a lack of understanding on the part of the questioners, readers and listeners, which then have to be laboriously cleared up. Therefore, by what I am about to explain, it should also be pointed out another time that the term Creation or Creation Universal Consciousness effectively means that which is the total existence of that which corresponds to infinity, boundlessness, immeasurability or the totality of the entire far-reaching creative-universal-consciousness, spirit-energy endless existence or Creation or Creation Universal Consciousness. The form of creation, as we earthlings and also the Plejaren exist in it, is the lowest form of creation at all and has as the only form of creation a material belt in which galaxies, nebulae and solar systems, planets and life-forms etc. exist, while already higher developed forms of Creation are only of a purely spirit-energy nature and develop higher and higher in order to integrate after 1049 transformations into higher and higher forms of Creation and levels of evolution into the 1st of 7 absolute forms – into the 'Absolute Absolutum'. To explain what is meant by the term creation or creation universal consciousness, the following can serve as a parable: Imaginatively, the concept of Creation or Creation Universal Consciousness can be thought of as an egg-like structure of gigantic – for human understanding immeasurable – size, which exists alongside a countless mass of other forms of Creation of different states of evolution as a pure form of spirit energy in the super-ultra-infinity-limitlessness-immeasurability-infinite-spatiality of the so-called Nothing Infinity.

At the big bang resp. at the emergence resp. at the becoming of creation resp. creation universal consciousness, the creation structure emerged as 7 basic levels, namely in the form of 7 expanding spirit-energy belts, whereby the 4th belt manifested materially through the interaction of the 3rd and 5th belt, consequently therefore the material belt emerged, in which flakes, nebulae and finally galaxies, suns, planets and life etc. were formed.

Each material belt is the only one of its kind in each dimension or space-time structure – also called the universe – of the entire creation of universal consciousness, and each one is also expanding at an enormous speed, as are the 6 other belts/planes, which are, however, each of a purely spiritual-energy nature. This pure spirit energy of the 6 other belts/levels corresponds to the creative primordial-primordial-primordial-primordial-primordial-substance out of ex nihilo (out of nothing), from which the first form of creation or 'creation out of nothing' (creatio ex nihilo = created out of nothing) has emerged, through which a becoming of an existence can be generated in the first place, be it in relation to matter of any forms or a life-form with regard to life-forms of all genera and species. The material belt as the only one of its kind in the 7 dimensions or space-time structures or universes of the Creation of universal consciousness does not correspond to its own dimension or space-time structure or universe, but only the entire expanse of all 7 belts in the interior of the Creation of universal consciousness together form this and thus what is called universe, dimension and space-time structure.

Mistakenly and in complete ignorance of the effective facts concerning the structure and existence of Creation Universal Consciousness, the human beings of Earth call the material belt the universe. The error, however, is that a material belt is only the 7th part of the total width of all 7 belts of each 'dimension' or space-time structure within Creation Universal Consciousness. Consequently, only all 7 belts/levels together can be called the universe or dimension and space-time structure. So it must be clear that the material belt alone does not correspond to the whole vastness of the universe, but can only be seen and judged as what it really is, namely only the 7th part of the dimension universe resp. of the DERN-universe resp. DERN-space-time-structure, as it is called by the Plejaren. Absolutely simultaneously with the coming into being or becoming of the creation of universal consciousness, 7 different dimensions or space-time structures arose in it, consequently all space-time structures or dimensions are in exactly the same space as all the others, but separated from each other as a different dimension. All dimensions are also provided with a material belt, in which galaxies, nebulae, celestial bodies and planets etc. are arranged differently in each space-time structure. There is the possibility for intelligent life-forms to develop techniques through their high evolution and intelligence and to penetrate the dimensions or space-time structures in a technical way, or to change from their dimension into other dimensions and thus to travel back and forth between them.

As an example, creation can be thought of as an inflatable balloon in which there are seven other inflated balloons of exactly the same size, whereby these seven inner balloons can be understood as seven dimensions. The outermost balloon envelope, which represents Creation or Creation Universal Consciousness in a similar way, continues to be inflated and consequently expands further and further, as happens in the same way in its interior with the 7 further balloons, consequently these always inevitably remain the same size as the outer balloon envelope. These 7 inner balloons, which can be understood as 7 dimensions, thus expand equally with the outer envelope and correspond to the same outer conditions of the outer balloon envelope, which has 7 rings, which can be understood as 7 planes, whereby the 4th ring is covered with dust and can be thought of as a material belt.

Creation can be thought of as an example of an egg-like spiritual energy shell, which floats in the boundless and timeless super-ultra-infinity-infinity-immeasurability-infinite-spaciousness of the absolute nothingness along with countless other creations of the same or, according to the state of evolution, differently higher kind. This creation structure thus contains within itself 7 different spirit energy belts/levels or 7 different dimensions or space-time structures (simile: balloons), which all arose simultaneously at the Big Bang, but are absolutely independent of each other.

As a result of their simultaneous formation, they all have the same age, the same time and the same time streams etc., but completely different galaxies, solar and planetary systems etc., whereby these dimensions or space-time structures correspond to what the human beings of Earth call the universe or cosmos or world space, as well as space, cosmic space, universe or philosophically mundus. With these terms, especially universe/cosmos, the human beings of Earth erroneously call only that which is visible or tangible to them, precisely that which presents itself as a material belt, with all the material things existing in it, the galaxies, supergalaxies and hypergalaxies, solar and planetary systems, and so on. However, this does not embody Creation or Creation Universal Consciousness (simile: outer balloon shell), but only one of its 7 dimensions or one of its 7 space-time structures and the only material belt contained therein, which exist in their 7 differently dimensioned spirit belts/levels. Altogether, all 7 dimensions or 7 space-time structures are given in the extension of the entire creation, consequently they are also spread over the 7 basic belts/planes of creation and are thus in their size and width absolutely in the same measure as the actual creation structure.

The dimension or the space-time structure in which the SOL system and the Earth float and in which Earth-humans exist is called DERN space-time structure by the Plejaren, or DERN universe according to the Earth human sense and understanding.

If living beings of any kind or species exist on any world in the material belt, then these naturally develop in various ways, whereby many factors play a part, such as instinct etc. in the case of lower kinds and species, and intelligence, intellect, reason and logic etc. in the case of higher life-forms, whereby the periods of time with regard to the duration of evolution etc. are also of enormous importance. So, for example, on a life-bearing planet in a solar system of a space-time structure or dimension, living beings can be more or less evolved than on another planet in the same space-time structure, or in another dimension of the same creation, such as e.g. in the ANKAR space-time structure or in the ANKAR dimension in which the Plejaren exist – or on other worlds in a space-time structure of a completely different creation.

The DERN-universe resp. the DERN-dimension resp. the DERN-space-time-structure is one of the 7 space-time-structures given in the creation of universal consciousness resp. one of the 7 dimensions in which the galaxy exists, which is called Milky Way by the earthlings and in which the SOL-system floats in a spiral arm, in which again the Earth is arranged. The Plejaren come into this dimension resp. into this DERN-universe resp. space-time-structure through a technically created dimension gate, which has already existed for about 30 million years, from their ANKAR-space-time-structure resp. from their ANKAR-dimension into the DERN-space-time-structure and thus also to Earth. The Plejaren exist in their ANKAR space-time structure at a distance of about 500 light-years from Earth, whereby the Plejaren in their ANKAR dimension, seen from the DERN material belt resp. seen from the DERN-universe, come from a distance of about 115 light-years (one light-year = 9.461 trillion kilometres, resp. $9.461 \cdot 10^{12}$ km) further beyond the Pleiades stars known and visible on Earth from the ANKAR-space-time-structure. The distance from Earth to the Pleiades stars in the DERN universe is around or an average of 400 light-years.

The Plejaren as very distant descendants of their very early ancestors from the lineage of the primordial prophet/primordial annunciator Nokodemion therefore come from the ANKAR dimension into the DERN universe resp. into the DERN dimension or just into the DERN space-time structure and thus also to Earth. This is because a large number of their early ancestors settled on the Earth planet millions of years ago and then also died there, whereby their spirit-forms are still reborn on the Earth world over many reincarnations and animate human beings, whose development the Plejaren strive for.

Earth was and is the only planet in the DERN space-time structure resp. in the DERN universe resp. in the DERN dimension where the Plejaren have an observing and helpful teaching effect, because all other planets and areas that were settled by the Plejaren and the most distant descendants from the line of the original prophet resp. original herald Nokodemion are all in the ANKAR universe resp. in the ANKAR space-time structure resp. in the ANKAR dimension. Therefore, when in conversations there was talk of Plejaren emigrants settling, for example, on the planet NISSAN in the Lyra systems, on Sirius planets or Centauri planets, or beyond the Sun (Milky Way) on a planet called KUDRA in a solar system called the NISAN system, this did not and does not refer to the DERN universe, but always to the ANKAR dimension. The names of the constellation systems, which were and are named in the DERN space-time structure, only designate approximately the positions and distances, seen from Earth, to the stars and planets in the ANKAR universe respectively the ANKAR dimension, where the distant descendants of the Plejaren have settled. So it must be clear that in the entire DERN universe or in the DERN space-time structure, where the Milky Way galaxy, the SOL system and the Earth with the Earth-humans exist, the Plejaren come and go and are active only in the SOL system and on the planet Earth, but nowhere else in the entire DERN universe.

When the Plejaren change dimensions or space-time structures or switch back and forth between them, then this happens on the one hand between their ANKAR universe or ANKAR dimension and the DERN universe or DERN dimension or between other universe dimensions in the structure of Creation Universal Consciousness. On the other hand, the Plejaren also change into other dimensions when they travel in their ANKAR-universe or in the DERN-universe, e.g. on Earth, into the dimensions of the past or future. This also makes it clear that, on the one hand, changes of dimensions or space-time structures are possible, which means that it is possible to change from one dimension of the creation of universal consciousness into another or from one space-time structure into another, whereby 7 different dimensions or space-time structures are given by the creation of universal consciousness alone, in which it is possible to change back and forth or to change from one universe into another. In addition to this possibility, the dimensions of the past and the future are also given, into which it is possible to travel or change from the present, which lasts 2.7 seconds, into the past or future, just as it is also possible to change from the future into the past and from the past into the future. It is also worth mentioning that it is absolutely impossible to change something for the better or worse or negative or positive in a dimension of the past when something has already happened up to the time of the present from which the change is made into the past. Changes can only be made in the current time of 2.7 seconds of the present, which then as causes determine the course of events up to the resulting effect and thus follow the law of causality and fulfil it infallibly.

A further possibility with regard to a change of dimensions or universe or space-time structure is that, if the technical possibilities are given, universal consciousness can penetrate into another creation of the same direction as universal consciousness and change back and forth in its own dimensions or space-time structure, just as in such other creations of the same direction universal consciousness the possibility of changing into the past and future exists.

The lowest universe resp. the lowest Creation-form is e.g. the DERN-universe of the Milky Way with the SOL-system as well as the Earth, where earthly mankind exists, whereby the DERN-universe-form in the creation of universal consciousness is not the only dimension in it, because the creation in itself comprises 7 dimensions resp. space-time-structure with 7 belts/levels, of which one is the matter-belt and also has 'dark matter'.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_709

Billy:

... Then I always have things to explain about you Plejaren and the connections with you. It just never ends with my explanations that I have to give that you Plejaren come from your space-time structure ANKAR-universe, as you call your dimension, and that you only come to our DERN-universe and you are active there only in the SOL-system resp. also only on Earth, but nowhere else in our entire DERN-universe. Again and again I must also explain that when it is said that your peoples are also to be found with the Lyra, the Plejaren or beyond the Galaxy-Sun or the Milky Way, etc., that this does not mean the stars and constellations in our DERN-Universe, but just such in your ANKAR-Universe or ANKAR-Space-Time-Structure. And if celestial bodies in our space-time structure are mentioned as positions from which you can be found beyond, then it should finally be understood that this refers to your space-time structure, but unfortunately this is misunderstood again and again. It is also misunderstood again and again that when we speak of a space-time structure and a universe, we are only talking about the 4th matter belt and one of the 7 energy belts in Creation. This explains that the universe is not the Creation, so consequently, the Creation is not the universe. Creation itself has 7 dimensions with 7 energy belts each, of which only one belt, the 4th, exists in each dimension as a matter belt, which is called the universe by the earthlings, whereby the earthlings must first be laboriously made to understand that the universe they call the material belt is only the 7th part of one dimension of the 7 dimensions of Creation. In this matter belt, precisely in this universe called by earthlings, past, present and future alone exist. This means that in the matter belts alone, past, present and future dimensions or space-time structures are given in multiple forms and in endless numbers, while in the 7 dimensions of creation as such, as they are each arranged in the egg-shaped creation as a separate unit, there is only one single dimension or one single space-time structure. These are therefore the 7 creational dimensions which prevail in the egg-shaped creation itself and which in turn have 7 energy belts within them, whereby, one of each of the 7 energy belts has a material belt in which uncountable dimensions or space-time structures of the past, present and future exist.

...

Billy:

... Florena and Enjana recently explained to me that through your electromagnetic resonance energy transmission – which you call something completely different and which also corresponds to something other than a simple wireless energy transmission – you can even transfer energy transmissions from Earth into your space-time structure or into your dimension over practically unlimited distances.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_710

Billy:

... You Plejaren are involved in our DERN-universe resp. DERN-space-time-structure absolutely only on Earth in relation to Earth-humans and nowhere else in the whole DERN-space-time-structure, and that also not in our SOL-system. And when it has always been said that you were or are active beyond the Milky Way or in the Pleiades, Orion and Lyra etc., then this always and in every case referred absolutely only to the fact that these were, so to speak, indications of places where you are at home beyond these star formations in a certain great light-year distance in your ANKAR space-time structure. This means that in our DERN space-time structure or in our DERN universe you have dimension gates in operation at the celestial bodies mentioned or many light-years beyond them in world space, through which you can change back and forth between your ANKAR dimension and our DERN dimension. The mentioned celestial bodies etc. in our space-time structure, such as the Pleiades, Lyra and the celestial bodies beyond our Milky Way, thus only correspond to formations in relation to a certain direction, where you have your dimension gates far beyond them, which you use to change dimensions. So you are not located on the mentioned stars or on any alleged planets, such as the Pleiades, which at the beginning of our contacts we had at first deliberately falsely named as your home stars, in order to later be able to expose liars, deceivers and charlatans, who allegedly or falsely and thus untruthfully would have contacts with you Plejaren. And that this is exactly how it came to be, you knew this in advance through foresight, which is why we started the deceptive manoeuvre with the false place of origin 'Pleiades' and only named your real place of origin Erra with the Pleiaren stars in the ANKAR space-time structure, when in the course of the years various lying alleged contact persons, who claimed to be in contact with you, could be unmasked. ...

...

Billy:

... Your general Plejaren technology, so also space technology and space-time bridging technology etc., have been so highly developed for millions of years, through the help of the Sonaer from the DAL universe or the DAL creation, that the Earth-foreigners functioning on Earth have never been able to locate, detect or otherwise register any flying apparatus of Plejaren origin or also only any Plejaren activities since their existence in prehistoric times up to the present time. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_716

Billy:

... but in relation to my journeys into the past, which I was able to make together with Sfath, questions always arise among group members, and that is because various people have completely wrong ideas about dimensional travel. In this way, the questions also refer to why I am about 2 decades older than the time I have lived through since my birth in the time we call the present, the time I have lived here on Earth in this present dimension since my birth. Those earthlings who produce conjectures for such dimensional journeys cannot understand that when travelling into the past, however, the time there for the present has already expired and passed and can therefore no longer be retrieved. But that the time of the past can be lived through again and again during a journey into the past, as often as it is entered into, is not understood, consequently also not that if a shorter or longer time is lived in the past, only the time in it passes and expires, but the time of the effective present is not affected. This meant that if I had the opportunity to travel with Sfath to any time in the past and could remain there for a month, I would then live in that past time that period which, seen from the present, had already passed and was over. And if, as a result of the manipulation of time, I returned to the place of my departure in the present practically at the same time or at the most a quarter of an hour after leaving the present time, then only the short period of time had passed in the present which had just elapsed during the time of my departure until my return. But the time that I lived together with Sfath in the past, even days, weeks or months or once even 2 years, by this time I effectively became older, because I had actually lived through it, almost 2 decades in total. And this despite the fact that in the present, from which I had dived with Sfath into the dimensions of the past, only a short time had passed, and even though I had spent a long time in the past, whereas in the effective present, from which I had gone into the past, it had long since expired, passed and disappeared into the past.

Billy:

Then everything could be good in this respect, and also the long way is not to be considered, which takes only seven minutes of our earthly time calculation, if I still remember correctly. So then there is also no great loss of time by going there and back.

Ptaah:

23. You are mistaken, dear friend, because you are considering our old transport technique, but we have been using the dimensional transmission technique we received from the Sonaern for a year and a half now.

24. In this way we will bring you to us in Erra and back to the Centre in a very short time, which will take no more than a total of less than two minutes.

...

Billy:

... What about when I leave, because a few days ago we talked about the strangers, and you clearly said that you would not let them locate you. How is it then, if you appear here in my office or somewhere else or go away again, which would also be like this with me? Somehow, when you come and go, there is a small dimensional gate through which you can pass, and I wonder if the foreigners – you used to call them Earth-foreigners – cannot detect this, because there are energies involved that are certainly detectable, or?

Ptaah:

28. Of course it is correct that energies are important, but as we know, the foreigners cannot detect them because they are of a completely different nature than all those who exist in this space-time structure and in its past and future.

29. The energies we use correspond to far higher values and are therefore also not perceptible with any techniques from this space-time present as well as its past and future, which is also the reason why the strangers cannot locate us in any way.

30. I am also unable to detect our present here, because we use the same kind of energy for our personal protection, to be protected against sight and to be imperceptible in every way through our physical, psychological and consciousness swinging waves.

31. This energy and the use of this technique does not correspond to one of our Plejaren achievements, but to one of the Sonaer.

Billy:

And how long have you been in possession of this Sonaeric technology, if I may ask, and an answer does not fall under your directives?

Ptaah:

32. That is not so, no.

33. The energy I referred to, its use and the Protection Technique were given to our early ancestors by the Sonaern some 27 million years ago when first contact with them occurred in the DAL Creation.

Billy:

Correct, it does not have to be called the DAL Universe, it has to be called the DAL Creation, because it is a sister Creation of ours.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_721

Ptaah:

34. More than 25,000 years ago, new Plejaren immigrants arrived on Earth with a slightly yellowish skin pigmentation and mixed with already existing earthly human forms, resulting in another human species that migrated to a large island.

35. The original immigrants, who came from our ANKAR universe more than 25,000 years ago, had created a dimensional gateway millions of light-years beyond the Milky Way galaxy you know, and so entered the DERN universe and from there to Earth, where they settled in fertile areas that are now all part of China.

62. And the fact that we also brought this teaching to Earth at an early time was due to the fact that our ancestors discovered a natural dimensional gate 22 million years ago by chance, which is located here in the DERN universe about 120 light-years beyond the Pleiades stars known to you.

63. The dimensional gateway was discovered because a moon from our ANKAR universe that had drifted from an exploded planet entered the DERN universe through this dimensional gateway, which our ancestors investigated and then found to be Earth's satellite.

64. One consequence of this was that over the course of millions of years small groups of Plejaren repeatedly migrated to Earth and also died here.

286. And as a result of the fact that already more than 22 million years ago parts of the peoples of our very distant ancestors reached the DERN universe of our creation, i.e. the space-time structure in which the Earth also exists, but also the DAL universe of the twin creation, the 'Teaching of Truth, Teaching of the Spirit, Teaching of Life' was also carried out and spread everywhere there.

...

Billy:

4. Question from the hypothetical and theoretical perspective of a rational decision

...

I will go on to say that in order to explain the word value 'morality', commandments can be used as parables, which fundamentally do not correspond to laws, but to recommendations and advice. Such commandments or recommendations were already interpreted by the herald Nokodemion about 9 billion years ago, not in our DERN universe, but in the ANKAR universe and thus in another space-time structure. Nokodemion laid the foundation stone for 77 million canons with the teaching of the commandments etc., which were recorded in the 'Teaching of the Spirit' or 'Teaching of Truth, Teaching of the Spirit, Teaching of Life', after which the teaching was taught and spread until today through the work of heralds – who also had to fulfil prophetic and predictive tasks – on various human-inhabited planets in the ANKAR universe, but also in the DAL universe of the Twin Creation. And since about 22 million years ago the most distant descendants from the Nokodemion peoples from the ANKAR universe came into our DERN universe and settled on Earth, the spiritual teaching or 'teaching of truth, teaching of the spirit, teaching of life' was finally also brought into this space-time structure. ...

...

Billy:

...

As you know, dear friend, early ancestors of you Plejaren emigrated to this Earth, and many of them also died here on this planet, as a result of which their forms of creation or their spirit-forms have since reincarnated again and again on Earth in new personalities. And this is still the case today and tomorrow as well as the day after tomorrow and in the far future, because for the earlier emigrants from the ANKAR universe or space-time structure, precisely for the Plejaren emigrants at that time, it was determined that their distant and most distant descendants should be taught until far into the future with regard to the 'teaching of truth, teaching of the energy of creation, teaching of life'.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_723

Ptaah:

37. This new herald, so the prediction reads, will not appear in our reality, but in another reality that is foreign to our space-time structure, and will bring us Plejaren the teachings of Nokodemion anew.

...

76. This is simply because our announcement of a coming new herald from the reincarnation lineage of Nokodemion, which has been handed down since ancient times, states that he would come from another reality.

77. With this, I now know, the dimension of the DERN universe has been called since time immemorial, but which I have actually now become aware of through your explanations, which I will also immediately announce on Erra and on all our worlds.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_724

Billy:

... And the trick of the two groups, the Ashtashran alias Ashtar Sheran and the Giza intelligences, was that they were only in our presence when they caused mischief, whereas they were resident in another space-time plane and only came into our presence temporarily and unnoticed by the strangers. ... And as far as Ashtashran alias Ashtar Sheran is concerned, as far as I know he was never in our presence anyway, but worked on his confused believers on Earth from another space-time plane.

...

It is also to be explained that you Plejaren in your ANKAR universe in the SIRAS dimension remain absolutely safe from the foreigners on the Earth, if you continue to keep to your directives, which prescribe that you do not make any contact with foreign peoples and inhabitants of other planets etc. In this way, and you know this very well, dear friend, as all Plejaren also know, you also protect yourselves from falling back into the old barbaric behaviour, as it still prevailed with you more than 52,000 years ago and was marked by strife and war. And it is also worth mentioning that if the foreigners who are functioning on Earth should be able to penetrate other universes of our Creation, they would first have to find out which of the 6 other universes outside ours it is that you Plejaren exist in. And if they were to find that out, then the even bigger problem would be to find that dimension or space-time structure in the SIRAS dimension that is a fraction of a second out of phase with our DERN dimension space-time structure. But that corresponds to a myriad of possibilities, just as it corresponds to a myriad of possibilities to find the dimensional gate that you use every time you beam back and forth between Erra and Earth.

11. That he {Sfath} then brought him {Pastor Zimmermann} back to Jmmanuel during a two-day time journey when he was 28 years old and was also able to speak with him via a language converter, you never told me anything about that, just as you never told me that you had already travelled back in time twice with my father before your journey with Asket and were able to speak with Jmmanuel, as well as with all the other earlier prophets.

Billy:

...

77.2 million years ago, an atmospheric fire or a tremendous atmospheric explosion occurred, as could be determined by time travel. ... Then, 46.8 million years ago, the entire world of life forms began to change again in the course of time, as had also been the case during the preceding period as a result of climate changes. Many early and very large life-forms fell victim to this change, as some time travels back to that time and corresponding observations have shown. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_728

A. and U. Fuchsberger:

In your contact reports we read that the extraterrestrials with whom you have conversations have twice eliminated trees. I would like to ask you if you could explain to us what we should understand by this. Were trees simply cut down or were they burnt or taken away?

...

Ptaah:

24. An elimination, and this must first be explained, does not simply mean a dissolution of an object into its constituent parts, for this would correspond to a destruction, but not to an elimination, for such an elimination means a complete dissolution of all object-related matter down to its origin.

25. Basically, a process of elimination begins, as you and yes also some core-group members have witnessed this with regard to a tree, as you say, in that a certain object must be recorded in all its details with certain recognition and recording apparatuses down to the last detail and iota.

26. It is absolutely necessary, above all, to ascertain the age and origin and thus also the exact time of origin of the object and all its details.

27. If you are talking about fir trees and thus conifers, as you call these tree species, then for an elimination a complete recognition and registration of every tiny detail and consequently also of every single fir needle, which are fundamentally leaves, is absolutely necessary.

28. This, however, is only possible through our highly futuristic technical apparatus and devices, which will remain unattainable for Earth-humans for a long time to come and which, in a further and different development, will also serve to count and register all conceivably possible life-forms.

29. Among other things, we will also use these technical apparatuses and devices to record and register the entire earthly human race, in such a way that we will be able to record and register everything down to a single life-form up to a certain point in time.

30. Once all the necessary data have been gathered for the elimination of an object, of which there are still more than I want to mention, as well as other necessities, which, however, I consider pointless to mention, because the earthly scientists etc. cannot begin anything with it anyway, because their still limited knowledge, their illogic and arrogance are not sufficient to be able to understand everything as well, and moreover it would be irresponsible of me to give them more precise information, so I will only say the following about it:

31. If the exact time of the origin and emergence of the object to be eliminated is known, then a time manipulation by means of a time journey to the point of origin of the object is unavoidable in order to carry out the necessary manipulations there, which become effective throughout the entire time of existence and dissolve or eliminate the object at the fixed time of the present.

32. In the past or at the origin of the object, it cannot be eliminated, because if something arises over time into the future, such as the growth of a tree, etc., then it cannot simply not be planted or destroyed in the past, for example, if it already exists in the future or present.

33. What has already happened in the past or has developed into the future or present, just like a tree, can no longer be undone in the past.

34. Therefore, an elimination in the sense mentioned must be carried out in the way I explained.

35. But otherwise it is possible that from the future or present something can be brought into the past and in the course of time develop and grow into the present or even the future, such as a tree or a technique, etc., as you experienced, for example, in the 13th century with Asket in France with a man called Jechieli, as I know when you gave him a torch and a cattle-herding device that a Fate companion from the Soviet Union had with him.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_748

Ptaah:

43. Your real age alone should be mentioned, as well as the fact that several times in all your life time, whenever you were travelling for months or years in other times or in the past or in the future, you had to spend 18 days every 7 years in an hourly interrupting manner in our regeneration devices, which I will call hydro-dynamic regeneration converters, according to which you visibly did not age.

44. This was for the first time in 1944, so that from then on you always remained the same in outer appearance and visibly only aged in a normal way at those times when you were back on Earth in that place which you had left on Earth for a longer time.

45. If later, usually after weeks, months or years, you returned by time manipulation to the same time or hour at which you had left, then no outward ageing of your body was therefore detectable.

46. And these important and necessary 18-day procedures in the hydrodynamic regeneration converters were absolutely essential to maintain the processes of your total body mobility.

47. This is because, naturally, due to the ageing of the body as a result of loss of energy and strength, as well as due to natural ageing-degenerative processes, the entire bodily motility decreases, i.e. the totality of all unconsciously controlled and executed movements of the body and all its organs, whereby the ability of all organisms and cell organelles to move is impaired, and consequently losses of the entire activity of the ability to move occur.

48. This, however, had to be prevented in you, consequently also in your present age, which today – calculated from your birth in 1937 – is in total far above the double of your present earthly lifetime of 83½ years.

...

Billy:

If, therefore, one travels into the past or into the future, then the time of that time passes there, which must be lived through as a 'visitor', according to the time that just prevails and is spent there, which, however, has already expired and passed in the future, but is no longer relevant for the normal present from which one travels into the past, but is just already past. So if one travels from the present into the past and lives in it for e.g. 1 or 2 years, then this has no influence whatsoever on the normal present time from which the journey into the past is carried out, because in the past a time is effectively lived through that is no longer relevant for the present of the time of origin of the journey, but has long since ceased to exist. The time, however, which the traveller lives through from his future present in the past is absolutely real, consequently he effectively lives through it and also ages at this time. Therefore, when the traveller returns from the past time to the present time, he is aged by the time he spent in the past. However, in order to return to the present at the time when he left it, this can only be done by manipulating time. But the fact always remains that the traveller to the past ages during his visit to the past by the amount of time he spends there, so that, if he is a grown man, his beard also sprouts accordingly, so that persons who observe him recognise that he has been away for a long time.

Ptaah:

61. That is well explained, and the facial beard has also led to people recognising that you have been absent for a longer time than just the short time you were present.

62. I remember several such incidents, such as when you were called by my daughter Semjase and you had a fresh shave, only to be taken away for six hours at Wihaldenstrasse 10 in Hinwil and brought back again at 5 hrs, during which time Jacobus and Kalliope were waiting in the living room for your return.

63. And because during your official present 6-hour absence you were in reality on Erra for 7 days, during which time your facial beard grew and you were unable to shave it, this 7-day beard growth was of course not overlooked by Jacobus and Kalliope.

64. Moreover:

65. I remember that in 1961 you learned sandblasting in Bern, met your girlfriend Marga and travelled with her through Italy, Sicily, Spain, France, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany and Switzerland.

66. When, as a result of your work, you were transferred to Andeer to do a certain job there, and you also took your girlfriend with you, you were taken away by Asket, and you travelled with her for 11 months in her homeland, but then at the time of your departure you reappeared in your girlfriend's hotel room – with an 11-month-old facial beard.

67. Your friend Marga complained and got angry as a result of the assumption that you wanted to mislead her and that you had stuck on a face beard, so she wanted to tear it off, felt betrayed by you and your relationship deteriorated as a result.

68. I do not need to say anything more about what happened as a result.

69. But as for the time alone that you spent with my father Sfath in the past from 1944 until the 1950s in the time of the antiquity era in the Mediterranean region, in Europe, Asia, America, South America and Africa, it amounts to 61 years and 94 days.

70. And these were years of learning, in addition to the years you spent with my father in the past up to 272 million years ago, as well as the years during which the two of you researched the future, which is why you also know what bad things will unfortunately still happen, about which my father Sfath obliged you to remain silent and you should no longer make predictions as in the 1950s, but only partial prophecies.

71. To your and my father's often long journeys and sojourns in the past and future must be added the years that Asket and you, as well as my daughter Semjase and then Quetzal and I, have been travelling with you for long periods in the past and future.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_750

Billy:

Often our conversations led to the conclusion that all those earthlings who scientifically deal with the times of the past and future as would-be knowers are wrong and effectively fantasise a horrendous idle run in this respect. This is precisely because in the past, time must be lived through in the length of time at that time, whereby the human being thus ages by this already past time, while in the present time, however, from which one changes into the past, only short minutes or hours pass through a manipulation of time. Examples of this are, on the one hand, the incident in Hinwil when, in the presence of witnesses such as Jacobus and my ex, I gave myself a fresh shave and left the house around midnight, only to be on the road together with your daughter Semjase for around a week in the past, but then, through a time manipulation, returned home five hours later after leaving the house at 5 hrs – with a week's beard sprouting on my face. ...

Then, on the other hand, I now come back to what has happened with regard to journeys into the past, also with regard to the thing in Andeer, when my girlfriend freaked out when I, afflicted with zinc fever, was with her in the hotel, had given myself a fresh shave and she then went out to do some shopping, whereupon your niece Asket then took me away to travel around in the past for 11 months, during which time I grew a handsome facial moustache. Asket then brought me back to the hotel room by time manipulation about half an hour after I left, after which my girlfriend then got upset because she thought I was trying to annoy her by sticking a full beard on my face, which she wanted to rip off. When she then realised that the beard was real, she went crazy and of course couldn't understand anything anymore because I wasn't allowed to explain anything to her either. Her mind was simply overwhelmed, which is why the danger of her going mad came up, which is why Asket intervened and erased the experience from her memory. But there were a few other similar incidents where it was noticed that after short absences I suddenly had longer stubble on my face again, but these observations usually went off smoothly because those observing me knew what was actually going on.

Well, over time, scientists also talk nonsense or fantasise nonsense, so also with regard to astronomy, because the entire astronomy science has no idea whatsoever about how and what the universe actually is. So they also do not know that everything visible from the Earth, all the stars etc., corresponds to only one seventh of the space-time structure universe, just as this space-time structure universe only makes up one seventh of the entire space of creation, which has a life span – starting from the so-called Big Bang to the end of the final contraction – of 311 trillion Earth years. Nor do they have any idea of how the real universal and creation-related laws behave, as also in relation to the emergence and behaviour of the dimensions and all the trimmings with regard to the creative, and that everything is completely different from what is assumed or claimed. And that the Creation is delusionally referred to as God and God the Father – as Allah, Theós, Parameshvar, Shiva, Chodā, Shén or Kami, etc. – corresponds to nothing but a pathologically insane conceit that is endlessly far from any truth.

... The rhythm of forces or bio-life rhythm of Homo sapiens sapiens in all 7 universes and all their dimensions and space-time structures has a uniform period of 23 days, whereby 11½ days are exposed to a plus phase or an energy peak phase, a higher organic resilience and thus a less harmful possibility of attack, consequently the organism can use more active and resilient forces.

The other 11½ days the bio-life rhythm shows a minus phase, whereby the organic stability is more unstable and more unstable for pathogens and virus attacks etc.. The whole organism also tires more quickly and becomes more susceptible to attacks that are harmful to health, consequently it also needs more time to recover. After 23 days, the rhythm starts again from the beginning, whereby the thought-feeling-psyche state is also included, whose period, however, lasts not only 23, but 33 days.

Ptaah:

... We Plejaren are also only human beings, if I may say so, and we are not perfect beings, as many Earth human beings assume or believe. Even if we have a much more highly developed technology, which enables us to travel through time and space, just as we also have various other higher possibilities than Earth human beings, we are still human beings and are therefore not inserted into perfection, but are afflicted with faults and disadvantages, According to which we also have to learn, experience and learn, as this is inherent to every living being and will never end until that time when this ends through the eons of time, when our creation energy, which animates us and also develops us, one day unites with the energy of the Being Absolutum.

In the same manner as we have to behave according to our directives towards the Earth human beings with regard to contacts, this applies equally to other human beings in our universe, as well as in foreign universes and in foreign Creations. This is also the reason why we must, under all circumstances, keep a low profile in relation to the foreigners who have been present in Earth's space for a very long time and to whom we must not make ourselves known. The justifications for this are the same as are otherwise valid for other humanities of other life-bearing planets.

... But this will only be proven in the very distant future, when the evolution of human beings will also make it possible to use the technology of time travel, which will one day come into being, to explore the past as it really was. But that will still take a long time – if it ever becomes reality at all, as you have already said – but then the light of truth will illuminate much that is still in the dark today. This, if I may use your symbolic simile.

... much I have witnessed with Sfath through time travel and found that it was completely different from what has been handed down or 'found out' by antiquarians and assumed, claimed and presented by archaeologists. But that is not so important, because the past is not so important that it really needs to be explored, because the present and the near future are important, because everything that will happen far into the future depends on it. Also important is what has happened with regard to what is at present or what is the actual origin of what led to what is at the present time and will result from it in the future.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_802

Ptaah:

... it has been around 20 million years since our distant ancestors first came to Earth, and they kept themselves largely covered up, as did those who followed them all this time after. This has remained so to this day because it was forbidden even then, which has remained so to this day, for the Plejaren to spread out into another universe of Creation than just their own dimension. A special regulation arose very early with regard to the sister universe or the DAL universe, consequently 2 Plejaren peoples were allowed to settle there, so the Sonaer and those you know as the people from whom Asket originated.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_823

Billy:

... Very many of our 'scientists' – airheads, I farewell to say, to which also various normal people belong – do not understand that the Earth in the humanly incomprehensible 'infinity' of our Creation, which is only a 7th part of all universes of Creation, is not alone inseminated and carries life, and partly also more highly intelligent life than exists on our planet. And that our Creation consists of 7 universes, each with a matter belt, has not yet been grasped by all those schoolboys who want to know so much about the universe, whose effective number is 7, which in turn are arranged in dimensions of the past and the future. ...

... Also no scientist knows that the whole universe with the 3 empty spaces in front of the matter belt itself, as well as the 3 empty spaces after it, is only 1/7 of the whole, which is called Creation, which holds 7 different universes in itself, which, in addition to the dimension of the present, still hold innumerable dimensions of the past and the future.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_826

Billy:

Well, what I learnt was that time is finite and does not expand infinitely and is not of only one dimension as 'scientists' claim.

Thus, the past, present and future are not uniquely fixed, but are changeable in themselves through a wide variety of dimensions, which means that there are an infinite number of dimensions to the past and future, while the present has only the dimension of the moment.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_838

Billy:

... in every other of the 7 dimensional continuums of Creation there are the same compositions of the forms of matter as here in our space-time continuum.

Quetzal:

... we Plejaren, as well as our federates as a whole, are not at home in this time structure and thus not in this universe of Creation, but are displaced in space resp. dimension and time in another of the 7 universes of Creation. This, as well as others from our lineage, who however come from a universe resp. dimensional structure of the twin-sister Creation, come here to Earth, as do we Plejaren, because you work here with regard to the teaching that leads back to Nokodemion and which is also taught with us, and through which our peoples became peaceful and in this process sociable with each other. But when you are no more, then we will all withdraw for good, so that after 25 million years, when our distant ancestors found the passage anomaly to this space-time continuum and came here, we will then leave this universe space resp. the dimensional structure of Creation. I still have to explain that our appearance here was based on the prediction that our distant ancestors saw more than 25 million years ago that in the future the teaching of Nokodemion would be spread on this planet Earth, which is why also already at that time the anomaly of the passage from our universe into this one was used to move here.

...

Billy:

There are many things being done wrongly here on Earth, also concerning the so-called 'important' space technology, which is based on rocket propulsion research. With that, precisely with rocket propulsion, the heads only get into Earth orbit, but not out into space, which begins very far outside the solar system. Moreover, earthly research is still very far from what is needed to fly through space, and also not with antigravity propulsion, because that is of no use in space either, because there is nothing there that antigravity could repel. The fact that the foreigners do not whiz around in earthly airspace with antigravity propulsion, but ..., does not make sense to those who should actually think a little further than those who do not understand anything at all about locomotion technology in airspace and in the void of space.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_860

Billy:

... the Creation contains within itself 7 universes, each of which has a different present dimension, whereby each of these universes has its own material belt resp. cosmos. Even the infinitely many Creations that 'float' in the nothingness space of the Nihilo, which is inconceivable to the human beings – as also the DAL-sister universe of our universe, like ours of the same kind – have a cosmos resp. material belt that is constantly changing and also inexorably expanding. However, all higher and more developed forms of Creation – which will also be our Creation one day – still have 7 universes with 7 levels resp. dimensions each, but no longer a material belt, but special levels of development.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_861

Quetzal:

... We Plejaren have nothing to do with UFOs or other phenomena, as well as with those that come from other dimensions of this DERN universe and effectively do not come from our ANKAR universe. ... We are also aware that the foreigners have no idea or knowledge of the fact that Creation contains 7 universes, each of which has a thousand different dimensions, which can also be visited and travelled to by means of certain techniques, and can therefore be changed from one dimension to another. So we have the comprehensive certainty that the foreigners know nothing about our ANKAR-universe, as that Creation contains and exhibits 7 independent universes in itself, which are differently dimensioned than the innumerable dimensions of this DERN-universe.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_873

Billy:

If I now talk about the dimensions, I would like to explain that they can be broken and travelled in our space-time continuum in the present, as well as in the past and the future. However, it is different with regard to the other dimensions of other universes in the 7 dimensions resp. 7 universes of Creation, in which the visible cosmos is only the material belt of the 7 levels of the unimaginable and comprehensive vastness of a universe.

The other Creation universes, which exist in different dimensions within Creation, have completely different dimensional densities, which means that it is not possible to simply switch from one universe to another. However, if this is to be done, various technological achievements are required to make it possible. Therefore, when the Plejaren come to Earth, a 'transformation' is required that allows them to exist materially in the dimension resp. in the dimensions of this universe of Creation, which is also the case for their flying apparatuses or beamships, which have no relation to the so-called UFOs.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_874

Billy:

... your {Plejaren} universe {ANKAR universe} does not simply exist in a different dimension in our DERN universe, but is a completely different universe in the overall space of the 7 comprehensive universes of Creation, whereby each universe has its own countless dimensions of the past and the future in addition to the present. This on the one hand, just as it is also necessary in order to pass from one of the 7 universes of Creation into another of the same Creation, that a certain transformation of living or 'dead' matter is required, as when 'breaking into' a universe of a foreign Creation or into a universe of the twin Creation of our Creation.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_875

Ptaah:

... This is because they {“the foreigners”, i.e. extraterrestrial descendents living on/in the Earth} lack the knowledge of the necessary synchronisation of the dimensions of the various universes that would enable them to change to another universe. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_880

Billy:

... So: travelling to other times, travelling back to earlier times or future journeys are indeed journeys to other time dimensions, but they always take place in the same universe. This has nothing to do with the fact that the Plejaren are dimensionally shifted to our time, because Erra, their home world, is not located in any dimension of this universe, because they come here from a completely different universe, which is, however, one of our Creation, which contains 7 different universes, each of which of course has its own countless dimensions of the past and the future, as is the case in every universe. The 7 dimensions of the 7 universes of Creation are spatially separated only by the type of dimensions and exist practically in the same place as we do. However, since this type of dimension is shaped differently from the past and future of our universe, there is no tangent between the 7 universes of Creation, so the Plejaren have to create openings from their Ankar universe in order to enter our universe. This takes place in various places in our cosmos, such as hundreds of light-years beyond the Pleiades stars that we can see from Earth. ...

...

Billy:

... I was asked whether it is possible to change something that happened in the past and could be changed by travelling back to the past so that it does not happen. The truth of the matter is that what apparently cannot or does not want to be understood is that what has happened in the past, resp. what has occurred and resulted, can also not be changed by travelling back into the past – if the human being were capable of doing so – before the events that occurred. This is not because something that has happened cannot ever be undone under any circumstances, because once it has happened, it can no longer be changed in such a way that it could be influenced in such a way that it would not happen. It is only possible that something can be changed for the future through a journey into the past, for example if directions or advice are given and followed – which will bring about something good or bad – which will be the result in the future. ...

Josip Broz Tito – death

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Josip_Broz_Tito

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_115

Semjase:

256. At the same time, we also spoke of the head of state of Yugoslavia, of his demise.

257. Concerning him, have you calculated the exact time of death and the date of his leaving of this sphere?

Billy:

I have, here, I have written everything down on this slip of paper. At the same time, it is just strange that I was able to calculate two different dates. The first is the 24th of February, 1980; the time for this is 10:10 PM; the second date is the 4th of May, 1980, and the time for this is 3:04 PM and 47 seconds. The fact that there are now two dates, I do not understand.

Semjase:

258. Your calculations are very well right, and the one date, like the other one, is of correctness.

259. Tito, the Yugoslavian dictator, will unofficially conclude his physical life on the date of the 24th of February, 1980, or rather, he should do this at this point in time.

260. Truthfully, however, it will be like it was at that time with Generalissimo Francesco Franco in Spain, that he will have an agonizing death, because the doctors, with all their arts and machines, will keep him alive for so long, until death officially occurs on the 4th of May, 1980.

261. From the 24th of February 1980, however, it will be for Tito that he will no longer be in a position of power, without the possibility of being able to do anything in the slightest in the affairs of state.

262. Unofficially, he will, thus, already be dead as of this date.

Tower of Babylon / Tower of Babel

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tower_of_Babel

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_279

Billy:

... My first question refers to the Tower of Babylon, which was built about 3,000 years ago or so ago. Do you know anything about this event?

Ptaah:

5. Not very detailed – but at least.

Billy:

Well, then the first question: What was the height and baseline of the building?

Ptaah:

6. The baseline was about 91 metres, which was also identical to the height of the building.

Billy:

So also 91 metres high. – As far as I know, the building was square, as you can see from your measurements of the baseline.

Ptaah:

7. That is correct, but the building did not correspond to a cube, but it narrowed upwards by several set-offs or floors, which were connected by stairs, only in the outer wall areas.

8. In the middle, the whole building was filled with a core of fired brick mass, which ensured stability.

9. The outer brickwork was made of bricks or fired bricks which, like the core, were made of the same material.

10. A large temple was erected on the uppermost settlement, which played a special role for the deity Marduk and in which a temple servant lived, who was only allowed to be visited and touched by the ruler.

11. Marduk was the city god of Babylon and was raised to the highest imperial god around 1700 BC.

12. The Marduk cult was led by a very powerful priesthood, which in itself was very diverse.

Billy:

The Bible mentions the history of the confusion of languages during the construction of the tower. What was it about?

Ptaah:

13. The explanation of the Bible is wrong.

14. Truthfully, the tower was built by various groups of people who had many different languages and could only communicate with each other through language experts.

15. When a serious natural event occurred and the different ethnic groups mixed in fear and panic, it naturally happened that the confused, horrified people fleeing from the building could no longer communicate with each other, because no one understood the other's language and each belonged to a different ethnic group.

Billy:

So the confusion was perfect.

Ptaah:

16. So it happened, yes.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_439

Billy:

... At the 279th official contact conversation on the 3rd of February 2000, the two of us talked together about the Tower of Babylon, and you said that the confusion of language was caused by a natural event. ...

What kind of natural phenomenon was that, perhaps an earthquake? If so, did the 91-metre high tower not suffer any damage?

Ptaah:

20. In fact, it was an earthquake, which also caused severe damage to the tower that was being built.

21. However, this damage was repaired after order was restored to the country.

Billy:

And what kind of ethnic groups were they that had different languages?

Ptaah:

22. They were different ethnic groups, tribes and individuals from all surrounding countries, as far as Persia and the Mediterranean.
23. Many were prisoners or slaves, while others from foreign countries were obliged to do slavery work.
24. And all in all, the great mass of the workers had little or no knowledge of their own language, but of the Babylonian language.
25. Babylonians who worked on the construction of the tower were – apart from the architects, construction experts and supervisors – only those who fell from grace or were convicts.
26. The convicts had the choice of either working on the construction of the tower or being executed, whereby the former was of course preferred.

Trees

Billy:

... Can you tell me how much oxygen a full-grown tree actually supplies and how many young trees are needed to replace a full-grown tree in its oxygen production?

Semjase:

...

57. A full-grown coniferous tree of the fir kind produces a quantity of oxygen every 24 hours that is needed for 12 adult human beings to live and breathe.

58. For the second question, if you make a comparison with an oak tree of 100 years of age, then 2,563 young trees of the same kind are needed to produce as much oxygen as the full-grown tree.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_138

Semjase:

9. Quetzal tells you the following:

10. On Earth, there are several basic rules for the forestry sector that are often violated, and the natural laws are also ignored.

11. This is also true for the restocking of existing forests, but also with the stocking of newly forming forests.

12. The main part of the mistake is that the land is too closely stocked, which means that the young trees are planted too close to each other.

13. With the Earth-humans, the mistaken view prevails that a close stocking for reasons of dangerous storms is justified, which does not, however, actually correspond to the truth.

14. The too close distances between planted trees hinders growth on the one hand because they are missing the necessary free space and light, according to which they then grow more slowly.
15. On the other hand, this false measure and false handling leads to the fact that the growing trees will not become storm-strong, which means that they cannot flourish in their growth so that they are also resilient against great storms.
16. By the objectionable planting method, only tall and slender trees grow, which cannot be storm-safe in their diameter.
17. Should storm-safe and strong trees grow accordingly, then these cannot, under any circumstances, be planted so densely that they mutually obstruct themselves in growth and that they become storm-unsafe, and besides this, they must be deforested at a later time in order to provide at least one other part with the opportunity to grow and live.
18. The too-close planting method further leads to the fact that the younger natural wood can neither generate nor regenerate seeds, whereby the necessary space for tall growth will, of course, also be missing.
19. Therefore, young trees can only be planted so that they have enough living space in every respect, which is why a distance from plant to plant between 270 cm to 300 cm should be followed.
20. For this, an absolute minimum of 255 cm applies, which cannot be exceeded.
21. Another evil to be seen in forests on Earth is that, in general, only monocultures are elected, which is fundamentally wrong.
22. Only mixed forests are fully beneficial and appropriate for the use of wood, as well as for the prosperity and continuance of the birds and all forest animals.
23. All these animals bring people more benefit than harm, but by people, they were reduced by poisons, chemicals, and hazardous hunting or even partly eradicated, and on the other hand, possibilities for life were taken from these animals by the monocultures of trees and by the removing of hedges and bushes, as well as through the advancing of construction into the open fields and to the edges of forests, etc.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_182

Billy:

Then the environment strikes back once again, which is hard pressed and destroyed by humankind. But for this, I just have a question, namely in relation to the decline of nature, particularly the trees. Surely, you can tell me what the main factor actually is, which causes nature to be dying.

Quetzal:

481. Do you primarily address the decline of forests?

Billy:

Yes, and I am also interested in how high the percentage will be in Europe in the autumn of 1984.

Quetzal:

482. You speak of the percentage of the affected forest area?

Billy:

Excuse me if I expressed myself unclearly. Yes, I speak of this.

Quetzal:

483. As our calculations yield, already by the autumn of 1984, 54% of the supply of trees in Europe will be damaged due to illness.

484. This is the average of our calculations.

Billy:

And what is the principal and most toxic substance that will allow nature to die?

Quetzal:

485. For this, as we can presently determine, the chief fault lies with the electromagnetic radiation and the lead gasoline, which are used for a variety of means of transportation and commercial machines.

486. The gasoline contains Tetraethyl lead, which passes through the exhaust pipes and into the open air.

487. But there, it changes under the solar radiation into triethyl lead.

488. This is a highly toxic substance that causes cancerous diseases and which is also taken up by the trees and plants, etc.

Billy:

And how long does it take, then, until the trees, for example, get sick?

Quetzal:

489. It depends on the circumstances.

490. It is certain that the poison has a very large, long-term effect.

491. Thus, in already poisoned trees, the diseases often only appear years later.

492. The needle-leaf trees are primarily endangered by this because as a rule, they take in 12 times more toxins than normal-leaf trees.

Billy:

That is also why the conifers become sick first.

Quetzal:

493. Where the leaf-trees, however, do not become spared, it is just that they will get sick later since they absorb fewer toxins.

Billy:

But all other toxins are also decisive, right?

Quetzal:

494. That is of correctness.

495. Lead gasoline, along with the electromagnetic radiation, is just another main factor in the chain of natural death.

496. Only a complete ban on these substances could provide quick and effective relief.

Billy:

Humans are not so clever and life-loving, however.

Quetzal:

497. If nature dies, then life also dies, especially since the trees, after plankton, are the other main suppliers of oxygen.

Billy:

That is right, and if the trees are gone, then life starts to die in general because the oxygen becomes more and more scarce.

Quetzal:

498. That is of correctness.

499. The electromagnetic radiation must be curbed immediately and the diesel and lead gasoline engines should be banned as soon as possible because they are really large culprits in the health of nature and humans.

127. There were four different Atlantises, so the New Atlantis beyond the Pillars of Hercules, between the Azores and Spain.

128. Then there was the Small Atlantis that existed in the Mediterranean Sea in the area of Santorini, and then Old Atlantis is to be mentioned, on which later, after its downfall, Troy was built, while Great Atlantis had its existence in the Atlantic.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_496

Billy:

I still have a question about Troy, because there is still a lot of confusion. Your daughter Semjase once said that the Troy story with the beautiful Helen of Homer was a fiction. She said that Homer actually lived and wrote the 'Iliad', but that he told a lot of fibs, because the beautiful Helen did not exist, nor did a Greek army defeat Troy, which is not supposed to have been called that either. The 'Trojan Horse', Semjase also said, was a fib from Homer.

Ptaah:

54. What my daughter told you is true. First of all, the city that Homer made known as Troy, which is why we also call it Troy, has a completely different name, and in fact the city was actually called 'Milusha'.

55. The Greek army that defeated the city and finally bloodily conquered it was in reality an army of the Hittite Empire.

56. So it was the Hittites who truly defeated and conquered the city, staging a merciless slaughter of human beings.

57. But the city of Milusha was not conquered by the Hittites by building a 'Trojan Horse', which Homer had fantasized about, and which was supposed to have been pulled into their city by the inhabitants of the city.

58. In truth, after a long siege, the Hittites entered the city through an underground system of canals and through the very large city gate, raped women, men and children and then mercilessly slaughtered these and many other inhabitants.

59. The whole thing was about a brutal act of war, in which no 'beautiful Helen' played any role whatsoever, not even any Hellenic army.

Billy:

Aha, so that was it, and Homer was an imaginative storyteller.

Ptaah:

60. Orally transmitted stories of earlier events he mixed with fantastical embellishments that had nothing to do with reality and truth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_533

Billy:

... Regarding the city of 'Milusha' respectively Troy, a passive member asks the question whether this name might be a spelling mistake and therefore the real name is 'Wilusa'? In some old treaty there is supposed to be talk of a King Alaksandru of Wilusa, whereby 'Wilusa' is to be equated with Troy.

Ptaah:

26. ... the name 'Milusha' was correct and was in use long before the Hittites defeated and conquered the city, committing monstrous crimes against the inhabitants, also against women and children, who were then slaughtered downright.

27. The name 'Milusha' already existed in pre-Hittite times, namely in the 4th millennium BC respectively before Jmmanuel, when the then small town on the hill Hissarlik on the western Mediterranean coast of today's Turkey was founded.

28. In the 13th century BC respectively before Jmmanuel, the town was generously expanded into a city, which also marked a new date of foundation.

29. Then the city belonged to the Hittite Empire 'Wilusa', which was ruled by King Alaksandru under the Hittite rule.

Tunguska event 1908

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tunguska_event

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Asket%27s_Explanations_%E2%80%93_Part_1

Asket {3rd February 1953}:

70. Less than 1130 Earth years ago, three races capable of space travel, from far galaxies of this universe, dispatched their expedition ships, and advanced to the Earth.

71. They explored this world with small scout craft, and also made contact with priestly Earth-humans, secretly and unrecognised, in order not to spread terror and angst.

72. They heard and learned from the Earth-humans the insanity of their ideologies and religions and suddenly they believed themselves to be disadvantaged and falsely led in their own philosophy of Creation and in their own evolution of consciousness and spirit.

73. As a life form still very spiritually underdeveloped and underdeveloped in consciousness, the Earth-humans were able to throw these foreign life forms into doubt, and to sow discord among them.

74. Yet, was that any wonder then, if it is considered that very highly developed life forms from foreign galaxies visit the Earth, and here suddenly are instructed that they, as a race which has developed very far, are to have been disadvantaged by Creation, because, allegedly, Creation personally made itself known to a still very underdeveloped race, and they themselves, as a much higher life form, were passed over.

75. Where was the blame to be found here, that Creation created its only begotten son, and transferred him to Earth to a poor, underdeveloped people, and did not create this only begotten son for the much higher developed life forms?

76. Thus this insane information was spread on three distant worlds, and announced to the races, which had, for thousands of years, lived in peace, love and in complete harmony among themselves, and with all forms of life.

77. The insanity of the terrestrial religions was taken up by scientists, and further expeditions were sent to Earth in order to work for years to investigate all required religious facts.

78. After the return of these expeditions, it was concluded, after exact clarifications, that all peoples would be instructed according to the the terrestrial Christian religion, and indeed, in all matters.

79. This was a fatal error, because, within only eleven years, this peaceful humankind from a distant planet, having previously lived only by the creational laws, changed itself into the faith-based, Christian image of the Earth human.

80. At first, fights and discord originated only in the narrowest circles, then, however, everything expanded very quickly, and it came to public unrest.

81. Already the life forms soon murdered each other, until everything degenerated into a malicious worldwide war.

82. Finally encroachments into the two other worlds resulted, one of which was then destroyed.

83. Different space-faring races became attentive to that, and finally intervened, and forcefully terminated the deadly discord, which had already slowly carried itself into the entire solar system.

84. The terrestrial religions, brought there through the expeditions, and the destruction-releasing Christianity, were strictly forbidden to any life forms.

85. All existing religious material was destroyed and the old way of life again became the highest law.

86. Any advance, and any further visit to the Earth was forbidden, and a decree was even issued that, if, unexpectedly, a ship should stray onto Earth, and no further possibilities of progress could be found, the entire crew, together with their ship, must totally eliminate itself.

87. This actually also then soon happened according to the decree of this regulation, when a huge space ship, still in the terrestrial area, was not able to free itself anymore from Earth, where it had lain hidden for several months with severe technical damage, in the country which you call Russia.

88. The ship was able to lift itself up only a few hundred meters and then sank down again.

89. In accordance with the regulation that no spaceships, and so forth, were allowed to approach the earth anymore, all outside assistance was also impossible.

90. Other races from outer space, stationed on the earth, were, on the other hand, forbidden to bring the damaged ship assistance because, among the crew, a terrestrial epidemic had broken out which was very dangerous for this life form.

91. In the knowledge that they could anticipate no more help at all, they designed an enormous bomb from the foundation-stones of life, that you call atoms, forced the ship as far as possible up into the sky, and then let it simply fall.

92. Like an enormous comet it fell towards the earth, and before it could strike the earth, at a few hundred meters height, the atomic bomb was ignited.

93. An enormous explosion tore up the ship and the crew, turned everything to dust and destroyed the landscape.

94. From everything only a giant crater remained, which is erroneously called a meteor crater by your scientists.

95. More than 4,300 life forms of extraterrestrial origin were destroyed during this gigantic destruction, which only leads back to the terrestrial Christian cult, because the actual reason for this destruction was the insanity of this terrestrial religion.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_365

Billy:

My wish is that you explain what kind of spaceship the aircraft was, because it was something unusual.

Ptaah:

5. I guess you could say that. ...

Billy:

... It's interesting that finally people are coming and talking about different things than they have been talking about so far by some scientists who claimed that the Tunguska catastrophe was caused by gas escaping from the earth and exploding etc.

Ptaah:

12. It is true, as you know, that the event was caused by a spacecraft of alien intelligences, exactly according to Asket's description as you read it to me with the 86th to 95th sentence of Asket's explanations.

13. The crew of the large space flying apparatuses, which was destroyed over the Tunguska region in 1908 on 30th June, came from the Setkatis Galaxy, a large spiral galaxy about 17 million light-years away, also known to Earth's astronomers, under the designation M 101.

14. The home of the astronauts was a planet of little more than earth size and is called Ketulas. It is a satellite of the solar system Bliira, which includes two suns and 18 planets, but only three of them carry human life.

15. The galaxy can be observed from the Earth from above, so to speak, but the Bliira solar system remains invisible from the Earth because it is beyond observation.

16. The crew members of the space flying apparatuses belonged to the Gilas people, which is why we call them Gilaser.

17. The Gilaser people were already very advanced in space technology at that time and were also able to build huge spacecraft using small planetoids.

18. In these they created large cavities, in which they placed equipment for propulsion, for powerful weapons, for external protective shields and electron collectors, as well as energy storage, living quarters, work spaces, food production facilities and life-support systems etc., in other words everything that was necessary.

19. From the outside it was not recognizable that it was a spacecraft, because on the outside the object remained what it basically was, namely a small planetoid.

20. Its enormous weight could be calculated with about 179,854 tons, so what you read in the T-Online article is not close to the truth.

21. It is very likely that the enormous explosion threw fragments of the outer thick planetoid hull and metal parts of the interior of the planetoid spaceship to earth.

22. And what else is to be said about the huge crater:

23. It covered about 3,500 square kilometres.

24. The massive explosion originated at an altitude of 1,290 metres.

25. It is not a deep crater or hole crater, as it is created by a direct impact of a large projectile on the earth, because the explosion at high altitude created a so-called horizontal crater.

26. In a horizontal crater, the force of the explosion from above or the pressure wave depresses all the earth, as well as plants, animals and at least the weak trees.

27. The force of the pressure wave only forms a small bulge at the outermost edge of the crater, which can be thrown up from a few centimetres to twenty or thirty metres or more, depending on the energy of the pressure wave.

28. However, such horizontal craters are only formed by large pressure waves from above and are usually not or only poorly visible, because the distance from the centre of the crater to its rim is usually so far that the actual crater rim is difficult to find.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_428

Ptaah:

11. The great space ship which at that time suffered a breakdown and was destroyed, out of which the so-called Tunguska event resulted, belonged to a people who live in a distant galaxy in your space-time configuration.

12. The Christianity, however – which was brought to their home worlds by some of their space travellers and which rapidly spread out – led to grave religious wars.

13. Once order could then finally be recreated, the space travellers were forbidden to make any further penetrations into the terrestrial space.

14. Around 1,000 years after this decree, as a result of faulty co-ordinates, a large spaceship of these people got lost in the SOL system and stranded on the Earth due to a severe accident that was still occurring, from which it was no longer able to move away.

15. So, for several months, the space ship lay with grave technical damage hidden in the Tunguska region, whereby a larger number of space travellers mixed, unrecognised, among the Earth-humans, far from the hiding place, and sexually engaged with them, which resulted in many of them becoming sick with syphilis and, with the return to their space ship, also infecting many others with it.

16. That had very bad consequences for the space travellers because very quickly, as a result of their constitutional difference, dangerous mutations of the disease arose which, just as quickly, expanded to a plague-like disease and epidemic which cost many their lives.

17. They could not expect help from the home world because, according to the old determination, it was forbidden for them to approach the Earth.

18. Apart from that, other extraterrestrials who were stationed on the Earth – namely us and our confederates – were forbidden by the government of the home world to provide any help, consequently, we had to abide by our directives.

19. Therefore, only self-destruction remained for the foreigners to Earth as their determination demanded it, consequently they built an atom bomb, brought the space ship to a still feasible height in the atmosphere and then caused it to fall in order to then ignite the bomb.

20. Through the enormous explosion the great space ship was completely ripped apart and torn to pieces, whereby the monstrous explosion transformed practically the whole ship, and the entire crew of still 4,387 human beings, into dust and ash.

21. Everything was observed and recorded from our side, therefore we of course continuously relayed our information to the stranded space travellers' home world, however we did not receive permission to intervene in the events.

22. Therefore, we had to let things run their course, however, we relied on the fact that we could teach the government and the people of the space travellers in relation to the fact that for them, as long as they would no longer get involved in them, there was no danger any more by the religions of the human beings of Earth.

23. Our intentions succeeded in the course of time, which then also had the result that all three peoples, i.e. races – namely there were three of them – joined our federation.

24. They come from a region of a large cluster of galaxies which is around 400 million light-years away from the Earth.

25. The three peoples, respectively, races, have three different home worlds, yet they are closely connected with each other and call themselves the People's Oneness of Bardan, as they also call their home worlds Bardan 1, 2, and 3 and have a common government.

26. The Bardan belong to those five peoples foreign to Earth who I named to you and who have joined our federation.

Billy:

And do these human beings come again to the Earth in the current time? And the galaxy cluster mentioned by you, is that also known to our astronomers?

Ptaah:

27. Yes, and indeed already since the time around 80 years ago, when they allowed themselves to be taught by us and joined our federation.

28. But since then they have never taken up contact with Earth-humans.

29. And with regard to the galaxy cluster:

30. This is known to the terrestrial astronomers and is named Coma cluster of galaxies by them.

Billy:

And they look like us or different?

Ptaah:

31. They are human beings like us, if that is what you mean.

32. They have somewhat Mongolian features and a somewhat coarse as well as light brownish-yellowish skin.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_476

Contact Report 428 Supplement – Private Conversation

Billy:

Well, dear friend, today you gave me different data; you seem to be messing with something, or then I misheard or misunderstood something.

Ptaah:

1. You have not misunderstood anything, just as I have not confused anything either.

2. But it is still my mistake, because I did not mention that all three peoples of Gilas emigrated from their original home planet Ketulus in the system Bliira, 17 million light-years away from Earth, and settled 400 million light-years away in the spiral galaxy in the Coma cluster of galaxies M 101.

3. Their three new home planets they call Bardan and consequently themselves now also Bardan.

Billy:

Aha, and why did they emigrate?

Ptaah:

4. A worldwide epidemic killed more than 4/5 of all Gilas within three decades, so the healthy survivors fled and sought new homeworlds, which they found with our help.

5. In order to end the plague, which also affected all other life-forms and was completely eradicated by them, the only possibility left was to burn up the entire planet surface.

6. Unfortunately, no cure or containment agent could be found or produced against the epidemic.

7. And before you ask sooner or later what happened in the Tunguska region, I want to explain to you that the destruction of the planetoid spaceship also caused very severe Earth tremors, which caused the Earth to split open and released enormous gas masses, which led to further violent explosions, causing great destruction and also creating a new lake.

8. So there was also an earth-bound endogenous cause to the whole thing.

9. But this was not the real origin, but only another multiple effect of the destruction of the space-flying apparatus.

10. However, we always spoke only about the exploded space-flying apparatus, not about the further consequences.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_542

Billy:

... But now I have a question again, which relates to an apparent contradiction, because in the matter of the Tunguska catastrophe, those private conversations between you and I are not included in the official contact reports. When we talked about it on various occasions, you also explained that the three great planetary peoples, including the space travelers who exploded their spaceship over the Tunguska area, had left their old home and found three new planets far away. These were uninhabited worlds, but they were suitable for them and they could use them as new home worlds for themselves. However, you have kept quiet about the details of how the whole thing works, which is why it is now necessary to go into them in more detail, because somebody has stumbled upon the fact that the 365th contact report in volume 9 contains different information than the 428th contact report in volume 10. At the 476th contact report you then gave a further explanation. For me the matter is actually clear, but not yet for a reader, probably also because she has not yet read the 476th report. Here I have copied out four parts of the report, also one from Asket: ...

Ptaah:

58. The whole thing may indeed appear to be a contradiction, and obviously it would have been necessary that we should have had our private conversations in this regard as official conversations and made them public.

59. But what I have already explained in relation to this matter should actually make it clear what the facts are.

60. But perhaps it was also unfortunate and confusing of me that I split one and the same factor into two parts and spoke of two different names of peoples, planets and galaxies.

61. If this has created an apparent contradiction, then this is regrettable on the one hand, but on the other hand it was unintentional.

62. So now there is probably a need for me to state the relevant facts openly and in more detail in order to clarify everything:

63. As a further and final explanation, I do not want to go into all the details, but only so far as to make everything a little clearer:

64. After the heavy faith struggles, which were caused by the introduction of Christianity from Earth to the world population of the Gilaser on the planet Ketulas in the system Bliira in the galaxy Setkatis, also a planet was destroyed in such a way that life was no longer possible on it, after which a decree was issued that the Earth in the SOL system was no longer allowed to be approached.

65. Christian delusion was strictly forbidden, but this did not stop fanatics from secretly continuing their Christian faith underground, which then came to the surface again 694 years later and spread again, on both planets that were still habitable.

66. This led to the emergence of various religious groups, respectively sects, and from these, new religious struggles that spread to both worlds and wreaked enormous destruction, making the living conditions for the populations of the planets increasingly precarious over the decades.

67. What now needs to be further officially explained is this:

68. Again:

69. After the catastrophe of the first religious war about 1,000 years ago, the Christian delusion continued to modernize in a secret underground way, and consequently, after 694 years, further religious fights arose, which could no longer be contained for about 300 years and, moreover, spread to both inhabited planets and claimed millions of victims.

70. These battles also caused severe destruction of nature and the atmosphere, and all but a few remnants of animal and plant life were also exterminated.

71. Then it happened that an epidemic broke out on one of the planets, which spread to a worldwide pandemic, spread to the whole world and finally also to the other planet.

72. According to the terrestrial calendar, it raged for around three decades, with 4/5 of all Gilaser, respectively Gilaner, as they called themselves, falling victim to the epidemic on both planets.

73. And consequently, when everything had progressed so far that both worlds would soon no longer be habitable, large space flying apparatus respectively large spaceships were built and sent out to various regions of the universe to search for and explore new habitable worlds.

74. One of these space flying apparatus was built from a meteor, and so it happened that about 1,000 years later a large Gilaser space flying apparatus came to Earth again, the one that had been built from a meteor.

75. However, this was brought to Earth due to an error caused by an unfortunate technical error of a coordinate device, and in the end, however, an attempt to repair another damage also resulted in a serious accident.

76. And since they were forbidden to receive help from others to return home, and since we Plejaren and our Federation were also not allowed to offer any help according to their home worlds, and since they also had the order to destroy their large flying apparatus if it was no longer possible to return under their own steam, and since sectarian Christianity was once again taken over by the crew because it was infiltrated by Christian secret allies who had been able to operate secretly in the space apparatus for a long time, those who remained unimpressed by sectarianism followed this order.

77. And that they followed the order to destroy the planet was not least because they were informed that the wars of religion had been finally ended and that there was a danger that those who had once again come to Earth would once again bring disaster back.

78. This was in the form of the Christian delusion of faith which was again widespread among the crew of the space flying apparatus.

79. So it was feared on the home worlds that Christian sectarianism could be brought back again.

80. The history of the situation and the Tunguska explosion is well known to you, but is that the Gilaser respectively Gilaner came to Earth in 1907 with their large space flying apparatus, converted it into a huge atomic bomb and then exploded it on the 30th of June 1908 high above the Tunguska region, killing 4,387 human beings.

81. At the time they left, their home was still the planet Ketulas in the Bliira system in the Setkatis galaxy, which I also explained at the 365th official contact conversation.

82. However, during the time when the Gilaser were on Earth with their large space flying apparatus, the crews of another large research space flying apparatus and with our help - calculated from the Earth - in the so-called Coma Galaxy Clusters found a new system with three (3) uninhabited but habitable planets named Bardan 1, Bardan 2, and Bardan 3.

83. The two homeworlds in the system Bliira had become so inhospitable and almost uninhabitable as the third planet, which was destroyed to the point of uninhabitability, that the remaining populations of the two only poorly inhabitable planets had to be evacuated and brought to the Bardan planets with powerful emigration space flying apparatus respectively.

84. After that everything was arranged within a few years to carry out the whole thing.

85. The total migration to the three Bardan planets then took 11 years according to earthly time calculation.

86. Since then the peoples of all three Bardan-planets call themselves Bardans.

87. Accordingly, at the 428th official contact conversation I named Bardan 1, 2 and 3 as the home worlds of the old Gilaser respectively Gilaner as Bardan and their peoples as Bardans, to which I also counted those who were stranded on Earth.

88. This is precisely because I also connected those who had lost their way on Earth with the new name of the new worlds, which obviously led to confusion, which was not my intention and is to be described as confusing and a mistake.

89. But since the Gilaser with their large spaceship in 1907 still came from the system Bliira, I also named their home planet Ketulas, the home system Setkatis, the people Gilaner respectively Gilaser and according to their origin also the human beings of the large space flying apparatus in this way.

90. Then I named the new home Bardan in the Coma cluster of galaxies, because those who were stranded on Earth belonged to the same people.

91. Obviously I should not have done that, even though those who strayed to Earth actually belonged to the Bardan people, who, according to earthly time, had finished their emigration to Bardan in 1926.

92. However, in a private conversation with you, I obviously did not mention the whole thing extensively enough.

Billy:

The whole thing is actually a little confusing at first sight, at least for the first impression, but after your explanation everything seems understandable to me when I look at it logically. I can remember that you mentioned some things once. But one more question regarding the abandoned and now hostile planets in the Bliira system of the Setkatis galaxy: Can they once again bear life? Then regarding mistakes: I would like to say that no human being is free from making mistakes, and on the other hand this also proves that you Plejaren are only human beings and not superhumans or the like, and therefore not perfect. And he who believes himself to be free from error, cast the first stone - so it has been said since ancient times.

Ptaah:

93. What you say hits the nail on the head - as you sometimes like to say.

94. But regarding the two planets in the Bliira system:

95. Both of them, as well as the third, which was destroyed to the point of hostility to life, were eliminated by the Gilas six years after the end of emigration, because they had also become a danger for the Bliira system and would have affected its order, because they were maliciously pushed out of their orbits during the war.

Billy:

... But another question: The events of Tunguska were actually caused by the Gilans respectively Gilaser or just by the Bardans, namely by a large spaceship which they made from a meteor which they took advantage of. So far those earthlings are right who attribute the gigantic explosion to a meteor, but it is also assumed that it could have been an asteroid. However, they do not want to admit that it was a meteor converted into a spaceship, and that the explosion was an atomic bomb. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_583

Billy:

... Now there are new things concerning the Tunguska matter, like the following, which Achim Wolf from Germany has sent me:

In Semjaseblock 27, Billy talked to Ptaah about the so-called 'Tunguska catastrophe' or the nuclear explosion of the spaceship in 1908. Some reports and speculations on the internet come surprisingly close to the truth. There was demonstrable radioactive radiation at that time; eyewitnesses even reported the shape of an object. Maybe the information is interesting for Billy.

Example 1 (source = <http://www.science-explorer.de/tunguska.htm>): "The Baskir engineer and geophysicist A. V. Solotov examined splinters of trees that had survived the catastrophe by cutting them into annual rings, then burning them and analysing the ashes. He found a general increase in radioactivity for the year 1908 by finding the radioactive isotope caesium 137 in the wood. Thermal damage to the trees, complex biological effects such as accelerated growth and somatic mutations, changes in the palaeomagnetic properties of the soil, thermoluminescence of the rock, increased uranium content in Trapp samples (igneous rock) and anomalies on a global scale were detected; they are declared as consequences of the disaster. In the disaster area, the growth of pine trees with three-needle tufts, probably a mutation as a result of the disaster, was concentrated. The flight of the alleged Tunguska object was observed over a large territory, even in places 500 km from the epicentre. Over 800 eyewitnesses have been found over the years who saw the object and in some cases heard its sound. The Tunguska body was described flying from south to north.

However, no agreement was found between the observations in the south and west and those in the east, because then the Tunguska body would have had to move on two different trajectories at different speeds. According to this, a constellation could result, according to which either: a) the statements are not correct, b) it is two different flying objects, c) or the body in question changed its flight path and speed. In the latter case it would have had to move on a non-ballistic trajectory with changing azimuths and heights, which is impossible for a natural body. ...

Kanzantsev went a step further in his hypothesis of a nuclear explosion and said that an interplanetary spacecraft visiting Earth and using nuclear energy as its propulsion, for some reason, crashed over the taiga, exactly where Kulik's ex-peditions had so unsuccessfully searched for the remains of the meteorite.

Example 2 (source = <http://www.sax.de/~stalker/pad/200005/>):

"What happened in the summer of 1908 in Siberia? What event still puzzles the experts after more than 90 years?

According to many eyewitness reports, on this last day in June, a brightly glowing object descended from the sky for about 10 minutes. It glowed in a bluish-white light and was usually described as tubular. As the body descended, a cloud of black smoke formed and a roar resembling cannon fire sounded. A column of light at least 20 km high was also seen. The heat that caused the explosion was so intense even at a distance of 65 km that a farmer tore off his shirt because he thought it was on fire. The shock was so strong that seismographs around the globe recorded unusual deflections. The explosion could still be heard 700 km away."

Ptaah:

6. The article is interesting, but it will probably be of no use to the know-it-alls and doubters, who will continue to cling to their confused ideas and conceptions.

TWA Flight 800

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/TWA_Flight_800

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_257

Billy:

... But now the next question: On the 17th of July 1996, a jumbo jet, a Boeing 747, exploded shortly after take-off in New York or something like that and crashed into the sea, causing about 230 deaths. Do you know anything about it?

Ptaah:

57. Certainly, because such incidents are recorded by our surveillance aircraft.

58. Florena also informed me about this unfortunate incident.

59. But why do you ask?

Billy:

Simply because I am interested in why the plane exploded. The Americans made several statements, but we don't know if one of them is correct.

Ptaah:

60. I can give you information about that:

61. Of course the Americans want to hide the truth and avoid it by some flimsy explanations, because it is their own fault that the misfortune happened.

62. The truth is that the US Navy fired a defensive missile at the plane and was hit by it and caused to explode.

63. Whether this happened intentionally or unintentionally could not be clarified by us yet, but it seems to us after the past investigations that both possibilities must be considered.

Billy:

Why's that?

Ptaah:

64. It's actually still too early to talk about this.

Billy:

But what reason could there have been to sacrifice so many people?

Ptaah:

65. An espionage-active person who, to our knowledge, was aboard the plane and carried important knowledge, but who had escaped the American secret service.

66. There is no doubt that this person was on board, but it is still unclear whether it was intentionally shot down as a result.

67. It is possible, however, that so many people were sacrificed because of a single spy.

68. But our investigations will show whether this is really true.

Billy:

That would really be awesome, if that were true. But in political, military and secret service contexts, much worse crimes have already been committed in which thousands or even tens of thousands of people have lost their lives. Just think of the radioactive contamination tests carried out by the Americans and the British, etc., which have killed thousands and thousands of people, which of course has been concealed. And just because of the concealment I have written an article here, if you want to read it briefly ... Ah yes, but first again a question concerning the suspected spy in the crashed plane, whose data was called TWA 800 to my knowledge and which more precisely has crashed in Moriches Bay off the coast of Long Island, where UFO activities have been recorded for quite some time, as I take from my note here. I would now be interested to know in what context the espionage activity was supposed to have been – military or economic?

Ptaah:

69. Our findings so far have shown that the person in question had secret information of a military nature, in relation to various incidents involving unidentified missiles in the Moriches Bay area, etc., and in relation to the so-called Brookhaven SDI experiments.

70. Whether the plane was deliberately shot down because of this spy, in order to silence him in this way, is only one possibility, because another is that everything was an accident, although it is undoubtedly certain that the US Navy launched the missile.

71. But there is also another possibility, which we must also consider, namely the fact that on the locating devices of the US Navy the airplane was probably registered, but was regarded as a so-called UFO, whereupon a firing order took place.

72. And we have to consider this possibility rather than the one with the spying person.

73. But I can't tell you anything more about it yet, but I have to wait and see what the research of Florena's group, which handles everything in this respect, will show.

Billy:

All sorts of things. If you know the facts, can you find out what the research has revealed?

Ptaah:

74. Of course, because no secret should be made of it, since it is an incident that has a criminal background, if our previous investigations should prove to be completely true.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_258

Billy:

... So I would like to ask you about your research regarding the drama in the USA, where a passenger plane exploded and crashed in Moriches Bay. You promised me that you would tell me what happened there as soon as you clarified everything. That is probably why you are here now, isn't it?

Ptaah:

5. That is right.

6. Well, our guess was correct regarding the circumstances of the crash of the TWA 800 plane on the 17th of July 1996 in the Moriches Bay area.

7. The cause of the disaster was a rocket-missile from the U.S. Navy that erroneously positioned the aircraft on its equipment as an unknown, foreign missile and thus identified as a UFO whereupon the command went out to launch this missile without excuse because through the haste and great carelessness the airplane was classified as an unknown flying object and in certain respects the national security of the USA had supposedly been threatened.

8. This fact is now of course concealed by all means available to the government, the secret services and the Navy.

Billy:

This is really awesome. But tell me, do you not violate your directives with this declaration, because you know that I like to put such matters officially on paper as contact reports.

Ptaah:

9. We also thought about this and therefore asked the High Council whether the declaration could be official or not.

10. The view of the High Council was that the event was such an inhuman crime that it should be officially announced.

11. Under the guise of national security, the High Council declared, the US military and the US intelligence services and their government committed such disgraceful crimes in secret missions that the worldwide public should be made aware of them in order to denounce all the disgraceful machinations and bring them to a standstill over time.

12. However, we must not do this ourselves and not officially, but we may give only by you the necessary information, whereby it is then left to you and other persons to spread these in useful form.

Billy:

But these crimes also fall under secrecy in America.

Ptaah:

13. That is correct, but by the promise of the High Council we may give you the information in this particular case for official use.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_265

Florena:

41. I can only explain that we have clear records that clearly prove that the plane was hit by a missile that was supposed to shoot down the TWA 800 for defence reasons, because a misinterpretation led to the assumption that the plane was an unknown and hostile object.

42. The missile, however, did not explode due to a malfunction of its detonator, but merely tore a hole in the aircraft and continued to shoot, only to fall somewhere into the sea.

43. Due to circumstances unknown to us, a sparking mechanism must have been created when the projectile hit, which caused the aviation fuel to explode.

44. It may be natural for someone to have brought a bomb aboard the TWA, but it certainly did not explode – if there was a bomb aboard at all.

45. Our records did not mislead us, nor did our investigations, to the effect that the missile projectile was the cause of the aircraft being damaged and then caused to explode by a sparking mechanism.

46. If the story about the man applies as it is set out in the written, then at least not in the sense that his bomb, if there actually was one, exploded.

47. If such a bomb actually existed, then it must either have been found by the salvage crews or thrown out somewhere into the sea where it was not found.

Ufology & Spiritual Science Groups & Organizations

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Asket%27s_Explanations_%E2%80%93_Part_1

Asket {3rd February 1953}:

229. UFOLOGY, already mentioned, which actually is supposed to serve in the spreading of truth, will likewise be pressed in the direction of sectarianism and will gain worldwide significance in this regard.

230. Like the religions themselves, ufology will become a religious means of power for the malicious extraterrestrial intelligences and, however, also a field of activity of deceitful and delusionally sick, alleged contact persons.

231. And in the year 1975 it will first be so far along, that the study community, DUIST {Deutsche UFO-Studiengemeinschaft} - which will be widely known up to that time, and which concerns itself with matters regarding extraterrestrial space vehicles and with extraterrestrial life-forms, and for the first time in October 1956 will produce a newspaper {UFO Nachrichten} - can be given the first pointer to their unreal direction.

232. Through this study-community, on the European continent in the country you call Germany, various persons will be known up to that time who allegedly have contacts with extraterrestrial life-forms.

235. And as I have already said, the first copy of the newspaper-like text will be distributed to those interested in October of the year 1956, and in the course of the next decades will influence many humans of the Earth (UFO-News).

236. We would like to prevent the issuance of this text, but that is not within the frame of what is possible for us, because through the distribution of this text, a very important task for a later time will be fulfilled.

237. So, unfortunately, we must allow that this monthly newspaper will also be constructed on a basis which is quite especially religious.

238. In and of itself, the publication of this text is very good, but does not convey the truth in this respect, because it operates on an especially religious basis and, on the other hand, also allows itself to be led astray by charlatans and frauds.

239. Thereby through the distribution of the text, unfortunately, not only will good services be rendered over the decades, but also bad ones.

242. The directors of this coming text are unfortunately aligned with an especially strong sectarian form, and so it will be a very hard battle to convince and to instruct them about the effective truth, whereby a result in this regard is, however, not certain.

Asket {4th February 1953}:

30. It will also be to your advantage that by then, despite the negative religious fact, the study community I have mentioned in Germany {Deutsche UFO-Studiengemeinschaft} will have done very good and very important work, which may not be of benefit to you, but to your task, so that your seed will soon bear abundant fruit.

31. Some smaller and larger groups will already have formed all over the Earth by that time and will carry out their corresponding work in order to create enlightenment and to have the most urgent effect, even if, in the process, much falsehood and deceit as well as slander will be spread about you and your mission and proofs as well as about us.

32. Do not, however, mentally look for great help from these groups and from such organisations, etc., for as they are all half-blinded to the real truth by the scheming machinations of the evil-minded extraterrestrial group, they will give you only limited help, if any.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Asket%27s_Explanations_%E2%80%93_Part_3
Asket {7th February 1953}:

63. In this time {circa 1975} you will also come into contact once again with the biggest European UFO study community, which should make an effort to spread information about our doings.

64. From that point, you will be invited to a congress, but this will be a very great knock-out for you.

65. The organisers will not want to come to terms with the truth, because they are very strongly biased through religious sectarianism.

66. They do not want you to spread the actual truth so they will suddenly obstruct your path so you cannot appear at the congress.

67. It will be such that they do not want to acknowledge you as a new prophet because, in their aberration through religion, they are not able to recognise the truth.

...

70. But the fight for the truth will be very hard because you will have to fight against the lack of understanding and lack of reason of sectarian ufological groups, and so forth, who are strongly anchored in the religious and in pseudo-sciences.

71. In regard to that, take note especially of the coming worldwide organisation for ufological work, MUFON, because – along with various pathological know-it-alls and slanderers of truth – it will be your greatest adversary.

75. At the beginning of the second half of the year 1975 the German ufological study community, DUIST {Deutsche UFO-Studiengemeinschaft}, will lead the first strike against you.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Asket%27s_Explanations_%E2%80%93_Part_6

Jmmanuel:

117. But your worst enemies will be the enviers and know-it-alls as well as the extremists and the cultic circles, who will have lost every sense of reality through their false teachings.

...

121. Be therefore watchful and protect yourself from them because the worst are always those who are misled by hate, by being know-it-alls, by jealousy and fanaticism, as well as those who are misled by some sort of cults.

122. Their thinking and behaviour is at all times directed towards the demand for blood, because their minds are always distinguished by vengeance.

123. But also protect yourself from the critics and false realists because they also conceal great dangers within themselves.

124. They believe that they stand above all things but indeed they live only in their own stupid and uncomprehending world of thought.

125. Outwardly they speak very learnedly and want to shine greatly, but inside of themselves they are wretched, ignorant and full of evil rubbish.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_007

Semjase:

171. You belong to a group of human beings who concern themselves with parascience and spiritual science.

172. I have often endeavoured around the interests of this group and have found that it's the only one in this form.

173. You work on a very real basis and unconstrained.

174. I have determined that other groups of the same kind unfortunately deal with things that have fallen to the unreal.

175. They often carry out experiments that they themselves can't understand and for which they usually search for false explanations.

176. But this is not all that surprising, because in these groups practically only human beings are admitted who have fallen prey to a deluded belief and the irrational teachings of the religions.

177. I congratulate your group which is so unconstrained and real in its approach to every subject; not in mystical form as others do.

178. You are on the right track – and keep it that way.

Task part (3)Semjase:

1. As the third part of the task, I would like to ask you to pass the following on to relevant authorities but bearing in mind that for the time being these cognisances are with their full implications not intended for the broad spectrum of the public.

2. You know the path to take; it leads via Mr. Karl Veit, whom you had supplied with your contact reports.

3. He is and remains the determinative person who shall purposively spread and transmit the news.

4. However, in the last few days I had to realise that Mr. Veit was very shaken after receiving the reports and was befallen by doubts.

5. Unfortunately, he is also bound by things that are religious.

6. This is due to the fault of certain alleged contact persons, who were able to influence him cheatingly.

7. Even his closest relatives and countless friends have thereby been affected.

8. Nevertheless, Mr. Veit will have to triumph over himself and acknowledge the truth.

9. His rationality will have to triumph, for his sense asks for it.

10. It is at your discretion whether you want to tell Mr. Veit my comments in this regard, which would however be appropriate.

11. He is known to us as an honest-thinking and honest-acting human being, and he appreciates honest openness.

12. Therefore, as the most rational one of all in terms of spreading the truth, I have also mentioned his name to you – even though, for reasons known to you, we cannot enter into personal contact with him.

13. But you should stand between him and us as intermediary in the sense that you convey our messages to him and he takes their appropriate spreading to hand, because they are very important and of great significance.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_015

Semjase:

79. There are probably still very many groups that deal with similar things as you {Billy} do, but the majority of these groups represent dishonest factors, which are detrimental to the real truth.

80. In many cases they indulge in unbelievably illogical fantasies, which are devoid of all truth and reality.

81. They live in false belief-assumptions and false eternally unprovable lasting illusions, which are alien to all reality and truth.

82. Among them or in them though are also many conscious and unconscious deceivers.

83. You should beware of all of them, for they could be very dangerous to you.

84. Their influence in certain authoritative circles is often very great, which would be good for themselves, but not for you.

88. There are already certain current and future circles and persons who would like to get possession of the material at your disposal and who do not disregard even evil intrigues, lies and calumnies for this purpose.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_031

Ptaah:

379. Unfortunately, however, it is precisely the truth that is often twisted by religious sectarians and fantasists and evaluated in their own favour.

380. That is why there are also various groups that are supposedly concerned with the enlightenment of things with us and our ships, but who in reality only use this as a pretext to consolidate and spread their religious sectarianism in order to thereby beat the world even worse into religious bondage.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_033

Semjase:

77. For about two decades these events, which so far remain inexplicable for the terrestrial human beings, were additionally exploited in other forms by certain religiously dependent and unclearly working groups of Ufologists, who attributed the events to extraterrestrials.

78. For them, these events were a found meal to feed credulous individuals with untrue and dishonest statements by inventing fantastically dark, satanic extraterrestrial powers, which are supposed to be responsible for the events in the Bermuda Triangle.

79. What could be more obvious in terms of religion than this measure because, like the unreal religions themselves, ufology had to have the form of a Satan in order to keep its believers in check.

80. Since Ufology was built on a religious basis and only functions in this form, it inevitably had to create two powers in this respect, namely good and bad, black and white, divine and satanic.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_044

Semjase:

37. Certainly, but for now you really should not bother about the DUIST anymore.

{Note: Deutsche UFO-Studiengemeinschaft, Wiesbaden, West Germany; Karl L. Veit and Anny Veit, publishers of UFO-Nachrichten, 1956-1995.}

38. Only in much later time will you be given this task again, which cannot yet be described as certain, because we have come across many negative things with the DUIST in the meantime.

39. For the time being, however, you have nothing to do with it, at least not so long as the couple Veit is still leading this community.

40. Soon, however, this will no longer be the case, then perhaps everything will look completely different.

41. It is to be hoped that no more people will take over the leadership of the DUIST, who are so much trapped and enslaved in fanatical, religious concerns, as is the case with the present leadership.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_064

Billy:

11. I do not want to talk about the broad mass of humankind, but about the public sphere of the ufological circles, in which certain idiots want to be omniscient.

Semjase:

...

9. On the other hand, it is understandable to me if you react in this way, because your realisation makes you angry that those who want to be knowing are very ignorant and autocratic in their assumptions and their quite illogical assertions.

10. This is because you see that the way to truth remains very difficult to access for Earth-humans.

11. You have quite rightly recognised that it is the so-called ufological circles and communities themselves that make our existence questionable and cast doubt on it.

12. For it is these circles that are guilty of making our existence laughable in the worldwide public arena and that are today being decried as fantasy and hallucination.

13. This does not mean that all groups work in this manner, but most do.

14. In their lack of understanding and in their ignorance the erroneously lead ones seek fantastic explanations in technological, paranormal and purely intellectual areas, whereby the most impossible hypotheses are presented, and indeed also in the form that we are angels and God's messengers or that we come in evil and world-conquering, as well as with Earth-human abduction, intentions, etc., which of course all corresponds to evil nonsense.

15. In the main, these erroneously lead ones deal with purely sectarian and esoteric-parapsychological deficiencies as well as with the technical possibilities and construction methods of our ships, whereas they completely disregard our important task itself and the associated values and have no idea of it.

16. This is typical for the human being of the Earth, because he/she always reaches only for the material and completely overlooks the fundamental values, namely the spiritual and consciousness-based ones, about which he/she then makes up unbelievable fantasies and even claims that jet ships and spaceships, etc. are driven by spiritual forces and that they are also built according to spiritual models, etc.

17. This is as malicious a misleading claim as the one that we were moving in paranormal realms.

18. The greatest nonsense in this direction is created by those circles, which they call parapsychology circles, etc. which deal with those things and concerns which are incomprehensible to them and which are not understood in the least.

19. And it is precisely these circles that do the most malicious and misleading subversive activities in order to hinder and prevent the finding of the truth, which is only surpassed by those who are supposedly engaged in the purely material form of semi-scientific and fully-scientific investigation of the possible existence of our flying machines and ourselves.

20. But their actions are only a delusion, because in reality they are possessed by illogicalness and are still trapped in very material earthly and misleading forms of thinking, whereby they are unable to gain any knowledge and accuse anything and everything incomprehensible to them as lies and deception, whereby they feel very great and feel a megalomaniac satisfaction in themselves.

21. This sort also includes {Colman Stephen} Von Keviczky you mentioned, whose stupidity and primitiveness you should not get excited about, and who has no spiritual stable value of any kind, nor any knowledge of us, nor do those who still move in hierarchical or religiously and sectarian-recognising realms and claim that we simply do not know about these things.

22. An assertion that only testifies to the 'small-mindedness' of these people who have not yet recognised themselves and do not possess any real concepts of reality and truth.

Billy:

12. You are not saying anything to me that I have not known myself for a long time.

13. For my part, however, I thought that the time was now really ripe to be able to bring the truth to certain circles, which is why we also endeavoured to publish articles in public publications, etc., which was not good, however, because that brought into play those super-ufologists who arrogantly and from their own blessedness call themselves scientific researchers, but who in reality are more ignorant and primitive than complete idiots.

...

Semjase:

48. This results in the fact that the Earth-human today is not yet capable of dedicating himself/herself to our concerns regarding us and our ship's existence in honest, open and real form.

49. These so-called ufologists, who were meant to spread the truth and pave the way for the coming of extraterrestrial intelligences, have degraded themselves to primitive semi-scientific sects and spread their unintelligent and dirty nonsense of self-created theories and lies, thereby distancing the Earth-humans further and further from the truth on a global level instead of leading them towards the truth.

50. This fact shows that the Earth-human does not yet have enough real and truly knowing powers to prepare for the coming of extraterrestrial intelligences by a purposeful elucidation.

51. The realisation from this is that the assumed development, with regard to a real elucidation, was only a deception according to purely outwardly falsified facts, and that it consequently results in a new probability calculation on our part that the terrestrial human will presumably only be far enough along in approx. 200 to 300 or even more years, to attain the knowledge of the existence of extraterrestrial human life-forms, when they begin to travel into space beyond the solar system in manned space flight with highly developed technology, or if extraterrestrial intelligences appear in official form on the Earth.

52. This means that the planned official landing shortly before the year 2000 will be virtually impossible and we will make every effort to ensure that it does not take place.

53. This, in any case, is the first result of the cognitions obtained, for which the Earth-human can pay tribute to those malignant forces who dress in names such as {Hans} Jacob, {Mario} Bertossi, {Michael} Arends, DUIST {Deutsche UFO/IFO-Studiengesellschaft} and VonKeviczky, but also to many others who are unknown to you by name.

54. It is the fault of all of them that the Earth-human must continue to live in consciousness-based and truthful darkness, for it is our decision that you and your group should only be active in truth spreading in honest, searching and knowing groups, thus in lectures, the dissemination of the writings and other educational and teaching work, for only in this way will the ancient determinations be fulfilled, that a centre be built for it and you trigger a worldwide controversy, through which the fact of the Earth visits of extraterrestrial intelligences and especially our existence and task become known.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_106

Quetzal:

10. However, if the film is actually made {this likely refers to the film Contact}, it will change a lot of things that we have already seen lost, because through the wrong actions of the so-called UFO-groups a lot of our concerns have been brought into disproportion.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_182

Quetzal:

447. The course is already set to proceed with intrigues against the truth and, therefore, against you and the mission.

448. In the future, even the authorities will no longer shy away from lies and intrigues, and with purchased false witnesses, they will work against you and the truth and against the group members and your friends, acquaintances, and advocates.

449. These authorities fear the truth and you and all those who are associated with you, just as you are also feared by the wrong UFO groups and UFO organisations, which will also pull together and will newly take to the field with bribed authorities, having fresh power against you and the truth.

450. Ways are already being prepared in order to spread, in the most infamous ways, new lies against you and the mission and, thus, against us, whereby they will not hold back from heavily burdening innocent human beings with false accusations and false testimonies in order to discredit them in such a wise that imprisonments and other harsh and unjustified punitive measures could result for those who are innocent.

(Florena's Note – 1/1/2004: This later happened, for example, in the case of Wendelle C. Stevens.)

451. And these could encounter any one of your group members, as well as you yourself or your friends or acquaintances in every country of the Earth, where they always live, go, and dwell.

452. Since the authoritative powers of the UFO organisations could not align anything against you, the truth, the mission, and us with their recent slanderous actions, they are now trying to take action against you and the truth and against the mission and us through joint intrigues with the authorities, by inventing false allegations and by bringing in perjurers who, with good remuneration, are willing to swear to the wrong UFO organisations and the authorities and other forces of defamation, thus, they conjure up lies as truth and make false accusations, which are directed against you and the truth and against the mission and against us, but they are also directed against all those who represent our mission and the truth and you, so therefore your immediate group members, your friends, acquaintances, and advocates and all those involved with you in any other manner or who insert a word for you.

...

Billy:

Does the US film of Larry Young, perhaps, play a part in this?

Quetzal:

456. That is correct because the film has set in motion all sorts of things and has not caused a particularly mild shock to those who have worked by all means against you and our mission and, therefore, against the truth, and in particular, the MUFON and Jim Lorenzen stand in the foreground as a front of a world-wide combat group against you and the truth and, thus, against us and our common mission.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_866

Ptaah (wiredtapped):

In Hinwil, when the first contacts with my daughter Semjase took place, it was recorded by her, as a result of facts that had taken place, that very serious attempts were made by various sectarians to persuade Billy to persuade us Plejaren to testify and admit that we were God's messengers and should therefore bring certain earthly persons to Erra in order to be able to live in the 'Kingdom of God' itself and with Jesus Christ. The first persons to appear in this way were Anna and Karl Veit, who were connected with the press organ 'UFO News' and who also made personal representations to Billy, as did various other persons. In the course of all the years since contact was established, our permanent records have so far registered 41 incidents of this kind, whereby without exception requests were made to be allowed to contact us or to be taken to our world, as was apparently the case with Anna and Karl Veit for fanatical-religious reasons.

UFOs can generally be classified into the following explanations (see Contact Report 250:59-89):

1. Naturally occurring phenomenon (see e.g. Contact Report 163:103-154)
2. Misidentified common objects (airplanes, helicopters, satellites, weather balloons, etc.)

10. Extraterrestrial spacecraft

Note: Including “telemeter discs”, “real projection” images of actual spacecraft (Contact Report 733:87-89), and “teleprojection” images of actual spacecraft (Contact Report 57:5-76).

a) Plejaren federation: “a covenant that extends far into the cosmos...includes various solar systems and planets in wide space, and the total number of life-forms of human norms invigorating them amounts to 127 billion units” (Contact Report 23:126-127; {“a 'community of independent worlds' or even a 'union of sovereign worlds’” (Contact Report 238:931); “The Federation is very broad and extends to a distance of 6.2 billion (6,200,000,000) light-years, where in connection with our Federation, another member federation exists according to our model. In between, between the two federations, which have a sphere of influence of many millions of light-years, there are isolated systems that also belong to our federations.” (Contact Report 248:188-189); “our great federation, which encompasses a measure of distance of 48,000,000 light-years” (Contact Report 357:56); “our federation, that it is spread out over three dimensions, and that our two dimensions – ours and yours – are included” (Contact Report 424:88); “274 worlds ... spread over 702 light-years” (Contact Report 799)}

b) Others

An excellent summary of the UFO/Extraterrestrial phenomenon is given by Billy Meier in his article “Extraterrestrials” found in Contact Report 257. Ptaah also states it quite succinctly in Contact Report 361:

65. Flying machines of extraterrestrial origin are extremely rare to observe, because the earth is far away from other inhabited worlds, so it does not often receive visits from beings from other worlds.

66. This happens only extremely sporadically and therefore very rarely.

67. So what can usually be observed in unknown flying objects around the world and especially over the entire American continent are not extraterrestrial unknown flying objects but secret earthly flying machines of American and other origin.

{Billy:}

Arriving there, I did not have to wait long for some sort of thing which was still supposed to come there, because, arriving on the dome of the hill, I immediately saw a bright light plunge down from the sky and set down not far from me on the frozen-hard ground.

The bright light went out and I saw a matt silver and disc-shaped object which stood majestically quiet on three landing spheres and appeared to wait for me.

The disc's landing spheres were completely foreign to me, because I had never seen such things with that kind of form before.

After a short telepathic invitation, I approached the ship as if under a gentle compulsion and at once was lifted in through an opening, just as if by ghostly hands, because there was neither a lift nor some sort of other entrance possibility.

...

There was only one single armchair present; also I was not able to see anyone.

The ship was quite obviously unmanned and was remotely steered somehow.

So, without being asked, I sat in the single, but therefore very comfortable, armchair.

...

The bright light which came from everywhere in the interior of the ship suddenly went out, and then suddenly I seemed to be sitting outdoors.

No longer could anything at all of the ship and the entire set-up be perceived, and when, in a reflex motion, I drew my left hand in front of my eyes, I was also no longer able to see it.

The entire ship and I myself had simply quite suddenly become invisible.

However, I also already started to move upwards, at an angle, into the night sky and slowly floated at a low altitude towards the nearby village where I simply remained hanging just two metres over the house which later belonged to my parents, while Asket's "voice" again suddenly sounded in me and gave me a several minute long explanation and indeed in relation to my further path in life and that which was to come in relation to my family and my own family in later years.

After this explanation the still invisible ship, with me, started to move again – this time eastward and, with suddenly raving speed, shooting high into the night sky, without me thereby feeling some kind of discomfort or a pressure.

For me it felt just exactly as if, unexpectedly, I quickly went up in a lift.

But I could only enjoy this glorious picture for very short minutes – short minutes which seemed like seconds to me, as suddenly everything around me began to glow dimly and my vision blurred.

Then the ship and I were suddenly visible again, and I could again discern everything in the bright light of the interior of the ship.

Suddenly the entrance opening opened itself and I saw out into the outside.

Completely unnoticed by me, the object had landed.

Interested, I rose and stepped out, was "floated" gently to the Earth and stood on hard, dry ground.

...

I was still wondering about this sudden knowledge as I noticed something bright that plummeted, like a stone, from the sky.

Luminous and as big as the Moon, I saw it suddenly emerge and plummet down.

At a terrific speed, it became bigger and, all of a sudden, it simply stood still in the air at a height of about 80 to 100 metres, simply without transition and without prior deceleration.

The object appeared to simply remain hanging in the air.

Yet then it sank slowly down to Earth, so slowly, lightly and safely like a feather hanging on an invisible thread, and without any sound.

...

For me, it was actually a spectacle which I will indeed never forget; this luminous and completely soundless object which lit up the entire surroundings as bright as day and floated down, to then quietly remain on its landing place.

...

And I waited a full half hour before something finally happened: from behind the ship walked a figure, which approached me within a few yards, while quite slowly the illumination from the ship dimmed and then went out.

Yet already after a few split seconds the ship glowed again with light and radiated somewhat like twilight.

...

After the greeting I was called upon by Asket to climb into her ship which, to be honest, I did with somewhat peculiar feelings, because this ship seemed to me to emanate something which promised to solve very many of my life's puzzles.

...

The ship zoomed high into the sky and then became just as invisible as the one which brought me here and which had now invisibly remained behind, left in the tangle of rocks.

...

And now the sinking became a gentle floating, down to a great pyramid which I had very well in my memory from many pictures – the Pyramid of Giza.

I recognised it by the gigantic "animal-human" which, as a statue, stood not far from the Great Pyramid.

And we sank exactly towards this "animal-human object", the Sphinx.

...

We set gently down on the ground only a few metres from the gigantic construction, and only a few metres from a small Bedouin camp where various humans, dressed like Arabs, were already busy with the breaking of their camp at this early morning hour.

They took no notice at all of the landing of the ship, and, naturally, I was astounded because of that.

It seemed simply absurd to me that the people could not see us.

Yet I then accustomed myself very quickly to that and found it very interesting that our invisibility really let nothing be recognised.

...

Asket had, until then, not spoken another word, yet now suddenly her "voice" sounded in me, and then I felt her arm.

I was not able to see her, because everything was indeed still invisible, as were Asket and I.

But now she explained to me that she was attaching a small device to my belt, so we would also continue to remain invisible after we left the ship.

I felt how she busied herself with my belt and, quite suddenly, I saw Asket kneeling next to me. Shocked, I spun around and starred across at the Bedouins, because now they would indeed have to see us.

But then I heard Asket's "voice" in me again which explained that only we could see each other, while we were invisible to all other eyes.

We left the ship, which I could likewise now see, and which stood so majestically next to the Sphinx and, according to Asket's statements, could be seen by nobody.

That must indeed have simply been a mistake of hers, because I still was not able to comprehend, that – because of the small device hanging on my belt – everything was actually only visible just for the two of us.

Asket {3rd February 1953}:

3. And to fulfil our mission, we have to neutralize the spacetime connection barrier between our and your universes, so that we can achieve a harmonious passage through without damage to ships and universes.

...

199. In the state of being awake, he will be just as much tricked as his friends and acquaintances by images of space ships which indeed can be projected so true to reality that anyone can catch them on film.

200. These appearances are, however, without exception, only nebulous and holographic pictures which are not able to exhibit actual contours.

201. The entire meaning lies therefore only in a malicious deception with the purposes that the concerned Earth human, who will be called (Reinhold) Schmidt, talks about himself - and spreads the images and experiences, and so forth, implanted in him by means of holographs and dream-state-hallucinations - in order to maintain the religion of Christianity.

...

229. UFOLOGY, already mentioned, which actually is supposed to serve in the spreading of truth, will likewise be pressed in the direction of sectarianism and will gain worldwide significance in this regard.

230. Like the religions themselves, ufology will become a religious means of power for the malicious extraterrestrial intelligences and, however, also a field of activity of deceitful and delusionally sick, alleged contact persons.

{Billy:}

By now it was very late and I was also very tired, so I lay down in the armchair that Asket had offered me to sleep on, which had been converted into a couch. She also lay down in her couch, which I could only just notice before I sank into a deep sleep.

It was already broad daylight when I woke up again and saw that Asket had 'conjured up' drinkable and edible things from somewhere. We sat down comfortably at a table-like structure that had been pulled out of a ship's wall and feasted on a hearty breakfast. What I ate and drank I could not define, but it was very good, even if everything was completely foreign to me. The potion was slightly yellowish-white and a little thick and was probably some kind of juice from a fruit I did not know. The food also seemed to be made of fruits, and also of some kind of vegetables. The taste of everything was very foreign to me, even though everything once again seemed somehow familiar. Everything was excellent, however, and it tasted delicious to me. Before breakfast, Asket brought a large container of cool, clear water from somewhere, which she carried out of the ship and placed on the ground not far away. Like little children, we then splashed around with the delicious water and cleaned ourselves with it. It was a very fun morning toilet.

Asket:

105. At the present time {1953} 2,700,000,000 humans live on the Earth, of whom many have observed our beamships or other beamships belonging to our federation or belonging to those who are strangers to us.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Asket%27s_Explanations_%E2%80%93_Part_3
{Billy:}

... I was barely a few steps away from the ship when it slowly rose into the air behind me and then shot up into the night sky at lightning speed and disappeared high above.

... It had just become correctly dark when I heard a very low whirring sound, just as if a helicopter rotor blade was swinging out nearby. Then a dark object sank down not far from me and touched down on the dirt road. Unprompted, I walked towards it and suddenly saw a slender figure emerge. It was Asket, who was now calling me. Together we let ourselves be carried into her ship, and already we were sitting in the very comfortable armchairs. I did not feel the slightest movement as the ship rose and shot furiously into the night sky. Only on various screens did I recognise the take-off manoeuvre and the rapid flight away. Nothing else happened. The ship neither became transparent nor glowed. It simply remained as it was, solid, tangible and stable.

During the flight, not a word was spoken and Asket quietly busied herself with her apparatus.

Then I recognised shadowy mountain ranges on the screens deep below us, towards which we seemed to be falling. But without feeling any discomfort, the ship suddenly came to a standstill from the frantic speed and simply 'stuck' in the air for several minutes. But then it slowly started moving again and floated down to Earth as lightly as a feather.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Asket%27s_Explanations_%E2%80%93_Part_4
{Billy:}

... So I followed her wordlessly to the ship and, together with her, let myself be carried into the ship by the invisible transportation powers. I lay awake for a long time on my comfortable couch and contemplated what I had heard. ...

...

Asket also immediately got up from the couch and quickly approached me at one of the ship's windows. ...

...

(We then went to the ship together and then pushed Jitschi forward towards the transport beam, in order to get him into the ship.

Grasped by the power, he was lifted from the ground and slowly glided upward.

Quite suddenly his eyes widened unnaturally, and then a shrill scream tore the stillness.

Once Asket and I were likewise in the ship, I saw how Jitschi, pale with terror, sat in an armchair and, completely dumbfounded, stared at the entrance shaft. ...)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_001

Semjase:

I am called Semjase and I come from the Pleiades.

...

Billy:

Nice trip, if I may say so. How do you accomplish that? Maybe through the hyperspace?

Semjase:

You often know more than we would like you to know.

...

Billy:

Well then; isn't it a little dangerous to leave your ship landed on the ground so openly when other human beings might pass by?

Semjase:

Don't worry, because it is ensured that no human being can get closer than within a radius of 500 metres. ...

...

7. The Earth-humans have entire organisations that deal with reconnaissance of our beamships, but among them all, there is only very little material that is really genuine.

8. They are in possession of very many photos, which, however, depict nothing more than some lights and light phenomena of natural origin or quite deliberate counterfeits.

9. Only very few of these photographic proofs are genuine and really show our beamships.

10. Most of the photos are just montages or forged recordings made by deceivers and charlatans, whose names thereby became known worldwide.

15. If the deceivers and charlatans were actually linked to us and, thus, were standing or have stood in contact with us, then we would have given them the opportunity to create very clear photo evidence of our beamships.

16. But since they are dishonest human beings, we have not given them this opportunity.

17. As proof for this fact, we gave you the opportunity to take clear pictures of one of our beamships.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_002

Semjase:

37. Thus contactees who only saw our beamships from a distance and were also often able to photograph them.

38. But only very few had personal contact with us, and that is still the case even today.

39. Most of them, however, wrap themselves in silence because they fear their fellow human beings.

...

60. Also many other pilots have encountered our or alien ships.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_004

Billy:

... If I look over everything and think over it carefully, then the shape of the beamship doesn't play a major role, but a disc-shaped ship should be the ideal form, because it offers the least resistance aerodynamically in the area of an atmosphere, which certainly should also be the case in the water.

Semjase:

68. Sure, you have gotten to the heart of the matter again.

69. Basically, though, the shape really plays no role.

70. However, the disc shape guarantees the least resistance in an atmosphere, and it furthermore has the largest possible areas to make the drives on or through it fully effective.

Billy:

That is clear to me, but how is it possible that a beamship can reach tremendous speeds in the gravitational field of a planet or in its atmosphere without it burning up or the passengers simply falling victim to the immense inertial force?

Semjase:

71. That is very easy to explain and is also not a secret anymore to the Earth-humans, at least not to the scientists:

72. The beamship is surrounded by a radiation protection belt, which allows every waft of air to be diverted immediately, without displacing it.

73. Exactly the same thing also happens in the outer space, which is only teeming with inconspicuous, minute particles.

74. Thus, this radiation protection shield has the function of protecting the beamship against all external influences and resistances, without without destroying or displacing anything that collides with the shield.

75. All things intruding or offering resistance simply get deflected, without causing a displacement.

76. A displacement would in fact already mean resistance and lift the possibility of the unlimited speed.

77. Through this radiation protection shield granting a sliding off, another important effect is triggered, which is of great significance and of vital importance for the passengers.

78. As a result of the sliding off technology of the radiation protection shield, the gravitational pull of a planet is neutralised at the same time.

79. However, this does not mean that it is simply destroyed, displaced or cancelled.

80. In the same way, the air, as well as any radiation or particles and magnetism etc., are simply diverted, with the result that the normal gravitational force and attraction force prevail in the beamship.

81. This means that a beamship of the Earth harbours exactly the same attraction force inside as it also prevails on the Earth.

82. This attraction force of a planet is not always equally strong, by the way, but is subject to a certain change, something which will be noticed by your scientists in foreseeable time.

83. By the sliding off at the radiation protection shield, that is, the sliding off of the gravitational force i.e. the attraction force, the beamship practically becomes an independent miniature planet, which can to almost the speed of light fly through any atmosphere without risk.

84. And since the attraction force of the planet concerned no longer has any influence on the beamship, the passengers also feel as normal and unweighted as if they were on the planet itself, always provided, of course, that the planet itself corresponds to their anatomical capabilities and is not subject to greater attraction forces.

85. In the beamship itself, the attraction force is tuned to the passengers, of course, and is absolutely controllable.

86. When passengers of beamships from other worlds move on planets that are foreign to them and hostile to them in terms of atmosphere or attraction forces, then they use space suits and small transportable devices that produce exactly the same radiation protection shield for the respective being as it is characteristic for the beamship.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_005

Semjase:

146. And there came the time when the descendants flew out into the unending expanses of the universe in round, plate-like flying ships with beam drives.

147. Other solar systems and planets were flown to and expedited.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_007

Semjase:

3. Soon, I will receive a new beamship, which you can then also photograph at close range, in order to get rather good photos.

4. Unfortunately, in my current ship the automatic beams are still installed, which would destroy your films up to a distance of about 100 metres, i.e. very precisely 90 metres.

5. The radiation is not harmful to living organisms, but as I said, it would destroy your films.

...

Task part (2)

Semjase:

10. Regarding my old ship I would still like to explain that it is already several hundred years old and still represents one of the old forms.

11. These old ships are still built according to the principle of corrugation, a form that has found application with us for reasons of stability.

12. But now, these types are all going to be eliminated.

13. For this purpose, mine will also be brought home on 3rd March by one of our pilots and in company of a second smaller ship of the reconnaissance class.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_009

Semjase:

40. The gift of observation of the human beings of Earth is very bad and superficial.

41. They very often regard our beamships as some kind of earthly airplanes etc., where through they hardly pay attention to them more than a short fraction of a second.

42. They are quite simply not used to a very precise observing and considering.

43. But on the other hand it is the case that we mostly protect our beamships against any sight, so that the human beings are unable to observe us.

44. It is a breeze for us to, just according to our wishes, protect our ships within a radius of 500 m completely or partially, laterally, from above or below by means of a distortion screen against sight.

45. Therefore, when I allowed you to photograph my ship from one side, it was shielded from further view on all other sides by the distortion screens, so that no uninitiated persons were able to see it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_010

Semjase:

291. The photonegatives and the first film footage you took of our beamships would be very important to us.

...

294. In the photos that you handed over to me, we have noticed some things that were previously unknown to us, but which are visible in the pictures.

295. In particular, it concerns the guide beam of the antenna, which attracts energies.

...

297. ... this is about a completely novel phenomenon in connection with the change of the earthly atmosphere, which makes previously invisible energies suddenly visible.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_011

Billy:

... Why did the radiation phenomena become visible?

Semjase:

50. It only concerns atmospheric disturbances, which will dissolve in a few months.

51. They come from your system satellite Saturn, which currently influences the Earth's atmosphere.

52. Through these disturbances, particularly the antenna's conducting beam and the energy collecting beam as well as the regeneration radiation become visible.

53. The antenna's conducting beam and the energy collecting beam appear as a fine line of energy over the beamship, while the regeneration radiation becomes visible beneath the ship in various hues.

Billy:

You speak of regeneration radiation. Is the captured energy regenerated again after consumption?

Semjase:

54. The energy only becomes used and regenerated again for the radiation drive.

55. It is not consumed, however, as you said.

56. Our whole technology is aligned toward natural rectification, but not toward destruction.

Billy:

I understand; the natural principle is, thus, implosion and regeneration, rather than explosion and destruction.

Semjase:

57. You certainly could not have expressed it more precisely.

...

Semjase:

160. ... various foreign objects have flown into the terrestrial space lately, but we cannot monitor all of them.

161. As a rule, they also immediately leave the Earth again, as soon as they have satisfied their curiosity or thirst for knowledge.

Billy:

What was it, then, in the evening of the 20th of March at 19:30 hrs? My children and my wife called me to the window because they saw, only about 1 kilometre away in the west, an object of reddish and yellow colour moving from the north to the south. Also, various local residents had marveled at it from the street.

Semjase:

162. That also wasn't one of us, but nevertheless, the event is known to me.

163. It concerns a beamship of a race known to us from a neighbouring system of our home.

164. It concerns peacefully minded beings, who travel around space and worlds for expeditionary purposes.

165. In particular, the Earth interests them, and therefore, their luminous beamships are also often observed here.

166. Their technology is not yet as advanced as ours, and the beings themselves are also rather unconcerned about whether they are seen or not.

Billy:

What kind of beings or life-forms are they?

Semjase:

167. They are human forms, and what is very important is that they are peaceful and very interconnected with us, which cannot be said, unfortunately, of all who cross through outer space.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_013

Semjase:

41. It might be possible that someone has observed the start of my ship and reported this to the authorities or the army, after which a search might have taken place, which unfortunately happens here and there, if we are not careful enough or if some careless foreign ships appear or even land.

...

45. Especially authorities and military feel very threatened in their power, when they are informed about sightings or landings of beamships, etc., although we are not interested in breaking or endangering their primitive power, because this task is incumbent solely on the Earth-humans.

46. But even though they are very interested in our beamships and do research and investigations, the authorities and the military strongly deny these facts.

47. All relevant information concerning spaceships, sightings and landings, etc., is therefore denied by them as much as their secret investigations and investigations of beam-ship landing sites, etc.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_014

Billy:

I hear it too, Semjase, a tractor, which is approaching.

Semjase:

78. We must separate, otherwise the vehicle will be halted and switched off by the ship's protective shield.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_016

Semjase:

11. The danger created by this carelessness on our part is of less importance to you than it is to our cause itself and to certain research findings which would be made by appropriate investigations of your scientists and which would not benefit the human beings of your world in their present development.

12. These scientific research findings could be obtained on and in the Weather trees that I have used as objects of comparison for my flights.

13. They absorbed radiation from my ship and absorbed it because I came into its immediate vicinity or even touched it with the ship.

14. This radiation, which is absolutely harmless to any form of life, lasts for several months and could be detected and analysed by your scientists, which would mean a very rapid increase in their research and knowledge.

15. But not powerful in things, they would cause devastating catastrophes, which we cannot allow because it would be the direct fault of our carelessness.

16. But since our technology etc. does not allow us to simply paralyze the radiation absorbed by the trees or to remove it from the trees, there is only one possibility left, namely to eliminate these trees in the past, whereby of course all memories, written down documents and photos etc. are also eliminated at the same time.

17. There will be no remembrance of these trees in humans, exactly according to what I once told you about such eliminations.

20. This is also one of the reasons why we always make our landings in such a way that we cannot be observed, because there is always the danger of radiation being emitted, which could be detected and analysed by scientists if it were caught by anything.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_018

Semjase:

152. At a given point in time, which I do not wish to mention in advance for certain reasons, I will give your group once again opportunity to observe my beamship.

153. In this regard I have again chosen a time of night, because everything can be observed better in the darkness.

154. I will demonstrate to them the potentials of different energies which will be very well visible as light effects in the darkness.

155. However, some of the energies I can only bring to use high up in the atmosphere, because otherwise they would have a deadly effect on different earthly life forms.

156. Nevertheless, everything will be a just as unforgettable demonstration spectacle for your group members as it will be for many other coincidental observers, because I will not use any protective measures to shield the sight during the demonstration.

157. During this action you are kindly asked to observe very specific precautionary rules and also to be concerned that no other persons than you approach closer than 910 metres to my beamship, because this could have deadly consequences for them, or at least consequences which would damage their health or even their consciousness.

158. In this regard I will shield and protect you personally, whereby you will not suffer any harm.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_024

Semjase:

94. If you want, I can take you anywhere near where you live.

Billy:

And my vehicle?

Semjase:

95. Oh, I did not think of that, because we cannot bring that into my ship.

96. With a bigger ship that would be possible, but not with this one.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_026

Billy:

... For a long time, I have suspected that there are other extraterrestrials in our world besides you, but with very different desires and hopes. These beings may be wholly alien to your race, at least some of them, but others must be of your own race.

...

... So I start from the assumption that certain forms of life which are strange to you are trying to wander around from the vastness of the universe on our Earth and in the space of the world and to influence other forms of life in various forms. On the other hand, I also suspect that one or more groups of descendants of your old race have not yet returned to you, and that they are still living according to the forms of a deity. Since they still have to live according to the old forms, it can practically only be that they influence many life forms and also the Earth-humans according to this and appear as emissaries of a god. ...

Semjase:

...

41. With your speculations you are very right, because there are other forms of life in the earthly space than just ours.

42. There are also still some splinter groups of our own former races here, but also on other worlds where they still live according to their old forms.

43. They constantly try to influence the life forms, especially the Earth-humans, according to their forms.
44. Already the ancestors had appeared as gods, and they still do.
45. They are anxious not to release the Earth-humans in particular from this form and to continue to make them dependent on themselves through stoic references to religious heresies, etc. and to cast them under their spell.
46. For a long time they have been trying again to break into your world in order to subdue humanity on the Earth.

...

53. On the other hand, many Earth-humans are subject to deceptions, caused by hallucinations or by certain unconscious workings and intended illusory projections of the extraterrestrial life forms for the purpose of underpinning their heresies.
54. Great suggestive influences for deceptive purposes also belong to it, as do appearances of many other forms.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_027

{Billy:}

(We go together to the beam ship, where we are simply lifted into the ship by an elevator-like, invisible powers and immediately stand in the cockpit, while behind us the hatch closes automatically and completely silently. In the cockpit there is a green-yellow light, which is obviously produced by the on-board windows, which are orange on the outside, but green-yellow on the inside. This observation also leads me to the first question.)

Billy:

How come, Semjase, the ship's windows are orange on the outside and yellow-green in here?

Semjase:

27. The outside is specially coated and changes colour depending on the atmosphere.
28. In an atmosphere that is beneficial to us, the material turns orange and throws this yellow-green light inwards.
29. If the outside is coloured differently, for example green, yellow, red or blue etc., the inside light changes immediately.
30. Without special analyses, we are thus informed as to whether or not we need a protective suit in the atmosphere in question.
31. A failure of this type of atmosphere determination is completely impossible, and furthermore, the automatic system only opens the airlock and the exit shaft when the occupants are wearing the relevant protective suits.
32. This is made possible by the use of sensing eyes or sensors which find the appropriate contacts at certain points on the suits.
33. If one wants to leave the ship in an atmosphere that is unhealthy to us, then this is only possible with the protective suit, otherwise the automatic safety mechanism is activated and all exits are locked.
34. When we step out of those layers of a world where the atmosphere is lifted, the outside of the windows becomes transparent and clear and hardly differs from your clear glass.
35. The windows also prevent the penetration of any radiation through the special coating, so there is no danger.
36. They only let through neutralised light.
37. For observation we have our control devices, which enable us to look much more closely than looking out through the windows, which should not be very suitable for taking pictures, because the pictures probably become unclear, at least as long as the outside is coloured.
38. In higher layers, however, this should resolve itself, so you can take clear pictures.

Semjase:

35. At the present time we are the most highly developed life forms that travel this Earth from outside your world and are also stationed here.

36. Although there are other life forms that penetrate your Earth space, fly in and partly also have their stations here, we correspond to the highest level of evolution of all.

37. The second most developed form of life after us lies little more than 1840 years of total evolution behind us.

38. Of all present extraterrestrial life forms, which currently live in the earthly space, we are therefore a little more than 1840 Earth years ahead in the total evolutionary standing.

{Billy:}

(We head to the ship and let ourselves be lifted by the transport beam. After a few seconds the ship is already hovering high, and from an altitude of about 50 metres I take some photos of the surroundings of the ship's departure point below. I take some straight from above, and others at an angle. I take them through the still open transport beam hatch, while we slowly rise. After I finish Semjase closes the hatch, and within seconds the ship shoots up several kilometres higher, without me being able to feel any acceleration or other external forces. It's just as if I was standing on solid ground somewhere on Earth. Also several sudden changes of direction cause no effect, even if through the ship's window I can see that we often shoot in different directions like a crazy giant pendulum.)

...

Semjase:

12. But now take a look at this equipment here, which we have developed specifically to provide you with better photographic possibilities.

13. You can simply put your camera against this screen and take photos of the outside.

14. As you see, you can also look through this transparent material and see the outside, just as if it was a simple glass window.

15. The device next to it however generates multiple radiations, which make visible or simply preserve the existing colour shades, etc., of the objects, so that they may be captured on film.

16. In this manner you will be able to produce good colour photos... or so we hope.

...

{Billy:}

(The flight to Venus does not take very long, so I have just enough time to examine in more detail the equipment for making the photos: the viewing screen looks to me like clear glass, through which everything outside can be observed. I only notice that this whole viewing screen has a very fine resolution, similar to a photographic print. The size of the screen is about 50 x 50 cm (~20") while the colour-radiation device is installed on the side of it and recessed, so I could not examine its inner workings. Beside this device, there is also an oscillograph and many different kinds of apparatuses all around the cockpit room, installed within a circular control console and on the walls. All this strange-looking equipment, already seen on the first flight, is obviously used for the guidance and control of the beamship, while also serving as exploration devices, distance meters, radiation control devices, and other such things, all playing important roles in the operation of the flight machine. All the display screens, except the oscillograph, however, differ fundamentally from all other apparatuses of Earth origin I have ever seen of similar type, whereby all the appearing forms, symbols and figures on these screens are expressed in beautiful and often fantastic colours and also extraordinarily vividly. Unlike the Earth displays that I know, which in practice are only able to display flat 2-dimensional images lacking depth, these screens show everything in vivid 3-dimensional realism, like they are physically real and not just a technically generated image. ...)

...

{Billy:}

(Semjase now sets the ship to fast speed, and we go round Venus a number of times. ...)

...

{Billy:}

(... When at 16:30 hrs we are back over the Earth, I can see several flying objects in free space; besides two satellites of Earth origin, I can also see five objects which with certainty are extraterrestrial spaceships. ... Oddly, I cannot discern those objects through the ship's windows or the viewing screen of the photography device, but only on the beamship's image screens. Semjase explains to me that all the ships are masked from view and can only be detected through the special "zero-visibility" screens. The zero-visibility screens, she explains, use a special vision device that is able to capture and reproduce images of all that the naked eye and primitive monitoring devices such as radars cannot see or detect. ...)

...

Semjase:

47. ... do you want to look inside the capsule {Soviet Soyuz space capsule}?

Billy:

How would that be possible, the crazy thing is totally closed and made airtight.

Semjase:

48. You don't know the possibilities of our technology, which allow us to distort all matter by radiations so that it becomes invisible to the eye.

49. We are able to do this in a very controlled manner and can thus steer the effect very precisely.

Billy:

Then let me see your magical technique.

{Billy:}

(Semjase busies herself with some instruments while spellbound by the photography view screen that was specially built for me I look out in the direction of the Soyuz capsule. Suddenly, a part of the capsule simply disappears, and terrified I look at the two human beings who rest lying within the seats, which look like deck chairs or something similar. ...)

...

Semjase:

56. ... with our technology we are 3,500 years of development ahead of yours.

...

{Billy:}

(... I turn to Semjase, who sits in her oddly shaped conformable chair, and directs the beamship through the darkness of space ...)

...

{Billy:}

(At a distance difficult for me to estimate, a huge metal sphere is hanging in the darkness of space, reflecting only weakly the light of the Sun. Very slowly now the speed of the beamship decreases. Semjase is sitting very attentively before her instrument panels, steering knowingly and carefully in the direction of the huge sphere, which looks to me like a small planet. I can see, way down in the lower third, a little to the left, a big gap is opening laterally, which I soon recognise as an entrance hatch. It's doubtlessly a hangar, into which we are now slowly flying. Innumerable beamships of the same type as ours are standing there in orderly rows by rank and file, and only a 100 x 100 metre square of the hangar entrance is cleared. I look back at the hangar entrance and can see how a wall is moving from bottom to top and closing the entrance. Everything all around is now brightly illuminated, and the light, which is light blue, seems to come directly from the walls. The whole hangar is huge and this spherical ship, judging by these interior spaces, has to be gigantic. I ask Semjase for its measurements.)

Billy:

How big is this spaceship, Semjase?

Semjase:

74. It is big, it's even very big, and it's the largest of its type.

75. It is a truly special ship which embodies all the technologies known to us.

76. Altogether it is its own perfect world, a world that's able to fly.

77. In itself it contains a complete and inhabited city with 141,000 inhabitants.

78. Everything needed for living can be produced inside the ship itself, and it is absolutely independent of anything of any kind from outside its boundary.

79. This spaceship represents our latest development, and has been working together with other ones of this same kind for four years now in Earth's chronology.

80. They find useful applications as self-sustained expeditionary ships and for intergalactic order keeping.

81. They are able to move within all times and spaces, and for them negotiating the barrier between Universes is no longer an obstacle, whereby an all-universal community made of countless life-forms can be included.

82. After only four years in the possession of this great technology, we are regrettably still only in the early stages of our great task.

Billy:

That is still fantastic! If I understood right what you have just explained, you are able, with this great ship, as well as with the others of the same type, to shift from one Universe to another?

Semjase:

83. Sure, you have understood me correctly.

84. However this only applies to aligned Universes.

...

Semjase:

94. With the help of her {Asket's} race from the DAL Universe, we came into possession of knowledge of higher technological capabilities and received the most exact data for the development of these great spaceships, which we have been using, as I said, for four of your Earth years now.

95. For Asket's people the handing over of this data was no problem because they mastered the way of overcoming distances that these ships are capable of more than 700 years ago.

96. In Earth years Asket's race is about 350 years ahead of us in development regarding all technological fields.

...

Billy:

... But I am still interested in knowing the dimensions of this space giant. Can you at least tell me the mean diameter in metres?

Semjase:

...

101. By your measure it is exactly 17,182 metres.

...

Semjase:

113. But now let's leave our ship because the room is atmospherically prepared for you as well.

114. We are in a security room, which is fully atmospherically pressurised even when gaps are open to outer space.

115. This whole space is nevertheless sealed off from the actual living area by invisible barriers, so that security is truly comprehensive.

{Billy:}

(We let ourselves float through the shaft by the transport beam and stand on the metal floor of the great-spacer. For the first time now since I am outside the beamship, I realise that the cleared landing space of about 100 x 100 metres is surrounded by glass-clear walls, and that innumerable other small beamships are beyond these walls. Between these parked ships many human beings are rushing about, quite obviously involved with the various ships. But I also see walking mechanical figures, quite obviously robotic, which are hurrying quite busily along as well, executing various tasks. Very far beyond, I am just able to see some bigger beamships, which have completely different shapes from the ones hitherto known to me. Semjase occupies herself with a small device in her hand, and I see that before us the transparent wall opens and reveals an entrance. Then completely silently comes a small floating vehicle, not bigger in size than a Volkswagen car. It floats about 20cm above the floor and is equipped with very comfortable seats on top. Semjase asks me to take one of the seats beside her, and the peculiar moving vehicle floats away and slowly rises higher and higher. I look back and watch how the transparent wall closes up again after our beamship is taken by the previously seen robots into the main hangar-hall.

This hangar-hall seems to take up the whole lower-third part of the giant spaceship for its complete diameter, up to a height of about 600 to 800 metres (1,800 to 2,400 feet). The ceiling above, like the walls, also radiates a bluish light, which seems like the sky to me. And if I am not mistaken, there is a big opening above, exactly in the centre of the ceiling. Soon I can see that this is so, as we head in this direction in our floating transportation vehicle, and we climb up inside this opening. Also inside this shaft is the same gentle blue illumination coming from the walls. For minutes we climb up with increasing speed, until Semjase suddenly stops the floating vehicle and docks it into a side compartment in the wall. In here, there is an open space of approximately 2,000 x 1,000 metres, and I feel myself completely transported into a magical world. Wherever I look, I see green fields, trees, shrubs and flowers. A real little Garden of Eden in this space giant.)

...

Semjase:

116. ... this spaceship is its own independent little world.

...

Billy:

I mean, how far have we floated up inside this giant, how many metres?

Semjase:

118. Some 11,000 metres.

119. We have stopped here near the centre of the ship, which is where the actual city is located.

...

Semjase:

138. We will walk through the park's facilities now to another transport hub which will lift us up into the main control centre.

139. This is located in the top of the dome of the Great Spacer.

...

{Billy:}

are imbedded. Before them are human beings and an unknown to me form of life, which I soon recognise as being bio-mechanical. Real bio-mechanical humans, androids. The whole command centre is a giant domed cupola several kilometres in diameter. Over the whole thing spreads the free cosmos, and I wonder how one can still breathe. Then I remember the completely transparent walls of the hangar, and it becomes evident to me that the whole ceiling of the cupola must consist of this transparent material. So I ask Semjase about it.)

Billy:

Semjase, can you explain to me, what is this transparent material, that the cupola is made of? Is it a kind of glass?

Semjase:

156. No, it is not glass, nor any kind of glass.

157. It is a very stable metal alloy, like the one used on the walls of the beamship hangar.

...

Billy:

You mean that everything is simply made transparent by technical means?

Semjase:

159. Sure, all the walls as well as the cupola are completely stable, and made of the hardest metal.

160. However through the radiations, resp. swinging waves generated by our equipment we can make everything transparent.

161. To the eye it then appears just so, as if there was simply nothing there, or as if you were looking through clear glass.

...

{Billy:}

(And once again we float on the vehicle towards the middle of the huge command centre. I can already recognise a horseshoe-shaped structure about 100 metres high, completely covered with apparatuses and image screens, and its centre is overall not bigger than an average room. A single bearded man stands inside this horseshoe, looking towards us. As Semjase brings our means of transportation towards an encircled area about 60 metres from the horseshoe, this watching man starts to move toward us, and I can now see him more clearly. He is wearing a suit similar to that of Semjase ...)

...

{Billy:}

(... Now all three of us are sitting in very comfortable seats inside the horseshoe-shaped console. On the image screens all the planets of our sun-system can be seen ...)

Billy:

Ptaah, how fast are we going now?

Ptaah:

20. Look here, this instrument displays the velocity.

21. You can read it very easily by yourself, even if you do not understand our script.

22. In your understanding, these lines stand for the decimals, and these sharp arrow-headed brackets mark the hundreds.

23. These half-height lines mark the thousands, and these point-lines the hundred-thousands.

24. These ring-lines here would mean for you the speed of light.

25. Now you can just add up the values and thus you calculate the speed yourself.

Billy:

...

This makes 289,000 kilometres per second. Is that right, Ptaah?

Ptaah:

...

27. You have counted correctly.

28. Our terms are different but they give equivalent values.

...

{Billy:}

(Semjase turns to her father and explains what I meant by "fantastic." He does not seem to understand it immediately. It is funny that I know these words in the Greek language since I have never known them before. Suddenly I am simply speaking perfect Greek, and I don't understand how, so I ask.)

Billy:

How is it, Semjase, that I can suddenly speak fully fluent Greek?

Semjase:

176. My father has turned off the language translator and has instead turned on the language transformer.

177. This device uses the ship's language computer.

178. This converter is now continuously transforming the desired Greek language into impulses, and transmitting them.

179. Your brain then detects these impulses, and with that you can speak each desired word without knowing it beforehand.

Billy:

I don't know, as always the only thing I can say is "fantastic". Girl, what do you think? How long will it take until we are this far along on Earth?

Ptaah:

30. This will take several thousand years by your time reckoning.

...

Billy:

... But for how much longer will we be flying through the Universe?

Ptaah:

35. For about 30 minutes more, then we will transmit to a different, remote system.

Billy:

Transmit? That means, among other things, time travel, right?

Semjase:

180. Sure, but you already know about this.

Billy:

Yes, but that was with Asket and not with such a gigantic ship. And how will it be then, when I return to Earth? We would have to go back in time now, to return to Earth at the right time. That doesn't make sense to me, because you said that you had to do something at a Universe barrier. If that falls chronologically in our time, then it is no longer possible.

Ptaah:

36. You are not taking some important things into consideration, because Semjase once explained to you the possibilities offered by our means of transportation, namely the use of hyperspace, by which space and time become paralysed.

...

{Billy:}

(Ptaah and Semjase turn to the instruments at the horseshoe-shaped console. Small light-bodies light up, and dark picture screens come alive. Shapes that are completely strange to me appear on them, and for the first time I hear a tone now, a very faint and somewhat soothing singing like metal. I look up at the transparent dome and see that stars of all sizes go by very quickly, and now suddenly merge into a milkish white veil. This only takes a few seconds, and now they are already recognisable as bright stars again, passing by at tremendous speed. But that only lasts a few seconds as well, until they go along slowly like before. During this whole time, I feel somewhat weird, but I feel a very profound peace in me. ...)

...

Semjase:

194. We have made the first hyper-leap.

...

{Billy:}

(... But with my watch it's also strange; when close to Semjase's beamship, the watch always went too fast or too slow. ...)

...

Semjase:

314. Come now, let's go down to my beamship.

{Billy:}

(Semjase takes me by the hand and pulls me to a kind of metal box next to the horseshoe-shaped switch and control gear console. There is no door on the box, but instead, a hole in the floor measuring about one metre of diameter, which is illuminated by a shimmering blue light. A shaft that goes into an endless depth and seems to have no end. I look down and see that very far below, the walls of the shaft get closer and finally seem to touch. I cannot see the end. It's clear to me that the self-narrowing of the shaft far below is only an illusion. Man, and now we supposed are to step into it?)

Semjase:

315. Simply step into the shaft and let yourself slide down.

{Billy:}

(... And I jump. Man, I am really hanging in the air, oh, now it's slowly going downwards; and now it gets faster and faster. Oh boy, this is really a sliding shaft. I look up; aha, there comes Semjase as well. Man, this is great, but why am I suddenly slowing down? Oh, there is already ground beneath me. I am standing on solid ground now, and here are again all the many beamships from before. We are at the hangar.)

...

(We walk over to the ship, let ourselves be lifted inside, and already the hatch closes behind us.)

...

Semjase:

329. We are now ready to float over.

330. The lock is open.

{Billy:}

(I see that the hangar doors have opened themselves during our short conversation. Now the small beamship slowly rises and floats towards Asket's huge spaceship which hangs in free space only a few hundred metres away. As in the giant from which we departed, we float into an airlock, which however is very much smaller than the one on Ptaah's space giant. Now we are inside, and immediately the opening closes behind us. Everything happens very quickly, and we then let ourselves float down through the exit to the floor of the small hangar. Here we stand now, and all around I see only metallic, light-emitting walls. There are no other beamships in here, only ours. Without a word, I follow Semjase, who approaches a wall on the right side in which an opening suddenly appears, through which we pass now. And behind us, the small passage closes again. We are now in a cozy room with very comfortable seating accommodations and some structures which obviously have to be tables. ...)

...

{Billy:}

(Now a wall opens in the background on the left side and another female human comes in.)

...

Nera:

19. With us both sexes are acknowledged as both equally valuable and entitled.

20. For this reason our beamships are also manned accordingly by male and female life-forms, whereby every position is also filled alternately by both sexes.

...

Billy:

... where have Asket and Semjase gone to; they were in the airlock room just a while ago?

...

Asket:

36. I only fear that the photos you take of me and Nera now, won't come out very well.

...

37. I know from my stay on Earth, that the images were always very poor, when they were taken aboard our ship or in the surroundings.

38. They mostly were very unsharp or simply blurred.

39. This has to do with certain energy radiations which are harmless to living forms, but distort everything, and often impair and change the colours of colour films.

...

{Billy:}

(Semjase lets her ship glide out of the hangar, and a few minutes later we are back in Ptaah's giant spacer. Like the first time, we are carried up by a glider, pass through the park and we go back again to the centre where Ptaah is sitting in his 'horseshoe'.)

...

Semjase:

439. We can only make our ship visible on very few worlds.

440. So we can't leave it either and have to be content with looking at everything from the beamships.

...

Ptaah:

380. That is why there are also various groups that are supposedly concerned with the enlightenment of things with us and our ships, but who in reality only use this as a pretext to consolidate and spread their religious sectarianism in order to thereby beat the world even worse into religious bondage.

...

Billy:

... I have heard and read that our scientists are trying to make their own earthly beamships. Is that true and how advanced are these things?

Ptaah:

383. This information is consistent with the truth to the extent that such flying apparatuses are in their infancy being built on Earth.

384. However, they are not beamships, but flying machines similar to our ships, equipped only with explosion engines or, more recently, with jet engines with recoil effect.

385. The construction of such ships on Earth in modern times is not entirely new, however, for the first ships of this kind were completed in planning and construction as early as 1941.

386. In mid-February 1945, the first flights were carried out up to altitudes of around 12500 metres, developing speeds of just over 2000 kilometres per hour.

387. It was all commissioned by the Führer of the Second World War, Adolf Hitler.

388. At the end of the war, however, everything was destroyed so that it would not fall into the hands of the enemy.

389. Various plans and devices and apparatuses, however, were overlooked and fell into other hands.

390. From these, various groups developed the disc-shaped ships of terrestrial origin that exist today.

391. These 'flying discs', as they are called by the designers, naturally require their test flights to test their properties, etc.

392. Many of these objects can therefore be observed by Earth-humans as they are flown about to be flown in or tested.

393. The largest of these terrestrial flying objects of this type already reach nearly 10 metres in diameter and are already quite numerous.

394. Of course, this is quite vigorously denied by the governments of the states possessing them.

395. However, their machines have often crashed, because they are still rather poorly developed in all respects.

396. But the uninitiated human beings of Earth live in the mistaken belief that these 'flying discs' they observe are of the same kind as our beamships and come from extraterrestrial worlds.

Billy:

So that is how it is. Then several of the UFOs observed around the world are not UFOs at all, but simply terrestrial 'flying discs'.

Ptaah:

397. That is so, yes.

398. Often they are also forced to make emergency landings because their constructions, devices and apparatus are still very inadequate.

399. Their explosion engines and jet engines, which they recently also want to operate atomically, but which are still wishes for the future, very often cause combustion damage.

400. Human beings who come into the vicinity of such combustion fires are so often also threatened by dangers of atomic radiation, starting from experimental atomic reactors, which are supposed to serve for propulsion, but which will not succeed for a long time yet.

401. If distressed ships of this kind are approached by observers, by which I mean that they go near them, then they are often frightened by the occupants, or even abducted and deported, in order to ensure their absolute silence.

402. Such occurrences are unfortunately not uncommon on the Earth, but through the ignorance of human beings and various unreal 'enlightenment striving' groups they are invariably attributed to extraterrestrial life-forms.

403. In truth, there are probably also malignant intelligences from outer space that haunt your Earth or stray there, but there are not so many of them that they would be of great significance.

404. Most observations of 'flying discs' with human predations are of terrestrial origin.

405. Earth-humans should be aware of this when they encounter any 'flying discs' whose occupants are well aware of the fact that very many human beings believe these objects to be of extraterrestrial origin.

406. This knowledge is also very often exploited by them by imagining some gullible Earth-humans as extraterrestrial intelligences.

407. Aware of their religious power, they also do not shy away from pretending to be angels and God's messengers and appearing as 'saviours' of Earth-humans, whereby they then proclaim the deceived gullible to be contactors and assign them mysterious missions which are supposedly for the benefit of Earth-humans, but which in reality only serve their own profit and the benefit of their own country's espionage.

408. The most popular places of origin these malevolent deceptive elements and occupants of earthly 'flying discs' name are Venus, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn and Uranus.

409. But also the nearest neighbouring systems of your solar system have to serve for this, as well as the Pleiades in the coming time, when you will have become world-famous through your contacts with us.

410. In the process, my daughter Semjase and my person will also be falsely accused of being contact beings with Earth-humans who are fraudulent in this respect, as well as alleged Pleiades beings who do not exist.

...

Ptaah:

416. Since through our technology all distances have become of absolute insignificance, we can leap here and there, once closer to Earth, then again much further away.

417. The order is unimportant.

...

Semjase:

466. Everywhere it is appropriate not to let us be seen, so we have to wrap ourselves in our protective shields.

467. We must only allow ourselves to be seen where the evolution in question and our directives permit.

...

{Billy:}

(Semjase is busy with various of her apparatuses and also speaks into a device in a melodic language that is incomprehensible and completely foreign to me. ...)

...

Billy:

... I know that my wristwatch always goes crazy when I get close to Semjase's beamships. ...

...

Semjase:

557. Look there, father has already located the projectile himself and will destroy it.

558. What you see there on the right is an energy emitter, or an energy gun, as I am sure you would say.

559. High-grade energy is being emitted there, compressed into a block by another form of energy and directed at the atomic projectile.

...

Billy:

... You know that your daughter has given me several opportunities to photograph her beamships. Once my camera actually exploded in my hand due to some kind of swinging waves from the ship. This vibration factor was then switched off by you. ...

...

Ptaah:

779. My daughter explained to you at the time that we had found radiation on the photos and films that we wanted to analyse, which is why you also gave us the film material.

{Note: See Contact Report 11, Semjase sentences 50-57.}

780. On the one hand, we found that some of the radiation had been caused by a planet of the SOL system {Saturn} and was now slowly subsiding, but on the other hand, we also analysed radiation in Semjase's new beamships, which caused mirage-like reflections.

781. However, this radiation is neither dangerous nor significant.

782. It does, however, have a tendency to cause an object to shift optically when the ship gets too close.

783. Since Semjase manoeuvred very close to the tree during your filming, it shifted optically.

784. But this shift was only a reflection in a similar form as you know it from a mirage.

785. In other film and photo shots, the same thing happened, but Semjase brought her ship right up to the trees.

786. As a result, they were charged by the radiation and had to be totally eliminated for safety reasons.

787. If you look at the pictures and films of these processes, you should actually also be able to detect shifts due to reflections in these two cases.

...

Ptaah:

911. You are already oriented to the fact that this Great Spacer could only be made by the help of Asket's people in the DAL universe.

912. If we had not received their help with the many technological innovations, we would only become powerful in this technology in about 250 to 350 years.

913. So it is thanks to Asket and her people that we were able to bring you on this flight to her in the DAL universe.

...

Billy:

That is interesting. I have already seen various weapons in Semjase's beamships, but also in Asket's ship when she was on Earth. Sfath also had weapons on board, and your space giant is also equipped with a wide variety of weapons. Now how does this rhyme with various claims that extraterrestrial intelligences would not have any weapons or at least would not use them? I know from various UFO reports today that it is always claimed that peace is produced by peace, etc.

Ptaah:

1018. These are just crazy claims of fraudulent do-gooders who unquestioningly feign contacts with extraterrestrials in order to promote their fanciful wishes, which are extremely unrealistic.

1019. Neither we nor any other life-form in this or any other universe can afford to have no or unsuitable weapons.

1020. Every single life-form race in the universe has weapons of all kinds, just as you do on Earth.

Semjase:

233. For a long time I have promised you that I will take you into another dimension one day.

234. If you want, then we can visit this three-world dimension, although I would also have to order father there.

235. With my beam ship I can penetrate into that or any other dimension, but I cannot return.

236. We'll need Father's spaceship to do that.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_039

Billy:

... But how does it stand, now, with the dimension gate in the Devil's Triangle? Can one see this?

Semjase:

36. With eyes alone, it is not recognisable, but it is possible to make the radiation visible.

...

37. Sure, I can make the radiation visible by my ship.

...

Billy:

Will I see that, then, on a screen?

Semjase:

40. No, you may recognise it through the viewing window because the visibility of the radiation occurs through a radiation shield that is spread out by the entire ship.

...

Billy:

Exactly, I have always wanted to see if I can circle such a thing around myself. I have always watched you closely and now know a bit about the control and the initial start-up of the drive. ...

...

Semjase:

89. But did you pay attention to the speed just now?

Billy:

Of course, it was just less than 290,000 kilometres per hour; I did not want to grind the mill any further because of the time and so on. You even said yourself that it is very dangerous if one exceeds the speed of light with the normal drive or simply at all, without diving, at the same time, into hyperspace.

...

Semjase:

96. But please pay attention here; if you should lose control, then simply press these three contact points in the grid.

97. By these, everything turns to the zero position and the automatic control mechanism regulates everything within a split-second; thus, no dangers can appear. 98. But despite everything, please pay attention to the speed.

...

Semjase:

260. Mount Shasta is an old volcanic mountain with a partially still unexplored area in America, or more precisely, in northern California.

...

262. In the interior of the mountain itself is a small city, which is inhabited by descendants of extraterrestrials and which, here and there, also receives a visit from their space brothers from outer space.

263. It is a very majestic race, peaceful and good, but which anxiously strives not to be discovered by Earth-humans.

266. Their golden spaceships of a spherical form – for they master spaceflight – can sometimes be seen when they do not protect these from view.

...

{Billy:}

(We let ourselves slide down through the transportation chute into the hangar, where we get into the protective suits. In Semjase's beamship, we then glide out into the primeval world and move about it for a long time. At various places, we leave her ship, and I can capture some dinosaurs and landscapes on my slide film. Semjase partially paralyses the large animals from her ship, in order to make the filming easier for me. The animals then stand petrified. ...)

...

Ptaah:

10. The world there {Note: one of three worlds existing in a dimension which was previously accessible through a naturally occurring "dimension gate" (which no longer exists) in the "Bermuda Triangle"} is about 870 years ahead of your time; thus, the human beings are also accordingly developed in their technology and have their own beamships, with which they arrive at your Earth every now and then.

...

{Billy:}

(With Ptaah's Great Spacer, we glide out into space, while Semjase and I let ourselves fall into the transportation chute and, in the hangar, go to her ship. Soon, we glide out of the airlock into free space ...)

Billy:

Semjase, where is Ptaah? I cannot see his Spacer.

Semjase:

353. It is in the protection of his radiation screens.

Billy:

You mean protected from view?

Semjase:

354. Surely, because we are foreigners here; that is why I also had to put the protective screen into effect around my beamship.

355. The human beings of this dimension and time have, indeed, become much more peaceful than those on your world in your time, but they are still barbaric and quite aggressive, so they would force us to land, which would be very unpleasant for us.

...

357. Look over there; that is one of their beamships.

Billy:

Beamships? Girl, then these elves already master space travel!

Semjase:

358. Sure, they also have about 500 years more development behind themselves than the Earth-humans of your time, which I already said.

...

Billy:

But still, look – the beamships that they have. I know those from somewhere. I have seen those before. Wait, ah yes – you, they look remarkably similar to the fantasy products of spaceships, which I recently saw on television. It was the broadcast of a futuristic story by the name of Orion {Note: possibly referring to a 1966 German TV show called Raumpatrouille: Die phantastischen Abenteuer des Raumschiffes Orion.} The ship over there looks deceptively like that thing on TV.

...

Semjase:

360. That is, however, not the case.

361. Consider what I already explained to you once before, namely that certain Earth-humans receive data and information from external telepathic impulses and unconsciously, so also authors and such people.

362. Thus, they describe things and possibilities of the future and also make drawings and models.

363. Through this, they slowly prepare the Earth-humans and, in particular, the scientists for the coming events, cognitions, and forms and give them the drive for development.

364. Hence, if you now see the beamship out there, which corresponds to the form known to you, then for this, you can also find the reason for it in my explanation.

...

Ptaah:

221. If you want to take pictures on Venus, however, then you need a light source with your camera.

222. I have various specialised, small beamships with strong light sources.

223. I will let two of these aircraft fly with you, so you can take pictures through their light.

...

{Billy:}

... Then, she {Semjase} goes back up into space, and there, I see a UFO flying over the Moon again, which I had already noticed during an earlier flight and which was christened “Sewing Machine” by Hans Jacob. Of course, I film this, too. ...

...

Billy:

But we are hovering right over my house.

Semjase:

367. Even so, any observers would not be able to see us; my ship is shielded.

...

{Billy:}

(I let myself slide through the hatch, and suddenly, I do not see the beamship anymore. I raise my hand upward, and sure enough, my hand just disappears, but I sense that it meets with metal. Thus, the ship is there, even though I cannot see it anymore. So I leave, and as I am standing only a few metres away on the street, I feel a slight pull. I quickly go back with an outstretched arm, but I cannot feel anything. There, Semjase's voice penetrates into me.)

Semjase:

373. I am already very high above you; just look.

{Billy:}

(I look up into the sky. There, a large light, which is now quickly becoming smaller, moves very quickly and vertically into the sky and soon disappears.)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_043

Semjase:

150. But now I think it is time for you to go home.

...

Billy:

If only I were home already; it is quite cold to ride a moped.

Semjase:

153. I want to take you in front of your house.

Billy:

Fine, but the moped?

Semjase:

154. You know that's not a problem.

155. I keep it under my ship.

Billy:

All right, you want me to go get it?

Semjase:

156. That is not necessary, I can just pull it up.

Billy:

Something new again, let us go – aha, we are floating.

Semjase:

157. I already have your vehicle, just look at this screen.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_045

Billy:

Quite simply; we would like to know what kind of metal you use for your beamships.

Semjase:

34. I can explain that to you:

35. Through a transformation process, we gain it from lead.

36. We extract this soft metal from many things, e.g. from lead-containing atmospheres of stars and planets, from waters, from various plants, etc., as well as from various ore rocks of destroyed stars and planets, comets, etc. exposed to decay.

37. Through a process that is very complicated on the Earth, we convert the captured lead substances into the soft metal lead, which we then convert into a hard metal form through further chemical-mechanical processes, which is much harder than your metal, which you call steel.

38. This, however, is unsuitable in its form for beamships, which is why it is converted by further conversion processes into an alloy with certain values and properties suitable for beamships, about which, however, I am not allowed to give any further details.

39. The end product, which must have very special properties, then consists of an alloy.

Billy:

I understood that so far, but what metals does this alloy consist of? Do we have similar metals on the Earth?

Semjase:

40. Sure, you have the exact same metals that exist all over the universe on the stars and planets and so on.

41. This, however, does not mean that all metal ores which are present in the universe, are to be found on the Earth.

Billy:

That is to be assumed, but you have not fully answered my question. I wanted to know what metals the alloy was made of?

Semjase:

42. Let me explain that to you:

43. It is a copper-nickel-silver alloy that also contains gold for certain beamships.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_046

Semjase:

20. I also brought you some metal from three different operations.

21. This is the product of the third transformation process; this is the product of the fourth process, and this is the product of the fifth transformation process, of which there are seven in total.

Billy:

Thank you very much, Semjase, you give me a great pleasure. Now I do not quite understand things. I thought you could do the conversion of lead to alloy right away. But now you are saying that seven different processes are required?

Semjase:

22. Sure, I guess I was not clear enough about my explanation:

23. The first step absorbs the lead substances from the atmosphere and compresses them into pure lead.

24. The second process removes all dangerous radiation from the metal obtained in this manner.

25. The lead then enters the cold converters, which, without the addition of any other metals, convert the lead into the alloy in several processes.

Billy:

So you mean that the lead is liquefied cold and only undergoes the transformation in this form?

Semjase:

26. Certainly.

27. There are probably direct conversion possibilities of matter, but these possibilities are not yet extensively given to us.

28. However, our scientists have already achieved good experimental results.

29. At present, however, we still transform the metals in the traditional form through the cold converters, and as I said, this happens in seven different passes:

30. The metal is liquefied cold, like it is done in your blast furnaces by heat, and then undergoes a transformation by certain vibrations, but only up to a certain value, so different operations are required.

31. The respective end product is then pressed through a cooling spiral in intermittent batches, resulting in small structures such as those in front of you.

32. This process is repeated several times, whereby the value of the various metals increases with each new process and becomes the final alloy.

33. The sixth working process then produces the complete alloy, while the seventh process produces finished metal plates.

Billy:

Your explanation is to be understood. But how is the pressed metal cooled in the spiral when everything is already being done by cold processes?

Semjase:

34. The cooling spiral contains ordinary water, which, however, we obtain by condensational [process] especially for this purpose.

35. What I call the cooling process has to do with the fact that the material is hardened.

...

Billy:

... It is only now not yet clear to me how you actually process the metal, because neither on your beamship nor on Ptaah's giant box could I see joints or seams, etc. Nothing is riveted either.

Semjase:

38. For this purpose we use a device that you would call a welding machine.

39. However, it is based on a vibration technique that liquefies the metal in a cold state and allows it to flow into each other, making it absolutely seamless and forming a single piece.

40. That is why we do not know about grinding metal like you do when you do welding and then have to grind away the seams to level it out.

41. By the way, in this respect you use a very dangerous procedure on Earth.

42. Our technology ensures that seam breaks or tears can never occur.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_048

Quetzal:

8. When I leave, I will thank him {Jacobus Bertschinger} by letting him see my beamship.

9. I will also give him a little demonstration by doing an electric energy elimination, which he can observe very well.

10. What will happen is that I create an energy ball with electricity drawn from the atmosphere, which I then eliminate completely by a combustion process.

11. But he has to be patient a little bit, because under a height of 2,500 metres I am not allowed to do that, because the burning energy falls to the earth and is very hot.

...

Semjase:

58. Anyway, you shall take several pictures of my new ship.

Billy:

What does the new vehicle look like?

Semjase:

59. The measurements remain approximately the same and only small changes occur in the outer cladding.

60. The great innovations are housed inside and offer many more possibilities than is the case in my current ship.

61. With the new one, I am also able to penetrate dimensions in both directions.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_049

Semjase:

1. In addition to your friend you have brought a person unknown to me.

2. The automatic transmission of the control unit interrupted the contact, so I had to take over the control of your arrival myself.

...

4. The swinging waves of your friend Schutzbach were not stored in the control device.

5. Therefore, the automatic system interrupted the contact.

6. However, I will now save the swinging waves.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_050

Semjase:

3. Already at the level crossing I had to make you wait, because a man followed you with his car.

4. I switched off his vehicle before leaving the forest by supplying the car engine with a magnetic current.

...

Semjase:

7. I am here with five of our reconnaissance ships which analyse everything.

...

Billy:

Is this maybe related to the unexpected fireworks you gave after the last contact?

Semjase:

10. With certainty, because the light track is visible from afar ...

...

Billy:

... I can imagine that everything has to look like a glistening sun. But do you not have any other options? I mean other manifestations and colours of such light works?

Semjase:

12. Sure, they exist for us.

...

Billy:

... You told me last Tuesday that the energy fire was about 170 metres long, is that so? Then it must have actually been visible from afar.

Semjase:

22. Certainly, that is so.

Billy:

Well, Mr. Schutzbach and Mr. Bertschinger are still interested in how high in the sky you actually were when I arrived at their gun range again and you suddenly disappeared into the sky.

Semjase:

23. According to your measurements, I was 22,000 metres high.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_052

Semjase:

89. ... the light of the telemeter ships corresponds to a special value and serves the course determination.

90. As you have rightly noticed, it has a certain interval and is very bright.

91. These are radio-like impulses which serve the control.

92. If you now extinguish these, which you consider to be light, by your thought forces, then the telemeter ship gets out of control and it moves out of course uncontrolled, so it must first be brought under control again by the station on the Earth.

...

Semjase:

104. -- -- Goodbye, my thoughts will be with you.

105. It is often very ...

{Billy:}

(I only hear the last words of Semjase weakly and the rest of the sentence not at all anymore, because I glide down the antigravity shaft and remove myself quickly, sit down on my moped and drive away ...)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_054

Semjase:

41. If you like it, then you may set your smoking goods on fire at any time also with us.

Billy:

I have no need for that, why, I do not know.

Semjase:

42. This will be the environment and also the somewhat different composition of our atmosphere, which will give you the same invigorating active substances, but unlike the tobacco-burning substances these are not harmful to health.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_055

Semjase:

84. None of us was there, but it turned out that there was indeed a ship, but of unknown origin.

85. Quetzal was able to clarify that it was a ship with an electrical energy combustion engine that was apparently in distress and had a defect that could be repaired.

86. They pointed out clear residues of radiation traces, together with combustion phenomena in the plant world, as well as that four fruitless start attempts had been undertaken, but that the fifth attempt succeeded.

87. This also explains the intense glow you have seen.

88. With the yellow light appearances we noticed in the grass of the airfield that four further ships of the same kind must have stayed there.

89. There were no burns to be found, but residues of electrical radiation energies.

90. According to the measurements, these were probably small ships with a diameter of less than four metres.

91. These devices must have escaped our monitoring as they were not registered by us.

92. They were certainly surrounded by protection shields.

93. Moreover these apparatuses are no longer in terrestrial space, which Quetzal was able to analyse, but this does not mean, that they will not come back.

...

Billy:

Now another question: You explained to me at the beginning of our acquaintance that your beamships are equipped with a light emitting drive and further with a tachyon drive. Is that why you call the ships beamships?

Semjase:

147. No, because the drives you mentioned do not correspond to direct beam drives.

148. The beam drives were of a different kind, and we have not used them for about 400 years, although we have kept the name beamships for ourselves.

149. My ship, which I still had in my possession at our first encounter, was still half radiant, which is why you were able to see the radiations.

150. However, these were only highly concentrated light beams.

151. My last ship already had an antigravity propulsion based on the principle of repulsion.

152. However, this drive was only suitable for planetary flight, while the tachyon drive was retained for free space.

153. The present ship is equipped with an antimatter propulsion system for free space, which was developed more than 50,000 years ago.

...

Billy:

... How heavy is your current ship with the construction?

Semjase:

157. It is about 700 kilos heavier than the last one.

Billy:

That would be 1½ tonnes?

Semjase:

158. Certainly.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_057

Billy:

... Has one of your spaceships ever been left behind on the Earth?

Semjase:

66. We have not lost any spaceships on the Earth, because the question is probably related to that.

Billy:

... Has one of your beamships, a reconnaissance ship or a telemeter disc ever crashed since you returned to the Earth?

Semjase:

67. No, our equipment of this kind and those we have here are completely crash proof.

...

Billy:

... So I want to ask the first question. Amata writes it this way: "Are these large ships, which I see again and again, with a large superstructure and many cabins, simply spaceships or even large-capacity ships? How many people are on a ship like this?"

Quetzal:

5. This description of the objects is neither one nor the other, but quite simply very large emigration ships with an average diameter of 120 kilometers, with a capacity for human life-forms of around one million.

6. These gigantic ships serve exclusively for emigration purposes, especially when a world is very endangered and destruction is to be considered.

7. These are the same giant migratory ships that were used by our ancestors at the earliest times, when they came from the Lyra-Vega region to Earth and later also settled on our Plejaren constellation.

8. Their external shape and size have been maintained since then, but they have been subject to constant innovations of a technological form, so they are equipped today according to the state of the art.

9. When Amata received our teleimpulses as teleprojections, she saw everything in an extremely reduced form, because she would not have been able to grasp and overview the gigantic size and the reality of it.

Billy:

Aha, then she practically saw something like models?

Quetzal:

10. No, that is not quite so, because she sees the projections as quite large.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_059

Billy:

... It would be very valuable for us if we could film and photograph good tracks of your ships. Would it be possible for you to 'ground' the two barges instead of letting them float, so that the plate marks in the grass would be visible, which we could then capture on film?

...

Quetzal:

2. It is not advisable to leave tracks, but I understand your concern.

...

5. We will put our beamships on the supports.

...

{Billy:}

(We go back together to the ships, which Quetzal and Semjase have settled on the land supports in the meantime.)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_061

Billy:

... Take a look at this photo – are these the two reconnaissance ships?

Semjase:

4. Certainly, but only the ionization shells are visible.

...

Billy:

... We have already noticed several times that the grass and bushes, etc. are pressed down anti-clockwise in a spiral inwards to the centre when the landing supports of your and Quetzal's ship are lowered down. That is not understandable to us, because as I have seen, the plates of the landing supports do not rotate.

Semjase:

...

149. The round surfaces of the landing supports, like the whole ship, vibrate in a spiral-shaped anti-gravity vibration, which, as you have rightly observed, forms counter-clockwise from the outside to the centre.

150. The underside of the ship has four such centres, three of which are located in the landing supports, while the fourth forms the centre of the ship in the underside part.

Billy:

Well, that sounds quite plausible. But how is it that the grass or undergrowth does not stand up again after some time, but grows unchanged for weeks in its spiral path along the ground? We now have tracks that are more than four weeks old and that have not changed in the least. The new grass and undergrowth, etc. simply grows up again between the spirally curved stalks.

Semjase:

...

152. The anti-grav-swinging wave, which is much stronger than the gravitational vibration of the planet itself, causes a gravitational change in the plant life-forms, thus they hold themselves down by a very minimal antigravity force, i.e. a counter-gravity, and counteract the normal gravitation of the Earth, then they continue to grow lying in their spiral form, because the plant-forms are not damaged by breaking off.

...

154. In these cases, the antigravity vibration does not lie under the plants, but on them, so if it presses them down from above and repels the gravitational force above them, the stalks remain lying.

155. Of course, the gravitational force of the Earth itself also plays an important role, which makes its attraction effective.

...

Semjase:

183. In a few minutes another one of our ships will land, one that will be a bit unusual in your eyes, because it is a product of one of our other races.

184. The ship is led by MENARA (one who is gentle in love), a young woman from the planet DERON from the Vega system.

...

Semjase:

208. It is a... ah, Menara appears.

209. She will be here in a few seconds.

...

214. But look, there Menara comes up in the antigrav.

...

{Billy:}

(The girl walks and disappears into the antigrav, which gently carries her down. A few seconds silence.)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_063

Billy:

6. ... Can Menara also come then?
7. Maybe she can also leave tracks some day?

Semjase:

7. Of course she will come one day, but with the tracks it might be a bit more difficult.
8. For planetary flights, her ship has a propulsion system that generates gas clusters close to the Earth, which ignite and scorch the ground.
9. That is why she usually does not set her ship down, but lets it float.

...

11. ... it would burn everything within a radius of several meters.

...

Billy:

27. I just went through several newspaper reports today about a UFO in Persia.
28. It is supposed to ...

Semjase:

21. I know the reports, but we were not able to clear things up.
22. Our telemeter discs indeed registered the entry of an object unknown to us into terrestrial space, but it had simply disappeared without a trace and could not be found by any means when we tried to do so.

...

Billy:

47. Those stupid cows there, they are still mooing across the whole neighbourhood together.
48. If only they could be quiet.

Semjase:

48. They are affected by my ship; they are influenced by the vibrations of the safety devices.

...

Billy:

72. But tell me, was his {Sfath's} pear-shaped ship one of your usual ships?
73. You had a completely different 300-year-old box.

Semjase:

85. His ship was a gift from a Sirian people.

Billy:

74. You mean from people of Sirius?

Semjase:

86. Sure, from one of the two inhabited planets of Sirius, but in a different space-time continuum.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_064

Semjase:

16. This is typical for the human being of the Earth, because he/she always reaches only for the material and completely overlooks the fundamental values, namely the spiritual and consciousness-based ones, about which he/she then makes up unbelievable fantasies and even claims that jet ships and spaceships, etc. are driven by spiritual forces and that they are also built according to spiritual models, etc.

17. This is as malicious a misleading claim as the one that we were moving in paranormal realms.

107. Unfortunately, my sister is also travelling with my ship at the moment, which is why I came here with Menara's ship, which also does not have the same technological possibilities as my aircraft.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_069

Billy:

160. But tell me, why and at what time did these dwarves land in that forest?

Semjase:

175. They landed there because a small impulse transmitter of ours is installed very close to that place, which serves as orientation for our telemeter ships.

176. They registered these impulses and subsequently descended there.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_070

Billy:

55. You told me recently that an Earth-foreign spaceship has been roaming the Earth's space for months, seeking contact with Earth-humans, but that it does not dare to do so.

56. Where does this ship come from and why do you not make contact with it?

Semjase:

217. It is very strange with this, because with all possible means we have tried to contact them uselessly so far, and when we appear, the ships flee.

Billy:

57. Why now, all of a sudden?

Semjase:

218. Because there are several of them, as we have now discovered.

219. All of them are of a white-radiating or green-radiating colour, often with a strange red-orange tail behind them, containing substances unknown and alien to us, which are currently being analysed by our scientists.

220. With regard to these objects, our probability calculations still reveal some indefinable surprises.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_073

{Note: This seems to be an attempt to use a walkie-talkie from inside Semjase's ship.}

Billy:

... but say, can I not actually talk to my people from here via the radio?

Semjase:

16. You have already tried it several times, but you did not succeed.

...

Billy:

... But now to the radio again: so you got the point that I had pressed the talk button each time?

Semjase:

20. Sure, but the ship absorbs everything and you cannot penetrate out with your device.

21. Look here, connect your antenna here, then you can talk and have connection with the other devices.

...

Billy:

28. Good – ah, there's Kloten down there. ...

...

31. Does the ship light up outside now?

Semjase:

29. Sure, but only weakly.

30. But it still cannot be detected by radar.

Billy:

...

33. Wait a minute, there, you see, there on the screen I have Miranos 3 again, that of Jacobus.

34. He sits behind the wheel of his car and watches the sky far in front of him.

35. Do you think he will see us?

...

Semjase:

31. Ask him – I will switch on the amplification system.

...

Billy:

38. Miranos 3, do you see us?

39. We are hovering right above Kloten Airport now.

M3:

Yes, I see you, but only very faintly.

Billy:

40. Wait, we are making stronger light.

41. Semjase, please let the box shine.

M3:

Miranos 1, now I see you very well.

...

Billy:

...

46. What do you think if you just let me slide down in front of Jacobus' car when you bring me back?

...

Semjase:

34. As you like; but I will let you float through the mechanical teleporter.

35. This is a teletransmitter.

Billy:

36. It is a transmitter in the field of de-materialisation and re-materialisation.

37. All you have to do is climb into the shaft as usual, and I trigger the transmission, which will cause you to appear directly in front of your friend's car at the same moment as if you had grown out of the ground.

...

{Billy:}

(In a moment I have disappeared from the ship and am suddenly standing in front of the car on the street as if grown out of the ground.)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_075

Semjase:

62. I will let you down with the teleporter, right next to the old man there.

63. He is Jacobus' father, isn't he?

Billy:

That is him. He will soon be eighty. – Can you still let the ship buzz a bit about this? You know, as a surprise?

Semjase:

64. Sure, but you will not hear it in the ship.

Billy:

It's not for me. Well, then I get out. But do not just let me get off, or I'll break all my bones. We are quite high above the trees here.

Semjase:

65. You know that such mistakes do not happen.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_076

Menara:

13. You see that I am here with Quetzal's ship, which earlier was piloted by Semjase.

14. So you also know that time jumps can be made here with this device, which is why I think that we can discuss the necessary things in peace before I make a time shift and bring you back to the place where you left your wife in such a hurry just a few minutes after the time to rush to me.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_077

Billy:

4. I do not think anyone noticed that I suddenly disappeared from the middle of the group, brought here by your teletransmitter or whatever it is called.

...

Ptaah:

44. But now I want to let you go back, for down there everyone is in great excitement.

45. Because all your friends have meanwhile noticed that suddenly, without leaving a trace, you just disappeared out of their area.

46. Let yourself slide into the shaft.

...

Billy:

19. A few hundred metres of empty depth yawn beneath the shaft.

...

{Billy:}

(... I stepped into the exit shaft and fell into emptiness, to stand at the same moment again at the same place on the scaffolding, where Ptaah had taken me away about 35 minutes before ...)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_078

Billy:

... But, now tell me why all the dogs here and also the chickens do not behave crazily, because usually they always do when there is a beamship nearby. Today, however, the animals behave completely normally, if I exclude the mother dog Anita. Why is that?

Menara:

...

35. Your question has to be answered to the effect that my ship is not a beamship, but a flying apparatus with a compaction aggregate that can fly by densification and the highly compressed emission of atmospheric gases.

36. This does not agitate the animals, whereas with the beamships which emit radiation and swinging waves, the animals get excited, become restless and even run away.

Billy:

Aha, and with what propulsion do you fly in space?

Menara:

37. My ship, which I currently own, is not capable of space flight.

Billy:

Oh, I see, but at least you can screen it from sight. Where did you leave it, anyway?

Menara:

38. It floats directly here above this place, 27 metres high, and we have known the technology of shielding for 42,983 years.

...

Menara:

61. ... an examination by a telemeter apparatus has shown that you have been financially damaged for a long time because you were too trusting in this respect.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_079

Billy:

140. When Menara and Alena were here on July 6th, I took a lot of pictures of the ray gun and the tree that was shot through.

141. Afterwards first, namely on the slides, we made some quite strange observations.

142. First of all there was Jacobus' tractor photographed in different pictures, although at that time it was not in the place, but in Wila.

143. In second and third place were the shed and the dwelling house respectively the part of the barn and the wooden gate next to it, the passage and the trees, etc. so crooked on the pictures as if the film had been damaged by heat and had caused distortions.

144. But this is not the case, because the films are completely in order.

145. Could it therefore perhaps be possible that these things were caused by the protective shield that Menara had placed around the area from the ship?

...

Semjase:

212. The reference of your first question could not only be so, because it really was so.

213. Menara erected the protective shield so that which you mentioned could come about, to explain to you, and of course to all the others in your group, what we can do with the protective shields.

214. The explanation for the processes is very simple:

215. The appearance of the tractor on the film is an as yet unknown form of visualisation of all matter by a type of infrared radiation, as yet unknown.

216. Probably the earthly science is so far along, that it knows of the infrared light and many of its application possibilities, so e.g. such as making any matter visible, which has already been removed hours or days before from its location to be photographed.

217. The relevant and previous earthly technique is usually only able to capture shadow outlines, while our technique is so far developed that an object is reproduced in all its details and true to nature.

218. The tilting, as you call it, of the buildings is quite simply due to the fact that everything that is not in the immediate range of radiation appears blurred or distorted, while in the process with the tractor the former location was in the immediate range of the radiation.

...

Semjase:

226. For some members of the group, the registration apparatuses have recorded that the appearance of our ships or demonstrations carried out, or to be carried out, by us are evaluated in such a manner that they serve to brighten up and loosen things up, but on the other hand they also find an evaluation of privilege and sensation.

...

230. This is partly because more and more steps have been taken by various departments of your army to monitor you in particular, and under certain circumstances, they hope, erroneously, to get hold of us.

231. This special part is also the reason why we have not recently ordered you out to our contacts, but have brought you directly into our ships through transmitters.

234. With regard to the members of the group, who now think of our appearance as a visual privilege, etc., I would like to explain that we are in nowise averse to releasing our ships to their eyes in demonstrations, but not for reasons of privilege or sensation, etc., but simply because we feel joyful about their own joy, and because we would like to promote joy in all of them in dear solidarity, when they can observe us at demonstrations or otherwise.

235. But that gives nobody the right to demand that as a right.

...

Billy:

178. I also got a glimpse of why so many telemeter disks were pulling away over the center {Semjase Silver Star Center} because of the faceted trajectories of the magnetic currents.

Semjase:

263. That is also correct, and if you are talking about it right now:

264. You should really refrain from your pranks in the future and not take the discs off course at every opportunity you get.

265. Although our technicians have now equipped them with special track stabilisers that work automatically when the corrective illumination is switched off by thought influences, these stabilisers are not yet so perfected that they are fully functional.

Billy:

179. And what about your technology?

Semjase:

266. The prepared track stabilisers of this form have only been developed since then, since you have been constantly driving the discs off course with your funny pranks.

267. We were not aware of any problems about this before, which is why a new invention first had to be made, which is not yet fully developed at the present time, but which will be soon.

Billy:

180. Not much can happen if I let the little things dance a little across the sky, can it?

181. Or do the little apparatuses suddenly flash down?

Semjase:

268. They cannot crash, at least not ours, but there is a danger that they will collide if they suddenly stray from the prescribed path and fall into the trajectory of another.

Billy:

182. It will not be that bad, because then they just dissolve, as you once said.

Semjase:

269. Sure, but that only applies to our own registering-discs.

270. Those of the other participants would crash.

Billy:

183. But it is still kind of fun to direct the things a bit.

Semjase:

271. I know you, like every human life-form, need the constant testing of your powers of consciousness, but please use them elsewhere, only not directly on our telemeter discs.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_080

Semjase:

27. Sure, it is – ah, just a minute –, so. [a plane approaches them]

Billy:

5. He almost rammed us.

6. That is Koni with his flying rust bucket.

Semjase:

28. He cannot see us, so we cannot blame him.

29. Besides, he could not ram us, as you say, because he would be thrown back by the protective belt of the ship.

30. It was a bit dangerous for him.

Billy:

7. Now he banks there without knowing that his crate was almost smashed.

Semjase:

31. That could not have been possible, because the protective sensors would have taken the ship off its flight course on their own.

Billy:

8. Then he was lucky again.

Semjase:

32. Nothing could have happened to him.

...

Semjase:

34. My ship has many forms of weapons, as you know, such as a ray projector of a similar shape to the one you used to make the hole in the tree.

35. I will destroy the nest by burning the surface.

40. Here, through this sight, you can regulate the dimensions of the rays, by which I mean the radiating surface of the beam.

41. You can move this disc here through this sliding device and thus regulate the further radiation.

42. This allows you to precisely define and determine the entire combustion source.

43. When you then touch this small elevation, the energy escapes from a hair-fine opening on the underside of the ship in order to destroy the target through a form of radiation.

44. Here you can still regulate the strength of the combustion, so that you do not hurt the tree any deeper.

...

47. You did not follow my instructions and just aimed at the target, made the adjustments and released the energy.

...

49. Sure – yes, that was very good, only the beam was a bit too big.

...

53. I am sure you only laugh when I explain to you that we first have to spend several hours with this device in order to be able to operate it properly.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_081

Ptaah:

4. I am now aware of this, because our permanent analysers, which we recently used to clarify your concerns, drew our attention to it.

...

Semjase:

4. A stationary telemeter disk will float high above the Center and continuously transmit the events under permanent connection with our station, which guarantees a certain protection from our side until the completion of the Sohar-Centre {see the last entry here, a meditation area at the Semjase Silver Star Center}.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_082

Semjase:

4. Where did you leave the relevant records?

Billy:

5. They are on the table in the hall.

Semjase:

5. That is still no problem, wait; so, you see, there is your table.

...

Billy:

6. Terrific, girl, what you can conjure up with your screens.

...

Semjase:

9. Use the lower room as a ventilation shaft; wait, I project the picture onto a screen for you, now you see?

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_086

Semjase:

12. Our analyser discs have made very strange and distressing recordings of various group members in relation to their personal attitudes and the emotions and feelings of the fact that you initially ... have to make an effort to get the individual group members involved.

13. Emotional degenerations of a jealous form come very strongly to the fore, as this is clearly established and ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_087

Billy:

1. Jacobus and my children observed, last night after dark, how some glowing object the size of a football had descended below us behind this range of hills and climbed up again after about three minutes, suddenly shrinking and quickly disappearing.

2. Therefore, I have now looked back and made two observations that indicate that there must have been a beamship down there.

3. Some bushes and also the grass are depressed, but as if the ship had not landed directly, but only floated, whereby the greenery was probably only depressed by antigravity forces or something similar.

4. On the other hand, I found a roe deer lying there for no apparent reason – dead.

5. Somewhat flattened, it seemed to me as if the animal had been pressed to the ground and thus pressed to death.

6. I therefore had the idea that the animal got into the protective shield area of a ship and was pushed to death by it.

...

Semjase:

5. ... I myself was here last night to call you for another contact.

6. I lowered my ship to the clearing and overlooked the grazing deer because it was a bit hidden between the bushes.

7. So it got into the protective shield of the ship and was killed within fractions of a second, which is very painful for me.

...

9. I am really very sorry.

...

10. ... I should have been more careful, because I know that by redesigning the propulsion systems of our ships, those swinging-waves that have frightened away animals of all kinds no longer appear.

Billy:

10. What if you were to then build some kind of apparatus or device that would generate these swinging-waves?

Semjase:

11. Such or a similar device already exists, but it has not yet been used in my ship.

12. However, this is not a device to scare the animals away, but it acoustically signals immediately when a life form endangered by the protective field is in the danger zone, whereby at the same time impulses automatically switch on a safety mechanism and bring the ship out of the zone endangering the life form.

...

Billy:

19. Would you rather tell me when I can bring you the last piece, the central piece?

Semjase:

27. It is very difficult if you want to bring it to me.

28. It would probably be better if I took it through the porter [transporter] in the course of next week.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_088

Semjase:

21. Quetzal is also working on a protective device for a surveillance disk that will shield the upper room from the lower one in the future.

...

Semjase:

39. This will only begin in the course of the next year, whereby we will then keep all swinging-waves and radiations of these persons away from the power centres by absorption through the telemeter disc already positioned high above your centre.

40. This is so that they can do no harm in the centre, so that they can meditate in the centre, but no storage will take place and all of their swinging-waves of the emotions, thoughts and feelings will be continuously neutralised, thus excluding any harm by the doubting group members, as you call these group members.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_089

Semjase:

101. Our beamships and spaceships are mostly controlled by female life forms, which is the truth.

102. This is because female persons are very well suited for these positions, because they do not require very large physical forces, but on the other hand they are much more sensitive and thus more sociable in the communicative field than male life forms.

103. These are the main reasons why, as a rule, more female persons fill these positions, but this is not the case with all space races, because there are also human races in the wide space, which in their delusion, as with terrestrial humans, grant only the male life forms the right or all rights, while the female life forms are pushed aside.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_090

Semjase:

55. First inspections in the last 70 minutes have now revealed that last Monday during the night time one of our large surveillance discs in the area of Southern Europe registered a foreign flying ship, but did not transmit this to the station, because it had not stored this data due to a disturbance field, which registered itself as of natural origin in our surveillance devices, and thus also had not transmitted it to our station.

56. Checking this disk now revealed that its equipment had not been shut down for seconds by a natural Earth interference field in any wise, but that an artificial interference field from some flying ship had caused this brief damage, controlled by some intelligence.

57. What remained unobserved during the disturbance of our surveillance equipment was an image recorder that automatically recorded the foreign flying machine in the moving image, after which we now know that this cylindrical ship, about 12 meters in diameter, is somewhere on the Earth – where, unfortunately, we do not yet know.

58. Apparently it is equipped with some kind of protective shield, which made our analysers ineffective and we could not determine the location.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_091

Semjase:

7. However, we were able to ascertain with certainty that their ship has not yet left the earthly space, so it is still somewhere camouflaged and shielded in a hiding place.

...

10. According to the Cygner, the four ships with unknown whereabouts are older expedition ships, which unfortunately only have very limited means of remote communication on a technological basis.

11. This means that the Cygner here on Earth cannot communicate with their home planet, precisely because their means of remote communication cannot bridge the distance of 2,000 light-years.

12. The maximum range of their devices is unfortunately less than 1,400 light-years.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_092

Semjase:

32. But now I have to explain to you that in the future you should only devote yourself to your work.

33. But that you can do this again, as always, it is necessary that I take you with me to my ship for a few minutes to regenerate your nerves and also some other things in you.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_102

Billy:

3. With this old ship you leave quite good tracks on the one hand but, on the other hand, you could be seen here, especially outside where the court lamp illuminates everything.

...

Menara:

1. We have also put the protective shields into operation, so that even from outside no observation can be made at this place.

...

Billy:

93. Are the Cygners still with you?

94. Semjase had promised me that I would be allowed to take a picture of Asina {image 1, image 2} before she returned home.

Menara:

15. She will still be here for several months, because the repair of the interstellar propulsion of her ship has turned out to be very difficult.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_104

Billy:

29. But tell me, Quetzal, can you also penetrate other dimensions with this old box?

...

30. It makes me wonder whether you can also travel to the past and the future with Menara's ship?

Quetzal:

83. It is possible ...

...

91. Of course, I agree with that, but it takes several hours if I want to go there with you.

92. This old ship, I do not have another one available at the moment, needs a longer preparation time, after which you will only be back in normal time at dawn.

Billy:

38. It does not matter, because you can bring me back at about the same time as you got me out of bed.

Quetzal:

93. That would be possible.

...

102. Come here, look – here this floor hatch, as you can see, after the plate has been pushed aside it releases this very finely dotted viewing plate, through which you can look directly outside.

103. You can photograph through it.

Billy:

44. I do, Quetzal, but you know that when I take pictures in the ship, they are always very blurred and blurred afterwards.

45. Is there no other possibility, do you know that I might be able to get off?

Quetzal:

104. You have the best overview from above, here from the ship.

105. On the other hand this time you will bring sharp and clear pictures onto your film, because the propulsion of this ship does not affect your film by radiating.

106. You just have to make sure that you do not photograph directly under the drive surface, because the very strong light radiation could affect the film.

107. The slightest damage to the film could be that the finished images would appear to be illuminated by a light source.

108. In the worst case an overexposure would occur.

Billy:

46. Is it the light that goes so far down there and looks like a spotlight?

Quetzal:

109. That is correct. So make sure that these light masses do not reach your shooting range.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_106

Billy:

69. Hello Miranos 5. Salü Elsi. ...

70. Agapulla and Jacobus obviously tried to call for me, Quetzal.

71. Why do I not hear anything?

72. Ah, now even Elsi is apparently trying.

Quetzal:

97. The waves of their transmitters {possibly walkie talkies} are absorbed by our flying apparatus.

98. Menara's ship is not suitable for this.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_109

Billy:

129. Okay, how high are we now?

130. It seems damn high to me.

Quetzal:

71. At 40,000 metres.

Billy:

131. Well, then take care, I will now jump into the void there; hopefully, you will turn on the damn converter in time, or whatever it may be; otherwise, I will just rush into the void and then look at the daises from underneath.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_115

Quetzal:

28. I understand. You can only use these apparatuses {typewriters} with difficulty because they have somehow become foreign to you, and due to other people working with them, the mechanics have shifted, whereby you would have difficulties.

Billy:

Exactly, that is it. Do you also have the same problems yourselves then?

Semjase:

33. Sure.

Billy:

Aha, is that, perhaps, also one of the reasons that all or at least many of you have your own beamships?

Quetzal:

29. That is the true reason, that is of correctness.

30. We only use other apparatuses of any kind that are not adapted to us if some circumstances require it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_119

Semjase:

2. We were actually here to see you, but then we were quite suddenly ordered away because unknown flying devices were approaching our station, with which we have already busied ourselves for months, but we cannot make any contact with them.

Billy:

Ah, by that, you mean the UFOs that showed up recently in Italy and Australia and in various other countries?

Semjase:

3. Sure.

4. These flying devices are obviously constructions of a very well-developed technology, which is not yet so advanced, however, that they could move into our refined areas of communication.

Billy:

By that, you probably mean, at the same time, your somewhat different physical structure, right? By that, I mean even the dimensional difference, through which you, in a moderate measure, exhibit different and much finer vibrations compared to us Earth worms.

Semjase:

5. Sure.

Billy:

And you have no idea where these UFOs come from and what human races manufacture and pilot these?

Ptaah:

1. There is complete uncertainty about that.
2. Every contact attempt has been unsuccessful so far, unfortunately.
3. It seems to be absolutely the case that they do not perceive us at all.

Billy:

But, you could, nevertheless, simply fly up to these unknown flying objects.

Ptaah:

4. That cannot be done, unfortunately, because the objects depart immediately, as soon as a flying device that is foreign to them approaches them.

Billy:

I find that crazy. After all, you should have certain possibilities with your highly developed technology.

Quetzal:

1. Even our possibilities are limited.

2. You are only looking at everything from the perspective of an earthly standpoint, whereby you overestimate our technology, at least in this case.

Billy:

That is possible, and I see, therefore, that even for you, limits are set in certain matters of technology.

Quetzal:

3. That is of correctness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_121

Billy:

... But I now know from Ptaah's Great Spacer that this is possible for you today and that you know how to locate any structural vibration in any area of the past or future within seconds on the basis of computer analyses.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_123

Billy:

... Already since the beginning of the year, every month, I have observed very strange light objects in the vicinity of the Centre. Interestingly enough, at the beginning of the year, I also received impulses unknown to me from somewhere, which made it clear to me, for the whole year, as to what times these light objects would appear in each case. On the 19th of April, now, I could also make slide pictures of these objects in the early morning hours around 2:23 hrs. The crazy thing was that these objects – with which I tried in vain to establish communication, by the way – constantly changed their forms. A car's headlights came from somewhere; then, these objects assumed their forms. They also mimicked my flashlight headlight and the yard lamps, and the objects in their original forms looked similar to bathtubs, which were sometimes so bright that they seemed brighter than the Sun at its zenith. That is why several films were ruined for me in the middle of the night, due to overexposure. Also, the sizes of the objects constantly changed, so these were to be measured between 5 metres and several hundred metres. Do you, perhaps, have an explanation for this, or do you at least know any solution for this?

Semjase:

48. The objects observed and photographed by you come from the Andromeda areas, and these are fine-material flying objects – similar to the bio-organic flying objects that you know.

49. In this case, however, it is such that these flying objects are fine-material and not bio-organic and that these, depending on preference and need, are generated by powers of consciousness from a very highly developed, human dwarf race, whose size amounts to approximately 70 cm, whereby I speak of body height.

50. This race, which is even unknown to us, is fine-dimensioned and stands in the advice of the High Council, which has sent it here to clarify our interests with you in detail, because it was found that we would not assert ourselves strictly enough.

53. Anyhow, the High Council became informed and enlightened by these Nabulanians – so they are, in fact, called – about the conditions here on the Earth and in connection with your group and our collaboration, down to the last detail – even about all those things of joylessness, which we did not submit to the High Council.

...

Semjase:

71. When I receive my new beamship, which, however, can no longer be designated as a beamship, for it belongs to a completely new technology, which is currently running towards that state with us, where it is perfected.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_125

Billy:

Hello, there is a rather strong storm up here. If you do not manoeuvre the ship, then... damn, we will ram the treetop. – Already done. Good day, my child, I am happy to see you. If you get me the treetop, I could use that at the turn of the year as a Christmas tree. It would be something different, so a top of a full-grown fir. It certainly measures 32 metres.

Semjase:

...

3. Yes, there is a strong turbulence here, and I will get you the top of the tree.

4. Unfortunately, I had to turn off the protective shields and the stabilisation fields when I brought you up; therefore, the ship was exposed to the storm gusts, by which means we, unfortunately, damaged the tree.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_126

Billy:

... Two days ago, at night and during the snow removal, we saw from the Centre three orange-coloured, large, and smoking lights, which held themselves over the crest of the hill for about 20 seconds in each case, before they plummeted and disappeared. The first time was around 20:00 hrs, and the same example still followed two times, after about 10 minutes each. Was our military, perhaps, at work there, or were these some ships that carried out energy combustions?

Semjase:

...

127. No, this was no one from us or from others of our groups, even though that which you all observed looked deceptively similar to our energy combustions.

128. The light phenomena observed by you all were of a private, Earth human nature and had no relation whatsoever with any flying objects of extraterrestrial origin.

Billy:

Aha, then some happy-go-lucky sorts of fellows or the military functioned there.

Semjase:

129. Surely.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_130

Billy:

... you can get the most important things much more quickly and in greater detail from the monitoring disc, I mean from the recording device.

Semjase:

108. I cannot do that, unfortunately, because during our departure, we failed to insert larger recording elements, which is why now only a single month is recorded.

...

Billy:

... My question now is whether the videotapes, the cassettes, will be impaired or damaged if I come into the proximity of the ship with them?

Semjase:

204. That is unfortunately so, which is why you must be extremely careful.

205. Our ships have different magnetic vibrations, which would destroy your cassettes.

...

Semjase:

254. ... I can bring down to Earth at least one large telemeter disc, about 125 to 200 centimetres in diameter, for the film and photo work, which you can then film in such a manner that you will stand with this and touch it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_131

Semjase:

10. Nevertheless, we will take pictures of one of our telemeter discs.

11. However, these are magnetic path-bound, which is why we cannot bring one of these down to the Earth's surface outside a terrestrial magnetic path.

...

14. It is also possible to place a telemeter disc on either side of 150 kilometres as the crow flies from your centre.

...

Billy:

I understand. Your words also mean, therefore, that the magnetic path mentioned by you has a diameter of about 300 kilometres, solely in which it is possible to take pictures of a telemeter disc, as you can only bring them down within this distance.

Semjase:

18. That is right ...

...

Billy:

... can you not land with the ship in the Menara Landing below, in spite of the rain, in order to once again leave a decent landing track impression, if this pouring rain ever stops?

Semjase:

39. If you want, I can do that.

40. The impressions are not affected by the rain, and they keep for a long time.

...

41. Do you want to get out?

Billy:

In this pouring rain? I would become soaking wet and drown in this.

Semjase:

42. Oh no, I will put the protective screen over the ship, on which the water will then roll off.

...

Billy:

But then the tall grass is still soaking wet, and I with my house slippers...

Semjase:

44. That is no problem, my friend, wait a moment ...

...

45. We can get out, and in a few seconds, the meadow will be as dry as if the Sun had shone down on it for many hours.

...

48. Here under the protective screen, you can see everything much more sharply and more clearly than is possible outside of it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_132

Semjase:

5. But at the same time, you also have to be aware that the sounds of my ship are so loud when in full action that they can be heard for miles.

...

11. The group members should then position themselves in front at the crossroads at the barn and should let no stranger through when I release the sounds of my ship and they resound through the countryside.

12. Inevitably, people will then come running or approach there from far away because the sounds will be heard very far.

13. So it will then be the group members' job to keep these people away from you and me.

Billy:

Is the noise so very loud in full action, then?

Semjase:

14. You will see.

15. You will shake from the vibrations, when the air bursts and rips.

...

Semjase:

24. ... Quetzal – just a few hours after our conversation on June 15th, so about a month ago – removed the small monitoring disc over the Centre, so therefore, now no more recordings will be made.

25. This also means, however, that the meditative centre is no longer under the neutralising influence of this disc, which will surely already be ascertained rather soon by some group members.

26. So in the future, also no objects and so on can be cleansed there anymore, and all neutralisation must now be created there in every respect by the group members themselves.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_134

Ptaah:

130. As you were being called by my daughter to the contact, you had to go down to the forest clearing below the chickens' pond, but you did not notice that Roland, his mother {Sissi Rüegsegger}, and Margaret Rose secretly followed you to spy on you and hid themselves in the storage area below the pond, where they observed you and my daughter.

131. Thus, they saw Semjase's faintly illuminated flying apparatus in the forest clearing, but also in the light itself, your friendly greetings and your entry into the flying apparatus.

132. Neither you nor my daughter noticed any of this; therefore, she left her flying apparatus hovering just four metres above the storage area, where the three were hiding.

133. Only then did Semjase notice on her apparatuses the three observers, who were obviously very frightened as the flying apparatus flew away in a very low altitude over and above them.

...

136. She told you nothing because she did not want to give you any concerns since the three were in the dangerous swinging wave area of her aircraft.

...

139. But their behaviour will produce harmful consequences for them because unlike you, they are not able to shield themselves against the strong swinging waves of the aircraft; therefore, all three of them will take consciousness damage, which will already soon reveal itself.

140. Their consciousnesses will fall into confusion, and soon, they will suffer from different delusions and fancies, which will worsen over time, and they will no longer be able to escape from these for the rest of their lives.

141. This will also, in the foreseeable future, lead to the fact that they will become alienated from reality and be removed from the scope of the mission.

142. But this will still take some time, so you should still allow them to continue the tasks of the mission, etc., however, do not talk to them about their misstep or about what is imminent for them.

143. Let everything happen in such a manner, as it is unavoidable because the resulting horror and consciousness damage caused by the swinging waves of the aircraft are absolutely irreparable.

Billy:

What should I say, then? It is all so damn sorrowful. I probably should have paid better attention that no one followed me. But you could erase the memory in these three, which would certainly fix the damage.

Ptaah:

...

145. They wanted to examine everything and did not listen to you when you explained to them that the swinging waves are dangerous or even fatal for the Earth-humans and animals.

146. And because unlike you, they cannot protect themselves from these swinging waves by their consciousness powers, they have now just taken irreparable damage through their senselessness and distrust of you and your explanations.

147. Unfortunately, your suggestion regarding the erasure of memory cannot be realised either because the swinging waves of the aircraft were so strong that the consciousness damage immediately appeared and, therefore, is no longer reparable.

(Ptaah's prediction was already fulfilled after a short time: Margaret Rose's thinking became more and more confused until she died, completely confused, in 2001 at the age of 92. Also, Roland and Sissy Rüeegseggers' thinking already became confused very soon, quite obviously. In the end, Roland completely lost the memory of the fateful experience. Due to his confusion, he must be repeatedly admitted to psychiatric clinics. His mother, Sissy Rüeegsegger, likewise suffers from strong confusion. All three, soon after their experience, were already hit by severe delusions and crazy notions, from which they have not been able to recover up to today, 1st May 2003. Note made at the request of Florena.)

Billy:

Yes, I have often explained that people and animals will take severe damage if they come within range of the swinging waves of your ship and that they will also take severe damage if you come into the swinging wave area of the Earth-humans.

Semjase:

48. ... just a moment, Quetzal is calling me through the intercom ...

...

Quetzal: (Visible on the communicator screen.)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_139

{Note: This excerpt concerns the first appearance of what has become known as the "wedding cake" ship.}

Billy:

You have actually come with your new box. It looks quite impressive. What technical innovations does it have to exhibit?

Semjase:

1. You are rather disrespectful in reference to our technology.
2. I am proud of this flying apparatus.
3. With its new drive, which I will explain a little to you later, I have better possibilities than father with his Great Spacer.
4. Also, with this device, it is possible for me to dive directly into the past or future, but also to penetrate into other dimensions.
5. The flight from my home world to Earth is reduced with this new aircraft to zero-time, which I will also explain to you at a later time.

...

Billy:

And is this now a standard type?

Semjase:

9. This aircraft is still a prototype, at least still for a week.
10. After that, three hundred and fifty units of the same kind will have already been supplied.

11. This type of aircraft will gradually replace all other existing types of devices; thus, it will become the standard type, as you said.

12. In addition, the diameter amounts to 7 metres in size, like the existing aircraft of this type.

13. What can also be mentioned even further is that the next three size classes of our present aircraft will also be replaced by this type, but they will differ in their sizes, which explains itself.

14. They will include the sizes of 14, 21, and 28 metres, which will increase directly with planetary interests.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_145

Billy:

You are a little careless, Quetzal. From the parking lot up there, one can see that it is your ship down here at the edge of the forest. Especially the light is clearly visible.

Quetzal:

1. Besides Eva, no one is there, and should some stranger approach, then I will find out early enough.

Billy:

Of course, but you opened the sound-absorbing shield too early. I just heard the rather loud buzzing.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_147

Quetzal:

6. In addition, all our new ships {"wedding cake ships"} have been withdrawn.

7. This for technical reasons, so we will not continue to have this type of ship at our disposal for your film work.

...

Billy:

... Why, then, were only these boxes recalled? These are still boxes that are not yet a year old?

Quetzal:

12. That is of correctness, as for your statement, however, I already explained to you that there are technical reasons for this.

...

13. The outer materials of the ships are not resistant enough against the highly poisoned earthly atmosphere.

14. They become attacked and corroded.

15. The Earth's atmosphere has further poisoned itself during the last months to such an extent that our relevant materials no longer withstand these metal-attacking poisons, which is why we must withdraw all units and exchange them.

...

Billy:

And the old ships are able to endure the present atmosphere?

Quetzal:

17. Yes, that is so.

Billy:

But can you not protect your new ships against these poisonous effects?

Quetzal:

18. Unfortunately no, because the acidic gas formations in the terrestrial atmosphere penetrate through our protective screens.

...

20. But for the current aircraft, the time now hurries, for in the latter part of September, they will be taken away for good.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_148

Billy:

... Have you now removed all of the wedding cake ships? Here you have a ship again, like the one you had when you scrapped the washboard ships.

Quetzal:

120. They are all gone, yes, and we will not use them again.

121. Now, we use the old ships again, into which all the technical innovations were incorporated, which were also in the latest models.

Billy:

Aha, and these are resistant to our atmosphere?

Quetzal:

122. That is of correctness.

123. The last aircraft, which you call 'wedding cake ships' and which actually do show a resemblance to such sweet food of the Earth, were made out of a special alloy which was adapted to the Earth's atmosphere most exactly and which could only move in this one.

124. Through the atmospheric changes, however, they slowly became destroyed and unusable.

...

Billy:

... Then let me exit now.

Quetzal:

136. You do, indeed, know your own method of exiting very well – just drop into the void – probably for the thrill.

Billy:

How right you are. I am just waiting for the moment when the dematerialisation machine fails once and I whistle as fast as a stone down to the Earth. Then, I would like to see how quickly you would react and how you would make it that I do not slam hard into the ground.

Quetzal:

...

138. But I am sorry to tell you in this regard that it would be impossible for you to jump into the dematerialisation hatch if it were to fail, but that will certainly never be the case.

139. An energy field would hold you back before the opening.

Billy:

Aha, but now, if even that would fail?

Quetzal:

140. You are relentless, but that is absolutely impossible.

Billy:

Really absolutely?

Quetzal:

41. Absolutely.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_150

Billy:

... Then another question: Take a look in my office. There is a drawing by Lee Elders on the little brown table. He drew me a boomerang-like ship of unknown origin. Such ships are said to have been sighted several times in America recently and in the past few months, and they are said to be completely black in colour and to have huge spotlights in operation at night. Is this known to you, and if so, what explanations can you give me in this regard?

Quetzal:

51. I see the paper you mentioned here in my view screen, and I can also explain some things to you about it:

52. The drawing is incorrect, because these flying apparatuses are much less wedge-shaped than the drawing shows.
53. So the wing-like side bodies are further apart.
54. The size of the devices varies from a few metres to several hundred metres.
55. The building material is of an extremely hard and resistant material, unlike our materials which are of a soft form.
56. These flying apparatuses are also, as you mentioned, for the most part black, but they also have various other colours which, however, have apparently not been observed and which are usually also drowned out by the black.
57. Unfortunately, we cannot clarify the origin of these flying apparatuses, which we have been observing and controlling for eleven years, because there is no possibility that we can get in touch with the occupants of the apparatuses.
58. The flying apparatuses are constructed in such a way that all our attempts at communication have failed because our swinging waves and vibrations and all other kinds of like are absorbed by the outer shells of the apparatuses.
59. No radio wave and no other swinging wave can penetrate into the interior of the flying apparatus, because the outer shell of each apparatus absorbs everything in the sense of storing energy for the ship's propulsion and everything else.
60. This means, among other things, that these flying apparatuses are constructed in such a way that they absorb all waves of all frequencies, and thus all swinging waves of all kinds, as well as sunlight and all the radiation that appears with it, etc., for the storage of force.
61. But also the moonlight and the weak light of the stars are absorbed and stored as force, together with many other things which are still unknown even to earthly scientists.
62. What is certain, however, is that the life-forms dominating these flying apparatuses are humane and reveal no hostility whatsoever, as has been impeccably proven by our eleven years of observation and control.

...

Billy:

... For my part, I find, for example, that a car alone would have to be tested and checked from A-Z at least every 14 days if it is used very frequently.

Quetzal:

366. Your assumption corresponds to the correctness, in every point, also with the checking of the vehicles, because they would have to be subjected to a thorough check after any prolonged use, even if they were only used for one or two weeks.

367. That is also how it is handled with our flying apparatuses and other means of transportation, although we are, in technical terms, around 3,500 years ahead of terrestrial, still quite primitive technology.

368. Experience has taught us and our ancestors that such and also very precise controls are necessary after any prolonged use.

369. And since this rule became valid for us, there were never any more accidents, neither in air, at sea, on land, or in space, except when any security measures were ignored, which led the way to technical failure of the transportation devices, or when it came to foreign influences, of which the human skill and technology had not become masters.

370. However, such accidents have occurred very rarely in the last 2,000 years or so, whereby, up to the present hour, their number only amounts to 16.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_153

Quetzal:

100. The computer will not be in this room because it is a device designed by me, which is to be installed in the telemeter disc located high above the Centre.

101. In the aforementioned room, there will only be earthly apparatuses and equipment, which will transmit the voices of the group members to the computer and which, in turn, will also let the voice of the computer in space become audible.

...

103. It is also necessary that this apparatus hovers very high above the Earth because it will not have certain data stored in it, which must then be retrieved from the central computer in the station.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_157

Billy:

Your bucket there, your protective device, it is not as bulky as the one that you recently had with you. Is this a new development again?

Quetzal:

73. That is of correctness; today, I have this device here in operation for the first time.

Billy:

Then you are just counting on the fact that it functions?

Quetzal:

74. I can rely on it like you do with the dematerialisation shafts of our ships, when you simply jump into them from impossible heights, in order to materialise on the Earth again several kilometres below the hovering ship – something that we would never do.

Billy:

A little timid perhaps?

Quetzal:

75. Our dematerialisation machinery works absolutely flawlessly, so we also do not have to fear.

76. If we use this ourselves, however, then the security hatch is always closed, so we cannot even see out.

77. You, however, jump in each case when the hatch is open, and you look down for kilometres beneath you, into the yawning depths to the ground.

Billy:

Somehow, fear is, nevertheless, fun for me. You can, indeed, say it once again: “still a barbarian.” That may be true, my friend, but even a barbarian is nice sometimes – especially when one jumps into the void and suddenly sees thousands of metres of Earth's altitude rushing toward him – even if this is only for a split second or for one or two seconds.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_163

Billy:

Good, then I have a question regarding so-called UFOs, which are truly none at all. As I know from you, the so-called flying objects that are considered UFOs are often observed in the day as well as at night. At night, it is often observed that these so-called UFOs light up and are vibrant in their intensity and also variable in colour. On the one hand, you were able to make it understandable to me, with tangible evidence and through my personal observations, that these sometimes deal with bio-organic flying bodies {see Rods} that are truly other-dimensional life forms that, as a rule, can be captured on infrared film and that penetrate from other dimensions into our dimension area, in order to romp around here somehow in earthly airspace for playful and whimsical reasons. You also explained to me that these bio-organisms are completely harmless and that they always return back to their dimension. But on the other hand, you have also spoken of the fact that similar phenomena appear in terrestrial airspace, but these are purely terrestrial in origin. At that time, you spoke of the fact that it can also concern huge swarms of insects that let themselves drift through the air at great heights. During the day, these insect swarms can be seen as dark and form-changing UFOs that often even glow. At night, the same can be observed, and these UFOs then glow from weak to very strong and often even pulsate. Those are the two forms of UFOs best-known to me, which are truly not extraterrestrial ships and which are composed of living forms. Although, you have explained that other such forms exist, about which you have told me some things, but today, I am mainly interested in the apparent UFOs, which consist of insect swarms. I would like to know a few things about this from you, if you have enough time to give me information about it.

...

Quetzal:

...

103. As a rule, it concerns masses of insect swarms, which must be calculated with millions of individual insects.

104. These insects can be driven in gigantic swarms to high altitudes which are often kilometres high, where they are able to exist in the thin atmosphere with astonishing ease and often let themselves drift through the air currents for hundreds and thousands of kilometres.

105. The size, shape, and movement of these insect swarms appear on radar screens as simulated flying objects, as also observers mistakenly suppose that these are unidentified flying objects.

106. Then, these inaccurate observations, as well as the deceptive pictures of the radar devices, always lead to the fact that such insect swarms are designated as UFOs with astonishing regularity.

107. Especially when such swarms of insects are observed at night, it is seen that these unidentified flying objects appear as illuminated bodies that either shine faintly or very strongly and that often pulsate.

108. As I know, such light is usually described by the observers as a glow.

109. Thousands of these swaying insects, united in one swarm, can muster up a light intensity that can be seen for kilometres.

110. But if the swarms of insects are even larger, if several tens of thousands or even millions unite, then the light creation of this mass is so strong that it can be observed by the naked eye up to 180 kilometres away and more as a strong light source flying at a very high speed, while performing aerial manoeuvres that cannot be executed by any earthly aircraft.

111. Forward and reverse flights at extremely rapid speeds, as well as zigzag flight manoeuvres and right-angled as well as left-angled flight manoeuvres and vertical drops and climbs are the norm, depending on the falling winds and rising winds and other various air currents prevailing at these great heights, which often cause the insect swarms, when these drift into them, to be driven off at right or left angles, etc. or driven back again with a counter-current of wind.

112. These are the so-called wild or completely crazy flight manoeuvres of these alleged UFOs, as the observers then report.

113. But such observations do actually look deceptively real, according to which it could and can actually be concluded that these are some extraterrestrial flying objects, if the observations are made by observers who are uneducated in these things or by prejudiced UFO believers.

114. Nevertheless, many who have more experience in this area can also be deceived by these insects, as you know.

...

116. But now, concerning the origin of the lights and the pulsation of these insect swarms, the following is to be explained:

117. Like on every planet in the Universe, the Earth's atmosphere is permeated by a variety of weaker and stronger electric fields, which also differ in their swinging waves.

118. The higher into the atmosphere these penetrate, the richer in occurrence these electric force fields become, which very often move along for many hundreds or thousands of kilometres.

119. Now, if the high-flying insect swarms drift into such electric force fields, which also usually move with the air currents, then the insects start to light up, which appears as a glowing.

120. Because the swarms are, on the one hand, steady in their movement and, on the other hand, the electric energy fields waver in their strength, there arises a swelling or dwindling of the glow or radiance because the weaker the energy field is, the weaker is the radiance.

121. However, the radiance also loses its strength through the constant turning motions of the insects themselves.

122. From this originates the so-called pulsating of these allegedly unidentified flying objects.

123. On the other hand, the colour changes connected with such alleged objects appear because the strength of the electric energy fields lets the radiance or the glow become more intense or weaker, in which case also the air shifts and the trembling and flickering of the air form colour-changing factors, so it can be observed, for example, that a white colour of light suddenly becomes red, blue, or green or even yellow, weak, or intense.

124. But the fact that this radiance or glow can appear at all is because the insects have substances on their bodies and wings that begin to glow or light up as soon as they come in contact with electric currents, which is, indeed, the case when they drift into electric fields at high altitudes or even near the ground.

125. Furthermore, there are also types of insect swarms that soar through the atmosphere, which have their own luminosity and, thus, generate a light or glow in themselves.

Billy:

I know; there are species of cicadas on the Earth that produce their own lights in their bodies. Also, the little glowworms known in Europe belong to these self-illuminating ones, if I may unprofessionally say so.

Quetzal:

126. That is of correctness.

Billy:

The so-called marine lights are also based on the same principle. Through you, I know that the marine lights were often seen by the seafarers as sea monsters and terrifying figures, etc., especially when the sea was moving a little and thereby moved the marine lights more than what is normally the case. But in modern times, it is only rare that this light appearing on the sea is referred to as a monster, etc. because today, the UFO craze prevails, which is why the marine lights are always seen nowadays as UFOs that still perform incredible flight manoeuvres. But in truth, it is also the case that these marine lights are caused by types of insects. However, these do not fly through the air and also do not live on land; rather, their area of life is the seawater or freshwater, depending on the type. Thus, these are the luminous little worms of the seas or lakes, pools or ponds, etc. But furthermore, from personal experience, I still know of alleged UFOs that are neither insects nor other life forms but rather self-luminous energy fields that form damn similar manifestations as the flying insects, etc. when they are driven through the atmosphere by the air currents. As you once explained to me, these are static energy fields that dissolve in this way of glowing. But then, I still know the manifestations of static energy forms that rush like wheels or balls along the ground or through the air, which suddenly explode like balls of lightning. Last to mention are the gas forms that sometimes form quite bizarre figures or that are simply round and that brightly hover just above the ground. But so far, I could only observe these in the moor areas and swamps, etc., which is certainly also logical because they originate from the fact that in the swamps and moors, luminous gases form, caused by putrefaction processes and other chemical conversion processes, and these then retreat upwards, rising high over the swamp or over the moor and then appearing as hovering bright lights. With us, we simply call these things crazy lights. But unfortunately, it is also the case that in the present time, observers of such things always want to see UFOs, in contrast to earlier times, when such apparitions were conjured, through the popular delusion, as devils and demons.

...

Tell me rather something more about the insect swarms: why, actually, do they fly through the air in this type and wise?

Quetzal:

130. The insects have a very peculiar urge, namely that regardless of their natural desire for food, nesting places, etc., they are simply driven at times, as if by compulsion, to fly high up into the sky.

131. Their entire inner being is still only dominated by this urge, by which they also completely lose any interest in food and in the opposite sex.

132. The reason why the only goal of these insects is to rise high into the air spaces – where they can let themselves be driven by the winds, often to very distant goals – is that by natural laws, they are incited to change their habitat in order to preserve their kind.

133. If the insects would stay in their old habitat for a longer time, then it would mean extinction for them.

134. Nevertheless, their natural instinct warns them of this, and therefore, if they start to feel that their present habitat is becoming dangerous for them and that simply an overpopulation of their kind is taking place, then there arises in them the peculiar urge to master the beginning goal, which is to let themselves rise high into the air or be driven away by the wind, by the thousands and millions, after which they are then driven as gigantic swarms by the prevailing winds to their new habitat.

Billy:

In America, these swarms are often observed in enormous numbers, in contrast to Europe. Are there more such kinds of insects that move over the country in large swarms, and what is the main kind?

Quetzal:

135. Yes, these insects appear there more, namely far to the north into Canada and down to the deepest south into Tierra del Fuego, which, like Canada, no longer belongs to America.

136. The currently best-known kind is the so-called Spruce Budworm.

137. The technical Latin term for it is CHORISTONEURA FUMIFERANA.

138. The only reason why the Spruce Budworm is best-known is because presently and in recent years, it can be observed the most often, for there are still many other kinds of these insects that float so high up through the air.

139. Approximately calculated, there are 25,000 species, including dragonflies, spiders, grasshoppers, flies, wasps, bees, ants, termites, beetles, and bugs of all kinds, etc.

140. It is also very interesting to know that very many flightless insects let themselves float high in the atmosphere by the winds, such as spiders, which can be found very often in large clusters and which, like all other insects, also let themselves drift along at altitudes between 2,000 and 5,000 meters.

141. On warm spring days, for example, hundreds and thousands of small spiders often clump together after hatching, and they would all have to starve miserably if they would be bound to their birthplace, where they would have to become bigger and grow up.

142. But in order to escape this death, they climb up high, sharp blades of grass or tree branches, etc. and lift their hindquarters into the air.

143. Then, when wind arises, these tiny and almost 1 millimetre-long arachnids spin a silk thread that is a thousand times thinner than the thickness of a human hair.

144. This silk thread, however, which is woven into the blowing wind, is taken by the wind and carried high up into the atmosphere, while at the end of the thread hangs the tiny spider, which can be carried so high into the air and also hundreds and thousands of kilometres away to a new home.

145. This, then, is also the reason why at great heights, earthly aircraft are often covered with a coating of the finest transparent silk when they fly through a swarm of the tiniest spiders, which are to be calculated in their number with hundreds of thousands or millions.

146. In this wonderful manner of using air to overcome distances, the insects very often reach very distant areas, in order to find a new habitat, which they could otherwise never reach by their own means of going and flying, whereby their species would become destroyed and extinct.

147. In the case of a proliferation of insects at a place, the surplus can migrate and set off into other areas that are suitable for them by the winds, which is often observed by the Earth-humans, especially at night, after which they then incorrectly suppose or simply believe that they are extraterrestrial missiles and, thus, UFOs.

148. What is still to be said is that even seeds and pollen of floral areas likewise move through the air, often thousands of kilometres away, in order to fertilise their own kind through wind pollination.

149. And all such drifting pollen, which lets itself be carried away high into the air by the winds, can bear the often stark climate changes as easily as also the insects.

150. All these insects and the pollen, however, are absolutely dependent on the prevailing wind currents for their transportation around the globe, by which they are carried into their new homeland.

151. Thus, they cannot determine their flight direction themselves because they do not go against the forces of the winds, which is why they must simply let themselves drift along in these.

Billy:

It strikes me that you have also mentioned the pollen. Apparently, so I infer from this, it must also appear to human beings as UFOs when it drifts into electrical fields.

Quetzal:

152. That is of correctness because the same process also takes place with pollen when the clusters are dense enough.

153. But the same also happens with sandstorms and the like when enormous amounts of dust, etc. are torn high into the atmosphere and then transported.

154. All of this can be observed not only at night but also during the day.

Billy:

... High in the eastern sky, I noticed a bright light at 20:14 hrs, about 4 to 5 times as large as Venus. At first, I thought of the evening star, thus Venus, before it dawned on me that Venus is only visible to us in the southern and western hemisphere. Then, I looked at the bright light a little more closely, and I noticed that it was located in strange shifts of color, which permeated all the colors of the rainbow spectrum, and changes in form also arose. Consequently, I hurried into my office and grabbed my binoculars, through which I could then largely account for and observe the strange light formation in the sky, which was about a meter in size. To me, it seemed to be like a Fata Morgana,* whose form changed constantly, and it also seemed to be somewhat transparent, so just like with a Fata Morgana. I estimated the altitude of the object to be about 35,000 meters and that it was at a distance of about 18 to 20 kilometers away from our vantage point. What I still assessed during the observation was that on the right side, various small objects separated themselves from the large object and flew away. Moreover, I also saw that on the large object itself, there were several dark points and spots as well as outgrowths and the like. I already saw something similar on the Great Spacer of Ptaah, which is why I was of the opinion that it had to have been a spaceship, but which one only saw as a Fata Morgana or just simply as a reflection. I interpreted the flying-away, glittering points to the right of the object to be beamships, while I supposed that the dark points and spots, as well as the outgrowths, had to be hangars and such, similar to the superstructures on Ptaah's ship. Now, if I consider the size of the light of the object together with its distance, then I calculate that the ship's size must have been around 320 to 340 meters in diameter.

...

Taljda:

5. The object sighted by you actually is a spaceship, but which you were only able to see as a reflection, even while the ship hovered directly over your center in order to investigate the place and those humans who are, for us, the most significant mission-engaged ones on the earth.
6. For security reasons, which were made known to you by us, the flying apparatus was shielded from view, and it creates a form of reflection that is completely alien to our technology, which becomes visible in the atmosphere many kilometers away.
7. Other human beings do not just have the same technology as we ourselves, which is well-known to you.
8. Thus, the Druans, with regard to screening technology, have completely different forms than what we possess.

...

13. The flying apparatus is a spaceship from the planet Druan, whose human life-forms we therefore call the Druan.
14. They are a very widely-developed and extremely peaceful human race that can bring some innovations to our own technology.
15. The planet Druan lies in the NOL system, which belongs to a galaxy whose size is about 1.7 times larger than ours, and this galaxy is located 3.10 million light-years away from the SOL system.

...

20. The Druans are on an expedition here on Earth, for at least 5 to 6 months, but in accordance with our experience, it could more likely last for years.
21. During this time, their spaceship and their accompanying missiles can very often be seen by the Earth-humans, but initially and during the first weeks, this was only in Europe.
22. After that, the Druan ships could then also be sighted over other continents of the Earth.
23. So if the Earth-humans keep their eyes open, then they will very often be able to observe the flying apparatus.

Billy:

This will probably result in particularly sly and scientifically super-clever explanations, such as balloons, etc. What does the object actually look like, if one disregards the distorted reflection?

Taljda:

24. Just like a discus-shaped object, although a completely different form is reflected outwardly by a special shield, which can be compared to the cone and facets of a rock crystal.

Billy:

Does this, then, also appropriately give off all the colors of the spectrum?

Taljda:

25. You apparently are not ignorant of such things.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_213

Quetzal:

168. At that same time, when Jmmanuel was born, in order to monitor and supervise everything, a large Plejaren beamship was stationed high in the atmosphere over Bethlehem.

169. This radiated very brightly, for it was one of those aircraft that collect energy from the atmosphere, which light up, radiating very strongly, when they penetrate into the area of the processing system, through which anti-gravity is produced.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_216

Billy:

used by you since that time as beamship propulsion. Since then, have you researched and developed new techniques for this?

Quetzal:

51. Of course.

52. Negative matter, as we call antimatter, has already been used by us for fifty millennia for all sorts of purposes, and of course, also much other research was connected with it and still is, therefore, new insights will also constantly be won and will create new ones, with which negative matter is brought to application or is used.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_217

Quetzal:

80. The human beings who walked the Earth at earlier times, such as over 20 or 120 or even more than 230 million years ago, were in nowise the so-called Earth-made or Earth-created ones but rather extraterrestrials who came from the depths of space and who stayed here for a certain time or only visited the planet for a short time for expeditions or for major excursions.

81. At that time, the areas of origin and home worlds of these travelers from afar were to be found in your galaxy, so the Milky Way, but also in foreign galaxies.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_218

Quetzal:

28. All of our flying devices are suited for diving processes, whereby, due to our pressure protection screens, there are no limits set for the depth.

29. We will dive into the depths of the Atlantic as well as the Pacific.

Billy:

...

Then Quetzal flies his beamship back to Earth and over the Atlantic, to then descend into the depths of the sea.

Then we hover over the spongy sea-bottom and Quetzal moves the beamship, which indeed has now become a diving ship, slowly along.

The beamship glows externally in radiating brilliance, and lights up the pitch black darkness in a broad circumference.

...

Billy:

... over and over again, crazy ones appear, claiming that they have had contacts with you or else with some extraterrestrials and that they would have been promised that the extraterrestrials would bring salvation to the Earth and to the Earth-humans. As a rule, these crazy ones who make such assertions are some sect-bosses or delusional believers and lunatics of other natures, who lie their heads off and promise their believers and followers that the extraterrestrials will come with spaceships and save all of those or at least a part of those, who believe in the hypocritical horror stories of the bringing of salvation through extraterrestrials, and will take them to a nicer, more peaceful, and better planet in safety. The crazy ones who invent and maintain such stories – partly due to pure addiction to profit, delusional faith, confusion, or madness – try to convey to their followers who are enslaved to them and to their believers that the extraterrestrials would allegedly take their own responsibility from them and send them rescue.

Quetzal:

46. That is well-known to us.

47. All evil means are right to these liars, swindlers, and deceivers, in order to bind those who are enslaved to them and their believers to themselves.

48. But the truth is that neither we nor any other Earth-foreigners exercise the role of the bringers of salvation.

49. Neither we nor others bring teachings of salvation to the Earth and, thus, to the Earth-humans, for any teaching of salvation is of a religious and sectarian nature and only serves to make those who believe therein dependent and enslaved, in order to subjugate them, to exploit them, and also to cause them to remain faithful to the relevant religion or sect.

50. In addition, each teaching of salvation is designed to drive the believers and those who are enslaved into irrational teachings and into the mistaken belief that all their offences, wrong life-styles, and injustices, as well as the harming of fellow human beings, can receive lenient treatment and can easily be forgotten, and thus, they would be forgiven by the bringers of salvation.

51. It is in the tricked believers and the enslaved that the responsibility for anything and everything would lie in a predetermination or present determination with the extraterrestrials or just with God the Creator, who should allegedly exist and who should determine and direct everything.

52. Thus, the religious believers, sect-believers, delusional believers, and others are forcefully kept – by unfair, misguided elements, etc., through lies, swindle, and deception – from bearing and perceiving their own responsibility for anything and everything that always arises in life.

53. The belief in salvation-bringing extraterrestrials, in any salvation-bringing teaching, or in a salvation-bringing God, who should also still be just, as well as full of love, understanding, and willingness to help, corresponds to the imagination of profit-minded human beings who, originally, had deliberately designed their created irrational teaching in order to gather believers and enslaved ones around themselves, whom they could exploit in every respect, in order to be able to lead lives of joy and glory through them.

54. And since ancient times, there have always been enough fools, who let others think for them instead of giving themselves the trouble of thinking, of reasoning, and of the pursuit of truth and the recognition of actuality and, thus, reality, for it was always easier for them to shift the responsibility for anything and everything onto others or onto extraterrestrials or simply onto a God-Creator, i.e. a Creator God, in order, then, to take the path of least resistance and the path of least effort, as well as the path of laziness.

55. And there are still such human beings on the Earth today, unfortunately still in large quantities.

56. But if the Earth-human really wants to experience a salvation, then he/she must bring this to themselves, in that they laboriously acquire it themselves.

57. But this means that they must turn to the truth and reality and must perceive their own responsibility in every respect and must bear it and fulfil it.

58. In this meaning, it is given to be recognised that neither extraterrestrials nor a God-Creator, neither a teaching of salvation, a religion or sect, nor any lunatic, spinner, delusional believer, 'godly one', 'enlightened one', guru, master, or exalted one by his own grace, etc. brings any salvation; rather, only every single person can acquire this for themselves, in reference to their own personality, their conduct and their life-style, their behaviour, their love, their inner and outer peace, their balance and harmony, their knowledge, their wisdom and evolution, and their entire progress in consciousness-related and material form.

...

89. Sectarians are liars, swindlers, and cheats, who are only out to rally believers and enslaved ones around themselves, in order to exploit these and to be able to position themselves in the light and in the forefront, as self-appointed eminences and divinities of their own graces or as representatives of a God or any allegedly high and lofty as well as all-knowing and powerful extraterrestrial, etc.

Billy:

... Concerning particles: Photons are after all light particles and must therefore also have a mass and a weight, because this is the only way spaceships with photon propulsion can function, right?

Quetzal:

...

157. Of course, these also have a mass and a weight, but in a changing form.

158. The present-day weight is 1.2–52 gramme.

...

Billy:

... Then I would like to come back to our joint deep-sea trip: You told me after this fantastic trip that the spotlights that illuminated the deep sea darkness for hundreds of metres around the ship corresponded to a very special kind, but you did not elaborate further on it. Can you at least explain it to me now?

Quetzal:

588. The light beam device i.e. the spotlights; these are not several devices but only a single one, comprising the entire beam ship, which can be used as a single light beam device on the outer hull.

589. The light, however, is not in the usual form known to you, hence it does not emit rays of light in the usual sense.

590. In fact, these are invisible light swinging waves, which cannot be seen from outside the beam ship, so that the ship remains thus completely dark.

591. The invisible light swinging waves can only be perceived in the beam ship itself, namely through the walls.

592. The outer environment is therefore not immersed in a visible wall of light, but only in certain swinging waves, which can be made visible to us in the beam ship by our special technology.

593. So it seems as if outside everything would be bathed in the brightest visible light, while outside however there is complete darkness.

594. Only in this way is it possible for us to observe the deep-sea life forms undisturbed.

595. Since these are self-luminaries as we call them, the visible light means danger for them, because the life forms hunt each other also in the deep sea and mean food for each other.

596. Therefore, if the beam ship were to emit visible light from outside, all life forms would flee from it, making it impossible for us to observe them.

597. The beam ship, if it were to emit rays of light visible from outside, would appear to the deep-sea life forms as an evil and all-devouring monster, which is why they would flee.

Billy:

Very interesting. So then this light has also nothing to do with the light that you shield in the atmosphere.

Quetzal:

598. That is of rightness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_235

Billy:

... For quite some time now, the talk has been about UFO sightings and alleged encounters with extraterrestrial life forms again with the human being of the Earth. Especially in Russia, a story about this had turned out to be a big one, namely in Voronezh or what the name of the village should be. Recently, however, entire squadrons of UFOs have been ghosting through the polluted skies in Belgium as well, turning police officers into UFO persecutors. But also the population seems to be in love with the hype, as it is the case in England and several other countries on our planet. Can you tell me more about this?

Ptaah:

87. Of course, but truthfully it is hardly worthwhile to say a word about it.

88. The occurrences are partly extraterrestrial, as in Voronezh and partly also in Belgium, but there is also something quite earthly behind them.

89. A certain amount of attention should be paid to the extraterrestrial origin of flying apparatuses.

90. But it is not worth talking about it either.

91. More attention should be paid to the fact that some phenomena are related to the USA and South America, where you made your own experiences when your life was threatened.

92. But discussing these things would not be of an advantage, so it is not worth talking about them – for your own safety.

Billy:

Well, that is well enough. So behind some of this there is also fraud and deception along with the truth. That is probably also the case here in Switzerland, with the alleged UFO sightings in Ticino?

Ptaah:

93. It is no different than in other countries.

94. In fact, if one wanted to believe the UFO believers and UFO swindlers and similar swindlers and phantoms, then the Earth would be teeming with aircraft of extraterrestrial origin.

95. With the SOL-system, however, the Earth lies so far away in a galaxy arm of the Milky Way that it is considered an enclave and has only a sparse influx of other inhabited stars.

96. It is simply not interesting enough to be visited by foreign life forms on a large scale.

97. Truthfully, it is practically always the same visitors from the vastness of space who fly in and out of the Earth, as we do, for example; two to three times a year, perhaps strangers come to Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_236

Ptaah:

37. Your story was rather detailed and corresponds exactly to the records of the control disk.

...

Billy:

... Do you also know that Eva is in the office next door and is sleeping? Man, we have all holes open in the building and are merrily babbling here while she is over there. It just amazes me that so far, you have not cracked up yet and are not acting crazy. ...

Ptaah:

...

68. But fortunately, that is not of great importance, for our protective devices, such as this one here, have been so further developed in the meantime that they protect us for 92 minutes from any swinging wave that could be dangerous to us.

69. So there is no danger in relation to this.

70. But so that Eva does not wake up and does not come over here, I can do something.

71. Just as my daughter placed your wife into a deep sleep before, I will do the same thing with Eva using this device here.

72. So this touch here is sufficient, now she will not be tempted to simply wake up and come here.

...

Ptaah:

159. Currently, on the Earth, a large-scale interest has awoken worldwide once again, in reference to alleged sightings of unidentified flying objects that should be of extraterrestrial origin.

160. For many months, major activities of unknown flying apparatuses have also been observed time and again all over the world, and in many cases, even entire groups of humans have become observers.

161. But also in many cases, observations are reported where there were not actually any to report, not to mention the alleged personal encounters with extraterrestrial life-forms that are supposed to have taken place.

162. In fact, few extraterrestrial flying machines have been sighted by Earth-humans, but this, unfortunately, does not mean that all sightings of unidentified flying objects were such objects.

163. In truth, there were only a few, whose sightings often were not even disclosed to the public.

164. The rest of all the other objects sighted, which became designated and which are designated as UFOs, were and are of purely natural and terrestrial origin, having very natural causes.

165. The fact that some charlatans, fun-makers, swindlers, and deceivers are involved in such works – who, through technological means, 'conjure' phenomena or allow light flying machines to rise up into the atmosphere, in order to bring the Earth-humans into turmoil or to move them into anxiety and terror or simply to make fools of them through practical jokes – this should be clear even to the most naive of the naive.

166. But whoever is UFO-believing and wants to see ghosts, of course, sees them everywhere – so even where there are none.

167. Also, frauds and charlatans arrive at their wealth in such a manner because they can live very well off of the idiots.

168. This was and has been the case since ages ago.

169. In addition, it must be said that a certain caution is also necessary with everything because not everything is simply hallucinations, sectarian insanity, charlatanism, and fraud, for flying machines also appear that are directed by Earth-humans, who have created a massive base in the South American region and who are striving for world domination, as this is also very well-known to you, but we should provide no further details about this.

170. But in any case, there are utterly dark and bad terrestrial life-forms, humans of this world who possess a high technology and corresponding flying apparatuses, in order to be able to cause disaster with these, if they could only do so and if they would not be prevented from such doings by certain circumstances.

171. Nevertheless, like the Americans, Canadians, and Russians, they repeatedly move the Earth-humans into fear and panic by demonstrating their aircraft in the day or night sky, when they are on a thief's tour or are otherwise flying through the air on some occasion that is often difficult to fathom.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_237

Billy:

... last Monday evening, the 5th of November, something happened in Europe which caused the populations of various countries to revolt. It happened around the seventh hour of the evening that many people were watching a bright, fiery ball high in the sky, moving at breakneck speed from west to east or south-east, pulling a fiery tail behind it. Various observers also said that in addition to the large fireball, some smaller ones had also appeared. A pilot who was flying to Europe via Lithuania in northern Russia saw the phenomenon as well and drew the attention of his crew and passengers. Of course, among the observers there were also madmen and phantoms who wanted to see everything possible and impossible in the tail fireball. According to the Belgium hysteria with the alleged triangular UFOs, many humans allegedly saw a huge triangular UFO high in the sky, orbited by several smaller triangular objects. One man in Germany even claimed that he had clearly seen an object that looked exactly like the spaceship Enterprise from the TV future series 'Enterprise'. In Geneva, someone had just tested a new video camera in the western sky and recorded some of it on a magnetic tape, which was then shown on Swiss television. I then saw these pictures and realised that it must have been a bigger meteor that had dipped into the Earth's envelope in a flat trajectory and then glowed, before hurtling back out into space again. This is because it is apparently slid through the uppermost layer of the Earth's atmosphere, such as for example a stone, which is thrown with great force flat on a water surface and glides over the water and strikes several times, before it sinks into the water, just as it was done with the water-slide bombs in the last world war, because large, round and tons heavy explosive bombs were built, which were hurled flat from airplanes into the water of rivers and lakes, towards weirs and the like, so the deadly water-sliding projectiles skimmed like flat stones over the water and often jumped many tens of metres before they reached their destination, exploded and tore the weirs, etc. to shreds. So it seemed to me to be similar to the object that was filmed. Now, however, so-called experts are again claiming that the whole thing was the crash of a Russian launcher. For my part, however, it seemed to me to be something else, a meteor, as I have already explained. With Quetzal, and also earlier with Semjase, I could observe different launcher crashes and also two satellite crashes from close proximity and at distance, in addition, different meteor dips into the Earth's shell, including four such dips which only whizzed flatly through the outermost atmosphere and went out and disappeared again in the world space. And this is exactly how this object, which was shown on television, looked. It looked in no wise like rocket fragments.

Taljda:

34. The incident is known to me and it was actually a meteorite with a diameter of 3.2 metres.

35. We had been observing the trajectory of this meteor for many weeks and found that it would only graze the outermost layer of the Earth's envelope, as you say, and fly out into space again.

36. It was a wandering meteorite of unknown origin and not coming from the asteroid belt of the destroyed planet Malona.

37. Hurrying through space since time unknown to us, on its path of origin, which was also unknown to us, it got into the area of attraction of the Earth and grazed the outer shell, causing it to glow and thus form a tail several kilometres long.

38. By the immersion into the outermost envelope of the Earth and by the resulting frictional heat some striking formations of the meteorite were torn apart, altogether 14 of them, which burst off explosively from the main form and burned up as accompanying meteors next to the main block and flew beside it, in order to leave the Earth's envelope again, together with the large meteorite, in order to divide in free space.

39. So it was not a crashing carrier rocket, as hasty ones or know-it-alls want to claim, but actually a big meteorite from space.

Billy:

A space projectile from the vastness of the universe, if one may formulate it so.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_238

Ptaah:

11. So I quickly went back into my flying apparatus and ordered the control element of the control disk to turn on, which I then promptly examined.

...

Billy:

... What energies did your ancestors or ancestral-ur-ur ancestors use after they departed from the rocket motors or rocket drives? I must ask, what kind of energies and engines did they use? Are you allowed to give any information at all?

Ptaah:

404. If I answer your last question first, then the answer is yes, because here too there is no longer a secret on Earth, because we have been providing relevant scientists with corresponding impulses for quite some time.

405. The answer to the questions of energies and engines is this:

406. Electron drives or electron pulse drives.

407. The entire universal space is piled up through and through with electrons, so the space is not simply empty, as the layperson mistakenly thinks, but what is also known to earthly scientists for a very long time.

408. However, electrons do not only exist in one kind or form, but in very diverse forms.

409. However, I am not yet allowed to give further information or explain details about this, nor with regard to the 280 universally existing elements, of which only about 100 are known to Earth scientists.

410. To answer your question, however, I would like to explain to you that our ancestors discovered the principle of electron energy, which is present on all planets and stars as well as in all forms of life, as well as in inexhaustible form in the entire universe.

411. We make use of these electron energies even today just as our early and later ancestors did, only that we make energy transformations and are incomparably advanced in the use of these energies and their application as well as in the technology required for them than our ancestors were.

412. Tachyon drives as well as ray drives and antimatter drives, and our newest means of transportation with transmitters are based on electron energy, which we have been using for many millennia in ever more perfected form.

413. Also the cosmic-electromagnetic life energy, from which any form of life lives, is a product of the never-exhaustible electron energy of the universe.

414. Also any form of existence, no matter what kind, lives from it, even the spirit-forms, even if their energy is infinitely finer.

Billy:

Are electrons also swinging waves?

Ptaah:

415. That is right.

Billy:

Aha, then an electron impulse engine should actually operate in such a manner that it finds a hold on the electrons in free space itself, at which it can repel itself and move by its own swinging waves. A perfect perpetual motion machine, so to speak, if one knows the technology and is able to apply it. This also explains why your spacecraft never lack energy, neither in free space nor on a planet. Also it dawns on me slowly that you can regulate and apply the redirection of light to make your flying machines invisible, but probably also the phenomenon that you can also fly in an air envelope with unlimited speed without being fried by a friction heat, because if you protect your ships or other flying bodies with electron swinging waves, with an electron swinging wave mantle so to speak, then the slightest friction can no longer arise. Is that so, or am I right?

Ptaah:

...

418. Once again, you made me ask you a question to give you a small statement with which you could continue working at lightning speed and give facts that I did not actually want to mention.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_241

Billy:

Again a question about the aliens: Apart from the fact that their objects can crash or have to go down on Earth by emergency landings, it is also given that their flying bodies are simply observed by Earth-humans when they race through Earthly air, isn't it?

Ptaah:

473. Certainly, this will remain so.

474. Sightings of such flying machines of alien beings are still made, whereby it must be paid attention, however, that not all really observed or to be observed flying machines are really extraterrestrial origin, because certain powers on Earth also have flying bodies, which are generally regarded as unidentified flying objects, because their existence is kept secret and is largely unknown, which in no way means, however, that all observations regarding such flying machines would point to earthly objects.

475. Certain observations actually refer to aircraft of extraterrestrial or even alien origin.

{Note: Here Ptaah differentiates between "extraterrestrial" and "alien".}

Billy:

This is clear to me, but not to other people, because they always turn everything in such a way that they can claim that their real or self-deceptive or self-deceiving, invented, lying or simply charlatan-like fictional sightings of missiles of all kinds are UFOs, by which of course spaceships or jet ships etc. are meant.

Ptaah:

476. That is unfortunately correct.

477. Many phantasts, liars, charlatans, swindlers and so-called experts of ufology act in this form.

478. Especially the so-called experts are usually unobjective, gullible, misbelieving and unrealistic, which is why they are unobjective.

479. Out of this, they recognize every obvious fraud as a real event, while they classify a given reality and true event as fraud, which is especially true for all well-known so-called ufologists.

480. Not only are they biased and deny any real truth because it does not fit into their concept, no, they also dare to denigrate and deny the truth in order to propagate all nonsense and nonsense as genuine and truthful.

481. Nor do they shy away from interpreting all possible and impossible things, movements, noises, shadows, whisperings, imaginary touches and deceptions of all kinds as machinations of extraterrestrial intelligences and as their manifesting themselves, which corresponds more than only to a ridiculousness, because all this is truthfully already based on a hopeless delusion.

482. Of course, all this does not contribute in public to a reasonable and unbiased discussion as well as to a pertinent assessment of the facts about alien aircraft and the actual existence of alien life and its sporadic presence and visits to earth.

483. All these stupid-dreamy boastful elements contribute in truth to the fact that the actual existence of extraterrestrial flying machines and extraterrestrial human life is just as doubted and ridiculed as their actual appearance in terrestrial airspace and on Earth itself.

...

Billy:

I know, but we shouldn't talk about it. Let's stay with the other thing you said: The fact is that many of the so-called ufologists and ufo experts etc., through their fantasies and their unobjectivity, do more harm than good to all ufology and the truth about alien, extraterrestrial missiles and their crews ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_246

Ptaah:

23. And of course I brought you the metal samples.

...

26. The multicoloured metal is a still unfinished alloy, which, as with us, is also used by Asket's people in the DAL universe as a thin coating for all types of flying objects and flying devices.

27. The other and silver shining metal is almost pure silver, which forms one of the basic materials for the alloy, which consists of two further parts of copper and nickel.

...

Billy:

... on a private basis, fraud, lies, charlatany and fraud have been practiced in these matters for a long time, which, according to your statements, should increase in the future. Unfortunately, this also discredits and ridicules the real UFO observations, if we want to stick to this name. But there are other UFO observations, namely those that fall within the scope of official and military secrets. This also involves various events of the past and present, about which a great deal has been written, claimed, talked about and kept secret in the private sphere of so-called UFO research. Stories about crashes and salvages of UFOs also appear, e.g. the case of New Mexico towards the end of the 1940s, etc. But also names like 'Falcon' and 'Condor' etc. play an important role, whereby it should concern CIA members etc., who should pass on UFO information to the public under these pseudonyms, of course without letting their face become recognizable. Also the so-called 'Little Greys' play a very important role, which allegedly in the USA about three million people are said to have insisted, impregnated and maltreated with operation scars and painting etc. ...

Ptaah:

37. Which, of course, is sheer nonsense and has no reality at all.

38. We are well aware of the hysteria of such delusions in America.

39. This is already spreading to Europe, with a particularly fertile soil to be found especially in Germany.

40. On the other hand the delusion and the hysteria are still consciously stirred up from different places, whereby also this 'Falcon' appears, whose false information is taken by all stupid believers gladly as cash coin.

41. Certain official bodies, offices and organizations also deliberately allow such false information to be disseminated, whereby the reasons for this are very varied.

42. I am not yet allowed to speak openly about this, nor about which things correspond to the truth or untruth in matters of UFO crashes and UFO salvages as well as other related matters.

43. Also with regard to the clarification of earthly offices and military and defensive forces in matters of UFOs, my duty of secrecy, which is apparent from one of our directives, is that we must not interfere in any matters of human life with which we are not in official contact.

44. So we must also keep in mind that we must not decipher secrets that are kept by earthly authorities, government officials, security organizations, the military, etc.

45. Which secrets earth authorities and military as well as security organizations guard etc. regarding interests of allegedly extraterrestrial aircraft and humans etc., must remain according to our directive instructions their secrets, which we do not have the right to air.

Billy:

Well, that's clear. So I don't want to ask you any more about these things. From your explanation it should be very clear, however, that the Scandinavian aviation major Petersen is also a fantasist in matters concerning the fact that extraterrestrials are supposed to hold important offices in the most diverse earthly governments.

Ptaah:

46. We have also talked about this on several occasions, but we have always made it clear that such assertions correspond to nothing other than pure delusional fantasies.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_249

Billy:

What about the fact that UFO sightings are made all over the world again and again? They cannot all be real.

Ptaah:

26. That is right, but we have talked about it a lot.

27. Very few percentages correspond to actual sightings; the rest is based on sensory illusions, charlatanism, dizziness, lies and deception, etc.

...

Billy:

... It is always doubted that plejadic spaceships can fly with umpteen times the speed of light in normal space or that objects can only fly through space with approximately the speed of light without time shifts, because Einstein's theory of relativity simply forbids this. Is the assumption correct that the calculation formulas of this theory of relativity are basically correct, but only with limitations, so that they have to be replaced by other and further additions in the end? In my opinion this should be the case, because if I consider that certain galaxies drift apart at approximately the speed of light, without time shifts arising, then it would have to be so for this reason alone – quite apart from my own experience, which I was allowed to experience and make through you during my Great Journey {see Contact Report 31} and during other occasions.

Ptaah:

75. Your assumption is absolutely correct, but I am not allowed to give any official details about it and therefore no information.

76. The actual facts and formulas must remain a secret for the Earth-humans for a long time to come, for everyone.

...

Billy:

All the nonsense that is told and spread about UFOs and extraterrestrials on earth has spread like a festering ulcer, whereby also the actual UFO sightings and observations are denigrated and referred to the realm of fantasy and delusions of the senses.

Ptaah:

173. That is indeed so.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_250

Billy:

... Can you officially explain how things are to be seen in relation to UFOs with regard to their origin? I am referring to the fact that unidentified flying objects do not only come from our space-time continuum, but also from other dimensions. We have never really talked about this in detail, but mostly only superficially and in passing.

Ptaah:

59. That is right.

60. So I want to give some information about it in a little more detail than usual:

61. Let's start with the unidentified aircrafts or missiles, etc., which are purely terrestrial-human constructions.

62. This kind of missile exists a larger number, in different forms.

63. These are productions of the most diverse states of Earth, which, however, keep their researches and products secret.

64. Of course they cannot avoid doing test flights etc. with their flying machines, whereby they can often be observed by terrestrial people of all social classes, thus by simple citizens as well as by well-known title holders etc.

65. Some of these constructions have flight abilities that go far beyond the normal understanding of terrestrial humans and mock the normal aircraft construction as well as the normal flight abilities of the normal terrestrial airplanes.

66. These missiles also have forms that do not correspond to those of known airplanes, which is why they appear strange.

67. For these reasons, when observed by the uninitiated, they are not recognized as earthly constructions and are consequently referred to as UFOs, unidentified flying objects.

68. However, this also includes observations which have no connection whatsoever with such objects, but which can be traced back to cloud formations as well as swarms of insects or birds, or to natural atmospherical or gaseous luminous phenomena, etc.

69. Also undersea gas escapes, which cause the water to bubble at the sea surface, as well as sensory illusions and balloons, kites, zeppelins, normal airplanes or light and ultra-light airplanes etc. belong to it.

70. With all these things, which appear very frequently, it should be absolutely clear that they are not interplanetary flying objects and thus not unidentified flying objects of extraterrestrial human life-forms.

71. If we consider a further form of terrestrial flying objects, which are considered UFOs and which are not of extraterrestrial origin, then we have to speak of those flying machines which originate from the terrestrial future in terms of their dimensions to the space-time continuum prevailing here.

72. So we are dealing here with flying bodies of earthly origin, but built in a dimension of the future on earth, whereby Earth-humans living there in the future have found the ways of time travel, whereby it becomes possible for them to travel back into their own past and thus also into the present time on Earth.

73. So these visitors are not extraterrestrial intelligences either, but also inhabitants of Earth, whose technology is many centuries and sometimes even thousands of years ahead of the present time of Earth-humans and in the future.

74. Further forms of unidentified flying bodies concern life-forms that are actually extraterrestrial and that also belong to this space-time continuum prevailing here.

75. Such life-forms with their flying objects visit Earth only very rarely, except for three different races, which have been flying to Earth for a long time, apart from us Pleiadians of course.

76. Furthermore, Earth is also approached here and there by extraterrestrial human life-forms, which happens however extremely rarely and is to be counted often in decades or in centuries, who come with their flying objects from parallel spaces and/or from parallel planes to the space-time continuum predominant here, like e.g. we ourselves, who live in a parallel space, which is shifted, fractions of a second, attached to this space-time continuum predominant here.

77. It ...

Billy:

Sorry to interrupt. On the one hand, you talked about earthlings who live in the future and visit Earth from there. That's what you call time-travellers!

Ptaah:

78. Of course.

Billy:

But what should we call those who simply come from parallel spaces?

Ptaah:

79. According to your sense we simply call it transfer or parallel transfer.

Billy:

So nothing that would be complicated to say. But just go on with your explanations now. Does it actually happen frequently that people with their flying machines come to us from parallel spaces and come to Earth?

Ptaah:

80. No, that's very rare, apart from us and our allies.

81. In contrast, however, it is more common for bioorganic flying objects {see "Rods"} to appear in this space-time continuum, not only on Earth, but also on many other inhabited and uninhabitable world spheres.
82. So we can observe such bio-organisms, as we call them, also on our worlds, whereby we do not know however yet exactly which kind these life-forms are now.
83. The dimension changers, as we also call them, are larger and smaller airworthy, bioorganic life-forms, which are often fluorescent or very brightly radiating and located in a parallel space or parallel universe.
84. In their way they are absolutely harmless and even playful.
85. They often appear individually or in smaller groups, ranging in size from a few metres to several hundred metres in diameter.
86. They live in a parallel space that we have not yet been able to access, whose data we know well, but into which we have not yet been able to penetrate in form in order to establish communicative contact with these forms of life.
88. Finally, only those extraterrestrial intelligences are to be mentioned who come from the DAL universe and visit Earth.
89. However, this is so rare that this was only the case once during the last 50,000 years when Asket maintained contact with you for eleven years.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_251

Ptaah:

13. To justify you I may speak officially today about it and give the facts of the fact that we have analysed and evaluated in a special way the film and photomontages as well as the film trick shots of all false and fraudulent, alleged contact persons or UFO observers and found out that their faked film and photo material found approval with the terrestrial people, completely particularly with so-called UFO specialists, who call themselves ufologists etc., to which also well-known scientists belong.
14. The ridiculousness of the forgeries and the believers in them is striking, but they were extremely effective.
15. This was the reason for us to perform manoeuvring movements with the real existence of our flying apparatuses, such as jerky pendulum movements and certain springy hovering movements, which normally do not correspond to the normal movements and flying techniques of our flying objects, but to the ridiculous jerky pendulum movements and peculiar swinging waves of the manipulated films and photos of the UFO swindlers and liars and charlatans.
16. And the reason why we chose this type of movement lies in the fact that it was precisely this that triggered the worldwide and fierce UFO controversy, which of course also had many disadvantages for you, because you were accused of swindling and deceit or charlatany and dishonesty and assumed that you made models and photographed and filmed them.
17. We often felt sorry for you because of this, but we could not change everything, because only by carrying out certain flight manoeuvres in this form, which you could film and photograph and then spread all over the world, the worldwide UFO controversy was guaranteed, which led to the already said result and will also in the future still further and already urgently necessary results bring.

Ptaah:

59. Another very objectionable factor is also that flying apparatuses are being built and tested in the USA by the military in an extremely secret manner, of which many outsiders nevertheless have knowledge and even evidence, because they have been able to observe and even film and photograph the flying apparatuses at all times of the day and night.

Billy:

And these are flying apparatuses that have foreign forms and have propulsion systems and flight characteristics that are not inherent to any conventional aircraft. ...

Ptaah:

...

61. I can now also say that various so-called UFO observations that have been made in many countries of the Earth during the last four decades can also be traced back in several forms to such flying apparatuses of terrestrial origin, which, however, do not only relate to America, but also to other countries of the Earth.

...

Billy:

In various countries on Earth, flying apparatuses are being developed which, due to their construction method which is different from that based on airplanes, appear foreign and extraterrestrial, and indeed with quite good success. The forms of flying apparatuses range from the beamship forms that you know of, to triangular forms etc. etc. And the fact that these flying apparatuses are then regarded by observers as UFOs i.e. as spaceships or simply as extraterrestrial flying objects, is indeed probably only natural; not least also because they are noiseless or almost noiseless and have flight characteristics which are foreign to the flight techniques known on Earth and contradict them.

...

Billy:

... There are many more pictures that have been taken in recent years by observers of UFOs that are real. According to your own statements, these include photos of police and military personnel.

Ptaah:

132. That is correct, because during the last decades different extraterrestrial intelligences have been seen on earth with their flying machines, which could then also be filmed and photographed.

133. The film and photo material of UFOs made in all the years worldwide and especially in America and South America as well as in England etc. does not always show extraterrestrial flying objects, but also such strangely working flying machines, which are manufactured since several decades by terrestrial humans on earth, as well as flying bodies, which come from the terrestrial future or which are known as bioorganic flying bodies with us, which are the so-called dimension changers, life forms, which penetrate from another dimension into the terrestrial airspace.

...

Ptaah:

144. In the time to come, even farther away, a lot will happen and change with regard to alien aircraft and their crews, but also with regard to earthly, mysterious and strange-looking flying machines.

145. Also contacts with extraterrestrials are to be expected, which will be however of a completely different nature than all previous lying, swindling and deceitful would-be contactees have presented them with all their religious-sectarian nonsense etc.

...

Billy:

Your world-monitoring control disks, what about them – do they remain stationed around the world?

Ptaah:

182. All these control apparatuses have already been removed, so only the one intended for the centre still exists.

183. But it is no larger than 7 millimetres in diameter and 3.2 millimetres in thickness.

Billy:

And that includes all the monitoring electronics as well as the signal transmitter?

Ptaah:

184. And even much more you wouldn't dream of, as you like to say.

185. The control apparatus also contains transmitters and receivers and associated image transmission equipment, which transmit everything at multiple speeds of light to a control point near our dimensional passage at a star far beyond the Pleiades cluster, in order to reach our space-time structure and thus our dimension from there through a dimensional transmitter.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_252

Billy:

... During the last conversation you told me confidentially that despite your departure a patrol might still return.

Ptaah:

76. That's right.

77. Such a decision was indeed made.

78. There are also already several unmanned and two manned units here again, which carry out their observation flights and tasks around the planet.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_257

Billy:

... there are the underhand American efforts to cover up everything concerning UFOs and extraterrestrials and secretly use them for military armament as well as for the exercise of military and political power. ...

...

Billy:

Besides you Pleiades and the members of your Federation, there are also other alien beings visiting our world, whose aircraft can be observed here and there.

Ptaah:

84. That is correct, but not our concern, because we do not maintain any contacts to these very rare aliens, just as we do not maintain any contacts to Earth-humans.

...

Billy:

Extraterrestrials

...

In every case caution is recommended in relation to the extraterrestrials and contact with them as well as in relation to the observed UFOs, because for a long time not all of that which was said and asserted in this regard was correct. Deceptions can be present during the observations of UFOs, as well as the actual observation of extraterrestrial flying devices, etc. Thus, where dealing with such an observation, it is often very difficult to clear up. Yet it may be accepted that a certain small percentage of all observations actually lead back to extraterrestrial flying devices, which are seen in ever greater numbers around the world. The majority of the observations do not, however, correspond to reality, rather touch upon imaginations and suchlike, that many times are only the consequence of certain science fiction films, etc., that would arouse the susceptible humans to fantasies through which they then see or experience imaginary things in the sky that have nothing to do with reality. And just these imaginations, that often extend to Real Vision, are very plentiful, but this should not prejudice the facts, and mean that all observations are of this kind, because there actually are still enough cases of UFO observations that undoubtedly rest upon such really-occurring extraterrestrial, and partly also other-dimensional, flying devices which have nothing to do with the Plejadian/Plejaren, and their confederates, rather they belong to other worlds and civilizations.

... Therefore the greatest caution is recommended with extraterrestrial contacts in the sky, because too much about this are lies, deception, swindle, charlatanism and speculation, etc., whereby also the truth-despising efforts and falsifications as well as disinformation machinations of the governments are implicated through the committal and establishment of unbelievable lies, slanders, falsifications and trickeries in the world to veil the truth, to contradict and to deny. The Roswell UFO crash is just one of many inglorious examples. Naturally not all terrestrial governments and military work in this slimy way, but there are many. And they get ever more difficulty from those peoples who are really interested in the UFO clarification and the events connected therewith, as they turn the heat up under the governments, the military and the secret services. The time namely presses ever more, because ever more UFO incidents take place and also pure UFO observations increase ever further. So the responsible ones use their lies, defamation and denial ever less, whereby they apply a new obscuring technique to keep secret the actual existence of extraterrestrials, as well as their visits to Earth. Their new method is to demonize everything that has to do with UFOs and extraterrestrials. That, thereby, also serves to hinder the coming about of contact with extraterrestrials and civilians, because that can no longer be controlled and because, as a rule, civilians who are not bound by a military or secret service security status do not shy away from making such experiences and events openly known. But such open information is exceedingly uncomfortable and even exceedingly dangerous for the governments as well as for the military and secret services, etc., as their power structures could become shaky. Of this it was already clear to a whole line-up of authorities as well as their military and secret services in the First World War because, over the battlefields of Europe UFOs were observed whose appearance was however kept secret. It went the same way in the Second World War, as the foo-fighters surfaced everywhere. Indeed, it was already firmly established by the military and secret services and highest government positions by the First and Second World Wars that UFOs were of extraterrestrial origin, yet the secrecy was still maintained. The facts of the extraterrestrial origins of flying devices was recognized in America through the observation of a landing of such an object, where four unusually-clothed humanoid beings disembarked, collected some plants in the vicinity, re-entered their device and flew away. The observers of these events were two members of the military who, co-incidentally, were in just that area while on vacation. Both reported the event to the nearest military facility, allowing the secret investigations and clarifications to proceed, as had already happened in other similar cases that preceded, and also subsequently occurred even more. But everything happened under the strictest nondisclosure, as the Plejadian/Plejaren have affirmed, so the public received no knowledge about these incidents whatsoever, as neither did the main body of the governments, the military and the secret services. It was always only the very highest positions and officials who were privy to the secrets. And it was also these people who even then concerned themselves with, and worked out, concealment tactics to deceive most of their subordinates and the entire population. It was to be avoided that on one hand everything would be known, and on the other hand that those not in the know and not sworn to secrecy, or even civilian personnel, could have contact with extraterrestrials. Therefore a possibility was sought to place fear in humans in relation to the extraterrestrials so that no contact would result from a possible landing or from a crash of extraterrestrial projectiles.

Naturally already in those times there were civilian observers of UFOs, but if this was to be avoided, there would still be fundamentally nothing given recognition in the open media. They also led the population to believe that these strange flying devices were their own secret flying machines, which were just then undergoing initial testing. Therefore the people already at that time were knowingly being led into the dark. Silence was maintained regarding what the UFOs effectively were, namely extraterrestrial, and partly foreign-dimensional, interplanetary flying devices controlled by crews foreign to Earth. Naturally in those days the flying devices were not yet called UFOs, but were given other names. But that doesn't diminish the fact that already after the outbreak of the First World War, in 1915, the American President Woodrow Wilson ordered a nondisclosure in respect of extraterrestrial flying objects, and decreed measures to cover himself with what had been written. The consequences of this unofficial, secret edict of which also US Presidents Warren G. Harding as well as Calvin Coolidge, Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt, whereby especially Roosevelt, were finally the driving power, was that the angst for extraterrestrial conquerors would be incited to panic, and indeed through a perfidious machination, together with the secret service, through which book authors would be threatened with death in order to start an extremely effective horror scenario. US President Harry Truman was then also later drawn into the conspiracy, because he even cooperated as the highest-placed observer of UFO crash sites. However, things of this kind were not only happening in America, because also in Russia – as also in other countries – one was becoming attentive to the UFOs and secretly held the view that it must concern extraterrestrial flying devices – even when, always again, meanwhile, voices from the uninitiated grew loud in Russia as well as in America that these thereby dealt with new kinds of enemy aircraft. Party leader and dictator Josef W. Stalin was, for example, like various US presidents, at different times an observer of UFOs, from which he was quickly convinced, despite the angst for the new flying machines of the Americans, that it dealt with intelligences foreign to Earth. One fact that he, however, never made openly known, as also happened with the fact that practically every UFO observation in the Soviet Union fell under secrecy provisions.

The darkening, slandering and obscuring machinations of many governments, militaries and secret services, etc., of different countries, began therefore already very early, and indeed much earlier than would be generally accepted by the real UFO researchers. According to the explanation of the Plejadian/Plejaren, however, especially the Americans were leading in this respect, whereby these were also those who held the proof of the existence of extraterrestrial flying objects tight in their hands already early, and indeed not first since the Roswell case. Truly, already earlier the Americans had parts of wreckage from crashed extraterrestrial flying devices fall into their hands, as well as mutilated extraterrestrial corpses, which, however, fell under the strictest nondisclosure and whereby, as the Plejadian/Plejaren explained, also undesired UFO crash and UFO recovery observers, as well as recovery workers were "erased" or forced into silence under the gravest threats. But that was not enough by far, because the longer the UFO appearances in the new age were observed, the more secretly these were dealt with, and indeed not the least on that account, because the arrival of the extraterrestrials, and the enslavement of the terrestrial humanity through the invaders was feared by the American government and their military as well as secret services. And (so) that the population should be left in ignorance about the truth of the existence of extraterrestrials, nevertheless, however (that) fear must be developed in the peoples against the extraterrestrials, out of which a far-reaching hate must be established against the invaders, and, thereby, once again a defensive rage steered by hate should result, the US presidency, as well as the leading officers of the military and the secret services, etc., came upon a psychologically sophisticated idea to work out a horror scenario in extraterrestrial matters and to start it in such a way that not only America would be seized by it, rather also great parts of the rest of the world. This scenario should be configured in such a way, that once angst and panic should first break out regarding Extraterrestrial invaders, thereafter they then spread further fear and hate far, and could spread it over the world, and indeed also then, when it would be officially recognized, that it all only dealt with fiction and therefore a poor utopian piece of work. Thereby the psychological trick would be established, that when once fear is sown then from that yet greater fear and finally also panic and hate must develop, that follows itself further, always spreading out farther. A fact that was already known then and also today, yet would be practiced again and again over the whole world in different relationships. And exactly angst and terror were necessary, according to the view of the responsible ones, to incite the population against the extraterrestrials, and to prevent them from coming into contact with them if the opportunity should present itself.

Through this perfidious and fully-thought-out psychological machination of the highest government authorities as well as the military and secret services, it also should be avoided that at any time, any one of the people would gain admission to the extraterrestrials if the opportunity offered itself. The responsible ones not only had fear of a peaceful extraterrestrial official, or unofficial, landing and contact initiative, but they also feared an invasion. And because an official or unofficial extraterrestrial appearance and effect on the Earth was not compatible with the religious philosophies, since 1915, Pope Benedict XV, (1914-1922) as well as Pius XI. (1922-1939) and Pius XII. (1939-1958) would also be drawn into the entire conspiracy. Also certain Jewish dignitaries were enlisted in this, who even at that time in America had quite a bit to say and had a voice.

In the most secret of missions, it was therefore resolved to create a horror scenario which would agitate the population on one hand, who, however, should be left in ignorance of the truth of the existence of the extraterrestrials who already manoeuvred in terrestrial air space and also landed sporadically on the Earth, as it has been established from secure sources, and through that, on the other hand, that fear and hate be sown against the strangers from other worlds. The mean and slimy trick was in and of itself simple: a radio broadcast should be transmitted, that on one hand spreads angst and terror of the extraterrestrials, and on the other hand, should also strike very far, and as much as possible, worldwide circles. To this end, through American secret service agents, as well as through the responsible superiors of these positions of duty, as well as the government and military, suitable authors and works were sought, which could be exploited and used for the perfidious machination. It was US President Franklin D. Roosevelt (President, 4th March 1933 – 12th April 1945) who quite personally, however, sought out the science fiction work of Englishman Herbert George Wells, who as an author, in 1898, brought out a work under the title "War of the Worlds". In this episode American secret service agents made contact with Wells and beseeched him coercively to adapt his work to a radio play. But the man himself did not feel in a position to do this, so he suggested chartering a young American author of his acquaintance, Orson Welles, who would certainly be suitable. Under threats of death, H.G. Wells was obliged to lifelong silence, after which, then in America, the still young Orson Welles would be coerced by the secret service people to refashion H.G. Wells's work, "War of the Worlds" into a realistic-seeming horror radio play. Out of the science fiction novel Wells wrote in 1897 and published in 1898, such a work that broadcast on the radio, would release wild panic and angst as well as hate for the extraterrestrials. The work, in which extraterrestrials, formed unlike humans, and of monstrous and evil-nature, land on the Earth and cause trouble and destruction, was exactly that which had been hoped for by the responsible ones of governments, the military and the secret services. It's no wonder that as a result of panic breaking out there was quite a number of dead.

The goal of the government, the military and the secret services was achieved with the broadcast of the radio play (War of the Worlds), because from then on fear, and also a certain hate, ruled against the extraterrestrials, of the kind and form, as well as the sense, that was also always desired. And exactly that has remained that way until today and even still spreads out, because fear and hate would again always be newly stirred up, and the American secret service powers, etc., are especially proficient in doing exactly that. Were that not enough, that they – and certain also determined government and military powers – financially support and demand contra films against the extraterrestrials, no, they do not shy from simulating all kinds of horror-events, like, for example, abductions by extraterrestrials, as well as human and animal mutilations and so on and so forth. They are also not inactive in matters relating to the falsification of crop circles, and indeed in the most differing countries. Naturally, in respect of all these things there are also charlatans, deceivers and swindlers and every other sort, yet the secret service machinations are probably indeed the worst, because it is precisely through these that disinformation is established, through which the genuine and actual events in this regard are bedevilled and made laughable. Scarcely anything is known about exactly this, as everything runs so secretly as it always has, and as does the actual story of the radio play of "War of the Worlds" by Orson Welles. And the danger exists that something could not be held secret, then the responsible ones of the government and military as well as the secret services do not shy away from bringing the witnesses to silence under death threats or through an otherwise erasing, like, for example, through elimination or through a consciousness-stupefying brain wash and psycho-terror and so forth. Herbert George Wells, who died on the 13th August 1946, also knew that, as did Orson Welles who departed this life on October 10th, 1985. Neither left behind any indications about the true incidents regarding the radio play, as they correctly feared that their families, friends and acquaintances after their demise also could be vengefully persecuted by the secret service people and the responsible ones of the government and military. And that I now do not hold my tongue about that which the Plejadian/Plejaren explained to me in regard to this ... what comes of that remains to be seen... The nasty machinations of the government, military and secret service people in respect of the demonizing of extraterrestrials have increased ever more since 1938 – indeed slowly and successively, thus, however all the more incessantly and expansively, until in the eighties, essentially, the greatest machination for the bedeviling of extraterrestrials began – through a shifty structure in the fashion of the secret service, as well as miscellaneous UFO and extraterrestrial enemies. Stories came about like the ghastly human and animal mutilations, the theft of human babies and the impregnating of terrestrial women through foreign visitors out of outer space. Horror stories were also disseminated about subterranean laboratories and the inhuman experiments taking place there. Were that still not enough, because the angst of the extraterrestrials wreaked even worse blooms, like, for example, it would be asserted that women impregnated by aliens would, after some months, have the baby growing in the womb snatched out to be allowed to finally grow further in a fluid-filled incubator, etc., in order to breed up a new humanity, etc. using these hybrid children. A further horror story was that the earth humans would be abducted, in order to take their genetic material that would be necessary for the extraterrestrials' further breeding of humans, who would serve as, so to say, nourishment providers, because the evil foreigners out of the depths of outer space supposedly nourish themselves on human blood. Similarly, it would also be asserted in respect to the animal mutilations in America, whereby the related far-fetched feeble-mindedness that namely beef blood demonstrates a genetic relationship with human blood, therefore the mutilated cattle would have their blood sucked out to store in the blood banks for crisis times – naturally through the evil extraterrestrials. Yet even that is not enough, because still many other assertions, slanderings and lies, and clearly to be recognised as feeble-minded, are put about, through which the humans are led into error and would be shifted into angst and terror, as has had manifold success, and certain mass hysteria has been released by a worldwide group of certain earth humans, which also leads to feelings of hate, etc. ...

Billy:

... Here, for example: protective shields of spaceships. – As you know, science fiction films are broadcast almost all over the world by all TV stations – even in the cinemas, these are shown – and of course, as a rule, the aliens are always the bad guys who kill the Earth-humans and who want to destroy the Earth or else want to conquer and colonize it for themselves, which is, of course, pure nonsense. Now, in these films, it is regularly portrayed that the energy shields of the spaceships lose a percentage of strength and protective function each time when energies of any kind hit these. These other, foreign energies are, of course, generally those that are shot, i.e. emitted, from hostile beam weapons of enemy objects. Now, the question is: to what extent can such an energy shield be reconstructed in a decisive time, such that a full protection is given again. There actually are such protective shields, as I know from you; therefore, what is depicted in the films doesn't just correspond to an unattainable fantasy. And as you once explained to me, our earthly scientists are also working on such protective shields, even though everything still falls under secrecy.

Ptaah:

142. And successes in relation to this could have already been seen – if it didn't just concern secret projects.

143. But I can answer your question as follows:

144. It all depends on what energy sources are used for a protective shield, in what measures they are used, and how they can be brought to application.

145. As you know very well, energies are not simply energies, but this doesn't actually have to be explained in detail; therefore, it is only to be said that in general, different technologies for the utilization of protective shields exhibit different forms of energy, from which energy shields can even be generated.

146. The protective shields themselves can also be very different, so they might protect a spaceship or other aircraft, etc. only by sector or even completely.

147. With this, it should be explained that a spaceship, another aircraft, a human, a robot or android, or something else can just be protected by a single, full-scale protective shield or by one that consists of several segments, i.e. sectors.

148. A full-scale protective shield has a main energy source and a reserve energy source, while a segment shield, i.e. sector shield, has its own main energy source and reserve energy source for each sector; thus, the individual sectors are independent of each other.

Billy:

And what form of energy shield is used by you?

Ptaah:

149. We exclusively use comprehensive protective shields, and to be sure, for the spaceships and other aircraft as well as for humans and all things that must be protected in this way.

150. However, our energy shields don't work in the way as portrayed in your science fiction films, namely that the protective shields are weakened when foreign energies from beam weapons or from cosmic energy fields, i.e. shocks of energy, impact on the shields, by what means these become weakened in their capacity, i.e. performance.

151. This form of protective shield development only represents an initial one, and we already left this phase behind us thousands of years ago.

152. Already more than 40,000 years ago, our technology in this regard experienced such a high development that the protective shields could be perfected and could be put into use, whereby these shields were designed in such a way that any kind of energy that hit them became converted into that which was useful for the shield, which has so remained up to this day.

153. Thus, by impacts of foreign energies of every kind, including, of course, protective shield-conforming energies, the protective shields are neither weakened nor destroyed; rather, they convert the impacting energy immediately and without loss of time into their own energy and, thus, strengthen the power of their own shields.

154. In other words:

155. There occurs, without loss of time, an energy-to-standardization in the protective shield's energy, whereby this accumulates with each newly added burst of energy of any kind from beam weapons or cosmic energy.

156. This means that the more the energy hits the protective shields, the stronger these become.

Billy:

And it doesn't matter what form of energy hits the protective shield because it automatically converts all energy hitting it of every kind and makes it useful for itself.

Ptaah:

157. Yes, I said that.

...

Billy:

... Here I now have a question in reference to the navigation technology of your spaceships and other missiles or robots and machines, etc. Everything is equipped with feeling-circuits, which work just like futuristic armatures and switchgears. It only very rarely happens, however, that you carry out any manipulations with these, even though everything is geared toward the fact that, absolutely, a manual operation can take place. As you've explained to me but also often demonstrated, all navigation manipulations occur through pure thought impulses.

Ptaah:

215. That is correct.

Billy:

You explained to me that with you, no spaceship technology or other missile technology exists that isn't navigated by thought impulses, even though everything also always allows a manual navigation.

Ptaah:

216. As I already said, That is correct.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_269

Billy:

Then again a question: The unknown flying objects, the so-called UFOs, which are sighted more and more frequently in all countries, sometimes even in larger arrangements, and which are also sighted in larger numbers, all concern the same place of origin?

Ptaah:

46. No, that is not the case, because there are several different places of origin from where the flying objects come.

47. Besides, not all are at home in your space-time-structure, because as we noticed, Earth is also visited by differently dimensioned flying objects and beings that do not come from your space-time-structure.

Billy:

Can one also speak of future visitors?

Ptaah:

48. Yes, that is the case.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_272

{Note: The following comments concern a photograph seen here along with an enlargement, in Contact Report 272.}

Ptaah:

50. I remember this very well, because Florena and I were flying in your airspace at the time, because we were observing foreign flying apparatuses that were also flying around in your immediate and wider airspace.

51. Like ourselves, they were shielded from any view to humans from Earth, so neither these foreigners nor ourselves could be observed.

52. Our advanced technology also allowed us to remain invisible to the foreigners, so they had no idea of our presence.

53. But if our flying apparatus is still visible in the picture you mentioned, then this could only be captured on film for a tiny fraction of a second, at a moment when the automatic safety system changed the frequency of the visual protection shield.

54. A process that can become necessary when foreign objects, for which you want to remain invisible and unlocatable, get too close.

55. However, if the flying apparatus becomes visible for a tiny fraction of a second during such an operation, this only happens on the side facing away from the foreign object, which ensures that our flying apparatus cannot be seen or located.

56. But if our flying apparatus was photographed by the person you mentioned, then this corresponds to an almost unbelievable luck and a coincidence that occurs only once among millions of similar cases, when the automatic visual protection switch is delayed for a fraction of a second.

Billy:

Legendary. – And the foreigners? What kind of beamships or flying apparatus do they have, and what do they want?

Ptaah:

57. Their flying apparatuses bears a certain resemblance to ours and could therefore easily be confused by the uninitiated and ignorant.

58. What the foreigners want is easy to explain:

59. They appear once every 70 to 80 years on Earth, taking care of all sorts of things that reach into political as well as military and scientific matters, whereby their aim is to make an official appearance at the appropriate moment and to establish open contact with the Earth-humans.

Billy:

And, were there contacts to them at earlier times, resp. did these foreigners interfere in the earlier concerns of Earth-humans?

Ptaah:

60. That was to some extent the case, yes.

...

Florena:

10. This is undoubtedly our flying apparatus with which Ptaah and I were travelling in your area on the 9th of May at 13:00 hrs.

11. However, we did not use the flying apparatus that I usually use, but one that is probably ordered for our duties, but is not assigned to our technology and therefore has some external modifications.

Billy:

But you can still think of it as a Pleiadian-Plejaren ship – at least I thought of it as such.

Florena:

12. The confusion is understandable, as there are also various similarities with this flying apparatus that are deceptively similar to our technology.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_273

Billy:

... But don't you think it is a bit dangerous to park your ship here in the parking lot? Maybe somebody will come by at this time.

Florena:

11. If someone should come unexpectedly, then the automatic switch of the aircraft turns on the sight protection, therefore it cannot be seen then.

12. For this purpose a safety screen is in function. –

...

Billy:

... Florena, do you have any knowledge worth knowing about the alien aliens you and Ptaah observed in the airspace around Schmidrüti on the 8th of May 1998?

Florena:

20. I am not allowed to give details of important nature.

21. However, I may say that these strangers are very often present in your airspace.
22. We do not know the reason for this, but we have our assumptions.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_275

Ptaah:

8. Florena showed herself to Edith with all our consent, and then we found out that there was a lot of good news both in Edith and in various other group members.
9. That's why we gave in to Tauron's request when he asked if he could openly and visibly move across the centre, which he did on the night of the 28th of May of this year.
10. And again we noticed that it was good and that visibly fruitful changes were taking place in different group members.
11. So I approached the High Council and presented them with the statements they had made, whereupon they were advised to lift our privacy shield at certain moments, if this appeared to be justifiable.
12. The condition, however, is that only one sight wedge remains open at a time, pointing to the observer or observers or to a camera.
13. If one or perhaps several of our flying apparatuses can be observed from the Centre, then this is only possible from this location, as a result of which it can no longer be sighted in the wider surroundings.

...

21. But like you, I would also like to say that the structure here on the computer images {see photo} is indeed a flying apparatus and that it belongs to the foreigners.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_282

Billy:

... But now I have a question about the control disks that curled around the Centre on the 19th of August 1989. What was the reason for this, if one is allowed to experience it?

Ptaah:

34. That's no secret either.
35. In fact, everything that was happening around the centre and in its buildings was recorded visually and acoustically by the devices.

Billy:

Ah – why is that?

Ptaah:

36. That's no secret either.
37. What was held was used for demonstration and information purposes for all our federation members.

Billy:

I am flat. By all federation members, do you really mean all humanities or just spiritual leaders? The latter would not be logical, because you speak of all members of the Federation.

Ptaah:

38. You already understand it correctly:
39. The meaning of my words refers to all members of the Federation.

Billy:

Then I am reassured when only 120 billion (120,000,000,000) humans from foreign solar systems and planets know what's going on in the centre, how the group members behave here, what they do and work, and what their interests are, etc. I am not sure what I mean. How many hours did the control discs, or telemetric discs as we call them, record and record everything?

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_287

Billy:

... But may I still ask if you may tell me how many types of beamships you have alternately in operation here on Earth? Or is that secret?

Zafenatpaneach:

31. That is not subject to secrecy.

32. We operate in earthly space with 76 different types of aircraft.

Billy:

And, are they all of purely Plejaren origin, or do you also have ship types that you use, that come from other federation peoples, etc.?

Zafenatpaneach:

33. A certain number of the types of aircrafts that we use on Earth concern their development and construction to other peoples of our Federation.

34. They are therefore not of Plejaren origin.

...

Billy:

... Say, do you fly different ships alternately, at least that's how it seems to me?

Zafenatpaneach:

36. Yes, we don't always use the same flying objects, but this is not the rule.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_289

Billy:

... Now I have a question regarding your technology. In your spaceships, in your giant spaceship as well as in the beamships etc., you have an enormous amount of flat touch surfaces, which we simply call buttons here, and which serve to control and regulate and check etc. your ships and apparatuses as well as robots. Only rarely, and also on my Great Journey {see Contact Report 31}, have I seen you operate these flat touch buttons, but nevertheless everything has taken its course as you wished and said it would. Can you tell me the reason for this?

Ptaah:

22. That is no secret.

23. The flat contact surfaces, as you call them, are highly sensitive radiant surfaces that are not directly touched, but are only superficially aligned to pick up the swinging waves of the human beings via the fingertips who want to carry out the necessary manipulations.

24. In reality, however, the radiant surfaces are only manual aids for very last emergencies, precisely when something should fail for some reason, which, however, is absolutely impossible.

25. Nevertheless, safety and our legislation in this respect require that emergency switching must be possible.

26. In the normal case, every flying apparatus, every spaceship and every piece of equipment etc. is put into operation and controlled etc. by artificial bio-brains, which are bio-intelligences in themselves and can think and act independently, for which, however, they require a clear and direct thought impulse from a responsible and authorised human being.

27. It is therefore impossible for unauthorised persons to get into the working and control systems of any beamships, spaceships, devices, other missiles or into apparatus or weapons and working tools etc., because every single thing is aligned and therefore programmed to the responsible operator authorised to act.

28. One exception was when you were piloting Semjase's flying object around the Earth.

Billy:

So also no weapon can be used by an unauthorised person, as well as no devices, apparatus and ships etc.

Ptaah:

29. That is the meaning of my words.

30. All our technology requiring operation is set in operation and controlled etc. solely by thought impulses of those in charge of operation.

31. There is no other possibility, not even in the sense that something could be done by the manually operable radiant surfaces, because in this respect too the vibrations of the agents of action and operation are necessary.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_291

Asina:

6. The number of our ships with which we came into your time is 21.

...

Billy:

Yes, it just amazes me that the lights were not shown on TV or in the newspapers, because the whole thing took a good ten minutes and must have been seen by a lot of human beings.

Ptaah:

10. The Earth-humans are like that – they obviously consider such events to be of earthly origin.

11. Thus it will have been that the lighting up of the flying apparatuses from Asina's armada was interpreted as earthly aircraft.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_292

Billy:

... Well, you really surprised me when you showed up with Asina in my office. I did not expect her to be able to come here and that you would find her at all. Where were they and yours that you have not found them in so long?

Ptaah:

3. After their materialization they immediately left Earth, flying to Venus with some of the planes and to Mars with the rest of the planes to clarify and explore some things that were important to them.

4. So of course we searched in vain for them in earthly space, especially because we have not hermetically controlled the Earth and its airspace since 1995, so that we are no longer orientated towards all the entries etc. of extraterrestrial intelligences.

Billy:

You already said that earlier, but you also mentioned that you had loosened your overall control since the mid-eighties.

Ptaah:

5. That's right, because since then there's no need for total control anymore.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_301

Billy:

... May I ask you what's the situation with the new control disk you want to reinstall, as you finally told me. Do you already have it in operation?

Ptaah:

19. This is the case.

Billy:

Aha, and what performance does this thing achieve?

Ptaah:

20. It's aligned with our latest ultra-subatomic computer technology.

Billy:

I know a lot now. What performance does this thing achieve, and how big is it?

Ptaah:

21. The size of the apparatus is four square millimetres, with a total thickness of one millimetre.

22. This mass also contains the entire processor apparatus as well as the transmitter and receiver, the power generating unit and the dynamisator.

Billy:

Dynamisator? What is that?

Ptaah:

23. Is the name not correct? –

24. I mean the engine.

Billy:

Aha, you can also call it that. An incredibly tiny mass this control disk. How big is the storage capacity of the tiny one?

Ptaah:

25. 74 Exabyte.

Billy:

A Bohemian Forest for me. Exabyte, I have never heard or read that before. How can that be expressed in numbers?

Ptaah:

26. You call an exabyte 10¹⁸.

Billy:

Man, that's a trillion. 74 Exabytes would then be 74 trillion bytes. And that's stored on such a tiny surface. Ultra-subatomic, you say?

Ptaah:

27. Certainly.

Billy:

And that generally corresponds to your highest current computer technology. Man, oh, man. – May I ask how many operations your high-performance computers are able to perform per second? High-performance computers, nonsense, they certainly are not, if I judge your technology by what you just explained.

Ptaah:

28. The operational speed of our fastest computers is 10⁵² operations per second.

Billy:

And all this on an ultra-subatomic basis? That's super super speed. And how big is a computer like that and how much power does it need for operation?

Ptaah:

29. I told you the size of the smallest: four (4) square millimetres of surface area and one (1) millimetre of thickness.

30. The required operating power is seven (7) watts for a computer the size of a cubic meter, as it is in my generation aircraft.

Billy:

You mean in your giant roomer?

Ptaah:

31. Yes.

Billy:

How much energy does the tiny control disk of only four square millimetres and only one millimetre thickness need?

Ptaah:

32. The demand is in the nanoscale of a watt.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_322

Billy:

... But tell me, in relation to various unknown flying objects, UFOs, which have been appearing all over the world for decades, even at the present time, and whatever will be preserved for the future, are you allowed to say something about them, if you do not touch the previous explanations?

Ptaah:

31. You should also keep silent about this, because things could become apparent which again fall within the scope of our directives.

Billy:

Of course – how can I. But what about the earth-future flying objects that are not related to your explanations?

Ptaah:

32. We should not talk openly about that either, even if these issues do not affect our directives.

33. The reason for this lies in the Earth-future, from which the flying objects you mentioned come.

Billy:

And what about 'bio-organic flying objects' {"Rods"} and the Skrill {see Contact Report 238}, shouldn't we mention anything more about them in the future?

Ptaah:

34. That would be advisable, yes.

35. Everything is exuberant with regard to extraterrestrial flying objects and extraterrestrial human life-forms in the terrestrial human being, whereby either fear and terror are stirred up or everything is ridiculed.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_324

Billy:

... Last night I received a telephone call from a woman in Munich and was asked whether I knew that in the night from the 6th to the 7th, that is from Saturday to Sunday, there was an impressive light phenomenon over Bavaria and whether I knew what it was about. Do you know anything about this event? I promised the woman that I would ask you and then give her an answer when she calls me again the next weekend.

Ptaah:

6. The incident is known to us, and there is nothing mysterious about it that needs to be concealed.

7. In fact, it is true that two different events coincided which triggered the luminous phenomenon.

8. The whole thing was about two objects crashing together towards the earth and burning up due to the frictional heat caused the remarkable luminous phenomenon.

9. One object was a natural one, a so-called bolide, an oversized shooting star, as you would say, or a small meteor, while the second object was an artificial one, namely a larger piece of space junk created by Earth-humans.

10. The coincidence was that the bolide raced exactly into the orbit of this space debris and dragged it with it, whereby both entered the atmosphere and together they burned up for the most part, consequently only small parts fell to earth unburned.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_328

Ptaah:

97. It's not worth thinking about it, because on the one hand it's an invented mischievous story about the 'Mothman', just an 'owl's mirroring', as you once called this kind of activity.

98. On the other hand, at that time a real hysteria arose regarding UFOs, according to which many people at that time saw many unreal things that really did not exist.

99. So through hysteria they fell into hallucinations, self-generated real visions and strong imaginations.

100. This hysteria was not limited to the United States of America but spread all over the world.

101. In fact, however, at that time some flying objects appeared which were unidentifiable for the terrestrial people, whereby of all of them only two were really of extraterrestrial origin, which belonged to our Federation and which could be observed several times.

102. All other observations were undoubtedly due to terrestrial flying objects of partly secret form or to any natural terrestrial phenomena, or they were based on illusions and self-deceptions etc., whereby the self-deceptions were usually based on wishful thinking, which was aimed at seeing extraterrestrial flying objects, as it is still the case today in the vast majority of cases of 'UFO-observations'.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_341

Billy:

... Can you tell me how high above Earth our tiny control disk is floating?

Quetzal:

...

38. The latest device is in a stationary orbit at an altitude of 867 kilometres – measured from the middle surface of the Earth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_343

Billy:

... Why is it then that the glow of the ship or ships cannot be seen at all in the size as the ship is or as the ships are? The light should appear much bigger, I think. ...

Quetzal:

21. Of course the glow extends over the whole aircraft, as you know from experience, since you could make your observations from very close range.

22. But if the aircraft is more than 280 metres above the ground, then the entire light energy is automatically bundled in such a way that only a small area of visibility is created, which for observers at night time makes the aircraft appear only like a larger star.

23. This technique is based on a safety measure against biased observers who think they see only one star.

24. From this point of view it is usually not noticed that the apparent 'star' is moving.

Billy:

Why "biased" observers?

Quetzal:

25. Regarding our directives that we should not make ourselves noticeable and not openly make ourselves visible to human populations, which themselves are not yet capable of actual space travel and have not yet become really human.

Billy:

Then you could completely shield yourselves so that no light from your ships can be seen at night. Your technology is so advanced that there should be no problems for you in this respect.

Quetzal:

26. That would be possible for us of course, but then we would have to shield our aircraft against any visibility, which brings the disadvantage for us that in this state of the aircraft we can no longer perform certain locating activities.

Billy:

You mean that if your ships are invisible to the human eye – as well as to radar beams etc. – then, if I understand correctly, certain tracking activities from the ships will be affected?

Quetzal:

27. That is of correctness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_353

Billy:

... When you come here for the visits or corrections, do you always come to the SOL system with your giant spaceship? I was asked about that.

Ptaah:

39. No, because that is only necessary when I have special tasks to perform in this part of the DERN universe.

40. Usually I come here with small flying machines that cannot be registered by the earthly observers and monitors.

Billy:

So, this brings up another question after all: Can't you shield your giant room from view?

Ptaah:

41. Yes, but as a rule the giant space machine is used elsewhere, and my deputy is in command of it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_358

Ptaah:

4. As I saw, there are a lot of people over in the kitchen.

5. So I will have to be on my guard.

Billy:

Which should not be a problem for you. You can just turn on your device, which will automatically beam you into your ship when someone comes to the living room. ...

...

Ptaah:

30. Regarding the luminous objects that light up, seem to hang in the air, seem to divide into several objects, move away from each other, approach each other again and merge again, the following can be explained:

31. All the observers and witnesses of such sightings are deceived, because they are in no way extraterrestrial flying apparatuses or UFOs, as terrestrial people call the objects, which can be seen especially in many places in the USA and all over the world.

32. The secret machinations of the responsible authorities and offices in the US-America are responsible for these appearances of these light objects, but this is to remain secret, not only for the American, but for the whole world population.

33. For this reason the paradox is given that the responsible authorities in the USA on the one hand deny the matter of the crash of an extraterrestrial flying object at Roswell and also elsewhere just as much as the secret machinations in Area 51, while on the other hand everything is done to strengthen the belief of the population in extraterrestrial UFOs, namely by secret American and strongly luminous flying apparatuses flying around in all possible areas and becoming visible to the population.

34. Of course, these are not always just test flights, but effective demonstration flights with all kinds of capers that normal terrestrial aircraft cannot perform.

35. This also happens in the relationship that the flying objects light up like little suns or suddenly split into several objects, which ultimately happens because several flat flying apparatuses are coupled on top of each other and then simply detach from each other to drift away and then reunite.

36. This creates the impression that several others would suddenly fly out of one object and then return to the 'mother object'.

37. This effect alone is enough for UFO believers to break out in jubilation and fall into the belief that the objects are extraterrestrial flying apparatuses, which they are in no way, because they are products that are secretly manufactured in the USA.

38. Test flights of these objects, which reach very high speeds and also possess certain gravitational or anti-gravitational techniques, can be observed all over the world, but especially in the country of manufacture, the USA, as I explained earlier.

39. To the secret machinations in this regard belong also still various others, which are to point out actions of extraterrestrials, like e.g. the alleged kidnappings of earth people as well as the massacring of cattle etc. by alleged extraterrestrial beings.

40. The fact that hypnosis is also used for allegedly affected people, as it was the case with the fraudulent moon landing in 1969, should be absolutely clear for every reasonable person.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_359

Billy:

... But tell me, do you know anything about UFOs flying over Mexico on 5th March 2004?

Please read this little newspaper article that appeared in the Tages-Anzeiger today, 13th May.

{Note: see Wikipedia entry and the Associated Press release about this story.}

Ptaah:

18. We are aware of the matter through earthly news broadcasts and TV pictures, but we have no further knowledge of the incident, if it is indeed a fake and not a forgery.

19. The moving pictures we know from TV broadcasts seem to me to be just as extremely peculiar as the strange formation of the round light objects, which simply appear flat and therefore cannot be spherical either.

20. There are also no contours to be seen, as well as no other things that indicate that they could really have been materially solid objects.

21. Nevertheless, I cannot exclude the possibility that they could have been bioorganic missiles of different dimensions, which, as you know, are harmless life forms from a neighbouring dimension and which can usually only be photographed by infrared cameras or recorded on infrared film.

22. By this I mean those bioorganic missiles that you could observe at different places in the world and that my father Sfath has already pointed out to you.

23. One last possibility could be considered, however, if you take into account the secret technical aircraft of the USA, which shield themselves from view and can therefore only be filmed with infrared cameras or seen with infrared vision devices.

24. I very much doubt that the unknown aircraft in Mexico were extraterrestrial intelligence.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_361

Billy:

Then I would like to ask you officially, what's the deal with all the UFO sightings in the US and South America. I know the answer, but we have only ever talked about them privately and not officially, so an official statement on your part would be important. Some time ago, dear American passive members were with us in the Centre, and the talk was also about these frequent UFO sightings in America, Mexico and South America, so I explained the facts of the matter, why so many people – often in groups – see UFOs that move, change their light intensity, appear in groups, unite and separate again, appear and disappear, etc.

Ptaah:

60. I know your explanation, and it was also correct:

61. The unknown flying objects that appear so frequently in the USA, in Mexico and in various South American countries are in no way flying machines of extraterrestrial origin, but objects that correspond to an earthly technique.

62. Specifically, these are usually various types of aircraft, which are constructed in secret bases in the USA and tested in the entire North, Central and South American airspace, as well as in other countries of the world, without the world public or the military and governments of foreign states having any knowledge of them.

63. These are then the so-called UFOs, which are sighted everywhere in the airspace of the entire American continent, as well as elsewhere in the world.

64. Apart from the secret US-American aircraft, there are few others which do not belong to any state, but are constructed by other forces and can often be observed.
65. Flying machines of extraterrestrial origin are extremely rare to observe, because the earth is far away from other inhabited worlds, so it does not often receive visits from beings from other worlds.
66. This happens only extremely sporadically and therefore very rarely.
67. So what can usually be observed in unknown flying objects around the world and especially over the entire American continent are not extraterrestrial unknown flying objects but secret earthly flying machines of American and other origin.
68. Excluded are of course our flying machines and surveillance missiles, which can of course be observed by attentive observers both day and night.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_381

Ptaah:

13. What this man writes seems to me to be nonsensical, and not only because I consider the pictures to be manipulation in the way that they were taken at night or in a dark room with a photo camera, where a long exposure time was used to produce the blurred light spots, but also because the photo camera was moved when the exposure time was long.
14. A very well-known act of falsifying such pictures, which are supposed to represent any UFOs.
15. Besides this it has to be said that since the time of our contacts with you – since 1942 – we have controlled the airspace of Switzerland, but also of Germany until today very exactly and could not register any such flying objects, which would have been of extraterrestrial origin on the one hand and of this kind on the other hand.
16. Seen to me, these are clearly artificial light sources, which have been captured on film in the form I mentioned.

Billy:

Something like that, I thought, because similar images were brought to me by Dr. Jonas from Vienna when he visited me in Hinwil in the early seventies. At that time I went with him to Einsiedeln Abbey, where I could watch at close range how he took his 'ghost photos' by setting the camera to a long exposure time and then moving the camera slightly when taking the photos. Also the German – what was his name – ah, he lived somewhere in Württemberg, forged alleged UFO pictures with car lights and hand lamps, which he took at night and in dark rooms. The result was exactly the same images as the ones in front of you.

Ptaah:

26. It has also been the case for many years now that our worldwide efforts of clarification and surveillance in this regard have not produced any positive results and therefore no contacts between terrestrial human beings and extraterrestrials have been recorded.
27. These clarifications are without any doubt, because our monitoring in this regard is absolutely faultless, because our apparatuses and devices register all foreign to Earth mental vibrations of acute activities, but also of telepathic nature, therefore nothing can escape us in this respect.
28. If communications between Earth foreigners and Earth-humans had taken place in the last major period of time, then this would have been recorded by our automatic recording devices and would have become known to us.
29. This in addition to the fact that we have always made individual clarifications with regard to all persons who claimed and still claim to have had or still have contact with extraterrestrials in any way.

30. But the results concerning such contacts are consistently negative to this day, and that is absolutely clear.

31. It is no different with extraterrestrial flying objects, because also with regard to these we have built up a global surveillance network a few months ago, so that no objects can enter or leave the airspace without being registered by us.

32. Until recently this was different, because we had not yet installed the necessary equipment, consequently some foreign objects escaped our attention in recent years, but this has nothing to do with the registration of foreign mental vibrations, which we have been controlling worldwide for more than 82 years, therefore we are also informed about when and where contacts between Earth-humans and Earth foreigners have actually taken place.

33. During this time their number – you excepted – applies to only eight such contacts, but of all those who claim that they have or have had such contacts, only one is who openly admitted the truth and came forward – the American Daniel Fry.

34. All others remained silent to the public about their contacts.

35. And what else is to be said about extraterrestrial flying objects:

36. They have entered Earth's airspace very sparsely since 1984.

37. What has been observed since then of unknown flying objects were usually – with very few exceptions – secret military or official flying objects of terrestrial origin.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_385

Ptaah:

39. The electromagnetic oscillations of the Earth continue to produce luminous phenomena which are seen as light objects, and these very often also occur in the form of seaquake lights, and in the same way as earthquake lights.

...

41. Also luminous gas clouds, which rise from the bottom of the sea to the surface and into the air, as it happens also in moorland areas with regard to the so-called will-o'-the-wisps, but also ball lightning, are frequent phenomena, which occur at the mentioned places.

42. Experts call these light phenomena UFOs, which happens especially by people who are of esoteric and religious faith, whereby they regard the appearing phenomena as of extraterrestrial origin, which is of course nonsense, because real extraterrestrial flying machines, which are piloted by life-forms, correspond to an absolute rarity.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_401

Billy:

... I am frequently asked, especially from the US and Mexico, about the sporadic appearance of small white objects at high altitude in the sky. I have also been sent a video showing such objects – white, round things that appear like small moving clouds that often change their position and sometimes seem to merge into each other, but then separate again. There are hundreds of such things at a time. To me it looks as if they are small cloud-like formations, which, as with larger similar phenomena in relation to earthquake lights, are caused by natural phenomena, such as gas concentrations, and by earth electromagnetic oscillations and energies, which are then mistaken for UFOs in the sense that they are extraterrestrial jet ships or flying machines. Also the earthquake lights are interpreted again and again as UFOs of extraterrestrial origin, because they often have forms which look like any futuristic flying objects. These often shining electromagnetic objects also have the property, as you have explained to me, that hallucinations are caused in some humans, which are often based on the fact that some humans consider everything to be real. Very often such hallucinations lead to illusory experiences in such a way that the hallucinators see themselves as abducted by aliens, especially with regard to small grey males with big almond-shaped eyes etc. False memory images are created by the brain, which feign something experienced without actually happening. A phenomenon that also occurs in such humans in a state of hypnosis. As you once explained, in the hypnotic state stories and experiences are created in the brain that seem completely real, but are not real and therefore never happened. If I remember correctly, these hallucinations are triggered in the cranial and temporal lobes. So it follows that the alleged abductions of terrestrials by extraterrestrials are based on pure hallucinations, as well as all the associated stories of alleged medical examinations, impregnations, robbery of the foetus, of strange time gaps, the local displacement of the allegedly affected, the switching off of lights and car engines etc. Of the hundreds and thousands of allegedly abducted humans all over the world – with the USA leading the way – the truth is that only two authentic cases in the last 240 years can be mentioned, as you recently explained to me in a purely private conversation. Even the fairy tales of alleged implants etc. are based on hallucinations or on events in which the person concerned has unnoticed in some way a foreign body, metal or plastic etc., has penetrated the body or limbs. It is not uncommon for there to be several such foreign bodies. Even mass observations of alleged extraterrestrial missiles can be based on hallucinations caused by earth electromagnetic oscillations and their energies, especially if strange nebulous or cloud-like formations are connected with them, which are caused by ionizations in the atmosphere.

Ptaah:

63. Although we talked about it before, but apparently I misunderstood you regarding the objects in Mexico and explained that I had no answer to that.

64. But now I know what your question is about, which I can only answer in the sense that you just explained it.

65. And what you're going to say is actually based on our findings as we conveyed them to you.

66. Unfortunately, this will not change the fact that all those who believe in the absurdities of alleged abductions by extraterrestrials and in everything allegedly connected with them will not be lectured.

67. In this regard, any instruction in relation to reality is usually just as meaningless as it is in relation to crop circles, belief in ghosts, all esotericism, religious sectarianism, the false teachings of religions and everything that has to do with occultism and hallucinations, imaginations and delusions of any kind from the human brain.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_408

Ptaah:

12. What the animals perceive are geophysical effects in the form of electromagnetic oscillations, which are created in the earth's interior by the fact that – to put it simply – enormous weights of rocks as well as other layers of material press against each other with enormous forces and rub against each other, which causes changes in the rock and in the materials and thus creates electromagnetic oscillations.

13. In the same way, electromagnetic oscillations in the Earth's interior are caused by magma, water and gas processes.

14. The resulting electromagnetic oscillations are always discharged upwards or to the Earth's surface.

15. These oscillations are able to cause light phenomena in the Earth's atmosphere, namely the so-called earthquake or seaquake lights, which are often called UFOs by observers.

16. This in addition to the fact that they also form nebulous formations and clouds.

17. Animals, birds, fish and all creatures are sensitive to the electromagnetic oscillations, causing them to become agitated and behave as if they were disturbed, often taking flight.

18. In earlier times, when man had not yet lost his natural abilities, he too was able to perceive these vibrations, which today – with few exceptions – is no longer possible.

19. But if he prepares himself to observe thoroughly the world of animals, birds and fish and all the creatures, then he can recognize from their behaviour when certain natural events occur, such as earthquakes, seaquakes and landslides, etc.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_423

Billy:

... Then it would be interesting to know how it behaves with flights of extraterrestrials into the terrestrial airspace, if you and your federated are excluded. Has something new come up? As you once explained to me, you have been doing some special research on this subject over the last few years.

Ptaah:

...

62. With regard to new entries of strangers to the Earth, nothing has come up for a very long time.

63. Thorough studies and clarifications on our part have shown that since 1947 no foreigners have flown into the airspace of the Earth unknown to us.

...

66. Clear investigations which we have conducted over the last three years have revealed that only we and our Federation allies were operating in Earth's airspace, along with a few others, all of whom, however, eventually became known to us and all of whom, with one exception, have joined our Federation.

67. With only six exceptions, none of all these strangers to Earth have made any other contact with Earth-humans, neither with us nor with strangers, and neither with our Federation allies nor with us.

68. The six exceptions – apart from your person – are known to you, and these earthlings have all died in the meantime.

...

Billy:

Then you could say that apart from the aircraft belonging to you and your Federation, and those who then joined your Federation, no other alien aircraft have been sighted on Earth in recent decades? But there are an enormous number of sightings around the world. ...

Ptaah:

...

77. The many sightings of unidentified flying objects in terrestrial airspace are based on the one hand on electromagnetic as well as purely atmospheric and natural phenomena of the Earth, but also on the fact that secret military test flights with futuristic aircraft are observed.

78. Such test flights have been taking place since the beginning of aviation and were also carried out during the World War II years and afterwards, and they continue to this day.

79. In very many cases it was and is such secret flying machines, which were seen all over the world and were mistaken for extraterrestrial aircraft and are still mistaken for them.

Billy:

... But what's interesting to hear from you now is that for the last three years you have finally found out the truth about alien aircraft and alleged contacts. Nevertheless, one question remains open, namely that various people have described abductions, contacts and observations etc. under hypnosis. Also the so-called Channelling is still current with various lunatics and cheats.

Ptaah:

80. We have already talked about this earlier.

81. These are imaginations and visions as well as effective delusions, wishful thinking and earth electromagnetic influences on the brain etc.

82. What is concerning channelling, there is to say that on the one hand it is absolute nonsense and on the other hand it is delusion, but you know that.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_424

Billy:

... Then another question regarding the entry of extraterrestrial flying apparatuses into terrestrial space, which you once estimated to be about 3,000 a year. Must we assume that these flying apparatuses were only those of your federation and yourselves? ...

Ptaah:

...

25. In the last 200 hundred years, there were also a few others apart from us, and various other Earth-foreigners from our federation, who flew into Earth's space.

26. On the whole, however, the 3,000 flights taking place per year are traceable to us and to our federation, as well as to Asket, and in a few cases to beings foreign to Earth who later on joined our federation.

27. The number of flights has decreased drastically to a number of twelve per year since then; and these flights relate to our work with you and our visits.

28. Except one, all the beings foreign to Earth who flew into Earth's space have joined our federation after we contacted them as I have already said.

...

Billy:

Then all the so-called UFOs, which were observed in the last century, were spaceships from you, your federation, and from those who joined your federation after they had been contacted by you here on Earth? And what about Roswell, do the beings foreign to Earth, which were bioorganic androids, belong to you as well?

Ptaah:

54. Of course, not all so-called UFOs were spaceships of beings foreign to Earth, because the majority of all observations of such objects were and are still today based on Earthly things, for example on electromagnetic or atmospheric phenomena but also based on other natural occurring happenings, like swarms of insects or birds, dust formations and so forth, or on meteors from space.

55. Apart from this, however, there were and still are many objects of futuristic forms of secret military origin of the most diverse states, which were and are also still called UFOs or extraterrestrial flying apparatuses by Earth-humans due to a lack of knowledge regarding their origin and construction.

56. The sighting of UFOs is often also based on Earthly flying machines such as airplanes and balloons of all types.

57. What has to be said concerning Roswell is that we and our federation and all beings foreign to Earth, and who were flying into Earth's space, and then joined our federation, did not have anything to do with this incident.

Billy:

May one ask, how many peoples foreign to Earth, which flew into Earth's space, and which you contacted, joined your federation? And how many persons were involved in your investigation of three years – were it only Florena, Enjana, and their friends and you?

Ptaah:

58. During the entire last and second last century, the 20th and the 19th century respectively, there had been five visitors foreign to Earth, which joined our federation.

59. In another case, this was not possible because we were not able to contact them.

60. In this new century and millennium nothing has happened yet, which is not yet to be expected, because populated planets are very far from Earth, and not many find their way to Earth although they are able to master space travel technology, which is the exception rather than the rule.

61. There were 427 persons involved in the investigation that was of special interest to us.

Billy:

Man, that is a large number of people. So, you have spent the last three years investigating contacts in regard to beings foreign to Earth and found that no contacts have taken place between beings foreign to Earth and human beings of Earth – except in the few cases that are known to me and pertain to you Plejaren and your federation. Is your knowledge now complete? You once said, that you would not be able to watch over the entire Earth, therefore, that under circumstances some flights and so forth could be missed by you.

Ptaah:

62. That is right – for a long time, we were not able to watch altogether everything pertaining to flights of beings foreign to Earth.

63. But now through our newest technology, we could investigate the whole of the 19th and the 20th century, and the first years of the 21st century.

64. The result of this investigation is that it is how I told you on my last visit on the 10th of June, and how I have said it now.

65. The fact is, that since 1800 until now 2006 the flying objects observed from outer space solely belonged to us Plejaren and the five others mentioned who joined our federation and those we could not contact and have remained foreign to us.

66. The thing about Roswell is another and special case, because back then bioorganic androids were found.

67. And one also has to say now, that when flying machines as well as telemeter discs originating from outer space are seen, then these belong only to us Plejaren and our federation.

68. Contacts with Earthlings do not take place, and apart from the contact with you, no other contacts exist.

69. That will only change when other beings foreign to Earth land openly and take up contacts, which will only happen then when we have left.

Billy:

Indeed, disappointing. – Everything, therefore, is nonsense and idle talk, as to the claims made by many people that they have been having contacts with extraterrestrials and would continue in such, and had and would have the opportunity to fly with them in spaceships or claim that the possibility of channelling or telepathic contacts, and so on was given.

Ptaah:

70. This is absolutely true. –

...

Billy:

... But this very conversation now taking place between you and me will call many opponents to the fore, accusing us – especially me – of lying, because it could not be that only the contacts between you and me would be in accordance with the facts and truth, whereas everything else is lies, deception, imagination and illusion as well as delusion and so on. The world of UFO-believers, and UFO-fanatics and those believing in extraterrestrials will scream and howl; and especially the self-appointed specialists and experts in matters of UFOs and extraterrestrials will also come forth, and scream falsehood and deceit in the same way as UFO opponents and other self-appointed experts and specialists in this line of thought who have always maintained that as a whole everything was only deception and fraud, delusion or chimera and so on. However, it will also be the UFO-esoterics and the like-minded UFO-sectarians who climb on the same accusatory bandwagon as well as all those stuck in fantasies who believe that extraterrestrials live among human beings and would be present at any meetings and assemblies of UFO believers etc. This is also case with the nonsense of seances where the departed are supposed to be present, or could be called to join. Completely crazy ones even claim that extraterrestrials participate in Earth governments and would direct and control the destiny of Earth and its humankind.

Ptaah:

76. That it will be so is certain, because truth is not only disenchanting, however, also frightening, and it shatters the illusions, hopes, desires, imaginations and delusions and so on of many believers in UFOs.

77. However, those believing in UFOs, and many others wish to be cheated and led into delusion and do not acknowledge the truth, just as those believing in religions and sectarians.

78. They neither wish to see nor recognize nor acknowledge the truth, because they are caught by their belief and their illusions, which they are holding high above all truth and reality.

79. As a rule, to free themselves of this belief is impossible, because it is equal to a hereditary disease, which needs a very long time to be healed, and can only be overcome by reason and understanding.

80. Likewise it is with opponents, because their reason and understanding is breaking down as well, however, in a different manner than that according to the believers in regard to imagined extraterrestrials and their spaceships, as well as so-called contacts and abductions and so on. However, also opponents fall into a belief, as well as those who know everything better and those who negate, and this likewise does not let them recognize and acknowledge the truth.

81. They are just as sick in believing as all the other believers.

Billy:

Very well, then if unidentified flying objects were seen in Earth's space, then they belonged to you, your federation or to your later federation and in two cases to the foreigners that you could not contact, if I include Roswell. And as to contacts through extraterrestrials with Earth-humans, then all but one case lead back to your federation, and all of the contact persons have died and none of the ones that have for years been saying that they were having contacts with you or with other extraterrestrials belong to them, and that they also call you Pleiadians, because at the beginning we said as a precaution that you called yourselves Pleiadians to then later uncover the lies of such persons. Then, when the lies had multiplied, and the world was full of such claims of persons who said they were having contacts with you, we came out into the open and revealed from where you really come from, and how you call yourselves in fact Plejaren and not Pleiadians. All the liars have in this way exposed themselves, even though they are still trying to save face by weaving more lies. At what stage is the general control as to further flights of beings foreign to Earth?

Ptaah:

82. Should further flights take place, although we do not expect any, we would of course inform you.

83. And what has to be said and can only be said again and again and has often been said, regarding contacts between Earth-humans and foreigners to Earth, is that you are the only person in the whole world who is capable of having contacts with us Plejaren and those belonging to our federation.

84. And also in this respect, no other contacts of any kind are taking place between other beings foreign to Earth and Earth's human beings, because no other beings foreign to Earth exist, apart from us, who are operating in this way in Earth's space.

85. And no more in conjunction with us has to be said regarding the tissue of lies of the alleged contact persons because the facts tell the whole story.

...

Ptaah:

87. If nonetheless our ships are sighted on different locations in Earth's space – and these are solely of extraterrestrial origin – then this has to do with special duties to be carried out, during which the cloaking has to be disabled.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_428

Billy:

... But tell me: You have stated that you have checked the last 200 years regarding flight entries of extraterrestrials. And regarding Roswell, you told me you had nothing to do with it. With regard to UFO crashes, it is claimed in ufological circles that besides in Roswell, alien aircraft also crashed elsewhere in the USA, but also in Mexico, in Russia and in Norway as well as in Sweden, England and South America.

Ptaah:

35. These are senselessnesses of unparalleled kind, nothing but wild stories of lies, governmental and military disinformation as well as wild fantasies.

36. For our part, we were able to establish with absolute clarity that all these alleged crashes of extraterrestrial flying objects did not take place.

Billy:

In that case, only you and members of your confederation have actually been seen on the Earth in the last 200 years, leaving aside Roswell and the case where you were unable to establish contact, the very case where some of our passive members were able to photograph an alien-technical flying object above our centre. But what about the period prior to the 200 years you have checked, did extraterrestrials who did not belong to you then also come to the Earth?

Ptaah:

37. That is with certainty the case and therefore not to be doubted.

Billy:

Then I would like to know how many different types and forms of spaceships and beamships you Plejaren have had in operation over the last 200 years up to today and still have, in case you are able to provide information about this? And how many types and forms do your confederation allies have?

Ptaah:

38. I do not know precisely the exact number in relation to our different types and forms of spaceships and beamships, but I think there are currently altogether more than 600 different types that we have in use.

39. I do not know how many further types and forms were in operation during the last 200 years.

40. Concerning the different types and forms of spaceships and beamships that are in operation with our confederation members, I do not know any number to mention, but there are many thousands of them.

Billy:

And – have you and your confederation members also often been cruising around in the earthly airspace with the most diverse vehicles during the last 200 years?

Ptaah:

41. Yes, with thousands of different flying machines.

Billy:

And could these also be observed by the human beings of the Earth?

Ptaah:

42. This possibility was of course always given and will always be given.

43. This even though, for safety reasons, we protect ourselves better against sight at the present time.

Billy:

After all, you and your confederation members have also drastically reduced the flight entries into the earthly space.

Ptaah:

44. That is correct, since there are only a few dozen left per year – apart from the daily control flights, which of course we carry out uninterruptedly.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_439

Billy:

... So you have said that in the earthly airspace with regard to extraterrestrial flying objects only those of you Plejaren as well as those of your federated and of the unidentified strangers can be observed. Is the state still the same, that you still could not identify the strangers and that they still can be observed in the airspace of the Earth?

Ptaah:

29. Actually, the situation is still the same with regard to the unidentified ones, but we do not try to clarify it anymore, because we have gained knowledge that there is no danger for us or for the people on earth from these strangers.

30. So we also do not try to disturb their own secrecy and to make ourselves recognizable to them, for which we can also assume with certainty that these strangers have no knowledge of our existence, because we always shield ourselves from them in every respect against sight or location, so only we know of their existence.

31. The alien flying objects can often be observed worldwide by terrestrial human beings, because they quite obviously do not have any shielding technology against sight, as is the case with us.

32. What we have also clarified, however, is the fact that these strangers possess the most varied forms of flying objects, but also that they have no contact whatsoever with Earth-humans and have never come into direct or indirect contact with such people, and consequently there can be no reports of the experiences of any Earth-humans.

Billy:

So the unidentified flying objects observed in the last months, in so far as they were of extraterrestrial nature, are thus only a matter of concern to you Plejaren, your federated and the unidentified strangers, but not to other strangers from space?

Ptaah:

33. That is not true, no, because since the 1st of July 2006 we have comprehensively shielded our airplanes in order to gain control over how often the unidentified strangers can be observed on average in all earthly airspace during a year.

34. This is a special investigation which will continue until the 30th of June 2007.

Billy:

Aha, then since the 1st of July 2006, all observations of unidentified flying objects, which were probably of extraterrestrial origin, have been aircraft of the unidentified aliens. But one more question: Since when have they been on Earth and flying around in the air?

Ptaah:

35. Looking back into the past, we can see that these aliens have been appearing in the air for several centuries.

Billy:

This of course explains a lot, especially many appearances of UFOs, which could not be assigned to earthly phenomena, as well as not to earthly flying machines, because at that time no such machines existed. Neither did they belong to you Plejaren or your Federation, because if I take your old explanations into account, you have always been wary of being sighted by people of the Earth. Regarding the unidentified strangers, I wonder if you have not tried to get in contact with them and find out what their mission here on Earth is?

Ptaah:

36. Your words are correct regarding the unidentified flying machines that were observed on Earth in earlier centuries.

37. With regard to the unidentified aliens, the following must be said:

38. Over the past few years we have made several attempts to contact them, but according to our control equipment our signals, for reasons unknown to us, always radiated back to us before they could even reach the direct range of the alien aircraft.

39. From this we deduced that the strangers were not willing to make contact, so we stopped our efforts to make further contact attempts.

40. And since we only tried to make ourselves noticeable in the form of the signals mentioned above, but not by sighting or locating them, the strangers did not discover our presence so far.

41. As a result of the fruitless attempts of contact on our part, we are not aware of the alien mission.

42. Also it is only since one week that we have known through further investigations in the past that these foreigners have been present on Earth for a very long time and that they appear again and again in such a way that they can be observed by Earth-humans.

43. But as I already explained, there is no proof that they would have come into direct or indirect contact with Earth-humans, because for such contacts we did not find any evidence with any Earth-humans.

...

Billy:

There have been reports since July 2006, just since you are completely shielded from detection and visibility, of UFOs that I don't think can be linked to terrestrial aircraft or any other flying devices or to natural terrestrial phenomena.

Ptaah:

46. We are aware of this, and indeed some of the unidentified flying machines are in some instances a cause of concern to the aliens, while other observations are nevertheless attributable to terrestrial flying machines or natural phenomena.

...

Ptaah:

54. It will take some time, even if Quetzal is reachable at the moment, because it takes about two minutes for my questions to reach Quetzal via all relay stations, just as it takes two minutes for the answer.

...

57. Quetzal is reachable and he will send me his answer in a few minutes as soon as he has found the data.

Billy:

You did all this by way of pure thought vibration?

Ptaah:

58. This is the only way I can do it, because everything has to take place through the apparatuses of my flying machine – whose apparatuses are controlled in every respect only by my thought vibrations.

Billy:

As is the case with all your ships, apparatus and equipment, unless you wish to handle things manually or acoustically with your voice. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_441

Billy:

Around 22 years have now passed since you and Quetzal told me privately that you had comprehensive cognitions in regard to terrestrial UFOs and the massacre of animals and alleged abductions which were disguised as the shoddy efforts of extraterrestrials. You said thereby that, in regard to this, involved in these machinations are governments, the military, as well as industrial businesses and powerful ones of finance, which constitute a special group, to which still smaller groups are also related. At that time you promised that you would officially explain more about that when the time is ripe for that. Can one now speak publicly about that?

Ptaah:

21. With the named group, it concerns a worldwide branching from governments, the military, industrial groups, secret services, paramilitary and powerful ones of finance, as you correctly said.

22. Those in the know and contributors are only certain elements of the same, who profit greatly, financially and power-politically, from their secret machinations, for which reason the entire powers of the government, military and industrial as well as finance are not involved in the situation and are also not informed in regard to this.

23. The group is not organized, as such, rather is only a loose collection, whereby their interests, however, have a common form, which, already since the 1920s, was designed to operate a continuous, ingenious, large-scale disinformation campaign regarding the question of extraterrestrial life.

24. The group, which is split into many small groups, has many kinds of technical possibilities at their disposal, which they employ for their evil and human-misleading purposes.

25. That started with technologies of electromagnetism to do with precision electronics and computer engineering, up to and including apparatuses through which brainwashing and the programming and altering of consciousness is evoked in humans.

26. They even have back-engineered beamships at their disposal, whereby, in certain contexts, even antigravity finds application.

27. It has also occurred many times that premeditated "abductions" of Earth humans by "extraterrestrials", and the massacre of animals, has been and is faked by this group.

28. That stands partly also in connection with those illusionary and schizophrenic visions and apparent experiences of those who believe that they have had, or have, these kinds of real experiences.

29. Also wrong information and falsified pictures of alleged extraterrestrial flying devices is strategically circulated worldwide, whereby according to our investigations, about 98% of all false pictures, films, videos and false information is directed at moving the Earth humans to angst and terror of extraterrestrials and to engender hate and thoughts of revenge in the Earth humans.

30. Therefore, in this way, angst, terror and hate is stirred up against all life foreign to Earth.

31. Especially films for cinema and television serve this purpose, as also, however, do many books which are constructed on lies and untruths and are written partly by "experts" in psychology and psychiatry.

32. All this nonsense sells very well to the Earth humans because many on the search for the effective truth trust and believe this false information, and these films and pictures.

33. Angst, horror, terror, hate and revenge always sell well, while the truth appears too banal and therefore appears uninteresting as well as not worth knowing.

34. Only the fantastic and unreal find a place in the interests of Earth humans. 35. However, precisely that is the launching platform for the infamous machinations of the worldwide group, because, through disinformation and fear-mongering in regard to the malicious foreigners to Earth, the entire group, which reaches right around the world, derives horrendous advantages of a financial, governmental-power, military-power as well as an economic form.

35. However, precisely that is the launching platform for the infamous machinations of the worldwide group, because, through disinformation and fear-mongering in regard to the malicious foreigners to Earth, the entire group, which reaches right around the world, derives horrendous advantages of a financial, governmental-power, military-power as well as an economic form.

36. The entire war, electronics and weapons industries, and so forth, thereby gain an enormous boost.

37. Yet, in the worldwide group, secret paramilitary units also exist as smaller groups which carry out the same kind of operations which, however, are mostly controlled by the worldwide group.

38. In particular, these small groups carry out premeditated abductions which are credited ostensibly to the extraterrestrials, as well as, however, also simulated appearances of alleged extraterrestrial flying craft, which are then collectively declared to be extraterrestrial UFO appearances and are often observed, photographed and filmed by many people.

39. Thereby the illusion of an ostensible extraterrestrial abduction or observation of extraterrestrial flying devices is evoked.

40. What is further to say about that is that, in this worldwide group, with all the small groups who partly also work autonomously, there exists a proper "UFO trade" and a subculture in regard to animal massacres and abductions and so forth.

41. The entire thing is secretly financed through governments, the military, industrial groups and financially powerful ones who are interested in angst, terror and hate being stirred-up to their highest forms in regard to the alleged evil extraterrestrial foreigners, because they can thereby gain gigantic financial profit and advantage.

42. It is on this basis that, in every regard, from this group, only stories, cinema and television films and observations of UFOs will be accepted and profitably exploited, which are based on everything negative and – as is becoming proverbial with the Earth humans – on the malicious and aggressive nature of the extraterrestrials.

43. Only that which evokes angst, fear and terror as well as engenders hate and revenge is accepted by the group and exploited worldwide in order to obtain enormous profit with it.

44. Conversely, in addition to that, everything which is good and positive is vehemently slandered and is designated as a swindle, lie and deception, as is the case with you and us, since, in keeping with the interests of the group, we are not permitted to exist, and you are not permitted to be in contact with us, rather you must be a liar and a fraud.

45. So, from the group and their small groups, the Earth humans will be served up deliberately false and fear-influencing stories in regard to extraterrestrial UFOs and foreigners to Earth and their alleged horrifying machinations like, for example, painful examination contacts and animal massacres along with falsified encounters with alleged extraterrestrials.

46. Along with profit, the whole matter also serves deeply-based psychological propaganda in order to insult forms of life who are foreign to Earth and to brand them as malicious beings and to create angst, hate, revenge and hysteria because great financial means will be thereby freed up which serve research for the production of innovative and futuristic weapons of all kinds.

47. Therefore, in these Earth humans, in regard to the extraterrestrial, an enemy will be psychologically, deliberately created which does not exist and which will, in a manner, be made into a malicious being such that the Earth humans, in their angst, will be driven to freeing up horrendous sums in order to therewith manufacture weapons against the alleged malicious invaders.

48. Also, with these acts, various groups play off against each other, which, however, is part of a well-thought-out plan which is carried out and implemented by secret services, psycho-terrorists, espionage groups and treacherous disinformation agents and which is underpinned by false information regarding UFOs and alleged extraterrestrials.

49. Additionally belonging to this plan is the invention of an imaginary extraterrestrial enemy, as well as a danger emerging from this – an enemy and a danger which, naturally, will have to be fought.

50. The infamy is thereby that, first of all, everything is made ridiculous because the concerned "abductees", "examinees", "chance contactees" and UFO-observers can provide no evidence for their experiences which would withstand a real examination.

51. Then comes the second fact, which exists in the fact that angst, terror, hate and feelings of revenge is produced in the Earth humans whereby then the weapons industry can be built up and indeed especially in regard to futuristic weapons, of which the normal Earth humans have no idea, and of which they do not ever dare to dream.

52. The entirety is thereby a well-thought-out psychological network on which the progress of the entire weapons industry and the power of the military, of the federal leadership, the finance sharks and the industry businesses as well as the secret services can be built up ever further.

53. To this end angst, terror, hysteria, hate and revenge is sown in regard to all foreigners from outer space.

54. So the Earth humans become duped and financially exploited by the responsible ones of this dangerous group and their small groups and are deliberately driven to abhor and to hate the extraterrestrial foreigners.

55. Corresponding cinema and television films serve as especially suitable means for that.

56. The foreigner-angst, respectively, alien-angst, which is thereby produced surpasses all normal angst and the responsible ones of the group know that precisely, for which reason they can also thereby calculate that all necessary finances flow to them, which they require for their weapon research, their weapon manufacture, their leading of wars, and desires for power, as well as for unrealistic cinema and TV films which demonize the Earth-strangers.

57. The creation of an supposed threat from extraterrestrials as well as the alien-angst is, for them, a profitable matter which is operated under the shabby cloak of a federal, respectively, country security and of world peace.

58. For the entire machinations of the group, the meanest machinations are quite good enough which, as said, were already operating since the 1920s and to that also belong highly developed electronic weapons systems, futuristic flying discs, Earth humans who are hypnotically and surgically converted, as well as converted in their consciousness, to robots*, whereby some have an appearance like the being which is called the "Little Grey".

59. On one hand there is the dim-witted paradox that the extraterrestrial flying devices are denied and the strangers to Earth are made ridiculous or made out to be monsters by means of psychological propaganda, while, on the other hand, a financial exploitation of the peoples results through the inciting of angst, terror, hate and revenge and indeed thereby in that a simulation results in regard to a supposed threat from extraterrestrials.

60. A paradox without compare, to which the question must be put, how far are the Earth humans imbued with reason and understanding that they do not recognise this paradox.

61. The entire pre-arranged game of the group and their small groups, as already said elsewhere, also includes faked encounters with alleged extraterrestrials, whereby these are truly nothing other than normal Earth humans or those who have been transformed into "aliens".

62. In order then to affirm the improvised "encounters with those foreign to Earth" psychologists and other experts are pulled in into whom the wildest stories are hammered for so long until they believe the entire swindle and nonsense and employ "verifiable" and "genuine" analyses which are recorded and published in books and documentation as well as in cinema and TV films.

63. And since, as a rule, the supposed extraterrestrials are described as horrible villains, just according to the plan of the group and their small groups, the picture of the extraterrestrial threat is powerfully incited.

64. Thereby, not only is the slandering in regard to the real strangers to Earth always more exaggerated, as also more and more finances flow into the cash box of those who stupidly and dimwittedly earn as a result of the entire tissue of lies and slander and thereby come by the means to reach their criminal goals.

65. A certain part of the group has also fallen to a Christian sectarianism and to the supposed "End Times" in such a way that hope is directed at a malicious invasion of extraterrestrials resulting on Earth, and thereby the prophesied Armageddon will become reality in which Jesus Christ celebrates his official return and God the father will exercise his judgment.

66. Their delusion is therefore bound with a biblical end of the world, which, as they believe, rests on the terrible badness of the Earth humans.

67. And in order to accelerate this divine judgement as well as the return of Christ they do everything in order to make the way free for that.

68. The monstrous power of the worldwide group and their small groups as well as the religious fanaticism, together with the cultic maintaining of the secret of the entire underhanded, degenerated and deceptive as well as criminal and felonious machinations, lead to malignant effects which could not be worse.

69. These are the facts which I have to name in regard to your question.

Billy:

... Some time ago, Professor James Deardorff from the USA wanted to know a few things about the cake-ship that landed on our parking lot between the shed and the residential building. The story concerning the striking similarity of the hull of the cake-ship with a barrel cover form or with a barrel lid and its origin from storage barrels in our possession is mentioned in the 254th contact report. Christian Frehner therefore had to take several photos and indicate the size of the ship and the distance between me with the camera and the cake ship. For my part I know that the diameter is about 3.50 metres, which is what I told Christian. But can you tell me the exact size, but also how many people can fit in this small ship?

Ptaah:

...

4. The lowest outermost diameter with the flat rim was 3 metres and 52 centimetres, but the outermost upper outer rim diameter was 3 metres and 20 centimetres.

5. The entire outer rim structure on which the oscillation accumulators were mounted was 37.6 centimetres, while the dimension from the lower rim ring to the plane of the oscillation accumulators was 32 centimetres, as with these.

6. And the space in the flying apparatus was designed for one person in a seated position, although three people could be accommodated in a crowded manner if necessary.

7. However, this type of flying apparatus was not suitable for the earthly atmosphere, which is why they were removed from earthly space after only a short period of use.

Billy:

I was not aware of this. The oscillation accumulators probably mean the silver bullets, I suppose, right?

Ptaah:

8. That is true.

9. Their diameter was 32 centimetres, as I said.

Billy:

Last Sunday I watched a program on TV, which talked about electronic technology, which will be common on Earth in 2070. It was quite interesting, because it showed a lot of things that you also had in the past, before you extended everything concerning the operation and control of devices, apparatus, spacecraft, machines, holographic vision, communication and robots etc. to pure mind control. Actually, we have never officially talked about it, or at least only rarely, the reason being that it would have sounded too futuristic and fantastic. But now that the earthlings are broadcasting such information programmes on television about future electronic technology, I suppose we can talk about it too, can't we? In our core group the whole thing is not a secret, but outwardly we have not let it be known much that all your technical and electronic operations are no longer done manually, but purely with mental vibrations, so that all possible operations and circuits etc. on apparatuses, devices, weapons and all kinds of machines etc. are done purely with mental vibrations. However, no holographic control panels are used in this process, which would still have to be operated by finger touch, as was shown, for example, in the programme in question. In your case, the whole thing works through a central computer, which receives all thought-vibrations and converts them into corresponding functions, as Quetzal once explained to me when I was at his home. Although you can operate everything by hand, because everything is equipped for it, you only use it if you want to or if there is a breakdown, but breakdowns are completely impossible, because your technology is perfectly sophisticated and can independently detect and repair potential damage before it occurs.

Ptaah:

5. Our technology in this regard is actually very highly developed and seems really futuristic to Earth-humans, so it is perhaps not good that you have talked about it now anyway.
6. The reality of all our technology in every respect is much higher than what you have explained in your words, as you know.
7. The whole thing in every respect is not yet imaginable for the Earth human and therefore not comprehensible and not to be understood.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_447

{Billy, Kabul, Afghanistan, 16th September 1964:}

... In this way also the traditional prophecies of the signs in the sky have become reality, because for years these have been seen and observed at all hours of the day and night and in all parts of the world, but unfortunately they are often misinterpreted and ridiculed. But the signs of the times are fireballs, explosions of rays in the atmosphere, earth-electromagnetic-atmospheric phenomena, strange clouds and misty phenomena, which appear by the hundreds like small flying objects. But there also appear jet ships or space ships from foreign planets, which are steered by foreign people, who come here in order to indirectly enter into the evolutionary process of consciousness and into the action of consciousness through a proclaimer and his teaching of the spirit as well as through the teaching of truth and through the teaching of life, to intervene in the actions and work of earthly humanity because necessity demands it, because the man of the earth with his still limited consciousness forces the basic and structural elements of nature and life to react, in order to destroy in his insanity myriad life and the climate of the earth. ...

And what is to be said further: The ray ships resp. spaceships of foreign intelligences from distant worlds are no fantasy, because they exist like you and me – they are not cloud agglomerations, balloons, lightning, flocks of birds and the like, as they are so gladly called by scientists and leading authorities, by opponents of the truth or by laymen, who do not want to make themselves ridiculous with the recognition of the existence of the so-called UFOs. These unknown extraterrestrial flying objects – if they are not, as is often the case, top-secret earthly-military aircraft and planes -, they are real, as thousands of very good photographs, films and reports prove. And there is no shortage of real contacts – even if there are very few of them worldwide and only a small handful in number – who have spoken with extraterrestrials. They all testify to the real existence of the extraterrestrials and their objects, the beam ships. They and everything else testify to the effective existence of the extraterrestrials – even if this existence is ridiculed by the terrestrial authorities and evil antagonists as not being proven or simply presented as a hallucination or even a lie. But for what reasons do the denying and denying authorities and antagonists maintain very secret UFO reconnaissance groups etc., which have the task to clarify the origin of the UFOs from space and to arm them for a possible space war or a sudden invasion from space? An idea, by the way, which corresponds to a complete nonsense, because the space men do not control our earth in order to conquer or subjugate it, if they wanted to, they could have done so long ago, because their technology reaches to the fantastic compared to the earthly one – and the earthly weapons of all armies would be nothing more than a toy for them, which they would throw away as rubble and useless junk due to unworthiness and uselessness. Moreover, their very highly developed technology goes back many centuries and millennia, so that, if it had been in their will, they could have conquered the earth when it was still in antiquity or in the dark Middle Ages when it was growing towards its present state. But why are the authorities so eager to find out the secret of UFOs and especially the unsolved mystery of the radiation propulsion, which makes the extraterrestrial aircraft or UFOs fly through the earth's atmosphere at speeds of up to 100,000 kilometers per hour and more, neutralizing the gravity? So why these secret researches under exclusion of the public, when everything is supposed to be only lies and deceit? Why that? The authorities are afraid, frightening, deadly fear, for they fear an attack from space, and for this purpose it would be urgently necessary that they themselves be in possession of ray ships and ray weapons, so that they could counter the enemy attack already in world space itself. Others, however, fear panic and rampage of the population, if they should really become aware of the existence of the extraterrestrial UFOs and their crews, because panic and rampage already rolled over the population of different countries, when UFO sensational reports, so-called 'direct reports from the place of the event' were broadcasted over the radio stations. Direct reports, however, which did not correspond to the truth and were only sensational radio plays. The number of deaths of the population running amok went into high figures.

However, the authorities, who stop practically all UFO reports – if they have real backgrounds – do not consider that the panic of the masses will be much greater one day, if the extraterrestrials should really come in masses, in order to prevent perhaps the greatest insanity of the earthly humans and to change the face of this world for the better, if the revolutionary events, which are caused by the humans of the earth in a responsible way, roll over this world. But it is questionable whether extraterrestrials ever interfere in earthly matters in this respect, because they have directives which would only allow them to intervene under certain conditions. A real contact person, as well as reconnaissance planes and simple observers of really extraterrestrial flying machines resp. UFOs are dealt with by the authorities as well as by the people and by malicious adversaries and slanderers, who insult lies and fraud and may even be imprisoned for many years in a mean way or interned in insane institutions, because as already mentioned, the authorities are unwilling to reveal the profound truth – they do not shy away from publishing denying notes and treatises in the newspapers or from having them published by bought-in laymen, critics, opponents and so-called 'experts'. For these reasons, in various countries, a real contact person – of which there are not even a handful – an observer or enlightener plays with his freedom when he takes his task seriously and tries to create enlightenment. And the few people who have or have had contact, not even a small handful, have a very difficult position, because they encounter hatred, mockery, disbelief, official intrigues and partly church-destroying statements, as well as slander and much more.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_448

Ptaah:

12. In any case, those were none of our flying apparatus because ours are protected from every perspective, even from all advanced technical and fluidal, i.e. fine-material, vibrational-tracking capabilities, both in relation to those that are terrestrial as well as those that are foreign to the Earth.

13. Only if we deliberately make our aircraft visible, capable of being detected, or in any way recognizable, can they be sighted or detected, such as with demonstrations, as we allowed these as proofs for you, in terms of photographic and film work or for group members and your friends.

14. Even by all technical and fine-material-detecting apparatuses of those who are foreign to the Earth – also for the foreigners who are unknown to us, with whom we've searched for contact in vain – we have never been and never are able to be detected, since a detection of our aircraft automatically triggers an alarm, which is why we've always had to make ourselves recognizable in certain cases and will also have to continue to do so, should it be necessary.

15. We have never been detected in such a way in the earthly air space by any who are foreign to the Earth and who don't belong to us – not to this day – and this will also remain so.

16. Also with regard to our foreign unknowns – i.e. those who are foreign to the Earth and whose presence in the earthly air space has, already for a long time, led to their observation by the Earth-humans again and again – these haven't been able to locate us yet; therefore, they have no proofs of our presence, that is, apart from your evidence, which they have been made aware of in some circumstances.

17. But they certainly do not have real proof of our existence, because they cannot possibly locate us and our flying apparatuses, not even if we make ourselves visible to you, the group members or your friends for a short time, which we will not do for some time anyway, as I already told you some time ago.

18. As for our foreign unknowns, whose origin, technology, and task are likewise unknown to us, as you know, it is to be said that at present, they continue to appear again and again all over the world and can be observed more frequently.

19. Also, we cannot fathom why our signals, if we aim for them, are dissolved or reflected back to us and, thus, do not reach their aircraft; consequently, we cannot establish contact with them, which we also have not tried to do for quite some time.

20. With absolute certainty, it is also to be said that the foreigners do not maintain any contacts with the Earth-humans because our worldwide, all-encompassing detection devices, with which we can also detect the presence of our foreign unknowns, would identify such contacts.

23. And that we can be sure that our flying apparatus have not been detected by the foreigners so far is due to the fact that our highly advanced detection-technology indicates to us every detection process in every direction, immediately and without delay, no matter what technology is used for detection.

Billy:

You spoke of that once and said that this technology, which is unusually high and very futuristic for us Earthlings, is not a development on your part, and neither are your protective shields, which immediately convert all energy hitting them into their own energy, and through this, the protective shields strengthen instead of weaken. If I remember correctly, these forms of technology come from Asket's friendly people, the Sonaer in the DAL Universe, who are more than 4,000 years ahead of you in relation to your technological development.

Ptaah:

24. The technology mentioned does, in fact, trace back to the Sonaer, who have already assisted us for many years in every technological development; consequently, we have a variety of technologies today that we did not yet have at the beginning of our contacts approximately 30 years ago.

...

Billy:

Then another question about the foreigners, who have already circled around here on Earth for a very long time, as you say, and with whom you cannot enter into contact: is it possible that these unknowns may come from the future, perhaps from other planets or even from the Earth itself or else from another dimension?

Ptaah:

30. We have also thought about that and have come to the conclusion that this may very well be possible, both the one and the other possibility.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_450

Ptaah:

4. These are the foreigners unknown to us who operate in the terrestrial airspace.

5. We have not been trying to get in touch with these foreigners for some time now, as I explained to you some time ago.
6. Nevertheless, this did not and does not prevent us from fathoming their origins and their efforts here on Earth.
7. I also told you that these foreigners have a variety of flying apparatuses that can be observed again and again by the Earth-humans.
8. I must now explain that our ongoing research into the foreigners has revealed something that throws a somewhat different light on the whole thing.
9. Only 12 days ago we were able to find out that all the different types of flying apparatuses which we had assigned to the foreigners are not only applicable to them, because parts of the flying machines are in fact related to two other groups of extraterrestrial origin.
10. But even with these it was and is impossible for us to get in contact with them.
11. Obviously it is also the case that all three groups have nothing to do with each other and therefore have no contact with each other, as well as certainly no knowledge of our presence.
12. It is true that all three groups have technology which does not allow us to make contact with them, but we have found out in this respect that this is because their technical devices and equipment are not capable of receiving our signals.
13. But it is also otherwise because the material alloys of their flying apparatus reflect our signals and do not reach their tracking devices.
14. In addition – and we have recently discovered this again – the entire technology of all three foreign groups is far inferior to our technology, which means for us that we must exercise a certain caution, because we cannot judge the attitude of the foreigners.
15. The low level of technology of the foreigners is obviously the reason why they have not been able to locate us with absolute certainty, and the low level of technology is also a sign for us that they are not yet capable of contacts in high form and therefore not yet able to contact us.
16. According to their technology and evolution of consciousness – we have to assume – they could not cope with our level of evolution of consciousness, which could lead to very dangerous reactions if contacts were made anyway.
17. But as far as the three different groups of foreigners are concerned, it must be said that, according to our extremely intensive and precise investigations, they have no contact with each other and probably do not even know about each other.
18. Various of our investigations point this out.
19. And it is also absolutely certain that all three groups of these foreigners have no open contact whatsoever with any human being on earth or have had such contact during the last 350 years or so.
20. In this respect we have carried out detailed investigations in the form of extremely extensive and precise research into the past, which has yielded no results whatsoever of any contacts between these three groups of foreigners for us and any Earth-humans.
21. In this respect, our apparatus and equipment etc. are very accurate and infallible, so that we can say with absolute certainty that no contact whatsoever has taken place between these three foreign groups of extraterrestrials – or perhaps future earthlings, which could also be the case – and Earth-humans.

Billy:

So there are three different groups of extraterrestrial or terrestrial futures here on our world besides you, who are wandering around. Your surprise has succeeded. But are they really all of them, or is it not possible that there are others who are roaming around here?

Ptaah:

22. No, other Earth foreigners are certainly not here, because our very highly developed apparatuses and devices work flawlessly, so that we would be informed by them about other present extraterrestrial or Earth-future forms without doubt and with absolute certainty.

23. The fact that we only discovered a few days ago that the foreigners are three different groups is due to the fact that things have come to our attention which have only now made us aware that the various flying apparatus do not belong to one group alone.

24. So we went back into the past by investigating the whole thing far or about 350 years, and we came across the fact of the three groups and were able to base our present research on it, which gave us and continues to give us the proofs of the three groups of foreigners.

Ptaah:

32. So she made her flying apparatus light up faintly and sent you an impulse so that you could look up and see it.

33. When you then tried to make the flying apparatus light up a little brighter, because you thought it was a control device, she explained what you just said and then, at your request, made the flying apparatus light up brightly and extensively.

34. And that you have never seen this shape, size and intensity of light before, that is because it is a completely new flying apparatus with many innovations, including the type of light.

36. So we can with this new technology penetrate into other dimensions and other space-time structures and thus also move into the future and into the past.

Billy:

So, what do these new ships look like?

Ptaah:

37. The outer form has remained the same, only the entire inner technology has changed.

Billy:

And what about the dome structure that can be pushed up and used as both shower room and toilet, is it still the same? I ask this question because Michael Horn asked me about the dome structure. How he knows about this extendable or retractable dome structure is not known to me, because I did not ask him about it.

Ptaah:

38. No, that has changed as well, because the new aircraft have another upper level which can be used for various purposes, such as a small preparation room for food and as a dining room and working room for research purposes.

Billy:

So two levels, or two extendable or retractable floors. But that's certainly only true for ships of 7 and 14 metres in diameter, isn't it? In the case of the ships with a diameter of only 3.50 metres and the next larger ones over 14 metres, I cannot imagine an additional level that can be pushed up, or am I wrong in this respect?

Ptaah:

39. Yes, you are mistaken about the larger flying apparatus.

40. For the smaller flying apparatus with a diameter of less than 7 metres, there is no level that can be pushed up.

41. There are two levels that can be pushed up only in the 7 and 14 metre diameter flying apparatus.

42. But as I said, you are mistaken about the larger flying apparatus, because even those with a diameter of 21 to 28 metres have levels that can be pushed up, but only in a simple way.

43. All bigger flying apparatus beyond that do not have an additional extendable level, because they are big enough to accommodate all necessary rooms for all purposes without extendable levels.

Billy:

Although the extra upper level in the new ships is probably the same size as the lower level, I suppose.

Ptaah:

44. That is true.

...

Billy:

... Now the question is, do you have any devices or apparatus that enable you to perceive and analyse not only the coarse-material vibrations but also the fine-material vibrations? In this I also include deposited human fluidal forces.

Ptaah:

56. Such analysis devices belong to the standard equipment of every flying apparatus, but also to every person who carries a small device of this kind in his clothing when doing research work etc. in foreign areas.

Billy:

Then it is a warning device as well, I suppose.

Ptaah:

57. Yes, that is the case.

...

Billy:

What I would still be interested in regarding the three foreign groups of extraterrestrials or future earthlings, or whatever they may be, is the following: Do you have any information on how many different flying apparatus each group has? And secondly, have you gained knowledge about what these three groups are doing here on Earth? And thirdly, it would be interesting to know why you have only now come to the conclusion that three different groupings exist? Fourthly, why did not you establish this fact when you went about 200 years into the past and researched everything concerning the first group of foreigners?

Ptaah:

73. The fact that these are three different groups was only discovered a few days ago, because we received new devices and apparatus through the Sonaer, through which we were able to scan and examine their airplanes unnoticed by the foreigners.

74. These new devices also serve to scan the airspace much more precisely for all kinds of objects than was possible with our previous devices.

75. How ...

Billy:

Excuse me, if I am interrupting you. By probing and examining, I assume you mean scanning, as we call it here, right?

Ptaah:

76. That is what it means, yes.

77. Well, we were able to scan the aircraft with the new devices and equipment, and we also noticed that the foreign aircraft have three different basic techniques, which differ from each other in such a way that they could clearly only be assigned to three different technical development stages.

78. In the end, it also turned out that the crews of the aircraft of each of the three types of technology are so fundamentally different that they have no relationship whatsoever to each other.

79. In part, we were able to fathom the state of the evolution of consciousness of all three groups, whereby this state has three different and from each other blatantly striking evolutionary levels.

80. In doing so, we also fathomed the fact that the three groups have no knowledge of each other and therefore no contact with each other.

84. As far as the number of aircrafts registered by us of the three groupings foreign to us is concerned, the total number registered by us amounts to 216, although we do not yet have any data as to how many flying apparatus belong to which grouping in each case.

85. However, we do know the number of different flying apparatus, whereby this amounts to 74 of them, and this in total in relation to all three groupings.

Billy:

And again, a question on this: These ships or aircraft, by your designation, are they in the airspace all the time?

Ptaah:

86. No, that is not the case, because they disappear again and again, although we cannot determine where to.

87. Then they just suddenly return without us being able to find any coordinates.

88. And as far as the question of what these three alien groups are doing here on Earth is concerned, I can only say that we do not know.

89. We have made one observation, however, and that is that at least one group is doing atmospheric and geological research.

90. But as far as your question is concerned, why we did not recognize during our first investigations up to the time of about 200 years ago that the for us foreigners are three different groups and completely different human life forms, that is because we were not yet in possession of the scanning devices and scanning apparatus, by which we could have clarified everything more exactly.

91. Only on our request did the Sonaer agree to make their high technology available to us, which enabled us to clarify everything.

92. Although we have been in possession of scanning equipment for a very long time now, it was not possible to scan the aircraft and their crews with this equipment due to certain radiation from the foreign aircraft, because our scanning pulses were always reflected.

93. Today we know that the reason for this is the material alloy of the foreign aircraft, and strangely enough, all three groups of aircraft, although they are clearly not connected to each other and obviously have no knowledge of each other.

94. Also, before you ask, we couldn't find out if the three alien groups maintain any stations on Earth, because even with our best and newest equipment we couldn't find anything like that.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_451

Ptaah:

11. The object you observed was one of a small armada of a total of 18 flying apparatus belonging to a group of strangers carrying out atmospheric and geological experiments and research, using sound waves generated by atmospheric explosions.

12. They use atmospheric gases and electricity, which, when made to explode, produce popping noises, which also result naturally from pure atmospheric and atmospheric-electrical as well as earth-electromagnetic energies, whereby gas agglomerations form, which look like small, individual clouds, which are stationary or whirl wildly around, as these can be observed particularly in the South American area.

13. The banging noises of this kind can hardly be distinguished from the banging noises caused by exploding meteorites and by the explosions of strangers.

14. And as for the altitude of the flying apparatus you observed, which you estimated to be between 20,000 and 22,000 metres, this was almost 23,000 metres, as we know from our records and observations.

...

17. The activities of all three foreign groups are apparently increasing again worldwide, after having restricted them for the last few years.

...

Billy:

... You said that you received new scanning devices from the Sonaern, through which you could scan the foreign aliens or future earthlings, or whatever they are, and find out that these are three different groups, which are foreign to each other and have no contact with each other. It makes me wonder whether there aren't some other foreigners wandering around in the earthly airspace which you might not have been able to locate?

Ptaah:

20. This is definitely not the case, because our new and extremely accurate devices, which we received from the Sonaern, are much more advanced than ours, but even with these devices we could not detect any other extraterrestrial or Earth foreign flying objects of any kind in the entire terrestrial space.

21. The new devices also work in a very extensive range of fine material as well as dimension-jumping vibrations, but even in these areas we could not detect any other Earth visitors.

Billy:

So now it is absolutely clear by your latest technology that apart from the three groupings of foreigners on Earth respectively in the airspace you mentioned, there are no other extraterrestrials or future Earth visitors? But I would also like to ask you whether there are any new developments concerning unknown earthly flying machines?

Ptaah:

22. I can now answer this with absolute certainty, because our latest devices, which we received from the Sonaern, are absolutely infallible.

23. With regard to earthly secret flying apparatus used for flight testing, we continue to see the same kind of secret aircraft that have been used for a long time, dating back to well before the mid-twentieth century.

24. Since then, these have been the most diverse and sometimes quite futuristic and even strange forms of flying apparatus, which can be secretly created and tested and often observed.

25. But these flying apparatus I am talking about now are exclusively flying objects of purely earthly origin and that was also in the twentieth century.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_457

Billy:

And in regard to the three groups that have been traveling around our world, do you have any new insights on that?

Ptaah:

33. As I mentioned before, we are no longer concerned with them.

34. They are indeed active in the whole earthly airspace and also in the outer Earth envelopes.

35. Furthermore, it seems that they have no knowledge of each other, as I explained to you before, just as they have absolutely no knowledge of our presence, although we leave it at that, because, as we could clearly see with our latest technology, which we received from the Sonaern, their technology and their behaviour as well as their evolution of consciousness is still very much in need of development, and this although they are masters of space travel and probably also of time-travel.

36. Therefore, it would not be good if they became aware of our presence and our home worlds.

37. Although they are apparently aware of our contact with you, as we have found with them, they have no proof of this, because we are not recognizable to them, so they cannot locate us or our flying apparatus, which irritates them.

Billy:

And when you are with me, like you are now, they cannot track that either?

Ptaah:

38. This is completely impossible, because our technology does not allow any tracking in relation to our flying apparatus and ourselves.

39. Our present technology is shaped in such a way that we can only be seen and located if our protective belt can be penetrated, which we can prevent.

40. Only when it is in our will can we be seen and located, as is the case right now with you, who are in my direct protection zone and you can see me.

Billy:

Aha, I suppose that is the technique I experienced with you outside Bernadette's room when we suddenly found ourselves facing each other without me noticing you before.

Ptaah:

41. Yes, it is actually that technique.

42. When you are standing outside the screen, which cannot be located by any lower technique, you only see what the foreground and background and the surroundings make you perceive.

43. Only when you can step inside the screen, which I have to make permeable, then you can see me.

44. But even in the state of making it permeable, the protective screen cannot be located, nor of course the person inside it.

45. On the other hand, all our flying apparatus have been equipped with the same system for quite some time now, because the old shielding technology was not as perfect and efficient as the new one.

Billy:

But you could not be seen or located with the old shielding.

Ptaah:

46. That is true, but the newest technology of the Sonaer is much more efficient.

Billy:

I have been approached again and again from all over the world about sighted unidentified flying objects and whether they have come to you.

Ptaah:

47. It cannot be about our and our Federation's flying apparatus, because as I explained to you several times, we do not allow any more sightings in this regard, which will continue to be the case.

48. So such observations can only be natural phenomena and earthly flying apparatus or those of the three foreign groups.

Billy:

I also think so, and if you could be sighted and photographed by any earthlings, as for example by our group members, then this was especially arranged by you, as it was when I could take the proof photos according to your order.

Ptaah:

49. That is correct.

50. Further photos of our flying apparatus will undoubtedly no longer be possible, because the earthly computer technology does not allow any more proof photos as you could still take them, because the technology that now prevails makes it easy to falsify such pictures, which was not possible at the time when you were ordered by us to take the films and photos.

51. Also as a favour to any group members we will not allow any more photography.

52. We will no longer make any exceptions, not even with regard to observations.

53. Everyone has to accept that.

54. And when you are no longer, then this rule will apply definitively anyway, whereby we will then also withdraw from the earth and never come back here again to get in contact with a person of this world again, because when you leave, then our mission with regard to the earth and its humanity will also be finished.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_463

Billy:

{Note: The following excerpt is in regards to the April 21, 2008 Phoenix "lights"}

Now the question whether you have any knowledge about this matter? Were these lights ships from your Federation or from the three different foreign groups?

Ptaah:

61. Since we only sporadically include the three different foreign groups in our observations, I cannot say anything about it, because at that time the area mentioned in the report did not fall within our closer observation range.

62. As I judge the whole thing according to this report, it must have been the flying apparatus of the three foreign groups.

63. The whole thing with the formations and the flight movements and the disappearance of the flying apparatus clearly indicates that.

64. In any case, we have not registered any flying apparatus other than those of the three alien groups for a long time, not even with regard to flights into terrestrial airspace.

65. We would certainly have registered alien new visitors, and moreover, such entries are very rare, because many alien life forms of foreign and distant worlds do not have space travel at their disposal, while others are not yet able to cover the universal distances.

66. For this reason alone it is an absolute rarity that strangers from other worlds of the Milky Way or even from other galaxies come to Earth.

67. Very big exceptions are the three alien groups and those few you know of who have joined our Federation, which is why we naturally no longer consider them strangers.

68. Those also belong to our Federation today, whose expedition ship was destroyed over the Tunguska Plain about 100 years ago.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_466

Billy:

... But now I have a question: You fly at a single and multiple speed of light in your spaceships, and our earthly scientists claim that this is impossible and that a spaceship can never reach this high speed, because the friction with matter, or with material space and ether prevents this. Yes, it cannot be the electromagnetic radiation by which you protect yourself from the cosmic influences and the so-called cosmic ether in order to reach the speed of light and beyond. Yes, electromagnetic radiation of all kinds has the same speed, so about 300,000 kilometres per second, so it is probably not possible that you can use it to prevent friction, so it must be something else that you can use to prevent any friction with the ether or any matter. Is there something very special that you can name, that allows you to go one and multiple times the speed of light? Is that a secret or are you allowed to say something about it? I have never asked about it before, but I am always being asked questions about it that I cannot answer.

Ptaah:

8. It is not a secret, and when I talk about it I do not give away anything with which the earthly scientists can start something, because their knowledge and ability is far from being sufficient for them to make use of it at the present time and thus cause harm.

9. So I can say that we use the photons resp. the light particles and time radiation to shield our spaceflights from the material and antimaterial environment.

10. So, we wrap our spaceflights in a photon force field and in a time radiation screen and protect them from friction against the material space.

11. The photons do not have any weight, but the mass 0, as it is also the case with respect to the time radiation, because they are both pure energy without any medium of their own, which is why they are neutral against any matter and are repelled by gravity.

12. So we make use of this, namely by enclosing our spaceflight devices in a photon and time radiation screen, so that no friction with the material space can occur, which enables us to reach the speed of light and even to exceed it by a very high multiple, because no resistance by any matter appears.

13. To explain details would be irresponsible, because Earth-humans are not yet allowed to possess these, because they maliciously use all special achievements for weapon systems and war purposes etc., which would also be the case with regard to photon technology.

14. And as far as the ether in world space is concerned, it truly does not exist, because this is a mistaken assumption of the earthly scientists. {Note: See Aether.}

15. That what they assume to be ether is indeed pure energy, a radiation, and this does not have its own medium and therefore no mass.

Billy:

Explained briefly and concisely. Thank you. Time radiation – could one perhaps also call it tachyon matter, which must also be without medium? Ether thus does not exist, but only radiation, which is pure energy without mass. However now the question how you can do it, to shield your spaceships against view and make them invisible for eyes and radar etc. Are you allowed to say something about this? But I think that now finally something becomes clearer to me. If you shield your flying apparatus against any material friction by a photon shield or photon protection shield, then it is probably so – so I assume – that these always light up when you have switched on this photon shield. Is that true?

Ptaah:

16. This corresponds to the actual situation, and the term tachyon matter can be applied in a certain way, but it is a time vibration or time radiation and has nothing to do with matter of any form.

17. And regarding the invisibility of our flying apparatus:

18. We can actually make our space flight apparatuses, as well as those we use in planetary airspaces, invisible to any view of any kind, by using special metallic alloys, the basis of which is, among other things, silver, as you know from the metallurgical analyses of the material of our flying apparatuses made in the USA.

19. The materials used in our flying apparatus and space flight devices are transformed and superordinate composite materials, the composition and manufacture of which I cannot mention, but I can say that we obtain everything through cold fusion processes, as Marcel Vogel in the USA already discovered through his metallurgical analysis when you gave him the metal samples we received for analysis.

20. So, when a flying apparatus, a spacecraft, a human or any other object is made invisible, it is by directing light around it.

21. The light waves are not reflected, but flow unbroken and uninhibitedly around the object, so that it becomes invisible to any natural or technical eye of any kind, also radar etc., and simply allows the background to be seen unchanged.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_494

{Billy:}

... his is also evident in alleged UFO sightings, where smaller or larger groups of human beings fall into a kind of visionary delusion and see UFOs even though there are none; and this is only because a single person believes to see something and thereby triggers a nocebo effect. As a rule, the symptoms of nocebo start with one individual being for no apparent reason, but they affect others through imagination and cause an epidemic according to the domino principle, because more and more people are drawn into the maelstrom of the nocebo effect in rapid succession. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_496

Ptaah:

6. Our flying discs are not shielded from sight by us, and also not in those moments when the static energy is illuminated or dissolved.

7. With our manned flying apparatus, it is that we usually shield them against sight when it seems necessary to us, in order not to frighten Earth-humans.
8. However, the shielding prevents us from being able to make certain recordings, which is why we only use the privacy screen when we consider it advisable for the aforementioned reasons.
9. So it is possible that our flying apparatus can be observed both day and night ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_510

Ptaah:

46. However, the fact that UFO observations are repeatedly reported around the world is that these are usually natural phenomena which can also be photographed or filmed under certain circumstances.
47. Illusions and optical irritations are also common.
48. Those photos and films, however, which are sensational in UFO circles, are usually deliberate fakes produced by computers.
49. It is not uncommon for your photos to be falsified and misused for this purpose, whereby photomontages and animated films are produced.
50. Only very few pictures show real objects, which can be interpreted as flying apparatus or as UFOs.
51. Since the 1980s, when computer technology emerged and can be used in a private way by anyone who can handle it, there have been countless fake pictures and films concerning UFOs or unknown flying objects respectively, which circulate in UFO circles and are found to be real.
52. Today, computer technology is so far developed that fakes can hardly or not at all be recognized.
53. But when you took your pictures in the 1970s, these computer possibilities did not exist yet, because only years later computers were produced that could also be used in private life.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_511

Billy:

... But I am now interested in whether, since my last question regarding other extraterrestrials who do not belong to you Plejaren or to your Federation, any other extraterrestrial flying apparatuses have flown into earthly space in the meantime?

Ptaah:

27. Since we completed our surveillance technology for objects entering or entering the Earth's space years ago and are therefore able to locate and register even the smallest objects, there have been no entries of unearthly flying apparatuses that do not belong to us Plejaren or to members of the Federation.
28. It is also not to be assumed that there will be any more such foreign incursions in the foreseeable future.
29. And what has happened in the last 300 years with such flights into the earthly space has found its reason in the fact, as we have clarified in the meantime, that really all extraterrestrials who came to earth found their way to earth by some unforeseen coincidence or in two cases by coordinate information.
30. The fact that the way from extraterrestrials to the SOL-system and finally to Earth led in some cases, was either due to uncontrollable coincidences or due to coordinates received etc.
31. Some also came to Earth through curiosity, aberration or by accident, after they unintentionally or intentionally entered the SOL system.
32. However, most of the entries took place because of uncontrollable coincidences and also because the Earth was discovered.
33. There were also flights into Earth from the Alpha-Centauri area when the SOL system was approached, and of course Earth was discovered and explored.

34. So it was usually a rare coincidence that extraterrestrials other than us, the Plejaren and our federated ones, came to Earth.

35. Only in two cases aliens came to Earth via the coordinates given by very distant Nokodemion descendants.

36. There were not any other strangers to the Earth other than those who came to Earth through the coordinates and uncontrollable coincidences.

37. So the visitors were not those who flew to Earth as a special destination, with two exceptions.

38. But we Plejaren and our Federation and the ancient Lyrians are excluded from this, because even our very distant ancestors knew the SOL system and the Earth, and so they visited the Earth millions of years ago.

Billy:

This is familiar to me, because they came to the SOL system because of the Moon, whose path they followed when it blasted out of their space-time structure through a dimensional gate into our space-time structure and settled on Earth. And it is also clear to me that there is not extraterrestrial-human life at every corner of space and that extraterrestrial human beings are not to be found in every corner of the universe, as the human beings on Earth are led to believe by science fiction films. There are indeed billions of solar systems in which there are also planets, but those that carry human life, which is also highly developed and capable of space travel, are very rare in our DERN universe. That is why, as you once said, your Federation is spread out over hundreds of millions of light-years in your space-time structure, because the human beings are scattered in the vast expanse of space and it is not densely populated with humans. Often there are dozens, hundreds or even thousands of light-years between human inhabited worlds, and also only a few of the human beings on these inhabited planets are capable of space technology. The same applies to our space-time structure, and consequently also to the fact that there are not masses of human beings on the planets, but only a few of them in the vastness of our own or any other galaxy. For this reason alone, it is crazy to claim that aliens from this or that constellation would come to Earth from this or that constellation, simply to make some nonsensical religious and sectarian speeches and conversations and to give divine advice etc. This apart from the absurdity of the fact that there is no evidence of such alleged contacts between aliens and the human beings of Earth, neither material nor photos and films.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_519

Ptaah:

62. And all those Earth-foreigners who came to Earth by the coincidence of the coordinates of the ancient Nokodemion peoples belong to our Federation today, and they too do not maintain contact with Earth-humans.

63. The only contacts that have ever existed and continue to exist relate to us Plejaren, our Federation and you.

Billy:

So that in relation to the last 300 years?

Ptaah:

64. That is correct, because it is for that time that we have been making our inquiries.

Billy:

But what if unknown flying objects are observed?

Ptaah:

65. If they are Earth-foreigners flying apparatuses, then they can only be those of us Plejaren or of our federated ones.

66. Otherwise they are exclusively earthly unknown flying apparatuses, like secret aircraft of futuristic design etc., as they are constructed in secret aircraft construction factories, mainly in Area 51 in the USA, but also in South America, Russia, China and Canada.

Billy:

Is this really all clear and real?

Ptaah:

67. Absolutely.

Billy:

This once again triggers angry cries and howls among the UFO believers, the ufologists and the alleged contactees, which in turn makes me a snail again.

Ptaah:

68. This will be so, because the deceivers, liars, swindlers and charlatans regarding alleged contacts with Earth-foreigners as well as the UFO believers in general and especially those who boast of being experts in ufology, do not want to understand that apart from us, the Plejaren and our federated ones, no other Earth-foreigners come to Earth, and also that those who came here in former times found their way to Earth only by means of old coordinate records which led back to connections with old Nokodemion peoples.

69. Only such Earth-foreigners and future Earth-followers have come to Earth, but never any others from foreign galaxies and solar systems that did not have the coordinates handed down.

70. So others did not reach Earth, as alleged contactors lie and claim.

Billy:

This apart from the Skills and the bioorganic flying objects and the future of Earth from other dimensions, as you say. If all the many claims about contacts between the human beings of Earth and extraterrestrials were true, then Earth would be teeming with extraterrestrials.

Ptaah:

71. That is correct.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_522

Ptaah:

13. Nevertheless, it is a fact that top-secret flying apparatus is being created and tested in Area 51, not only in the area of that base, but also in other areas and even worldwide.

14. But this is also true of other states that work on and test secret flying apparatus, which are then referred to by uninitiated populations as UFOs and even as extraterrestrial flying objects.

15. And it is precisely this fact that is used by all the secret bases where futuristic flying apparatuses are built, Area 51 in particular, to keep their secret products relating to all kinds of flying objects and aircraft from becoming public knowledge.

16. The secret services involved have been stirring up the UFO hype for many decades and are doing everything they can to make people observing such flying apparatus believe that they are extraterrestrial flying objects, which are then generally called UFOs.

17. This is also a reason for the paradox that, especially in the USA, those in charge of military and air force intelligence and other intelligence agencies involved in the case are denying that an extraterrestrial flying apparatus has crashed, as happened in Roswell.

18. Of course, this also vehemently denies the secret research and machinations that are being carried out in Area 51, as well as the constructions of secret flying apparatus made there.

19. And this did not only happen during the Cold War period, but it also applies equally to the present day.

20. Thus the belief of the population in the multiple existence of extraterrestrial UFOs continues to be fuelled.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_531

Billy:

Then let me ask you again about the fact that you said some time ago that you Plejaren and your Federation are the only aliens who have contact on Earth, and only with me. You also said that there are not other aliens flying in and out of Earth. But somehow I can't get along with that, because you have also mentioned on several occasions that there are three groups of strangers on Earth besides you, who came or are coming, but who are unknown to you and with whom you cannot or do not want to come into contact. At least that is what you told me several times in private conversations. Your daughter Semjase and Quetzal have also explained the same thing. These things were not recorded in the contact reports, because they were private conversations, but I think that this is why we should talk about it again. As I said before, I simply cannot deal with this matter.

Ptaah:

...

81. The UFO and UFO contact hysteria should not be evoked again, which is why I did not speak of those strangers who have probably been in earthly space and unknown to us for a long time and with whom we also have no connections.

82. But when I think about it now, I find that the whole thing is perhaps advisable to be mentioned in the above-mentioned respect, because apparently you too have misunderstood my statement as well as that of my daughter and of Quetzal.

83. It is indeed the case that no new Earth-foreigners known to us have come and are coming to Earth other than those who have been operating here for a long time or those who have joined or belonged to our Federation.

84. Only in this respect my speech was intended and should have been understood in this way.

85. But apparently I was not precise enough in my statement, which led to misunderstanding or misunderstanding.

86. What I explained was meant, then, if I am to repeat what I said and make it clearer that in recent times no new Earth-foreigners have come or are coming to Earth.

87. Thus, only those foreigners who have been approaching the Earth for a long time and who are not under our control are and remain.

88. Excluded from my statement, therefore, were those Earth-foreigners unknown to us with whom we do not or do not wish to come into contact.

89. And as these fly in and out of earthly space, they are therefore not newcomers, but rather those who have been coming to the Earth again and again for a very long time, and who also stay in this space for a long time.

90. These three foreign groups are therefore not included in my statements, nor are the future earthlings, who form a further group and with whom we also have no connections.

...

Billy:

Then it is also possible that sometimes not only your flying objects can be observed, but also those of the Earth-foreigners unknown to you and of the future ones? You, for your part, do not let yourselves be observed as often as it used to be the case, so therefore, unless they are the secret terrestrial test objects of military form, sometimes they must be those unknown to you and the future ones who are seen.

Ptaah:

92. That is correct, but if they are already Earth-foreigners or the future ones, then they are not those who appear again, but only those unknown to us, as I will again state.

Billy:

So they are not newcomers from the depths of space, flying in and out of Earth, but only those of whom you have spoken in each case, but who were not mentioned in your last explanations. Consequently, it follows that while it is correct that you and your Federation are the only ones known to you as Earth-foreigners, and as such visit Earth. But since those unknown to you and those to come are not known to you as Earth-foreigners, you have only spoken of those extraterrestrials that you know – thus of you Plejaren and your federated ones. This misunderstanding is stupid, because this is again material for the know-it-alls, critics and adversaries, who are too stupid to understand that just by incomplete statements and explanations also misunderstandings can appear. Perhaps it is also our mistake if we discuss some things only privately without writing up reports about them. It is also not uncommon for misunderstandings to arise from the fact that some of your statements and explanations are not complete. ...

... But the whole thing does not say anything about the fact that through those strangers to the earth who are unknown to you and through the future ones, short touches and so-called examination contacts might have taken place.

Ptaah:

93. That is clear and correct.

94. And what is to be said regarding contacts of fate and examination contacts is that some of the strangers unknown to us may indeed have touched the earth, but we neither have any control over this nor have we been able to observe such contacts ourselves.

95. If, in the course of time, we have spoken of possible touches respectively short contacts, then these have been related to those that have unintentionally or intentionally taken place with us Plejaren or with our federated.

96. However, we do not know and are not interested in what happened to those unknown to us and those to come.

Billy:

This is a clear and unmistakable statement. But the fact of the many atmospheric phenomena and the test flights of secret military flying apparatus that have been observed in various countries but could not and still cannot be identified as a whole, and which are called UFOs, remains, doesn't it?

Ptaah:

97. Of course, because this cannot be denied, so also the fact of secret test flights of futuristic flying apparatuses cannot be denied, although this is nevertheless constantly being attempted by denials.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_533

Ptaah:

8. The difficult issue with the control device required Quetzal, Zafenatpaneach and I to create a completely new apparatus together some time ago, because the old one had been disturbed by the earthly space debris to such an extent in its function with regard to very precise recordings that a lot of data was not recorded.

...

Billy:

Aha, and may I ask whether the size of the small control disc is still the same? ...

Ptaah:

...

11. No, the dimensions of the micro device are now 6x6x6 millimetres and now has a storage capacity of 280,000 terabytes.

Billy:

Man, that is a multiple of the old control panel.

Ptaah:

12. There are also many more factors that are monitored and registered by the device, but I do not want to give any further details officially.

...

Billy:

... But what I am still interested in is to what extent the strangers on earth, who are obviously divided into three groups, behave towards you, since you do not want to have any contact with them?

Ptaah:

33. According to our directives we have kept away from them until today and will also do so in the future.

34. Just as we shield ourselves from all earthly locating equipment and locating devices of any kind, if I may say so in such simple terms, so we also shield ourselves from the Earth-foreigners.

35. The protective shields of our flying apparatus are designed in such a way that they cannot be penetrated in any way, and therefore our aircraft cannot be located.

36. This is also the case when we keep the screens of our flying apparatus open so that they can be seen.

37. But that is never enough to be able to take bearings on our flying apparatus or even register them.

38. So far, the Earth-foreigners operating in the terrestrial space, who form a unit despite their tripartite division, have not been able to find a way to determine our existence, because all their technical achievements are not sufficient and are far inferior to ours.

39. This is of course also true of all the terrestrial technology in this field, which is still far below that used by the aliens.

40. But since they, like the Earth-humans, know through the terrestrial media such as television, radio, newspapers and magazines, etc., that you are in contact with us because this has been so reported, you have been observed for a long time both by the Earth-foreigners and by the earthly military, authorities and secret services, probably in the hope that they might thereby prove to themselves our existence and our contacts with you.

41. They have not been able to do so to date, and they never will, because they are not capable of such a technique and are therefore not able to reconcile the discrepancy in this respect.

42. Just as all their efforts to find out about our existence have been in vain and useless to them, so it will remain.

Billy:

Then some of the unknown flying apparatuses we have observed throughout the decades above and around our center could have been from those Earth-foreigners, as was also the case at my former place of residence in Hinwil and the surrounding area?

Ptaah:

43. This was indeed the case several times, and if you had asked us about it, we could have given you information about it, just as we always did when our flying apparatus was being observed in the center area or elsewhere and you asked about it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_534

Billy:

... Here is the further question: Photons are light particles, but they are weightless. But I do not understand how it is possible to move or stop things by a very strongly bundled light, to melt metal with a laser beam and even to propel flying objects in space. Even if the weight and mass are zero and practically cannot be determined, I think that somehow something must be present that can produce the effects in the above-mentioned respect, perhaps a mass of light and a weight of light or something like that, but everything is so small and weightless that a single photon, for example, cannot be measured in any weight and mass.

Ptaah:

20. What you say is correct, of course.

21. Explained in a simple and easy to understand way, is the following to say about it:

22. Every single photon is not measurable in relation to its weight and mass, at least not with earthly apparatuses, therefore mass and weight always result in 0.

23. But if the photons are bundled millions of times, like with spotlights or especially with lasers or photon engines, then in their constant movement at the speed of light, a so-called 'moving mass' becomes visible, which can be registered and also measured in terms of weight.

24. However, about 400 million photons together make up such a tiny mass, which contains less than the smallest atomic nucleus component.

25. Photons appearing in unimaginably enormous masses, however, which without exception are always in motion at the speed of light, and as these are generated by suns and all other photon-producing structures in the universe and are hurled out into space, the 'Masses in motion' increase to enormous weights, which can only be calculated in millions of tons.

Billy:

And this, although the individual photon is weightless and massless, so to speak, but in this respect can only be measured in a very large mass. Really phenomenal.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_541

Billy:

So now I also understand your explanation of 2001, when you said that the new control disk of 4 millimetres surface area and one (1) millimetre thickness, which you stationed at several hundred kilometres altitude, has a capacity of 74 exabytes, that is 74 trillion bytes. There is a generator or something similar built into this tiny control device, as well as an observation system, a transmitter and receiver. There is also an image recording device installed, with which something can be captured on Earth extremely clearly and sharply to the centimetre, as you once said privately

Ptaah:

16. That is also correct.

...

Billy:

... Various people do not understand your statements regarding extraterrestrials which fly in the terrestrial air space – or not. So I want to once again come to speak about unidentified flying objects, but not about those, which are from those extraterrestrial origins about which we have already spoken several times, and what you have determined is that all these were located as a result of historical records of the Nokodemion-peoples to Earth. For this purpose, you have also explained that eventually these planets peoples to whom the spacecraft belonged, have joined your federation. There are diverse UFOs observed all over the world of which different large and small objects belong to secret terrestrial developments in various countries, but this cannot be officially proven because their existence is denied and covered up, although detected by many witnesses. Hence, that's not all that is said, because there are still also the various large and small dimension-change-capable flying objects from the Earth's future. All of which, you have spoken of openly or privately, as well as your daughter Semjase and Quetzal occasionally said something about this. But on that point, now to the question: for years some spectacular UFO observations have been variously made worldwide, which were also confirmed by the military, air force and other airplane pilots, police-units and private individuals. However, you had said that except for those which you mentioned, no more extraterrestrial flying devices were flown into the airspace of the earth, or would fly in.

Ptaah:

40. You mix something up or have misunderstood something, dear friend, because what is correct, is the fact of my views regarding this, that no further unknown Earth-foreigners, to us Plejaren, fly in the earthly space.

41. In addition, I also spoke thereof, that we do not maintain any contacts with these unknown-to-us Earth-foreigners which move in the earthly space, or that there is no possibility for us, that we can get in contact with them.

43. So if I have spoken about this, that no further Earth-foreigners known to us, come to the Earth, then this is referring exclusively to newly-appearing Earth-foreigners, not however to those whose existence here on Earth has already been known for quite some time.

Billy:

Again a misunderstanding, but now this would also be clarified. So those unknown to you are still present, whereby these also fly in and fly out. That really was totally misunderstood, both by various readers of the contact reports, as well as by me. But how does it stand with your investigations regarding contacts between Earth-humans and these foreigners moving in the terrestrial air space of whose existence you know?

Ptaah:

44. As we have seen through extremely accurate investigations, no touches, i.e. no contacts took place up until the present moment between these Earth-foreigners unknown to us and any earth-humans.

Billy:

It is simply maddening that misunderstandings creep in again and again because you do not speak in detailed enough plain language if you are not specifically asked for it.

Ptaah:

45. This corresponds to a mutuality, because you always answer only to direct questions, without giving further details thereof.

46. And so, as you keep to in this regard, we adhere to this as well.

47. This form of questions and answers is indeed also correct in principle, because thereby one does not go adrift into hardly important details.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_544

Ptaah:

23. Such observations are not only made in England, but around the world in practically all countries, whereby, however, there is silence about it as usual.

24. And I will say this before you ask, that all these unknown flying objects are on the one hand secret terrestrial flying apparatuses, but also on the other hand those of the future inhabitants of the Earth and of those who are unknown to us and with whom we maintain no contacts.

25. Our own flying apparatuses – except in seldom cases our telemetric discs – are shielded by us from sight and radar etc. in such a way that they cannot or only extremely seldom be seen by human beings of Earth.

26. This, however, only if in that relation certain causal foreordinations result which are under our control.

27. It is not possible to locate us by radar, nor by other technical means, hence we remain also invisible for the ones foreign to the Earth who are unknown to us, who so far obviously are unable to detect our presence here on the Earth, which also applies to the future inhabitants of the Earth.

Billy:

Thank you, by certain causal foreordinations you probably mean that such a causal foreordination takes place, if it is inherent in your will that you want to be observed, as has also been the case on various occasions with FIGU members in the last decades since 1975.

Ptaah:

28. Right.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_550

Billy:

... You told me on my Great Journey {see Contact Report 31} that you all have to equip your space flying apparatus with equipment so that you do not age faster than on the homeworld. But you only mentioned this briefly, so I would like to ask what your statement at the time actually refers to. But please explain something simply so that it is also understood

Ptaah:

195. In world space there are different physical laws than on planets.

196. A certain radiation, which occurs on a large scale only in open world space, but not on the planets, on which it is much less effective, requires special shielding in relation to the spaceflight devices to protect the occupants.

197. This is precisely because the strong radiation affects any biological life-form much more than is the case with the low radiation of the same species on planets.

198. This radiation, which penetrates all materials, has the property that biological life-forms, when they travel through space, age much faster through it than on planets.

199. The stronger the radiation affects a biological organism, the faster it ages.

200. This also says that also on planets, depending on their size and mass, this radiation varies in its intensity, so the normal age limit of similar life-forms is different on planets of different sizes and more or less mass.

201. The size and mass of a planet therefore determines how strongly the radiation affects a biological organism, which means that the weaker the radiation is, the longer the organic body remains viable, whereas with strong radiation the life span is reduced, which can be the case especially in spaceflights, if they are not protected against the very strong radiation in space by a radiation-repellent shield.

Billy:

Aha, that is to be understood. And since you live on worlds that have little of this radiation, you also have a long life. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_556

Billy:

Now however I would like to turn the discussion once again to those UFO sightings and UFO photos, which militaries and police as well as also pilots substantiate and which indeed in the last few decades are hundreds. About these I mean those, which have nothing to do with all of those UFO nut-cases, who deceptively falsify images and films or even maintain, that they – in a mostly Christian esoteric and sectarian way – would have personal or telepathic contacts with extraterrestrials. Especially, I want yet to speak about the occurrences in regard to the appearances in Phoenix in the USA respectively the ‘Phoenix Lights’ in 1997, which last January, thus 2013, is said to have happened again. In 1997 these UFOs have been observed in Sonora, Nevada and Mexico, as well. Then there is also still the case of Rendlesham Forest in England at the beginning of the 1980s, as well as however also in 2006 the case of O’Hare/Chicago as well as the appearances in Anchorage/Alaska and the case of 1989 in Belgium with the prolonged wave of UFO sightings. Further sightings in world-wide form by pilots, militaries, police and private individuals run into the hundreds, whereby it is said, that approximately 800 or even more observations are seriously to be considered. I know from you, that a number of these observed UFOs lead back to your beamships, but many hundred always still remain unknown. Thus I assume, that it, with all of these unexplained UFO appearances, on the one hand, probably has to concern secret terrestrial-military flight machines etc., of various nations to which even also China belongs, like you told me last time. Additionally, you have once spoken of those from the Earth’s future, which are also to be considered. On the other hand, it concerns at the same time, however, probably also about those three groups unknown to you, who have no information regarding you and therefore are also unable to attain information about you.

Ptaah:

19. This corresponds to actuality, because all of the appearances of unknown flying objects mentioned by you – as well as hundreds of others – lead back only very rarely to we Plejaren and to those of our Federation, who sometimes regarding the fact that they are seen, are those of the Federation who are somewhat less careful than we.

20. As a rule everything leads back to the three alien groups to us as well as to secret terrestrial-military flight machines of various nations.

Billy:

Then this is clear, and apparently, if I take notice of your words, then nothing has changed between you and the three alien groups?

Ptaah:

21. That is actually so, and we will ourselves also not try to come into contact with the aliens, and in regard to them we also do not know from where they come, which also does not interest us which is why we also do not try to clarify their origin.

22. Also everything indicates for us that – if we speak of their technology as a starting point – which compared to ours is relatively still very much underdeveloped –, and that also their consciousness development still leaves much to be desired.

Billy:

I can comprehend that. However, you once said years ago, that you have carried out clarifications and studies in detail and that since 1947 no more Earth foreigners have flown into terrestrial airspace. How is it then with the three foreign groups?

Ptaah:

23. We have spoken about them already many times, and I have explained, that these groups who are aliens to us are not therein to be included, because we have known about them as aliens for a long time.

24. Our clarifications were and are valid only for new foreigners from the year 1947, and such have not flown into the terrestrial space since then.

25. And as we see the matter, the three foreigners unknown to us belong to groups that did not enter the earthly realm recently after the year 1947.

26. Hence it is possible, that they even come from the Earth itself or already long ago as Earth-foreigners were here, before we undertook our new mission on the Earth.

27. Admittedly since that time we have registered activities again and again in the terrestrial airspace, and I mean up to the present time, but in connection to this we see the three alien groups to us, as those who are truthfully already here for a long time or even belong to the Earth, perhaps also in a future dimension.

28. From this follows, that we also do not concern ourselves about them and also do not try to come into their range, because we do not want to bring about any conflicts with them.

29. Solely, this is forbidden to us already by our directives.

30. What it is however with all the observations in the USA, England and Belgium mentioned by you and also many others elsewhere, this we do not know, because already we no longer try for a long time to make clarifications of such occurrences.

Billy:

From your words I gather, that you therefore do not know, whether with the three groups alien to you concerns Earth foreigners, thus extraterrestrials or from the Earth's future, or whether it concerns with the USA, Belgium and England etc., observed large unknown flying bodies perhaps secret terrestrial-military machines?

Ptaah:

31. This is correct such as you say, and we have also no interest to explain about them, because our tasks do not relate directly to such interests, but only and alone to your mission as well as to certain matters, which arise from terrestrial-climatic and planetary development as well as with population-, political and science- as well as technology development.

32. With everything it concerns only clarification- and observation tasks, however not one iota more.

33. An intervention into any terrestrial interests therefore, according to our directives, in no way whatsoever is permitted to us.

Billy:

However, you nevertheless have a technology hardly to be surpassed — at least as seen by we Earthlings – by which it would be possible, to make clarifications and examinations unnoticed, regarding those who you could examine closely. These even in connection to, from where they come, who they are and what their motives are, to function mysteriously in the terrestrial area without identifying themselves.

Ptaah:

34. This is quite correct, but our directives forbid such actions, except if there would appear such unknown aircraft to our homeworlds.

35. It would be permitted to us additionally also only then, if the aliens themselves approach us and would seek contact with us.

36. However this is not only questionable, that they will do it, because as far as our directives permit, we are able to clarify, that the three alien groups to us up to now send out signals in no way whatsoever, which would indicate that they would know of our existence.

37. So then as we see everything, our presence is therefore not known to them, which certainly therein is based on the fact, that we always protect ourselves against them from an open contact, as a result they can have no awareness of our presence in the terrestrial area, because we protect ourselves against them from any awareness.

38. Thus, regarding our presence only assumption can be given by them – if at all.

39. However this does not mean, contrarily that we from our side are not able to perceive them, because their activities are indeed such, that these also are apparently undisputed for Earth-humans and again and again are able to be observed.

40. These are our certain discoveries, which our directives permit us to be able to gain clarifications.

41. This also means for us thus, that we ourselves already for considerable time in no way try to obtain more about the three alien groups to us, as a result we also have no knowledge about their time and time again occurring activities.

Billy:

Then it is also senseless, if I perhaps were to ask you once again, when it concerns a UFO which was observed? Anyway – as a realisation – therefore it also would not be permitted to you, to help Earth if some foreign extraterrestrials came in power to the Earth and would display ambitions of conquest?

Ptaah:

42. That is absolutely correct, because since we no longer concern ourselves about these interests, no more are we able to deliver information and explanations.

43. Clarifications in the mentioned connection are for us not of interest and they also never were, but we endeavoured ourselves to obtain always simply only about clarifications, which fell within our own interests and will fall in the future.

44. What we have done further regarding, that which goes beyond our own interests, this we have carried out only, in order to be able to deliver certain data to you and the group members.

45. We no longer do this for considerable time, as you know, because in no way whatsoever did it bring usefulness in any connection.

46. This also applies to many other things and also private interests of persons etc., which in their regard we no longer endeavour ourselves to obtain clarifications for them.

47. And what you say regarding foreign extraterrestrial powers, then this would actually be the case, as you say; we permit ourselves in no way to interfere.

...

Billy:

... Than once again a question regarding the three alien groups: Do you assume perhaps, that these could turn out to be a danger for you?

Ptaah:

49. We do not assume this, because according to our discoveries their technology is still extremely underdeveloped compared to ours, which is to be concluded from their flight manoeuvres and from their total behaviour.

50. And what arises with the technology of their aircraft, this applies with certainty also to their possible weapon technology, consequently we would have a great and not to be surpassed advantage over them.

51. If they would be in possession of ray weapons, then would a use of these be the same in every case to our favour and to our great advantage, because we absorb all kinds of radiation and know how to use for our own energy production.

52. Radiations appearing to our protection shields and similar energies are absorbed and to our own energies adapted, accumulated and from them strengthened.

Billy:

I know this, because you have already earlier explained to me, that your protection- and weapon systems in your ships do not work the same, as those in science fiction movies – like Star Trek, etc., – on the Earth is shown, that the protection shields just become weaker by energy – and radiation bombardment etc., but that you absorb the on to your protection shield appearing energies and as a result the energetic all around cloaking shield of your ships is strengthened. Thus it is such, that the more radiation energy etc., is fired onto your ships, the stronger their protection shields become.

Ptaah:

53. That is correct.

54. However also if solid projectiles, respectively solid materials are shot at our protection shields, we are able to transfer their kinetic energy into an energy usefulness while the projectiles change and becomes useless.

55. If the projectiles contain explosives of any kind, then these will become neutralised and become a harmless mass.

Billy:

And how is it, if it would concern asteroids, meteors and space rubbish or missiles with atomic warheads?

Ptaah:

56. These also would be neutralised and present no danger for us.

...

Billy:

Let's get back to the three alien groups: So you do not suppose that you could be in danger from aliens. But what about the fact that danger for the Earth resp. for terrestrial mankind could come from them?

Ptaah:

61. For all of the last 200 years nothing has indicated that such a danger could come from foreigners to the Earth, but we do not know their intentions and hence cannot say with certainty, whether it might not be the case that some strangers to the Earth have evil intentions.

Billy:

Not exactly a consolation. So we can only hope that these foreigners are as peaceful as you Plejaren and those of your Federation. If the Earth and terrestrial humanity were threatened with disaster by the extraterrestrial foreigners or by those from the future, how would you then react?

Ptaah:

62. You know, that our directives would forbid an intervention, as I already mentioned.

Billy:

I know, however also this is indeed just not exactly comforting. It is only to assume, that everything turns out peacefully, if someday official contacts come to take place with Earth aliens or those from the future, which in fact certain prophecies have announced already from time immemorial.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_558

Ptaah:

47. The basic condition for space travel inevitably requires the mastery of gravity, so that appropriate space flight devices must be equipped with devices that give them their own gravity.

48. Without a spacecraft having its own gravity, which protects space travellers from weightlessness, they suffer life-threatening organic changes which lead to death.

49. Long-term weightlessness in Earth orbit alone is harmful to the human being's health, because severe organic changes occur in the body, including brain shrinkage etc.

Billy:

So without a spaceship or any space vehicle having its own adequate gravity, which must be produced by apparatus and equipment etc. to protect the human being from weightlessness, effective space travel is not possible? If there is no gravity in a spaceship, then in the long run health damage will occur, which also leads to death.

Ptaah:

50. That is correct.

51. Mastering gravity is a fundamental requirement, but so is mastering and neutralising the effects of the acceleration forces inside and outside the spacecraft.

Billy:

You are probably referring to the acceleration forces which, on the one hand, do not create any pressure forces for the human being inside the spaceships and which, on the other hand, can distort the material on the outside?

Ptaah:

52. Yes, but I am not allowed to talk about how these forces are neutralized.

Billy:

But it is correct that you absorb these forces with your technical possibilities?

Ptaah:

53. Yes, that is correct.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_562

Billy:

Please, one more question: I have been asked why you still come here on the usual route, which takes seven minutes, when you have had the opportunity with the transmitter gate for quite some time?

Ptaah:

52. That is no secret.

53. The fact is that we probably developed the technology so far years ago that we have been using this transport possibility for goods ever since.

54. In the first time, however, there was a regrettable loss, because we lost some androids when we transported them through the gate.

55. That was the reason why we – despite first attempts with human beings, which all came off to our satisfaction – had to refrain from these attempts again, when for then indefinable reasons suddenly goods and then also three androids disappeared through the transmission gate again.

56. Only after a long time could the real faulty cause be found and eliminated.

57. Since then, however, the Transmission Gate has only been used for the transport of goods and artificial-organic life-forms in a test manner.

58. These tests will be completed this year, after which animals and human beings may and can also be transported through the Transmission Gate.

59. If that is the case, then we who are visiting you will also use this means of transport from Erra or from my wide-bodied flying apparatus.

...

Billy:

... But what about the beamships, can a transmission gate also be used by them, or do we still have to beam from them, like when Florena or Enjana come here?

Ptaah:

63. This will not yet be possible, but our technology is also being developed in this respect, so it will also be possible in this way in the foreseeable future.

64. However, the technology for this is still under development and should take several months.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_565

Billy:

... So the four groups have been active for a very long time. This also explains all those UFO apparitions etc. that have taken place for a long time and are still happening today, and which have not yet been clarified from the earthly side. But what about the secret military flying objects of various countries, which you also mentioned; are they so futuristic and highly technical that they can be mistaken for extraterrestrial flying objects by the average citizen?

Ptaah:

54. That is undoubtedly the case.

Billy:

But then again a question in relation to these various secret flying objects of various states, which are also called UFOs and which can also be observed again and again by many people. Since you are concerned with the military interests of the earthlings, you should know which flying machines they are and which states construct them and let them buzz around.

Ptaah:

55. That is indeed so, yes.

Billy:

You let yourself be asked everything again before you say more. What kind of machines are they, and to which countries do they concern?

Ptaah:

56. To answer this openly would be against our directives on the one hand, and on the other hand it would be unwise, because it could lead to unpleasant machinations and hostilities among the different states.

57. It would also be dangerous to expose these things.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_577

Billy:

While we are on the subject of the four groupings: This grouping of those foreign to Earth is obviously again and again allowing itself to be observed by the Earthlings, that is to say, their various flying machines are being seen again and again. At least, I assume that these observed flying objects belong to those foreign to Earth, don't they?

Ptaah:

20. These Earth-foreigners are indeed relatively often active worldwide, which is why their flight movements can also often be observed.

21. Apart from these Earth-foreigners flying apparatuses, however, there are also secret earthly flying apparatuses with strange constructions, which can also be observed sometimes.

22. These flying apparatuses, however, which we are now talking about, are a matter of concern to Earth-foreigners, who move in all airspaces around the world.

Billy:

They are also observed from time to time in Europe, sometimes shining down beams of light to the ground and making vehicles and the human beings shine. Just this week I was told of such a case in Germany, where a truck driver was suddenly blinded at night by such a flying object hovering over his truck and radiating a strong light, the light being, as the driver explained, extremely harsh, while in addition no sound could be heard from the object itself, so it was completely silent.

Ptaah:

23. We are familiar with such light patterns from silent flying apparatus on vehicles and human beings, as well as on buildings, animals and the ground, and they are typical of the Earth-foreigners I mentioned, about whom we have gained much more information since my last visit on the 9th of December.

24. This has been made easy for us thanks to our new technical equipment, although we run no risk of being noticed by these Earth-foreigners because their technology is still inadequate compared to ours in general.

25. And just as it has been up to now that they have not been able to detect and register our presence, it will also remain the same.

26. In those days when we made ourselves or our flying apparatuses visible for your photographic work or, exceptionally, sometimes also for group members so that photos could be taken, we always shielded ourselves from any other view, so that only a wedge of sight remained open from our flying apparatuses to the cameras.

27. The same was true for eye contact or normal observations, so that in this respect too only one wedge of sight to the eyes of the observers remained open and the flying apparatus was also shielded against any technical detection etc.

28. As a result, it was never possible for other observers, such as Earth-foreigners or Earth-humans other than those for whom we made ourselves visible, to see or locate our flying apparatus, and this will also continue to be the case.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_578

Ptaah:

31. With regard to both these announcements, if it does not concern charlatany, as unfortunately is often the case in such announcements, such as by falsifying pictures, how this can be done today and very easily without any major machinations with computers, which is also very frequently the case, or in order to simulate UFOs just for fun or charlatany by using hobby-based models of balloons, zeppelins and other flying devices, then probably unidentified flying objects can be spoken of, if they cannot be identified.

32. Natural phenomena as well as secret terrestrial-military flying devices also belong to UFO observations.

33. Next, however, the four foreign-to-us groupings must also be taken into account and considered, which could be responsible for UFO appearances.

...

37. In our point of view, the aforementioned foreign-to-Earth grouping is indirectly connected with many unidentified flying objects, which since time immemorial, have repeatedly appeared and have been observed on Earth and about which, also many records are noted in our annals.

38. The explanations are interesting which say that Earth-foreigners have been observed from our side in the terrestrial airspace for more than 5,000 years and ascertations were made regarding this, which are consistent with the observations made by us in the last few decades.

...

Billy:

... You've never said anything, as well as your daughter Semjase and Quetzal have never spoken of it, therefore the whole thing is completely new for me and I also knew nothing of it, that since time immemorial, so for more than 5,000 years at least, there was a foreign-to-Earth grouping. And that these probably stand perhaps directly or indirectly connected in some way with the Earth-strangers functionings around the Earth today, that really is a piece of news. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_589

Billy:

Recently, various television programmes have been reporting on earlier UFO observations and also on various strange UFO encounters. To my knowledge, at least as you told me earlier, all these observations and encounters are not connected with you Plejaren in one single case.

Ptaah:

82. We on Earth have never been involved in such observations and encounters since ancient times.

83. However, we are well aware that incidents concerning observations and encounters have taken place in connection with Earth-humans and unknown flying objects or UFOs, as the common name is.

84. But we only know this since we have had the opportunity to do so in the last one and a half decades through the technology of the Sonaer.

85. Before that we were unfortunately deceived in many ways by many imaginative and imaginative Earth-humans through lies and deception as well as charlatanism and also fun.

86. Only with the technology of the Sonaer we were able to clarify that many Earth-humans, who reported alleged observations and encounters or even alleged contacts with Earth-foreigners, only told lies and charlatanism, as well as fraud with fake pictures and films.

87. Others, on the other hand, invented alleged experiences and even inflicted strange little injuries on their bodies, which they described as marks and signs etc. added to them by Earth-foreigners.

88. Many of these people were addicted to the desire for renown, as is also the case today, along with religious and sectarian motives and financial-profit motives.

89. But when Earth-humans have observed flying objects or UFOs unknown to them and encounters with such flying apparatus have taken place, and are still taking place around the world, then these refer today and in the future only to the four foreign groups and in no way to us, the Plejaren or our federated ones.

...

94. The reason why core-group and passive group members were able to take pictures of our flying apparatus was that we opened our screens wedge-shaped especially for them, so that the members could expose their films.

...

96. However, we only allowed such pictures from a certain distance, so pictures could never be taken in the quality you were able to take according to our instructions, in order to have proof of our existence and your statements.

97. But even in this way we were always careful that we could not be observed, so that there was also only a wedge-shaped channel of vision from the flying apparatus to your picture or film camera, and thus open to your eyes.

98. Accordingly, our flying apparatus could also not be observed by other persons, even if they were standing right next to you.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_602

Billy:

What I would like to talk about officially, however, refers to the four groupings that function with their flying objects on Earth. You said recently during one of our private conversations that I was allowed to tell a lot about it when I was asked about it.

Ptaah:

24. That is correct, but only within the framework that no details are given which I have explained to you.

Billy:

I don't mean that either, because it's just that you know that at least two groupings definitely come from outside of our present, one of them being earth future and the other parallel space dependent. I don't want to say any more about it, but just that, and that's only because I'm asked again and again whether you really don't have any more information about it.

Ptaah:

25. Of course, we have more profound information, but our directives do not allow us to communicate it to Earth-humans.

26. If, however, you answer the questioner in such a way that one grouping refers to the future earth and another comes from a parallel space, then this information is allowed and does not reveal any important details.

...

Billy:

The questions have always mainly related to the observations of the unknown large flying objects that have been seen in Arizona and Belgium as well as in England and that yes – and I think this may be said – fall into the two groups mentioned.

Ptaah:

28. This may be said, but it should be mentioned that certain of the observed flying objects were also of absolutely terrestrial origin and, seen for the public, secret military aircraft.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_607

Billy:

On Monday, I answered a letter question which I formulated as follows: Are the external shape and colour of the jet ships 100% determined in terms of use and do they not have to satisfy any aesthetic requirements? I have written the following to the questioner according to what I know from your explanations:

Now to your question concerning the outer (also inner) forms and colours of the Plejaren beam ships, which I can answer with the fact that they have no aesthetic background, because they are purely useful in every respect. The following may serve as an example: Some jet ships have a kind of metallic, wide, coloured and slightly wavy ring band at their outermost rounding (some also on the surfaces), which produces a change of colour depending on the type and density of atmosphere. Also the windows are of the same kind, because also these consist of a very hard metal, which is transparent on the one hand like glass, on the other hand however also according to the kind and density of the atmosphere the colour changes. In our earthly atmosphere and near the ground we get a red colour of the windows, but if we look from the inside to the outside we get a yellowish-green effect. As I was told, these colours determine the protection of the outer beam ship material, which in any case consists of a special, very hard and resistant alloy. The colours thus have an effective protective effect that spreads over the ship and the windows and repels any foreign bodies that may appear in the atmosphere of a planet and hit the beam ship. The colours also indicate the state of the atmosphere, etc., as I was told. So colours and shapes are purely useful.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_608

Billy:

... Then I now have a question concerning your beam ships and other flying apparatuses, which can actually float as if weightless in the atmosphere and are not dragged by the gravity of the Earth, as your father Sfath already said. Can you tell me the reason for this in simple terms, unless this concerns a secret? If you are able to explain it in simple words, so that the whole thing can also be understood by the technically and physically uneducated human being, then it will be useful.

Ptaah:

6. In all our flying apparatus, an antigravity state is created for the outer hull, wherethrough it becomes as if 'weightless' for an external, that is to say planet-related gravitational force and thus does not have to withstand any force of attraction.

7. This, while in the interior area of the flying apparatuses a permanent and adapted to our living conditions gravitational force prevails.

8. Furthermore, our flying apparatuses generate an anti-gravitational force that is adapted to any external gravitational force, through which it is made feasible to neutralise the latter, wherethrough, from a standing position, very high speeds can be reached, without the passengers suffering harm, because they are protected by the inner gravitational state, consequently they are also not exposed to a gravitational pressure, as is the case, to the contrary, e.g., with human beings of Earth in relation to earthly vehicles, flying apparatuses, that is to say aircrafts and rockets, which are exposed to a gravitational pressure.

9. Therefore, with all our flying apparatus, as a result of our highly developed gravitational technology, there never comes about a gravitational pressure, just as you have experienced it yourself.

Billy:

... What I want to ask you now relates to the four groupings of which you have spoken on various occasions, whereby you were able to identify two definitely. But then there are still the other two, and what about them, have you also gained insights on them?

Ptaah:

10. That is so, yes, one relates to those foreign to the Earth and the other to earthly-human activities, to which I however do not want to give a more detailed explanation.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_625

Billy:

Then a question regarding what you once told me, namely that in the United States there is a grouping resp. a secret organisation, that is very well concerned with the things about extraterrestrials and their flying apparatuses etc., but which, in terms of its machinations, knowledge and experiences, is, however, shielding itself not only from the public but also in relation to the US President and the senior rulers, so that they are all left in unknowledgeness and not informed. Is that still the case today?

Ptaah:

103. Yes, and this corresponds to an undisputable but extremely secret fact, whereby the responsible ones of this grouping are also anxious to deny and conceal their machinations, cognitions and experiences about non-terrestrials, the way these are given regarding non-terrestrial existences, activities, relations and incidents etc.

104. This grouping resp. secret organisation also poses a great danger to persons who make certain observations regarding so-called UFOs as well with regard to secret activities that originate from the grouping.

105. Particularly when observing persons want to get to the bottom of the matter and thus create elucidation, they run the risk of getting caught up in the cogwheels of the secret organisation and being gone after or even harmed – should it end with nothing but harming.

Billy:

What do you mean by “great danger”, must it be understood as danger to life and “disappearing from the scene”?

Ptaah:

106. That corresponds to what I mean.

Billy:

Aha, then we are, as in the past, back with the dark dressed ones {see Men In Black}, who also followed Gilgamesha. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_630

Billy:

... Every object and everything, a planet or a flying machine resp. everything that has its own natural or artificial electromagnetism has its own magnetosphere, which means that on the one hand an attraction force and on the other hand also a repulsion force is given, whereby the latter is called 'Lorentz force' in our physics. Is this force decisive for the fact that you can accelerate your aircrafts in Earthly atmosphere with very high speeds, because the 'Lorentz force' works against Earth magnetism, or rather, puts it out of action in relation to your aircrafts, so to speak?

Ptaah:

18. That is correct, but I am not allowed to give further details, because it is forbidden by our directives.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_645

{Sfath, 1947:}

12. The world space is also traversed by dark and mighty world space wanderers with great gravitational force, through which time streams are created, so that those who travel the world space can get into such time streams, although we are protected against their effects.

13. This is because our spacecrafts have their own gravitations and are therefore protected against external time influences – as well as against matter and radiation.

14. And we are also protected by our gravitational technique against the effects of speed, so that time does not slow down for us in the spacecraft when we move through space at very high speed.

15. And in order to compensate for the flow of time outside the spacecraft, which is caused by high speeds, we have a special technique of time travel, which allows us on the one hand to remain in the so-called normal time despite high speeds, but on the other hand also to travel into the past and future.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_651

Billy:

... We have repeatedly spoken about the so-called UFOs and the four groupings that just turn around in Earthly space with 'unknown flying objects'. And to these four groupings belongs also the group of the 'Earth-future ones', which are however actually two groupings in themselves, as you already told me at the beginning of our contacts with private conversations. Your daughter Semjase, but also Quetzal and yourself talked about it, but it was never published in discussion reports, because it was always private. So it was not until more recent times, when you made certain observations and gained unambiguous insights and came to important evidence, that there was a halfway open discussion about it. I would now like to ask to what extent it is permitted to talk about this in an even more open way now, as well as with regard to the fact that the grouping of the 'Earth-future ones' actually corresponds to two groupings and why you call them so and only as one grouping, because they are actually two of them?

Ptaah:

...

48. And we call these groupings 'Earth-future ones' because the one grouping is effectively Earth-future or exists in the distant future on Earth and comes through time bridges into the present time.

Billy:

Excuse me, by time bridges you mean time-travel, as we say? In this case, the future Earth-humans are those Earthlings of the distant Earthly time who already live on Earth in the distant future and who, through the possibility of their time travel technique with their various small and large futuristic flying machines, have been coming into Earthly present since time immemorial and also into our present today. However, this is also done by the other group 'Earth-future ones', which has its state in a certain underground area of Earth, has a general futuristic technology and therefore also very highly developed aircraft. These aircrafts, which I call so in your sense, are an Earthly-technical development for today, which is completely futuristic resp. progressive, innovative, progressive, trend-setting, ahead of the present time and therefore trend-setting etc.. With regard to this second grouping, which you also call 'future Earth-humans', it must be said that these are not, however, descendants of extraterrestrials from the distant future of Earth, nor are they direct, but indirect, very distant descendants of extraterrestrials. These people live deep underground under Earth's surface, and with their futuristic flying machines they also turn around in Earth's airspace, as I already knew from Asket, because she had already initiated me in this regard in the 1950s, but she was ... spoke. Also your daughter Semjase, Quetzal and you explained a lot to me, but you always said that I shouldn't talk about it officially because it's not the time yet. It is mainly this group of the future that makes a name for itself again and again, especially in the western world. And this happens very often, and interestingly enough most often in the western hemisphere, which we call the geographically conceived western hemisphere with this term, as a counterpart to the eastern hemisphere or hemisphere. If I remember correctly, the two imaginary hemispheres are separated by the 0° reference meridian at Greenwich and the so-called antimeridian at 180°. Accordingly, the areas west of London, West Africa and the entire regions of North and South America, Patagonia, Greenland and Canada belong to the western hemisphere, where most sightings of various small and large and even gigantic UFOs or futuristic flying objects of the 'inner terrestrials' appear. Especially the UFO appearances in Arizona, in Belgium and in England, which were probably traced back to these 'Earth-future ones', caused a huge sensation in the worldwide media. I would be interested to know why these 'Earth-future ones' are so frequent in the western hemisphere and still are today, because in the eastern hemisphere such futuristic aircraft or UFOs are observed less often, i.e. in the majority of Europe, Asia, Australia, New Zealand and Oceania, which are counted to the eastern hemisphere. ...

Ptaah:

49. What you say is correct, and the reason why the inner terrestrial and also Earthly future 'Earth-future ones' operate especially in the western hemisphere is to be justified with this ..., about which, however, silence is required.

Billy:

But why, this is the question, do you call these inhabitants of Earth also 'Earth-future ones', of whom we have already spoken before and whom, with a few exceptions, you have always named only in this way, without giving an explanation? That is simply not clear to me, nor is it clear to me why you have never said anything more specific about it or defined the term exactly.

Ptaah:

50. The reason for our name 'Earth-future ones' is based on the fact that the entire technology of the inhabitants of Earth's interior state corresponds to a future Earthly technology, which will only find its beginning in the near future and also will only become reality in the distant future.

...

Billy:

All right, we don't have to talk about that, because you answered my question, so you don't need it anymore. Then again a question: Are the three that I have in ... I met, as well as the two in ..., so relatives of this ... what you call her by her real name? If so, then they live in the subterranean state structure in the area of ..., but they also go under the people on Earth's surface, but despite ... remain unrecognized or are replaced by the surface Earth objects in ... because they may know a lot about you.

Ptaah:

54. That is also true, but there is a duty of secrecy about it, because our directives do not allow us to officially divulge our findings, because it would inevitably result in warlike and conquering actions.

55. This would be the case if predictably and inevitably certain power-hungry statesmen of certain countries, with their military forces and secret services etc., were to break into the underground state structure in order to protect the far-reaching futuristic technology of the ... to get your hands on it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_660

Ptaah:

184. As members of our Federation, the Druans perform certain incidental activities for us, which are within the framework of also certain observations that are related to two of the Earth-foreigners.

...

Billy:

... You have already said several times that you no longer care about these Earth-foreigners and also no longer about the earthly groups that are always talking about themselves all over the world in terms of observations; but why do you do it recently nevertheless?

Ptaah:

188. Now that belongs in your 'trappings', which I am not allowed to state openly, as I said.

...

Billy:

What I am interested in now, though: If, as in 1983, the Druans let their ship appear as a mirror image somewhere, as it was 26 kilometres away from our centre as the crow flies, whereby the mirror image also appeared at an altitude of 36 kilometres, then I ask whether the ship is also visible at its location, from where the reflection is emitted, or not.

Ptaah:

190. Of course it is not visible because it has to remain invisible.

Billy:

Interesting, then the whole thing with the mirror image probably serves as camouflage and misdirection, so as not to be able to fathom and locate the actual location of the real ship, I think. Clever thinking and action.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_669

Ptaah:

92. Another phenomenon of light phenomena is marsh gas, which is produced as a naturally occurring mixture of methane and carbon dioxide, usually in the marshes of swamps by fermentation of plant parts with the participation of bacteria.

93. However, it is also possible that swamp gases are formed over fields, floodplains, fields and meadows – which can also appear as luminous formations – where no swamp can be seen at first glance, but where one or more swamp bubbles exist somewhere underground, allowing the gas to escape upwards into the open air.

94. Another possibility of light phenomena is based on visible and moving, luminous spherical or disk-shaped electromagnetic light formations, which are very small but can also reach a size of more than one metre.

95. These luminous structures rise to a height of one or two metres, float around in irregular orbits, only to collapse and dissolve again, or rise high into the air and disappear.

96. The whole thing can be compared to ball lightning, as you know it from personal experience.

97. Other things concerning light phenomena and unknown flying objects around the worldwide crop circles are the result of Earth-humans and private pranks on the one hand, but also of military and espionage research achievements on the other hand.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_687

Billy:

... But now I want to ask my questions, the first of which relates to your daughter Semjase's beamship, the corrugated iron beamship or washboard beamship. Semjase once told me that this was her personal beamship and that it was 300 years or so old and that she had owned it almost all her life.

Ptaah:

4. That is correct.

5. This beamship is a personal possession of my daughter Semjase, and she received it from me when she turned 14, and has also been piloting it ever since.

6. This beamship is a first model approved for interdimensional ranges in the known universe of the multiverse for youngsters.

8. However, the basic model was more than 1,100 years old, but it was redesigned about 400 years ago and was also approved for youngsters.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_697

Billy:

... But something else again: Sfath already said that you Plejaren do not come to Earth alone as Earth-foreigners, but you make yourselves invisible just as much as those others who go around the world in their ships. In your case I can understand this very well and understand your explanations for it, but why the others also do this is a mystery to me, which is why I want to ask if you know their reasoning.

Ptaah:

37. Not all of what can be observed in alien and unidentified flying objects in the global distance refers to Earth-foreigners or to Earth-future, because certain of these objects correspond to purely Earth-man-made and military-secret flying apparatuses.

38. However, as far as invisibility is concerned with regard to those others who are Earth-foreigners or Earth-future, we have no knowledge of this, because we do not maintain any contacts with them, nor do we endeavour to enter into such contacts with them.

39. Our interest is exhausted by trying to find out their origin, which we have not yet succeeded in doing.

40. I have also not been able to find anything so far that would indicate anything more than observations and explorations by these Earth-foreigners and Earth-future.

41. And as far as the secret military flying apparatus is concerned, our directives forbid us to openly mention any knowledge gained about it ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_698

Billy:

... But as far as Antarctica or the South Pole is concerned, which you are also interested in, Kolkos, I can tell you that Sfath, Ptaah's father, took me there as early as the 1940s – then Quetzal too in the 1980s – where they let me see many interesting things by diving with their beamships. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_709

Billy:

... But now I have something that relates to your energy transmission, which I know that in your beamships, you, Ptaah, in your Giant Spaceship, as well as in all your various flying apparatuses and on Erra, you use in every way and for all necessities an electromagnetic resonance energy transmission that is practically limitless in its extension and is based on a technique that in some way touches the attometer realm. However, I can neither imagine nor understand anything about all this. Is it possible that you can explain something to me in this regard that would also bring progress for our earthly technology? The only thing that is clear to me is that in all your energy-using achievements you do not use any cable connections etc., as is necessarily the case with all earthly techniques today and is practically unavoidable. Florena and Enjana recently explained to me that through your electromagnetic resonance energy transmission – which you call something completely different and which also corresponds to something other than a simple wireless energy transmission – you can even transfer energy transmissions from Earth into your space-time structure or into your dimension over practically unlimited distances.

Ptaah:

127. In order to be able to explain this technique to you in detail and to make it understandable to you, you would need, on the one hand, many years of factual training, because the whole thing is futuristic for you too, in spite of all your knowledge, which does not refer to the things of wireless energy transfer.

128. On the other hand, your knowledge of electromagnetic technology reaches such a high level that its connections, possible uses and far-reaching forms would still be completely incomprehensible to Earth-humans.

129. But they could learn very quickly.

130. But if at the present time or in the near future they were capable of understanding this knowledge and using it, then a catastrophe would result, because all boundaries would be opened to them in universal breadth.

131. But this must never happen, for the prevailing attitude of the majority of Earth-humans towards their sinister and completely degenerated barbarism, as well as all the resulting malicious and pejorative attitudes and behaviour towards all life and every creation-given existence in general, does not permit such knowledge.

132. The rampant and far-reaching destructive, dangerous, insidious and sinister, as well as deceitful, vile and disgusting degenerations in Earth-humans, which are founded in ideologically shaped false and erroneous teachings in relation to a sectarianism based on religious faith, are absolutely geared only towards destruction, ruin and annihilation.

133. This fact results in our not being allowed to give clear and open information nor explanations to your question, because our directives do not allow an open explanation in this respect, for an announcement would be connected with a knowledge in regard to details which must not be officially mentioned, and this because they would push earth-technical progress too far and drive Earth-humans into a catastrophe which could not be stopped.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_710

Ptaah:

130. We call the Earth-foreigners spoken of 'immature', 'primitive', as well as 'low-minded', 'cruel', 'inhuman' and 'unapproachable', calling them 'unfeeling', and, in our judgement, as uncompromising creatures and 'brutes', because they are of an inhumane disposition and behaviour, consequently dominated by contrary impulses with regard to humanity, compassion, empathy, peace and freedom, etc. are dominated by contrary impulses.

131. This is the reason for our strict restraint towards these Earth-foreigners, against whom we have always shielded ourselves from sight and from their analytical swinging waves and techniques in such a way that they can neither locate us nor perceive us in any other way, while we, on the contrary, can penetrate their flying apparatuses by vibration and observe and study them very closely.

132. I am therefore also very well informed that they are of an inhumane disposition and incapable of positive action in the sense of fulfilling nature-given creative laws and commandments or recommendations.

133. The technology necessary for this, which our early ancestors adopted more than 30 million Earth years ago from the Sonaern of the DAL creation area, was thus applied very early for the purpose of complete shielding from all Earth-foreigners on Earth, who truly correspond to 'immature' and 'primordial' and whose technology has been stagnating for a long time.

134. So even at the present time they are not sufficiently developed and not advanced enough for them to be able to locate or otherwise perceive us, even if we were standing right next to them at the shortest distance.

135. It is undeniable that their technology is very advanced, but they are still no match for ours.

136. Consequently, when we openly discuss all these facts since the beginning of our contact and mention our presence here on Earth and sometimes also make ourselves visible to Earth-humans with regard to an observation concerning our flying objects, it also follows that these Earth-foreigners are not and also will not be able to realise our presence.

137. This is because they cannot fathom our shielding technology and can neither locate nor otherwise perceive us even under the best of circumstances, for in spite of their high technical possibilities they are helplessly inferior to our still many times higher developments in every relation and respect.

Billy:

And our earthling secret service, military and other supervisors with their primitive, antediluvian techniques, radar apparatuses, the still secret and all other surveillance devices are even more so. But it is interesting what you say regarding Earth-foreigners' surveillance technology, but what about when Earth-foreigners can observe your beamships, isn't there a danger and possibility that these extraterrestrials will also pick up on it?

Ptaah:

138. There is no problem in this respect, for our technology is such that such sightings can only take place if the Earth-foreigners or Earth-future, as well as the secretive Earth grouping with the progressive flying apparatuses in South America, have no possibility whatsoever of locating or otherwise perceiving our flying apparatuses on a technical basis.

139. Our security technology is configured in such a way that an automatic fuse shields everything and makes it impenetrable to any kind of detection with regard to all possible swinging waves, but also with regard to light waves and energies, etc., which are directed towards our flying apparatus, other of our achievements or towards us as persons ourselves.

140. This is also the case when visual observation is made possible as a result of a screen opening, for even then no locating of any kind can take place, either by the Earth-foreigners or by any earthly technology.

141. And this is also the case when there is absolute certainty that we are present at a certain place.

142. So all our flying apparatus, as well as all our persons and all our achievements with regard to safety and freedom from localisation, are in every respect so perfectly developed that in every situation everything is always absolutely shielded from counter-vibration, and consequently no localisation or any other kind of perception can take place.

143. And this is because our security system neutralises any locating vibration of any form within a yocto-second, consequently we as a person, our flying apparatuses, achievements and swinging waves etc. are absolutely not locatable.

Billy:

I know this because your daughter Semjase has already explained this to me. It is not even possible to locate your life vibrations when one is standing close to you, because the vibrations are neutralised directly on the body and are therefore not radiated outwards, as is also the case with your beamships etc. So you have a neutralisation technique in your body. So you have a neutralisation technique with regard to locating vibrations, locating rays and locating light of all kinds, as well as with regard to all kinds of special locating energies, etc., consequently our earthly radar and other locating methods are no more than primitive kindergarten experiments for you. But that you have just mentioned the earthly grouping in South America etc., that irritates me a little, because up to now this was not allowed to be mentioned openly.

Ptaah:

144. You can call it that, as you have explained it.

145. But as far as my statement is concerned concerning the grouping keeping itself secret, it is now no longer necessary not to mention this, to which, however, I will give you a personal explanation later, which will be only for you.

Billy:

Good, then so be it. However, I have also experienced that this is the case, that your technique is absolutely perfect, as for example when you took me to the bear in Graubünden on the 16th of July 2005, the first bear to reappear in Switzerland in about 100 years. At that time, you attached a tiny pin to me, which shielded all my life vibrations, so that I could not be perceived by the bear either, and when I went up to him, he even touched me on my trousers without being able to perceive me. Nevertheless, as I know, it can happen that you let out swinging waves under certain circumstances.

Ptaah:

146. This is indeed the case, but only if there is absolute certainty that neither Earth-foreigners nor Earth-future are to be located within a certain safety radius.

147. Earthly life-forms, on the other hand, do not fall within this security perimeter, consequently they can sense certain swinging waves from our flying apparatus if they are not shielded.

Billy:

I see, that also explains to me some incidents where swinging waves have emanated from your beamships and unexpected things, happenings and situations have resulted.

Ptaah:

148. I am aware of that, also that unfortunately there have been disadvantages and damage as a result.

Billy:

Unfortunately, that was indeed the case, but it was the fault of the Earthlings concerned, because they ... But now I want to continue with what I was saying. Certain abductions of human beings from Earth for various purposes, and thus of course the corresponding contacts, which have taken place again and again since time immemorial, have always belonged to the behaviour of the old Earth-foreigners and Earth-future, as well as to the newer ones who fly in and out of Earth and back again. But the fact is – in spite of abductions, etc. – that none of these Earth-foreigners and Earth-foreigners have, up to the present time, conveyed any messages and the like to the Earthlings, precisely messages with regard to how they would have fallen, or would fall today, within the framework of the 'Teaching of Truth, Teaching of the Spirit, Teaching of Life' and thus within the sphere of the Nokodemion and my Mission. Likewise, like the Earth-foreigners, Earth-foreigners are at times to be observed in earthly space with their futuristic flying apparatuses, though the Earth-foreigners have just as nothing to do with them as you Plejaren have nothing to do with them, nor with the Earth-foreigners. You Plejaren yourselves have always shielded yourselves from the Earth-foreigners when you appear on Earth, who have also been working on Earth for a long time. And your shielding from them is such that you cannot be perceived by them in any way, neither visually, nor can you be located or registered by any apparatus. Your general Plejaren technology, so also space technology and space-time bridging technology etc., have been so highly developed for millions of years, through the help of the Sonaer from the DAL universe or the DAL creation, that the Earth-foreigners functioning on Earth have never been able to locate, detect or otherwise register any flying apparatus of Plejaren origin or also only any Plejaren activities since their existence in prehistoric times up to the present time. So the Earth-foreigners, who work on Earth and are observed again and again, have nothing to do with you Plejaren, just as you have nothing to do with the Earth-foreigners and Earth-future, whereby, as explained, you are in no way to be located, otherwise recognisable or registerable for them. Moreover, you did not and do not interfere in any way with any earthly political, military and economic concerns, but have endeavoured over all the past millennia to develop in many ways all fields of knowledge and development by transmitting impulses to certain scientists, inventors and researchers etc.

Ptaah:

149. That is correct.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_715

Billy:

Good, then my question regarding the 'Phantom Airship Wave 1896-1897', after which I asked you to clarify what it was about.

Ptaah:

99. There is not much to say about this, but only a little, namely that these were demonstrative manoeuvres of Earth-foreigners who have been working on Earth since time immemorial and whose present descendants are also still here today and can be observed again and again all over the world.

...

102. For our part, with the help of the Sonaer, we have recently fathomed their technology and many of the possibilities etc. that arise from it, and have come to the realisation that these Earth-foreign entities are in fact still the same in their mentality and in their ways of acting and behaving etc. as they were recognised by our early ancestors as dangerous to us Plejaren.

103. Dangerous precisely in the sense that this danger also exists for us through Earth-humans, that we would lapse into the old forms, such as were still peculiar to our ancestors more than 52,000 years ago – our years are approximately identical with earthly years – with regard to extremely evil degenerations in mentality, action and behaviour.

104. Even after 52,000 years we are still in danger of relapsing into the old degenerate forms, as a result of which we can fall from the good and positive to the evil and negative in every respect.

105. And in this connection it must be explained that this backsliding is given in the human life-form – as you yourself know and also teach – as long as it still possesses a physical or material body.

108. And with regard to our directives, these also actually ensure that we are spared from relapses into old behaviours, actions, deeds and into a degenerated mentality.

109. In accordance with our senses and aspirations and our directives, we cannot and must not enter into any contact with Earth-humans and Earth-foreigners and also not make ourselves recognisable to them.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_718

Billy:

... But now I have another question, regarding the many sightings of unknown flying objects around the world, which have been observed again and again for centuries. This was particularly the case in the last century, as well as in the new millennium, but I must not forget the Foo Fighters during the last world war, nor the objects that we have been able to observe here in the Centre over all these years and also at the present time, but which were not from you. The question is whether you Plejaren ever had anything to do with all the other objects that have been observed again and again around the world? I am thinking particularly of the objects that were observed in the USA, in South America, throughout Europe – and specifically the triangular objects that became known in Belgium – but also in 1976 in Persia, where the military pilot Jafari Parvic and in 1984 or so in Peru the military pilot Oscar Santa Maria chased after the objects.

Ptaah:

15. No, we Plejaren never had anything to do with it, because without exception these flying apparatuses observed everywhere – called UFOs by Earth-humans – did not belong to us, but to the aliens who have been working on Earth since time immemorial.

16. If we could be observed and photographed, then we deliberately allowed this to happen only to members of your groups or to persons who were friends of yours, while we specially commissioned you to take pictures and films of our flying apparatus.

17. In doing so, we were also always careful that the strangers could not gain any knowledge of this and make absolutely no observations, because we did not want to give any encouragement for them – as we do not now and will not in the future – to record our presence, because we do not want to endanger our homeland and therefore we are not allowed to make any contact with the strangers.

18. Establishing contact with any strangers always means insecurity and danger, even if a good relationship is established under certain circumstances, because all life-forms are susceptible to overt or subterranean indoctrination, as a result of which a great deal of harm can come about.

19. Under certain circumstances, connections can also result from contacts that can lead to attacks, conquests and wars, which is why our directives forbid us to make contact with the aliens working here on Earth or even to make ourselves recognisable to them.

20. If we were to make ourselves recognisable to them in any way, then on the one hand we would violate our directives, on the other hand we would run the risk of betraying our space-time structure and thus also our homeland and, in addition, under certain circumstances we would relapse into the old behavioural patterns of our early ancestors due to the influences of the strangers.

21. We Plejaren are also human beings and still burdened in our deepest character with unpleasant impulses, even though we have been making great efforts for more than 52,000 years to work them out and to dissolve them, but this takes a very, very long time and always means that there is a danger that through indoctrinating influences of other mentalities, in one case or another, relapses into the old patterns of behaviour could occur.

22. This is fundamentally the fact of our strict restraint in every respect towards foreigners.

23. What you asked about the flying objects of all kinds and sizes of the aliens, which have been observed by Earth-humans again and again for centuries, even in the present time and also by you in the Centre and by members of the Association everywhere, that therefore never had and never has anything to do with us Plejaren, because we have no connection whatsoever with the aliens.

24. It is true that they have a very high level of technology, but it cannot be compared with ours and is still very much in need of development.

25. This does not mean, however, that their mentality is also at a higher level of development, which, according to our long-term research, is not the case either.

26. In the end, it must be said once again that all observations of unknown flying objects, etc., since all times – as is also the case at the present new time – can only be traced back to the strangers with whom we have no contact whatsoever and who are also unable to perceive our existence and presence.

27. Our highly developed technology denies them any possibility of being able to locate us in any way or perceive us in any other way.

...

Billy:

... also deliberately false results of the acquired knowledge are disseminated to the public. This is also the case with regard to official, secret service, military and air traffic disclosure lists concerning observed unknown flying objects or UFOs worldwide, because in total only about 10% have been disclosed to the public to date. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_719

Billy:

... But one more question: What about when I leave, because a few days ago we talked about the strangers, and you clearly said that you would not let them locate you. How is it then, if you appear here in my office or somewhere else or go away again, which would also be like this with me? Somehow, when you come and go, there is a small dimensional gate through which you can pass, and I wonder if the foreigners – you used to call them Earth-foreigners – cannot detect this, because there are energies involved that are certainly detectable, or?

Ptaah:

28. Of course it is correct that energies are important, but as we know, the foreigners cannot detect them because they are of a completely different nature than all those who exist in this space-time structure and in its past and future.

29. The energies we use correspond to far higher values and are therefore also not perceptible with any techniques from this space-time present as well as its past and future, which is also the reason why the strangers cannot locate us in any way.

30. I am also unable to detect our present here, because we use the same kind of energy for our personal protection, to be protected against sight and to be imperceptible in every way through our physical, psychological and consciousness swinging waves.

33. The energy I referred to, its use and the Protection Technique were given to our early ancestors by the Sonaern some 27 million years ago when first contact with them occurred in the DAL Creation.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_723

Ptaah:

23. Eduard, dear friend, with regard to the observance of the directives, this also concerns, for example, everything around the Earth-foreigners, the future ones and the earthly ones, who have always appeared with their flying apparatuses since ancient times, are doing so at present and will continue to do so.

24. Neither about the Earth-foreigners and Earth-future ones nor of the Earthly ones was exact information found in the annals {of Sfath}, just as no information was contained therein with regard to many of your questions.

25. This was also true with regard to abductions of Earth-humans by Earth-foreigners, whereby such abductions were foreign to us, because we have always not cared about them, and never made ourselves recognisable to them, and only in the course of the years were able to clarify these things through your questions, and so on.

26. And we did not let ourselves be recognised by them all because already at the beginning of my father's annals it was clearly warned against ever coming into contact with the Earth-foreigners and the future ones, just as we should also never penetrate into the direct range of their flying apparatus.

27. Likewise, he warned in his annals not to come into contact with the earthlings and with their equally futuristic flying apparatus, just as we are also to keep away from all their underground bases and underwater stations.

28. And that my father has recorded much in his annals, but has also warned us against contacting the aliens, who probably also do not maintain contact with each other or have no knowledge of each other, as it seems to us, but there is no mention of this in the annals.

29. The fact is that three groupings of aliens are on Earth, and that all the occurrences and certain related occurrences that have taken place since time immemorial and the appearance of innumerable unknown flying objects of alien life-forms correspond to reality.

...

47. But just as we have restrained ourselves with regard to your person, so we have also done in other respects, such as, for example, towards the Earth-foreigners and rare Earth-future beings, who since time immemorial have made themselves known on Earth again and again with their flying apparatus, just as the earthly powers in this respect have also done.

...

Billy:

... and also I may still reveal to you a few things in relation to the three different forces, as you call the strangers, that are circling around in earthly airspace.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_724

{Billy}:

UFO sightings have been innumerable around the world since time immemorial, with such observations largely effectively traced back to flying objects that are the result of the various groupings of aliens that reside on Earth.

Otherwise, many observations can be traced back to some kind of earthly-natural phenomena, which can be extremely diverse and which are also referred to as UFO sightings.

Furthermore, sightings can also be purely earthly-fabricated futuristic flying objects, which are referred to as UFOs due to their modern or unusually alien forms, simply as Unknown Flying Objects.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_728

Billy:

... What it means that there are three different groups whizzing around in the earthly airspace, I can say that on the one hand the traditional Earth-foreigners, on the other hand the Earth-future are meant, while the third group are Earthlings with their futuristic vehicles, but I am not allowed to say more about that ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_733

Billy:

... lately I have been receiving UFO reports by telephone, e-mail and also in writing from all over the world, about some strange flying objects being observed for up to 15 or 20 minutes, passing by one after the other like a long chain high in the sky, and completely silent. I am sometimes allowed to publish these reports of sightings, while other observers, both men and women, wish me to keep quiet about them and not to disclose their reports or names. Obviously it is about those unknown flying objects, which we have talked about together several times, because you also have these UFO phenomena or UFO activities in your focus and you have told me various things about it, also in relation to what the reason for the whole of these UFO operations actually is or what the ultimate background for it is and what is intended with it in the end.

Ptaah:

53. I also told you to keep quiet about that and not to make any statements about it when asked.

Billy:

I also adhere to this, Ptaah, for I do not pass on a word of what you have explained to me, what you have just investigated concerning the origin of these flying objects, which are 'UFOs' for the earthlings. I am also silent with regard to your explanations of the tasks, aspirations and purposes as well as the meanings of these 'UFOs' and their increased flights, etc., which you have found out with your much higher technical possibilities than are proper to the satellites and fellow satellites of this grouping. What I have answered in each case was only related to the fact that these flying objects do not belong to you Plejaren and in no way correspond to your Plejaren techniques. These are satellites, which according to your information, despite their higher earthly technology, are still extremely primitive, just like the objects of the other two groups, which are also still very poorly developed compared to your technology. Consequently – as you explain again and again – these two foreign groups with their 'UFOs' are also not able to locate you Plejaren, your presence and your beamships, and just as they, at least the one in spite of their higher earthly technology, are also not able to perceive and therefore not able to determine that they are being observed, investigated and 'screened' by you in their secret machinations. And that you are only allowed to tell this realisation to me in confidence and obliged to silence, I can fully understand, because ...

Well, various telephone calls and letters from different persons from Germany, Austria, Switzerland, as well as from England, Belgium, the Netherlands, the Czech Republic and Poland, etc., contain questions as to whether these persons are in fact the same as the others. These telephone calls and letters include questions as to whether these observed 'UFOs'/objects are Plejaren beamships, which I of course always deny, as I have already said, which is effectively true, because the observed 'UFOs' are in no case flying objects from you Plejaren, but on the one hand earthly vehicles as well as satellites and flying apparatuses of other origin.

The observed earthly 'UFOs'/objects, which are only called such because they are also unknown to the observers – who have nothing to do with the satellites –, belong on the one hand to a special grouping, about which I am not supposed to give any information, while on the other hand further observations refer to another and moreover traditional grouping in a completely different context. I have also been receiving reports of sightings of these for decades, whereby these 'UFOs'/objects, however, refer to a traditional grouping that has been circling around in the earthly skies for a long time, i.e. already in the last century and the century before last, and partly even much longer ago. They are still doing so today, causing fear in some earthlings and euphoria in others, especially when they are generally misled about this grouping by their own fantasies. About the other grouping, however, precisely those whose 'UFOs', as they are called by the ignorant observers, I am not supposed to explain anything in detail, because on the one hand you advise me against it for good reasons, on the other hand – well, because for another reason it would also be irresponsible to say anything, irresponsible in fact towards my security, which I am not supposed to put at risk anymore, as you said. So I just keep quiet and let the earthlings wonder one day.

What the UFO fairy lights are really about, which stretch across the night sky, that can well be explained and said, but you have obliged me to keep silent about what the ultimate purpose will be in reality, when ... And if we talk somewhat mysteriously about these 'UFOs'/objects and their operators as well as about this grouping itself, which is connected with these objects, then this may appear mysterious to outsiders, although it is not mysterious, but it would not be good for me personally to say anything more about it, but simply to let it be known that the earthlings will still be surprised when ... But perhaps you could say something about it, which may be said and which is also openly circulating on the Internet. The unpleasant things that the earthlings will be surprised about one day do not have to be mentioned. But if you can perhaps say something more about it?

Ptaah:

54. I can do that, because officially the convoys of lights in the night sky are objects that correspond to a so-called Starlink project of the US space company SpaceX under Elon Musk and Gwynne Shotwell, as part of a planned world-spanning satellite network that is to provide comprehensive internet access in the USA from mid-2020, but will then also be used worldwide in 2021.

55. The purported objective of SpaceX's Starlink project is to create a global broadband internet belt around the Earth, to be assembled on a fleet of between 12,000 and 42,000 satellites.

56. What will ultimately become of all this, however, would be unpleasant, although in this respect there are only concrete ideas but no firm plans as yet, which, however, according to our view of the future in this respect, make it clear what will develop out of all this, namely exactly what I have explained to you and about which you are to remain silent.

57. 2 years ago I confided in you that such satellites would be placed in relatively low orbits around the Earth and that they would receive data from ground stations and transmit them to each other by laser.

58. To this I also explained that for the time being this satellite network is to provide wide area fast and at the same time low cost internet access in the USA, but that if the whole enterprise can be carried through to the end and completed to the last, something very unpleasant will result from it, as I explained to you privately on the 1st of January 2017.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_759

Ptaah:

... But the projections were also chosen because a strong insolation from the beamships would have destroyed the trees, whereas such an action would be contrary to our directives and is therefore not allowed, because these directives tell us that we have to protect all genera and species of life-forms and only take defensive action against them when there is an effective necessity to do so. But such a necessity never existed in the film and image project work, consequently projections were carried out.

Billy:

I can understand that, but you are using a term to explain a destruction of the trees, which I actually only know from physics and which cannot be explained as simple radiation. Insolation' is the term I am referring to, and I do not understand what insolation has to do with radiation in relation to the beamships. If you can please explain it to me in simple terms, because I cannot make sense of it with the best will in the world, because the beamship is not a sun and also not visible like one and does not radiate heat.

...

Ptaah:

... What you say is correct, for the radiation of our flying apparatus is a sun-like heat radiation which is produced at certain moments and has a dangerous and destructive effect on everything if a flying apparatus comes too close or even directly into contact with any living thing. But since you have not been enlightened in this respect, you cannot also know that various of our flying apparatuses, like that of my daughter Semjase at that time, were necessarily still effective in terms of heat radiation. This means that our flying apparatuses, which we still used 40 years ago in earthly airspace, were equipped with heat radiators on their outer hulls, which produced a temperature of 276 degrees heat. This corresponded to a precautionary measure by which all poisonous gases in the finest aggregate states, which were floating in the Earth's atmosphere, and which are still present today and will be in the future, were neutralised and burnt around our flying apparatus, so that they could not adhere to the outer hulls and become a health hazard to us if they were to dissolve again in our hangars and we inhaled them. ...

...

The toxic fine gases in the atmosphere, which are just as unknown to earthly physics as the fact that they settle on everything material, just as it would have been directly on the outer shell of our flying apparatus, could have endangered our health if we had come into contact with them, consequently we eliminated them by thermal radiation. And this radiation was also dangerous for all living beings, so my daughter Semjase was not allowed to come into direct contact with those trees which were used for the purpose of film and image work and which were consequently projected. Our technology in the flying apparatuses produced a heat radiation which has the same effect as solar radiation on the surface of living things of every kind and species, but only more intensely and therefore dangerously and destructively. You know that if we start from solar radiation, the insolation forms the flux that falls on a part of objects and irradiates them. ...

...

Billy:

When I told Semjase all about Mr. ...'s request, she somehow enjoyed it and agreed, explored the place in Maiwinkel from where he and I were to take the film and photographs. She also told me to explain to him, which I of course did, that he and his colleague could rest assured that their beamship could not be observed by the population, because for our cameras, for us and for the pilot she would only open a viewing wedge, as she often did, so that the beamship and everything around it could be seen, filmed and photographed normally, but outside these two viewing wedges the beamship was not visible. As I said, Semjase had already done this on other occasions. ...

... But what about the fact that the authorities are concealing the truth that so-called UFOs really exist and that they are even being shot at? Like many other things, everything is simply dismissed as a conspiracy theory, and rightly so, because too much nonsense is being spread. Equally stupid are the state leaders and the military leaderships as well as the airlines of all states etc. who try to negate and ridicule all reports that deal with observations and experiences of and with the aliens, i.e. with their flying objects, the so-called UFOs, and other incidents with them. Moreover, things are being kept secret that should be made known to the public in this regard, but which, through secrecy, let the peoples run into the unknown, consequently they are no more and no less than being led on a fool's rope, as you once said. ...

Here on Earth it is still being discussed how life on Earth actually came into being, then also to what extent it can be assumed how peaceful so-called extraterrestrials are, i.e. humans or human beings who live on foreign planets. Of course I know that planets inhabited by human beings or human beings like them are scattered far and wide in the galaxies and are not to be found as often as they are depicted in films according to science fiction. This also means that these life-forms are not exactly of a peaceful nature, but are more like Earth human beings. ...

Bermunda:

That was really no problem, because I can clarify such things in my flying apparatus, because all your conversations with any of us are stored in every apparatus original verbatim, which are recorded on this planet in connection with you since the beginning with Sfath, and not only thousands of conversations, but millions. With Sfath's voice, however, only as far as his records have been processed, which means that there is still much work to be done before they can all be recorded in our flying apparatuses that are used in connection with you. So every word that you or any of us have spoken is recorded. This also concerns your notes or your written works that you have produced, which have been recorded as originals and can be retrieved at any time. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_814

Billy:

This also made the whole thing with that part of the foreigners, the ones from ..., unnecessary, that a contact should be attempted with them, who have been circling around in the Earthly skies since time immemorial, but who have never been able to detect your presence, and indeed still not up to today, although your ancestors came to Earth some 25 million years ago and you can still come here unrecognised from them and do your work. It is quite something that you Plejaren have been able to move and stay away from the foreigners in such an unrecognised manner for 25 million years, by which I mean those foreigners who ..., and who, according to your explanations, came from ... The other foreigners, we can leave them out, because ...

...

Both the earthlings are keen on your technology, which also includes the second group of foreigners, as well as the foreigners from ..., who could optimise their highly developed technology in such a special manner that they could locate things that are still unlocatable even for them, get hold of you, copy your technology and then unexpectedly penetrate into your dimension. As it is now, however, their aeroblitzers remain UFOs, which, however, certain Americans ... This, however, is of course disputed, denied and kept secret, just like, of course, the military, secret service and governmental machinations, which would be so monstrous for the ordinary citizen that, if he/she knew, they would pull out all their hair or kill themselves.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_819

Billy:

But what is also to be said, beyond the faith in mendacious religions, is that many earthlings are so arrogant and overbearing that they hold the insane view that they are unique and alone in the whole universe, which is why they also deny the foreigners and their flying apparatuses, the so-called UFOs resp. Unknown Flying Objects, or simply silently doubt their existence. Although the excitement about them has largely died down in recent years, now and then I am asked about them by all kinds of human beings from all over the world, as a result of which I have to deal with them. Unfortunately, I am not allowed to give information about what it is all about, where the foreigners with their UFOs and their occupants come from, what they actually are and want, because in doing so I would not only endanger myself and everything around me, but also you Plejaren. You also shield yourselves from the foreigners, as we call them, because you must not be discoverable for them. The reasons for this should be understandable to all those inquirers who think things over and think for themselves, consequently they can work out for themselves what would happen if you Plejaren could be located by the UFO occupants.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_824

Billy:

... But this, this is again from Yasuhiro – again photos that he takes and doesn't want to understand that these 'orbs', as they are called, are nothing more than different sized balls of natural gas that float up from or through the Earth. The origin is that there is bubbling magma in the Earth resp. underneath the mantle, which is about 600 kilometres thick, which of course also produces gases that penetrate upwards to the Earth's surface. This has nothing to do with volcanism, where lava is ejected through fissures in the earth or volcanoes and gases are also released. However, as I learned from Sfath and also saw for myself, gases are also simply propelled up to the earth's surface from the depths of the planet, which then move like balls of mist, hovering above the earth's surface until they dissolve in the atmosphere and disappear. The same thing happens as I was able to observe in the canton of Aargau in the 'Turbenmoos', as it was called at that time, because the same phenomena occurred in the moor there, except that it was not Earth gases from the depths of the Earth, but moor gases. At that time, these gas lights were simply called 'will-o'-the-wisps'. Orbs', however, are the natural gas phenomena that look like these photos of Yasuhiro, who has been harassing me for years, claiming that they are the 'souls' of the deceased. Many 'orbs' occur especially in the areas of the 'ring of fire', Japan being part of it, so this is not only an earthquake area, but also underground gases drift up and appear as 'orbs' and as transparent gas balls that can be photographed.

{Note: See also Contact Report 478:81-84 regarding "orbs" which are another type of "Rods" ("bio-organisms of electromagnetic form").}

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_826

Billy:

But as a rule, all this is concealed from the public or even denied, whereby the saying 'truth dies first' comes into play, just as it does, for example, with regard to the presence of so-called UFOs, whose presence has long been proven even militarily and through the testimony of airline pilots, etc., on film or photographically.

But what is not allowed to be for 'state security reasons' etc. simply does not exist – even if everything to the contrary can be proven to be correct.

So the effective truth is simply turned into a conspiracy theory, just as otherwise pathologically stupid people make up stupid and idiotic conspiracy theories that are foreign to the effective truth and illogical.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_827

Ptaah:

3. What were you discussing that you said was thought to be UFOs?

Billy:

It was about will-o'-the-wisps and the like, because these are really nothing more than lights in nature, often created by the Earth life itself.

These lights, which are mainly created from ionising earth gases, moor gases, swamp gases and magma gases, create luminous formations of various large and small sizes, so-called will-o'-the-wisps or orbs.

So the action of nature and the Earth creates lights, and these shine very strongly under certain conditions and can be observed and seen from very far away because they hover in the air, sometimes very high, which is why they are often suspected to be UFOs.

...

I also have to mention the ball lightning, which was also mentioned, and I saw one at the beginning in Hinterschmidrüti, about one metre tall, which rolled down the roof of the house and then dissipated.

...

However, these are caused by electrical voltages in the atmosphere and have a completely different origin than the will-o'-the-wisps and orbs.

It is a plasmaoid or something like that, with hydrogen, silicon, potassium and iron also playing a role, as well as a certain magnetism.

52. For us, it is important that we fathom the activities of the foreigners very carefully inside and out.

53. Apart from the knowledge gained from this, we also know that we have to keep to what we have always maintained, namely that we remain unrecognised, both in relation to Earth's humanity and in relation to the foreigners, whose technology is very far behind ours, but whom they would inevitably want to get hold of if they could come into contact with us.

54. We know very well their aspirations and are able to anticipate what would result from contact with them.

55. In another respect, we are fully aware that all observations of Earth-humans regarding the flying objects of the foreigners are consistently denied, concealed, commented on with flimsy lies or judged as ridiculous by the responsible offices etc. of the military, pilots and private individuals.

56. This is despite the fact that the observations are real and correspond to reality, as some of these sightings can also be documented on film or photographically.

... I have a question concerning the 'Pranima', as Sfath once called it, when he said that it could also be produced on Earth from ... and compressed in such a manner that it would be over 160 times harder than the diamond we know, although the product in its basic unit would not be bigger than an atom.

My question is this: What is this product used for by you?

Ptaah:

59. This material is used by us by thickening the outer shell of our flying apparatus with it and making it invulnerable in every kind and wise.

60. This completely protects the flying apparatus as well as the occupants from any natural and technical influences, as well as from any possibility of damage or destruction.

Billy:

The various alloys that I had received from your daughter Semjase, which were of various alloy stages, you build your spaceships with this metal alloy.

Are they all then coated with this 'Pranima'?

Ptaah:

61. They will, which will ensure our safety.

Billy:

And if your ships were fired upon, what would happen?

Ptaah:

62. Nothing. – Projectiles of any kind would ricochet harmlessly due to the hardness of the metal, if they would reach them at all, which will never be the case, because the energetic protection that is applied around the respective flying object repels any foreign object.

Billy:

Aha, and how far does this protective shield surround your beamships, if I may say so?

Ptaah:

63. By terrestrial masses you would calculate the energy protection to be something around 3 metres.

Billy:

And this protective shield is really such that purely nothing can reach and damage a beamship?

Ptaah:

64. Yes, there is no possibility at all.

Quetzal:

... But now, as Ptaah has insistently instructed me, I am to clarify a few things openly, namely with regard to all the various flying apparatuses of the foreigners that have been sighted worldwide, but so far could only be photographed in an unclear process. This is in contrast to our Plejaren beamships, as you have always called them, which you were able to capture very clearly and recognisably on films and slides when you worked together with Semjase on behalf of our committee and took the photographs. These are therefore, as you once said, 'hair-sharp photographs of Plejaren beamships', in contrast to the diffuse photographically recorded objects of appearance resp. flying objects of the foreigners. These only show very unclear, blurred and therefore not exactly recognisable objects on photographs. Your photographs, however, should be good, clear and sharp, which is why you explicitly had to take the photographs together with Semjase. The beamships, as we use them in the atmosphere, can also be used in space and are of different sizes, whereby the smallest are calculated for one person and correspond to reconnaissance devices. This, while we also use other constructions of completely different shapes, appearance and sizes, which you know about. The one construction that was intended for your slide and film recordings and that was used by Semjase has six other similar flying apparatuses of different sizes. Totally different constructions and absolutely different shapes, types and sizes are aligned and destined for other uses, the largest of our such objects measure over 2,100 metres by earthly measurements and are being created in the Erran orbit. Also on Erra itself the large flying objects are produced and afterwards brought into the wide free space outside the planet, because the weightlessness technology and the propulsion of the flying object makes this absolutely possible. Na...

And what I have to emphasise expressly, as Ptaah wishes, relates to us the fact that there is no relevance whatsoever between the foreigners and us Plejaren, for we have always kept ourselves absolutely concealed from them, in such a wise that they are neither able to see, hear nor locate us.

... Even for the foreigners it is impossible to locate, hear or see us, because our entire technology is far superior to theirs. So I told her that their origin or provenance ranged from about 8 to about 400 light-years, and that the crews of the UFOs were actually distant descendants of earlier extraterrestrials who had worked on Earth very early. These late descendants actually want peace on Earth and no wars etc.; for example, they have put nuclear missiles resp. their controls out of operation etc. And I w...

Also the fact that we have nothing to do with these foreigners and can neither be seen nor located, we have already discussed this several times, so this should actually be known. We Plejaren have nothing to do with UFOs or other phenomena, as well as with those that come from other dimensions of this DERN universe and effectively do not come from our ANKAR universe. Proclamation

1. The flying apparatuses called UFOs by Earth-humans have no relation to us Plejaren and our flying apparatuses.
2. The flying apparatuses of the foreigners as well as the incidents of any kind concerning them, which have occurred or will continue to occur in connection with the flying objects as well as with the foreigners themselves, do not concern us Plejaren.
3. We Plejaren have in no wise interfered in any earthly events and will also never interfere, whatever may happen.
4. We Plejaren will therefore not interfere in any earthly matters, events and occurrences that may arise in the future, this also not in one or the other context concerning the foreigners and their UFO flying apparatus.

Billy:

I have had nothing to do with so-called UFOs since my adolescence up to the present time, and I also have no contact with the occupants of such flying apparatus. So as far as my contacts with the Plejaren and their federation are concerned, they have nothing whatsoever to do with the so-called UFOs. ...

Now, the so-called UFOs that have been observed in Earth's airspace for many decades and even centuries have nothing whatsoever to do with the Plejaren and their federation, for these are absolutely intent on being neither seen nor located. In the early days of contact with the Plejaren it was somewhat different, because at that time it was still possible for the Plejaren beamships etc. to be seen and observed, for example in the 1970s and 1980s, for which between 120 and 130 persons could testify. However, after the failure to make contact with America, the Plejaren and their federation were henceforth anxious not to be seen or located. As a result, there is no longer any possibility of observing or locating a beamship or persons belonging to the Plejaren or their federation.

Billy:

... But now for something else: every now and then they show footage on TV of balls of light that are seen floating somewhere high up in the air during the day or at night and 'spinning around'. These are then labelled as UFOs in the false belief that they are extraterrestrial flying objects. I am often asked about this, but when the lights are described, I understand that they can only be small or large orbs, resp. plasma balls or some kind of natural gas balls. These can be very small, but they can also be quite large and even several or even many metres in diameter. A man from Japan keeps sending me photos of such small gas objects, which are actually called orbs, which he photographs and claims that they are 'spirits' of the deceased. He really lives in this delusion and does not allow himself to be taught, he even thinks that you Plejaren and the Sonaer, and also I, are wrong because they really are 'spirits' of the deceased.

Faith, unfortunately, is a delusion that suppresses reality and its truth to such an extent that even violent death is endured for it.

{Billy:}

Overpopulation

Now, just how deceitfully, meanly, irresponsibly and idiotically lowly intelligent the citizens of all countries are treated worldwide in the aforementioned wise and how they are deceived, lied to and cheated by the unrighteous part of the authorities is also the case with regard to the increasingly frequent appearance of UFOs worldwide. Not only certain parts of government, but also the military and secret services are leading the people by the nose – also in Switzerland – and denying the existence of UFOs, although clear, tangible evidence of their existence exists. However, those persons who can provide such evidence are either simply declared insane and mentally ill, labelled as cranks or fantasists etc., have their memories erased, are given medication, persecuted, threatened, silenced or simply radically 'eliminated from the world' and thus murdered. This is done by simply claiming and lying that the people concerned had a 'fatal accident', that they were seriously ill or had suffered a 'heart attack' etc. But threats and such persecutions or deaths are never and never investigated and cleared up, because this is prevented by lies and deceit from parts of the government and the military, to which the authorities also play along in some places. In the least serious cases, the persons are branded and labelled as fantasists, brain patients, illusionists, madmen and cranks, or they are interned in 'spinning windmills' and even in asylums to keep them away from the public, to whom they could tell their observations or experiences. On the one hand, this is the image of the truth, while on the other hand, the true interests of those who are 'keen' to get hold of UFOs and their futuristic technology in order to abuse them for their own purposes and their lust for power and hegemony are concealed and not publicised. In this regard, the USA in particular should be mentioned, as well as Russia and China, but also smaller states. Certain elements in Switzerland are also endeavouring to deny and ridicule certain things when it comes to UFOs, but are obviously and undoubtedly so lowly intelligent with regard to surveillance etc. that it is hilariously stupid and so conspicuous that even the blind, deaf and insane can perceive and understand what is actually being played out. Well, it is probably not greed for power that is the driving force, but fear and uncertainty as to what is really going on, as well as influences from abroad, which I think is better to keep quiet about. The fact is, however, that it is mainly states like the USA, Russia and China – but above all the USA – that are 'keen' on the futuristic technology of UFOs and ... America's hegemonistic behaviour, which cannot be denied, does not even stop there, because the cowardly fear of those responsible leads them to shoot at the UFOs themselves, whose technology they want to use for their hegemonic behaviour, but are always unable to understand. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_877

Billy:

... And if I look closely at these photos, they do not show a beamship of you Plejaren, but something foreign, which is probably a UFO of the foreigners, from whom you have always kept your distance, so I also do not deal with them, although I have been able to observe their flying apparatus twice from the Centre, the first time in 1979, when Guido and I were at the concrete mixer and the floor for the media-room was being concreted. The object we saw, flying over the military's Bloodhound missile base, was golden yellow, about 2 metres long, oval – as seen from us – and shining brightly. Our observation distance was about 600 metres or so. Such observations are also being made all over the world at the moment – as they have been for a long time – and also here in Switzerland, but this is officially kept quiet, as in this case here, when I was able to take the pictures of Semjase's beamship and the military fighter or jet fighter in the Maiwinkel. ...

...

... and now I would like to mention a few things that are happening on television regarding UFOs, because there are now very frequent programmes that refer to UFOs and the foreigners resp. the extraterrestrials.

Countless recordings are shown that are nothing more than ridiculous animations, i.e. animated films are played and shown, which are then misleadingly regarded and understood as 'real' by many of the television viewers. They also make very lurid assumptions and spread outrageous fantasies that are so hilariously stupid that some human beings almost choke on them.

The sometimes very frequent occurrence of UFOs is immediately dramatised and even whipped up into hysteria, just as the whole thing is also presented as a 'great danger' and it is claimed that the blind believers of the viewers are frightened and terrified by the nonsense. This, while interceptors and fighters in various countries are actually tracking and trying to shoot down UFOs that have been sighted. This is downright earthly, as it is peculiar to the majority of Earthlings, that shooting and murder are carried out first before asking what is actually going on, what the purpose is and what the justification for the whole thing is supposed to be. But shooting and killing first and not asking for the reason is typical of Earthlings, who have a guilty conscience and are therefore afraid and do exactly what should not be done. In the matter of foreigners and their UFOs, the only correct thing to do would be to seek contact with the foreigners in an absolutely peaceful wise, instead of pursuing them with fighter planes and attacking them by shooting at them, not with fighter planes, but also with guns from the ground. The thoughts and actions of the Earthlings responsible for this, who usually wear expensive military uniforms adorned with medals, think they are powerful, but in reality have such idiotic mouths that almost the entire universe can be swallowed up in them, which testifies to the fact that neither logic, understanding nor reason is present in their brains. All this fictitious thinking and wrong behaviour on the part of those responsible does not correspond to effective adulthood, as can be expected of a truly adult human being, but rather corresponds to the fictitious thinking of idiots who imagine that they are clever and clever thinkers and geniuses. In reality, however, they are incapable of any true and clear thinking, which is why they simply want to attack and shoot down the UFOs with fighter aircraft cannons or ground guns in a stupid, thoughtless and cowardly manner, full of fear. And they do this without knowing what the occupants of the UFOs actually want, where they come from, what they are like and what species and kind they are. Instead of seeking peaceful contact with the crews of the UFOs, they viciously attack them and their flying apparatus, which, with their UFOs obviously equipped with some kind of futuristic anti-gravity capabilities, are able to manoeuvre around in our filthy Earth's atmosphere and evade or simply paralyse the idiotic and completely clumsy attacks and all projectiles at lightning speed.

...

Billy:

Like those senior military officers who lack all logic, reason and common sense when they shoot at UFOs, the same is also true of all those who fearfully and cowardly, thoughtlessly, foolishly, stupidly and idiotically advocate everything in this regard, thereby evoking nothing but hostility. This is because they have nothing else in their heads but an underdeveloped brain that is only affected by a belief and thus by fear and cowardice and is incapable of true thinking. True thinking and correct action without any religious or worldly faith is therefore in no way their strength, as could be expected of adult human beings, but they think, decide and act confusedly and erroneously in a completely confused and fear-ridden wise and exactly contrary to what should really be decided and done in logic, understanding and reason.

... the landing tracks that were taken of Asket's beamship. These were 4 pictures that showed the spiral-shaped pressed down grass, which resulted when Asket placed the landing discs of her beamship on the meadow and thus left traces behind. I was also able to take such photos in the 1970s and 1980s, when Semjase and others also set their beamships down on meadows. This changed, however, because you Plejaren adopted a more advanced technology from the Sonaern, which meant that the grass was no longer harrowed and therefore also no longer pressed down in a spiral when the landing discs were set down. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_880

Billy:

Now it also remains to answer the question regarding the UFOs, namely that neither I nor the Plejaren have anything to do with them. Overall, we stay away from them because there is no contact whatsoever with them, because it is to be prevented at all costs that any of these 'foreigners' can enter the Ankar universe – for whatever reason. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_881

Billy:

The woman's statement that nothing has yet been revealed about no evil intentions being detected behind the appearance of the UFOs may well be true, but the fact that they are being pursued and shot at by the Earthlings could possibly have a negative effect on the behaviour of the UFO-nauts if they were to somehow suffer damage as a result of the shooting attacks on them. So the ridiculousness of the Earthlings' actions against the UFOs is also associated with a danger that cannot be overlooked, but which is disregarded and can cause immeasurable damage to the Earthlings, which they are unable to cope with due to the vast technical superiority of the UFOs. That 'national security' is to be safeguarded and defended by tracking and shooting at UFOs is absolutely idiotic, because the technology of UFOs is so far ahead of and superior to all known earthly technology that there is no comparison whatsoever. All those idiots who give the corresponding orders for fighter planes to pursue and shoot down UFOs, or for UFOs to be shot at from Earth, should bear this in mind. These idiots with their medals think they are great and powerful, but in reality they are cowardly, beanpole stupid and not only fill their trousers with cowardly fear, but also crawl into the dirtiest holes when things get serious. The lowly intelligent are then those who have to fight on the front line and lose their lives while the loud-mouthed and self-important order bearers take refuge in their holes and squat there, as is the case with all armies and their superiors and with the rulers of every country, without exception, who glorify themselves and live under the delusion that they are greater and more powerful than the energy and power that created everything from the nihilo and brought it to life.

... As for the question about the energies used by the spaceships, I do not really know, because all I know is that energy is created in the flying apparatus resp. in the beamship, namely for a special drive that is used for dimensional passages. However – if I have understood correctly, but I do not know how everything works – the main energy is that which is used by stars and planets. I do not understand what this is, what it means and what it means, and all I know is that the energy is drawn from suns and planets, tapped and 'collected' or stored. This energy, as I was told, is so immensely powerful and unlimited, and also superluminal, that it can reach several times the speed of light in a flash from a standing start, while at the same time creating a state similar to weightlessness in the beamship itself, whereby there is no pressure at all. With normal propulsion, in which the beamship simply 'floats' as if weightless – I do not know how that works – the steel ship is exposed to the wind and consequently also sways and wobbles because it is not protected resp. shielded against external influences. It is therefore also hit by the wind, so it is shaken or swayed. So the beamship has various energy drives, but I do not know what they really are and what they mean, and how they work and what they do – and I also do not want to know, because firstly I am not interested in this technology, and secondly I do not want to know, because I cannot give anyone any information about it and therefore I cannot cause the Earthlings to become aware of a technology that would cause a great deal of harm, because everything would immediately be used for murder and manslaughter, war and terror if something ... well, you know what would happen.

Now the question still, which relates to where the UFOs come from, and what actually is the purpose of their appearance, and what they want and stuff, that ...

...

... should be kept quiet about it. I have not forgotten that and I stick to it, so I do not say what I know and do not advertise it. Suffice it to say that there has been no threat from them up to now because they have only carried out peaceful functions, but this has been ignored in a hostile manner up to the present day. And what their endeavour is as well as what their origin is, that would not be called good.

Ptaah:

And America is leading everything evil that is happening in Ukraine in the background, as the main actor in various manners for the delusion of world domination, and also from the very beginning with the involvement of mercenaries from all over the world and warfare advice and help for Selensky. Therefore, a proxy war for America and its delusion of world domination is also being waged under the direction of Selensky. With Selensky, the buck has been turned into the hunter who, together with the Americans, is hunting Europe against peace and freedom. Selensky, who is a war maniac, plays his role as an actor resp. as a state and war actor so perfectly that all those who listen to his lies are in bondage to him. He ...

Billy:

... is a wolf in sheep's clothing, as we say.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_840

Billy:

... as far as the war in Ukraine is concerned, it was probably started by Putin, the President of Russia, but America, in its delusion of hegemony, has done everything to ensure that it has come to such a pass that Putin has gone berserk. However, this also shows that he is no better than the American leaders, because the hostility comes from both sides. Basically, the blame for the whole thing is that America wants to make a pig out of Russia, ultimately with the help of NATO, which is what America is hoping for.

...

Billy:

... In the 1990s, a treaty was agreed and signed that there would be no NATO expansion eastwards across the German border, which was promised to Russia on high. Shortly afterwards, however, America and NATO broke this treaty and expanded further eastwards country by country, cutting Russia off from the West. Now Ukraine was to be added to this, which Russia of course resisted, and that is why it finally started the war. Thus began the idiotic war, which has now lasted for over a year, with further idiots from various foreign states supplying weapons of all kinds to Ukraine, whereby the whole thing goes on and on and Selensky, the name of the war-addicted leader of Ukraine, is able to continue this war. Both sides, Ukraine and Russia, are committing many monstrous war crimes, but the Ukrainians are worse, because they simply murder their own military if they are pro-Russian, just as they not only rape the country's own women, but then shoot them in order to blame these outrages on the Russians, as I myself have seen, together with Bermunda.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_841

Billy:

... This is especially true of Selensky, but also of Ukraine, a country that has otherwise already made a name for itself as a result of its, to say the least, strangely NAZI-connected behaviour over many years. Just as America, addicted to world domination, is also being worked into the hands by granting all possible help to the warmonger Selensky. America itself is working behind the scenes in the Ukraine war, as I have seen for myself with you.

The USA and Germany are diligently helping this big-talking clown in every conceivable way, while the German Foreign Minister Baerbock is also doing everything she can to work into the hands of America and NATO, namely by bullying the leaders of various states and creating hostile sentiment against Russia, thereby evoking an evil mood of war.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_842

Billy:

... but what is happening at present with the Ukrainian war, that is a version that you certainly do not know, as it is also happening on Earth for the first time. This is that many countries are interfering unilaterally and supplying weapons to Ukraine in order to strengthen the war-monger Selensky, the president of Ukraine, in his war mania. This, while America is working in the background, because of which the war has also broken out and Russia has started it. All the madmen who thoughtlessly supply weapons to this mad Selensky are thereby furthering the purpose of the whole thing, namely that America with its NATO comes one step closer to its delusion of world domination. Namely, by defeating Russia and making a pig of it and incorporating Ukraine into NATO.

Juraata:

We know this, and all the ignorant and irresponsible of those states that supply weapons, whereby many human lives are murdered and destruction is unparalleled and the war continues longer and longer, are unable to realise, due to their very pitiful inability to think, that this America is the real authorship of the whole thing.

...

Billy:

Now it is simply to be said once again that the unrighteous of the people in America are to blame for the fact that the Russians started the war in Ukraine, which has now lasted for over a year and has cost many human lives. It is worth mentioning that the righteous of the Americans can distance themselves from this, because they are not listened to anyway when the bulk of the unrighteous masses howl away.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_844

Billy:

And with regard to the present, the clown and actor Volodymyr Oleksandrovych Selensky should be mentioned, who, as the son of a cyberneticist and an engineer, is a war criminal and a straw man of America and has drawn many government officials of various countries to his and America's side in Ukraine, who are stupidly and carelessly supplying him with weapons and are guilty of the fact that the Ukrainian war has now been going on for so long, instead of the fact that it would have been over and finished after only 16 days without the arms supplies of the irresponsible powerful of other states.

...

Billy:

However, the fact that since the end of the war America has still been squatting in Germany as the main occupation, conducting it politically and using it underhandedly today in order to use the clown and warmonger Selensky in Ukraine as a straw man for the war against Russia, so as not to have to step directly into the limelight and admit that behind everything there is only the America hegemony known from time immemorial, is not recognised by the stupid rulers of Germany, nor by the EU dictatorship powers. ... The mere fact that the neo-NAZIs in Germany are supplying weapons to Selensky – not to Ukraine, but really to the war-mongering Selensky – only brings treacherous America closer to its delusion of hegemony. This with the additional help of all those states that supply weapons to Selensky and thus effectively and truly wage war against Russia. The claim that this is not the case is nothing more than an infamous lie and deception, because the West is effectively waging war against Russia, insidiously steered by America, which in its hegemony mania has known no limits since time immemorial and is supported by the majority of Americans. ...

...

Quetzal:

... What you have heard says enough, both with regard to Selensky and also with regard to America, which you have now mentioned. Moreover, everything is indisputable, just as it is indisputable that the West – and America in the front line – is waging war against Russia, for what the Western states allow themselves to do, namely to supply weapons etc. to Selensky, are effectively acts of war and an open war against Russia, which, however, is a new kind of warfare as it appears on Earth for the first time. Moreover, it is worth mentioning that the weapons are effectively being delivered to Selensky, as you say, not to the state of Ukraine, most of whose population wants nothing to do with the war, as we explored.

Billy:

I also know that, because that's what various people in Ukraine told me when I was there with Bermunda and also with Florena. There were even people who said that this Selensky should be taken by the devil, because he only brings suffering and fear as well as death, ruin and destruction over the whole country, as well as that America is behind everything, and that this should also be taken by the devil. Selensky, he said, was only a straw man of America and, moreover, greedy for power and even more stupid than stupid. ...

...

Billy:

... But the idiots of many states of arms suppliers to Selensky are so stupid that they do not realise the truth, especially that America is behind it all and wields the sceptre of it all in order to indulge in hegemony. Like many others, however, most of the powerful in the state governments have no idea of how the countries must be run because they have no leadership qualities whatsoever, moreover, they are often just puppets of other states, just as the ineffectual Selensky in Ukraine is just a straw man of the Americans.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_845

Billy:

... Selensky is a war-monger and war-fanatic, while Putin is irreconcilably waging war as a result of injustice committed by America together with NATO regarding the breach of the treaty concerning the NON-NATO enlargement to the East. I am talking about irreconcilability and deliberately not about revenge, because Putin negotiated for a long time with America that the treaty of the NON-NATO enlargement to the East, which was stipulated in the early 1990s, forbade and what should not be broken, that now Ukraine should be included in the NATO murder organisation, as it happened contrary to the treaty with the other states connected to Germany to the East, which were never allowed to become NATO members according to the treaty. America and its NATO – which was created by America according to the idea of Harry Truman and had a strict hegemonic background – thus spread out across the borders of Germany into the Eastern countries in contravention of the treaty. Now they also want to cash in on Ukraine, which Putin resisted for a long time, but finally lost patience when the NATO accession plan was not shelved, consequently he ordered the Ukraine war. Of course, this was not good and is criminal, because war is never good, it is an inexcusable crime. But it was obviously America's intention that Putin should lose patience and start the war, because this was definitely expected, because – as a Ukrainian told me about three months ago – Russia was to be made a complete pig of and ultimately have to submit to America, because America wanted world domination and absolute control over the Earth.

Jjfa:

... America is not only the author of it all and provoked the war, and as we have explored, but for the sake of her effort of hegemony, she is also bent on forcing Russia down and integrating her into her world domination alliance. In order to achieve this, the NAZI-minded ones from the leadership in Germany are giving all help to America and Ukraine without hesitation, as well as the European Union and all the states which are supplying weapons to Ukraine, and which are thus favouring everything in such a way that the war is lasting longer and longer. In fact, everything in this regard has been arranged so deceitfully by America's actions that the American-supporting part of several states unhesitatingly joined in the conduct of supplying arms to Ukraine and thereby waging war against Russia in a wise that we are not familiar with such an action in our far-reaching history. Furthermore, our investigations have revealed that American forces are directly involved in the war without the world public being informed. In our opinion, what is taking place in this respect in the war in Ukraine is an insidious and hegemonic act of will on the part of America. This, however, is something that the stupidity of the incompetent NAZI-minded leaders of Germany cannot understand, as well as all the leaders of other states who follow this mindset and all those who are like-minded.

Billy:

... I know that through the propaganda that is made against Russia, and Ukraine is lifted to the skies, everything is on the one hand reported in a lying manner and, on the other hand, what is really going on in the war in Ukraine is misrepresented or concealed. It is also deliberately concealed that Russia is also being insidiously attacked from Ukraine, etc., as well as the fact that the countries supplying weapons to Selensky are not helping Ukraine against the Russians, but America, which in its delusion of world domination is letting the Ukrainians wage war against Russia in order to be able to annex it.

...

Billy:

Yes, I know, and this brings me back to the war in Ukraine, which is truly underhandedly directed by America with the straw man Selensky, taking advantage of the low intelligence of the government leaders and the part of the peoples of the Western countries and other lunatic global supporters who are supplying weapons to Selensky and aiding and abetting sanctioned murder and destruction. This, instead of efforts being made to stop the senseless murder and destruction. On the contrary, these government powers and the war supporters bask in it, believing in their low intelligence and dimwittedness, Selensky- and America-belief, as well as in their partisanship, to provide help to end the war. And that there is no mention of the blaming of Russia and Putin is because for its part [Russia's], which also murders, destroys and acts criminally, it cannot be included in all the insidious, underhanded as well as the hegemonic machinations and intrigues of America. This, like Selensky's consistently mendacious begging of help for weapons, which are supplied practically with a kiss of the hand by irresponsible NAZI-like state powers of Germany and other Western countries, which thereby completely unconscionably help to continue the murder and destruction and thus the war in Ukraine for a long time to come. In this process, through the help with huge amounts of money and the many arms deliveries to Selensky, the 'helpful' idiots and government bigwigs of various states and their supporters from the various peoples are undoubtedly waging partisan war against Russia. All of these pathological idiots blame Putin alone, who of course is also acting criminally, but cannot be called the author of the whole thing, even though he ordered the war, because the real culprit is and remains America with its hegemonic mania and its NATO. This, however, is not considered by all 'helpers', that America is behind everything and insidiously manages everything, together with the warmongering straw man Selensky.

Jjfa:

This is truth, as our observers and elucidators have fathomed, but this is what the America-friendly and Selensky-friendly do not want to admit, as we also found out. And when Ptaah speaks of a NAZI mindset of state leaders in Germany, this is to be extended to a part of the people, as regarding a part of the Ukrainian state leadership and population, as well as the state leaders and parts of the population with the whole of the complicity of the American machinations.

...

Billy:

... Ptaah explicitly mentioned that the wrong and idiotic actions regarding the arms deliveries to Selensky are being copied by a large part of the NAZI-behaviour of the rulers to parts of the people, the children as well as the adolescents, right-wing extremists and NEO-NAZIS. In the same respect, he said, is the conduct and attitude of certain people in the dictatorship organisation EU, especially with regard to those 'bigwigs' who boast of German descent or are under the direct or indirect influence of the ruling NEO-NAZIs. All of them, by the way, are responsible and partly to blame for the fact that absolutely only one-sided success reports of war actions and war profits are made in favour of the Ukrainian military and the big-talking Selensky, while war crimes are committed by the Ukrainian military and are not disclosed. This is consistently in contrast to the fact that regarding that the outrages of the Russia military are very much mentioned. So the war coverage is only one-sided, in the process of praising the Ukrainian military and its gains and Selensky to the skies, and either disregarding or blowing up Russia's military and Putin. Moreover, it is the case, as I know from my own observation, that the Ukrainian forces, in addition to also operating on Russian territory and carrying out acts of sabotage, and with the help of the Yanks in the background, want to attack Moscow and other places with drones, as Selensky has ordered, also to assassinate Putin, which I heard myself, together with Bermunda, when we were able to eavesdrop on him with the help of the language translator.

... the world-domination-addicted Americans who, through the agitation of their shadow government and the incompetent Nazi-like leaders, bring war and disaster upon the Earth and earthly humanity. They are all truly those who caused the war in Ukraine and are underhandedly waging it under their direction, which the majority of the American people do not want and are in no manner involved in and are not of the same mind as the criminal Nazi-like leaders.

Billy:

... As usual, only the Russians are the incarnation of evil, while Zelensky in Ukraine and the arms suppliers and all their supporters as well as all the war supporters are the good guys. But the truth is that of all people, the arms suppliers to Ukraine – some 50 states – and their supporters, as well as all those who support the war in the first place, are the incarnation of evil. In truth, they are the ones who are contributing to a strange world war burning in Ukraine, allowing a warmonger named Zelensky to indulge his war-mongering addiction and a war-disposer named Putin to also surrender to his war ambitions. All the arms suppliers and their supporters and partisans are to blame for the fact that the war can continue for so long and human beings are being murdered, as well as immense destruction being caused. This, while in the background America and its government and shadow government pull their strings and control everything to finally make their hegemonistic plans come true. It would be correct if all the stupid opponents, if they want strife, war, murder and destruction because they are insane, hateful and vindictive – because they are not capable of thinking in a completely normal and correct way, but are religious believers and worldly thinkers and only indulge in the lust for power – then they should smash their own skulls. That is how the mad presidents Putin, Zelensky, Biden and all the gangs of their supporters and the American shadow government should fight with each other, wielding swords and hitting each other with machine guns, tanks, missiles and bombs. This, instead of the military waging war, committing murder by the metre, torture and rape, creating immense hardship and roaring misery, as well as endless destruction. If all the idiots who cause wars and also all the like-minded people and in general all the brainless people who take part and approve of everything had to stick their own skulls in and let themselves be beaten up – and really only these among themselves – then there would at least be no wars in this respect and also no distress, no misery, as well as no rapes, no torture and no destruction, etc. But this does not seem to work with the peoples, because they prefer to get involved and murder themselves. The majority of them are so stupid and unthinking that they do not elect healthy and righteous, honest and not power-hungry persons to the government, but unfit, selfish, power-hungry and other idiots whom they elevate to government offices as rulers and government forces. This is always done finely according to the principle: the cow chooses its own butcher.

While the truth is that Ukraine was attacked by Russia, the question is where is the Intelligendum, logic, reason and sanity of the Western rulers and their supporters from the people. They are all so stupid that they do not understand that they are accomplices in a strange world war that America is secretly and deceitfully waging in Ukraine for the sake of its hegemony, with NATO still involved, for which America is truly secretly wielding the sceptre. But the stupid of the world unfortunately do not die out, so neither do the similarly stupefied listeners who listen to the stupid of those non-thinking rulers who wrap the stupid of the population around their fingers with fanciful lies and who believe the lies and then fall prey to those who indulge in power and who are America's followers.

Well, there is something else to say, namely that Ukraine has become and remained a victim of geopolitical interests since Hitler's war from 1939 to 1945, and the latter because America wants NATO to contract the country and thus move closer to Russia. And this is exactly why America provoked Russia to such an extent that Putin launched a war of aggression on 24.2.2022, which, however, was not correct and ill-considered and is such that it will never bring – as every war only brings disaster, hardship, misery, death and destruction – what would correspond to correctness. The biggest fools in this are the partisan, America-friendly and idiot-thinking heads of countries and their supporters from the respective peoples of various states, who supply money and weapons etc. to Zelensky – as is also done by certain sides to Putin, even when this is denied – resulting in the effective fact that the war carnage, the murder and destruction, the misery and misery continue. This will continue until the partisanship of the idiotic rulers and the equally idiotic sections of the population who are crying along with them, the supplying of weapons, the donating of money and any other 'help', as well as the two wartime leaders – Putin and Zelensky – finally put an end to the whole war madness which America, in its delusion of hegemony, is leading and determining in the background. Something that is as clear and conscious to all human beings who are capable of logic and reason in their real and free of any religious thinking, as also free of any opinion, but knowing, as it is incontrovertibly the reality and truth.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_861

Billy:

... the banner for Ukraine has been and continues to be waved in a partisan manner, ignoring the fact that America is actually to blame for the entire war disaster, which wants to bring NATO into Ukraine for the sake of terror and thereby completely isolate Russia from the West. But to really think and to understand this, as well as the fact that Russia is fighting back against it ...

...

... Everything and anything becomes unpredictable, as the examples of every war since time immemorial prove. As soon as the first stroke of the sword was made or the first arrow flicked from the string, every war followed its own law and very quickly slipped out of any control of the belligerents. And time and again it has been proved that all the advance planning of all the belligerents has proved to be null and void, for always and in every war everything went completely differently from what was planned in advance, for everything plays out completely differently from what is planned in advance. And this will also prove to be the case in the war between Ukraine and Russia, whereby the underhanded and insidious intrigues of America must also be taken into account, which is actually to blame for everything, because in its delusion of hegemony it wants to cash in on Ukraine in order to then be on Russia's border with NATO. This, however, is not understood by those idiots who continue to supply weapons to Zelensky as well as goods of all kinds, whereby the war goes on and on completely irresponsibly, many human beings die, destruction is wrought – and America laughs up its sleeve at all those foolish and moronic people who diligently help to fulfil its plans for hegemony.

...

... Of course, Russia started the war in Ukraine, on Putin's orders, but it would have been the absolute duty of the Swiss government to remain neutral in every respect, not to be partisan, not to work against Russia and to favour Ukraine. And it should finally be recognised and understood by the Swiss government and by the pro-American part of the population that America is behind everything, because it provoked the war until Putin's patience ran out and he started the war – which is of course in no manner excusable, because a war is always and in every case a crime, which can never and in whatever form be talked about as pardonable. So all of Putin's actions were something that was of course wrong and should have been avoided, but when logic, understanding and reason are not great enough, then unfortunately things crash, and that is and remains inexcusable, so no excuse can be accepted for Putin's actions. However, this is also not the case for the war-monger Zelensky, who is stupidly and foolishly American-minded, together with all those responsible from the 50 or so states that are supplying money and weapons etc. to Ukraine, thereby creating many thousands of deaths and dragging out the war endlessly. The whole of this war is truly a catastrophe for thousands of human beings, with incalculable consequences for them in the long run. ...

...

When I get to know all around what attitudes contemporaries carry around with them, I have to say that unfortunately there are only a minority of human beings who generally see the evil warfare on Earth as imbecilic, triggered and waged only by power-hungry and unscrupulous elements. And what concerns at present especially the fighting – which was instigated between Russia and the Ukraine by America and is secretly led by it – is the view that the majority of all rulers of almost all countries on Earth is so lowly intelligent and simple-minded that they are not able to perceive that America is scheming behind everything in order to gain world domination. And what is very disturbing is that the mainstream media is silent about the reality and its truth and instead spreads lying and deceitful untruths so that the rinds and the timberwork of the houses crack. And what the real facts are, why the Ukrainian war was actually launched, that is swept under the rug, that the righteous citizens of every country should not find out, while those with low intelligence and simple-minded of the majority of the peoples are misled into cheering and hailing America and praise and exalt all the mad arms suppliers, who have obviously made a fool of Zelensky. The real history of the whole thing and of the war, however, is of no interest to the bulk of the pro-America people, nor to those partisan real idiots in the governments who supply arms and goods to the fanatical warmonger Zelensky.

... When the collapse of the Soviet Union took place, which was at the beginning of the 1990s, there was an attempt to create a correct, true and consistent and just balance of interests, so to speak, between the Western states and Russia. Involved in bringing West and East to a stable form of peace agreement at that time was the US President George Bush senior, as well as the US Secretary of State James Baker, who was the actual leader of the negotiations. In particular, everything was related to Europe, as there was also a great deal of insistence that NATO should not move closer to Russia, and thus that no NATO countries should border Russia. Ministers and diplomats representing France and England played a role in this process and were concerned that NATO should in no process ever extend to Russia's border. This was an important moment in the balancing of interests between the Western states and Russia, which everyone agreed on. Unfortunately, this was then thrown out because George Bush senior was not re-elected as US president and Bill Clinton, who was hostile to Russia, took his place at the helm. Consequently, all hope for peaceful coexistence between the West and Russia had to be abandoned because Clinton and the Democratic Party, to which he belonged, wanted to impose that Russia be held down by America and never again become a state in the sense of a great power. This alone according to the shadow government of America that Clinton and his wife Hillary indoctrinated – who even then was keen on the presidency herself – without them noticing anything. Bill and Hillary Clinton were also strongly opposed to Russia finding military integration into NATO, consequently everything failed and all previous efforts went awry that should have led to peace. So the Democratic Party of America and Bill and Hillary Clinton are the real original culprits that Putin started the war in Ukraine, because their early rejection was the real and true origin of the war that is now raging between Russia and Ukraine. So the Democratic Party of America, but also mainly the Clintons – and now of course Biden, the senile and ineffectual would-be president of America – bear the real blame for the war in Ukraine. The Clintons because they were completely misguided at the time about the fact that Russia was only just beginning to take an interest in the democracy of Western countries, which could have led to a real true peace, had not evil prejudice, hatred and rashness destroyed the whole enterprise of lunatics and power-seekers, which other human beings had previously striven to achieve. The Democratic Party of America and the Clintons and their supporters were and are to blame for torpedoing and frustrating the efforts of those who wanted to ensure that no NATO expansion should take place against the borders of Russia. America's new leadership thus deviated from what others actually wanted in terms of an emerging peace between East and West, hence America's Democrats and the Clintons are really to blame for Putin unleashing war in Ukraine. The Democratic Party of America, the two Clintons and now the senile President Biden and the all indoctrinating shadow government of the USA are directing all forces and the cold shoulder against a real and true peace with Russia in order to keep the upper hand worldwide. ... And the fact that the 'clever' rulers of the countries and the America-friendly majority of their peoples have not thought about what is to come will in time – if everything continues like this – have consequences that no one imagines. If we think of Europe alone, then unfortunately it cannot be ruled out that in this respect serious things are to be feared, which can happen as a consequence of lowly intelligent and simple-minded behaviour with regard to attitudes, arms deliveries and 'tying oneself to America' etc. But this can also happen to all those countries that have not thought about America. However, this can also affect all those countries in particular that participate in the arms deliveries etc. and do not recognise America's hegemonic intrigues, let alone that they have any perspective at all that would let them recognise reality and its truth – also with regard to their own behaviour and lives. What will happen after the war in Ukraine is completely different from what is hoped for, but what will happen in this regard will prove that everything will turn out completely differently from what illusory notions of consequences can dream of. However, silence is to be maintained about this, because the unrealistic-dangerous political machinations will lead to things and reactions that are not foreseen by all those authoritative idiotic-sick and power-greedy government powers of various countries. This is also not the case with those idiots of the various 50 or so countries who are now still supplying weapons, tanks and aircraft etc. to Zelensky and are thus complicit in the deaths of countless human beings. Truly, they are all just as much murderers as the military, who shoot or blow up other military, thus degenerate murderers kill other degenerate murderers, with many civilians and children also being killed. Soldiers are unconscionable murderers, and that is also when they are forced into a war and into killing by governments and other rulers. The truth is that when they kill, they murder because they have not normalised their disposition within themselves and have not made themselves true human beings. Thus, deep in their character lurks cowardly fear, enmity and hatred, consequently they kill and murder equally unthinkingly, as do the military etc. who oppose them and who are called 'enemy opponents'. Mercenaries and legionaries, etc., are of a different nature and are all the more passionate and deliberate murderers, because they kill voluntarily, for the sake of adventure or passion, as well as for the sake of pay resp. money. Moreover, they are vengeful and vindictive, so they take revenge among themselves, openly or underhandedly, and murder when they feel like it, even if they were in the same direction in a matter, etc. Such people are truly vindictive and vindictive. Such human beings, who truly do not deserve this designation and are only murderers, are nevertheless seen and praised by madmen of the people as 'big shots', warriors, avant-gardes, central figures and devil-may-care men, etc., just as they are still hailed as heroes, venerated, possibly worshipped, even as those killed or murdered openly or underhandedly out of revenge, as those killed in war, and a monument is erected to them.

Billy:

For you spoke of corruption, which is practically commonplace in all countries throughout the world. Bermunda and I, for example, also found this in Ukraine, where we were able to see how Zelensky works in a mean manner in this respect, who corruptly rakes money into his sack and therefore only takes 'half-hearted' and fraudulent-foamy and pro forma action against corruption. He himself is deeply involved in corruption and fills his own pockets with vast amounts of money that the lowly intelligent and other so-called 'helpers' of the Western countries throw at him, with Germany being at the forefront in this respect. This proves that stupidity knows no bounds, not even among the neo-Nazis who sit in the German government, as is also the case with some other rulers in other countries who may not be genuine Nazis, but who imitate and align their wrong thinking in the same manner as Nazis, and so also act accordingly. Somehow, it seems to me, these human beings are so lowly intelligent, even hypocritical, that they are simply imitators of those genuine NAZIs who, in their NAZI thinking, unquestioningly support Zelensky and America with arms supplies, money and ammunition, etc. and thereby promote the endless Ukraine-Russia war and the endless murdering, destroying, torturing and raping. Also, all the evil atrocities that Ukraine's military is indulging in are hushed up, while everything concerning the Russians is shouted out vituperatively around the world. For example, Bermunda and I saw that in one village their own Ukrainian human beings were summarily shot as they were picking things out of the rubble. We also saw that Ukrainian soldiers captured and disarmed Russian soldiers, but then shot them a short time later as well. Through Bermunda's efforts, we became aware of many of Zelensky's ploys, including the fact that, as America's lackey, he has secretly become an oligarch, although on the other hand he hypocritically fights other oligarchs when they have something to do with Russia or are simply suspected of doing so, and collects their assets, in order to allegedly finance the reconstruction of the war damages, whereas he – well, every word is too much, even that we found out that Zelensky, with regard to state funds – , oh, I am talking too much, because it is no use anyway, because the believers in America and Zelensky will not let themselves be taught, because for them Russia simply remains the enemy image. The fact that Putin started the war in Ukraine through America's fault was criminal and also despicable, but the fact that this demonises the Russian people through false opinions and anti-Russian propaganda is simply not correct, because the majority of Russian human beings certainly do not want war. However, America, which hegemonically hopes to bring Ukraine and Russia under its world domination control at the same time, will cut its fingers, and sooner or later.

...

Billy:

... However, the fact that America is behind the war in Ukraine in the first place – but covertly and secretly – and that it is arranging everything, is deliberately kept strictly quiet. Namely, it did not fit into America's craving for hegemony that it could not bring its 'NATO' to Ukraine because Russia was against it and vehemently defended itself. Already in the past, contrary to the promise that NATO would not expand against Russia's borders, this promise was broken and finally everything was thrown overboard, consequently country after country was taken over and NATO spread and settled in – of course secretly arranged by America. So, America's NATO desire eventually led to war in Ukraine, which, caught up in hegemony mania, wanted to put its NATO on Russia's doorstep, but Russia resisted until Russia's leadership ran out of patience and Putin, with their consent, unleashed the war in Ukraine. Of course, this was and is a crime, as every war was and is today, as it will also be tomorrow and into the distant future. But if Russia had not started this war in Ukraine, America would have done so in a much worse way, just think of the crimes of the American military and of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in the last world war from 1939 to 1945. Truly the NAZIs did catastrophically bad, inhuman and criminal things, but what America has done in bringing the atomic age into being and developing and using the atomic bomb is far more evil and worse, which will be carried further into the future.

It is now to be said that if many countries had not been incited by America against Russia – especially Germany and the EU dictatorship – to supply weapons etc. to the war-monger Zelensky, then nuclear munitions etc. would have been used immediately by America, which would have caused a worse catastrophe and had world-wide consequences than these which already are. And that is absolutely certain, and actually the world can thank you that it was not America that started the criminal war, but Russia. If America had launched the war, together with its NATO – which is actually directed by America in the background – then many things would simply have been 'Matthaei at the end' and several millions and even billions of human beings would no longer be alive. And – this is also to be said – if it had not been for America and if it had not incited other governments and peoples against Russia, and if mercenaries had not been called upon to intervene in Ukraine, which quickly happened, with even Swiss people going to Ukraine as mercenaries, because Zelensky quickly built on a mercenary force – then the war would have been dead and over in 16 days. But hegemonistic America was not interested in this, because the hegemony mania simply did not allow it. This, however, is not the fault of the righteous Americans, but only affects those human beings in America who go along with the hegemony and agree with what the government and shadow government are doing in this respect.

...

Billy:

... But as America continued to live under Hegemony mania, it sought to finally cut Russia off from the West with a nasty NATO intervention in Ukraine, which Russia's Security Council did not put up with and gave Putin 'free rein'. But the idiotic rulers, mainly of America-friendly Western countries, who let themselves be blinded by America, fell for its trickery, lies and deceit. And in doing so, they are causing such immeasurable damage – without thinking about reality and its truth – that is pre-programming the coming disaster, which can only be prevented if the effective truth is still recognised and acted upon. All the governments and populations of those countries that have been and continue to be taken in by America's machinations resp. its government and shadow government, are doing everything they can to give their underhanded efforts and wishes all the help they can, consequently aiding and abetting strife and secret service murders and wars. And this will continue until it is finally realised that America and its murderous organisation NATO exist in a delusion of hegemony that will stop at nothing and cash in on the whole world if it is not powerfully countered and the world domination airs are not finally ended.

... You {Plejaren} have nothing to do with the foreigners and their UFOs, consequently nothing is to be expected from you regarding interference in earthly affairs or any concerns, nor that you would in any wise endanger security or bring danger. This is the opposite of the Earthlings themselves, because the war in the Ukraine, which Russia started because the Americans pushed everything so far that it went bang, because they want to make a pig out of Russia and take it, proves enough. And how lowly intelligent and simple-minded many rulers and parts of the populations of about 50 countries are, who supply weapons and money etc. to the fanatical warmonger Zelensky, proves on the other hand that the Earthlings themselves are the great danger and that it does not come from you. All this proves that the Earthlings, in their greed for power, stupidity, dimwittedness, as well as in their discord and above all in their inability to develop themselves into true human beings, are waging wars and enmities and are still biased in this respect. There has been enough proof of this for thousands of years, for war has been going on on Earth in this wise since time immemorial. And that it is the same with the war in Ukraine, that is undoubtedly, and that it is not recognised by the stupid ones as well as the governments involved in it and also the howling parts of the population that Zelensky, who is begging for weapons etc. all over the world, is just as much a NAZI as Hitler was, only that Zelensky acts in a perfidious, underhanded, greasy and other wise, that the stupid and stupid ones of his supporters do not see and recognise, however. As elsewhere, they also do not see that Zelensky has his own plans for world domination, which he strives for much more perfidiously than hegemonic America does. This is despite the fact that he is a puppet of America and will be dropped or murdered when he is no longer needed and has done his duty, but before that he will be abused as a Jew by America without noticing it in his lowly intelligent and simple-mindedness and ultimately spreading Jew-hatred worldwide once again. But he can still win over many lowly intelligent and simple-minded people around the world who are believers in his art of persuasion. It will ...

Excuse me, but it is to be said that it is not recognised that, as Bermunda and I have noted, Zelensky is running a NAZI-style NAZI regency in Kiev, with those indoctrinated by Zelensky being of the same mind as him and thus having NAZI-like views. Furthermore, we have also clearly established that like-minded NAZI elements of the Ukrainian leaders have connections with various leaders and parts of the population of the arms supplying states, and I would like to mention in particular those in Germany. This is a fact which is not recognised due to the lack of recognition of the partisan responsible state leaders and that part of the population which is unthinking and falsely well-meaning towards America and Zelensky. All of them, due to their all-embracing and thinking limitations, can also not see and recognise what Zelensky actually wants, namely that he is striving for the domination of Earth, which he wants to achieve with the help of America working in the background, whose state leaders and parts of the population are also so ignorant that they do not recognise this. ...

Billy:

Oops, all this raises something new to think about, but the rulers of Germany and 50 other countries are probably incapable of doing so, as they were from the very beginning when the war was started, which would have ended after only about 14 days if it had not been for the idiots who supplied weapons etc. from the start – and continue to do so. The war, however, has been raging for a long time now, and on both of the warring sides it is constantly claiming many dead, which, however, the arms suppliers and Zelensky supporters and Russia haters do not care about at all, because they are far away from the gun that they – for the time being – are not hit by a bullet. However, all those who are really the idiots of the world cannot understand that the war is continuing, for which actually only America with its NATO murder organisation is to blame, as well as those who supply the weapons etc. to Ukraine resp. to Zelensky, as well as the other Zelensky supporters. They also do not know that foreign military forces have been secretly fighting in Ukraine against the Russians for a long time, but this will become official in the near future ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_866

Billy:

... But I want to say something that I told you recently, because I mentioned that Zelensky, as a Jew, is inciting the whole world and the enemies of the Jews against the believers in the Jews and therefore against all of Judaism, just as the Nazis did and persecuted and murdered the Jews, just as happened in the last world war. But as it has been for hundreds of years, namely that Judaism and with it the Jewish believers are persecuted, harassed and even murdered, it will continue with the help of today's neo-NAZI thinkers who think just like the NAZIs back then. But they are so stupid and lowly intelligent that they do not realise that they neither realise nor understand that they are NAZI-like thinkers and doers and that with their stupid attitude, their lack of understanding, their support and the supply of weapons etc. to the warmonger Zelensky, they are promoting unparalleled hatred of the Jews. This is because Zelensky, being of Jewish origin, is successful with his arms begging etc. and his successes in this respect with about 50 countries and their idiotic governments and parts of their populations. This, of course, is very badly and hatefully received by the Jew-hating elements around the world, who will roar furiously and more than ever against Jewry. The great complicity in all that is happening in Ukraine and in the hatred and evil still to come concerning Jew-hatred is thus shared by all those idiots of rulers and all supporters from the populations concerned who biasedly supply and endorse weapons to the war fanatic and warmonger Zelensky, whereby the war and the massacres, rapes, prisoner shootings and other war crimes etc. can continue unchecked. The ultimate consequence of this, and this is absolutely certain, will be that politico-religious criminal organisations – such as Al-Qaeda and others – will interfere, which is already happening secretly, but which will become public.

What is to be revealed, however, is that in the forefront is undoubtedly the government of Germany with America in the background and that part of the idiotic supporters from the people who can think as little as those parts of those in power who are neo-Nazis in their mindset – without actually being aware of it – as is also the case in other countries. And the fact that the cross-headed Foreign Minister of Germany is pouring petrol on the fire around the world by distorting the effective truth and making propaganda for Zelensky is just the last straw.

In the war in Ukraine, of course, there can be no talk of one side alone, because firstly America is to blame for the whole thing, because if it had not been for its idiotic and criminal desire, Russia would never have attacked Ukraine. So Russia is also involved in the crime of the Ukrainian war, like the idiotic and murderous mercenaries who are doing their mischief in Ukraine, whereby America is also involved in this. This is an effective fact, which is, however, concealed from the outside world, also from the ruling and cheering populations of the 50 or so countries, who are biased, lowly intelligent and ignorant about what is actually going on in Ukraine. That with everything that these 50 or so countries – with Germany and America in the lead – are doing together, without even suspecting in their low intelligence that America is only surreptitiously pushing its hegemony plans further towards realisation with the Ukraine war, this clearly reveals the stupidity of the arms suppliers and their supporters. And since a strange world war is actually being waged in a sneaky way – precisely because around 50 countries are supplying weapons to Zelensky through America's insidiousness – this war may yet become open, because the continuation in the Middle East is already beginning for this, in which America will interfere, as well as religious-political murderer organisations, such as Al-Qaida, as I have already said. However, all those idiots who supply weapons to Zelensky or support this are obviously not aware of this, but also unconsciously and lowly intelligent support America's striving for hegemony and even actively help to achieve this goal. ...

... And it is to be said that, with regard to the Ukraine and the Middle East, America is the bastard who, as a result of its hegemony mania, is leading the wickedness of the war debacle in the background and is profiting by being able to annex more and more states, as it already has 1/4 of all countries in the world under its world domination control. Well, that part of the stupid and dumb ones of the governments and peoples of about 50 countries have not noticed that yet, consequently they disregard mediation, take sides and follow all the mean and deceitful hegemonic machinations of America. This, of course, must exclude – mind you – those of the American people who absolutely disagree with what the hegemony enthusiasts are striving for.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_868

Quetzal:

... What I want to say now, however, is that what you recently mentioned regarding the fact that Zelensky himself is a Jew-believer and, through America's infamous and insidious world domination mania, has deceived many states through vile lies and deceptions, which have been induced to supply weapons to Zelensky, has now materialised as you predicted. Namely that a new activity of Jew-hatred is flourishing worldwide. On the one hand, this has begun with the fact that – always with America's controlled intrigue for the purpose of realising its hegemony mania in the background – since the beginning of the protracted Ukraine war, around 50 American-affiliated states have been supplying Zelensky with weapons etc. and thus waging a new kind of world war. How lowly intelligent the leaders of all these states are, who are quite obviously completely incapable of governance and who do not recognise America's unbelievable world domination intrigue, is effectively beyond comprehension. Ahead of all these states – creeping in the background in America with its hegemonic delusion – is criminal Germany, which is being represented by those who effectively live out their Nazi mentality and, as you say, pour petrol on the blazing fire. Now that there is also war in the Middle East between Israel and Hamas, this is the means by which the hatred of Jews – which America provoked with Zelensky and above all Germany – is already in full swing worldwide. And America and America-loyal Germany are mainly to blame for this, as is also Zelensky, who is begging all around for weapons supplied by states that believe in America, so that the war can continue unabated and cause countless deaths, destruction, misery and hardship. The fact that rape and atrocities occur en masse, on both sides of the warring parties, in which mercenaries from America, Switzerland and various other countries are also active, is deliberately concealed, just as only Ukraine is sided with and reported about its war actions, but nothing or very little is reported about the other side, i.e. Russia.

...

Billy:

... But it is not only in Germany that there are such treacherous elements, because in all countries that supply weapons to Zelensky or otherwise intervene in the dealings of the warring parties, the rulers are also no better. Unfortunately, this is also the case in Switzerland, where, making a mockery of neutrality, sanctions have been adopted by the EU dictatorship and applied against Russia, just as the NATO murderous organisation has recently also been given the right to at least have an office in Geneva. ...

Billy:

But now the time has come, as I predicted back in 1949 and mentioned again around two years ago, when Zelensky, as a Jew-believer, began begging for weapons around the world – and around 50 countries have fallen for it to date – whereby America, with its hegemonic mania, and Germany have done everything they could to make it happen – consequently he is still being supplied with what he wants today and can thus drag out the Ukraine war even longer and longer – what I predicted back in 1949 is now happening. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_871

Quetzal:

... In addition, the atrocities are only reported one-sidedly, while the other party is protected, as is also the case in Ukraine. And that even their own soldiers are shot by their comrades when they no longer want to fight or change fronts, as you have already observed with Bermunda, how in Ukraine human beings were also shot on the spot while searching for things in the rubble. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_874

Ptaah:

... I was given the task of observing the war events in Ukraine and the Middle East together with Quetzal. Quetzal was instructed by me to keep quiet about it, which is why he did not inform you. So, as I say repeatedly, it was my duty, together with Quetzal, to record the evil events of the war in Ukraine and the Middle East. What I personally have to comment on is that everything is happening in the same manner as I have observed in other similar events here in this world. Therefore, if I have to judge the war leader in Ukraine, my realisation is that this man

...

Billy:

... Zelensky is the guy's name.

Ptaah:

Yes, I am aware of that. – He is ...

Billy:

... a stooge of world domination-addicted America, whose tool is also their murderous organisation NATO.

Ptaah:

This is all knowingly familiar to me.

Billy:

Good, and excuse me for interrupting you in explaining, but I thought we should name names. Besides ...

Ptaah:

... you were correct about that, also about this Zelensky being a tool of hegemonic America. But he is also a cunning actor who, through well thought-out lies, is able to win over many leaders of foreign states, who support him with arms supplies, ammunition and also financially with regard to warfare, whereby America is the real, how do you say ...

Billy:

... mastermind. But with regard to the begging for arms deliveries to Zelensky, for which he is travelling around the world and has so far cheated around 50 countries resp. their rulers, so that weapons, ammunition and money are slipped to him so that he can fulfil his lust for war and America's insidious incitement and hegemonic mania can be pursued further, nobody knows yet that Russia is also secretly being supplied with war material from abroad and is using it in the war against Ukraine. But when this becomes known, which will be soon, so that I do not reveal something I should not, then I can talk about it. But when it becomes known that Russia is also buying war material from abroad and using it against Ukraine, it will make those who supply weapons etc. to Zelensky furious. It will be seen completely differently and handled differently in a biased manner, according to the illogical and unjust Earthling principle of "if two people do the same thing, then it is not the same thing". So Russia will be cursed and condemned for obtaining war material from abroad and using it in the war against Ukraine, while Ukraine, on the other hand, will be praised and also supplied with begged weapons, ammunition and money from abroad and will wage the war that came about through America's fault and which it keeps going through its insidiousness. So, however, the same and the same will be measured with double standards and so one will be favoured as good, but the other will be condemned as bad.

Ptaah:

This will be so in complete illogic and partiality when this becomes public knowledge, which will only be for a short time by then. But it will reveal the partisanship of those who ...

Billy:

... can neither think logically, nor have understanding and reason. But there is something else, namely, as I was told, that Zelensky is supposed to divert a lot of the money donated for the war and the Ukrainian population to his own private use and thus enrich himself. According to a reliable source – I do not know whether everything corresponds to the correctness, so I am only telling you what I have been told and I do not know what is really behind it – he bought a private yacht for several million dollars from donated war money and aid money for the population. That something is not quite 'busper' with him in this wise, that may be, but to what extent, I do not know and therefore also do not want anything ...

Ptaah:

... that would also not be correct. But the fact is, and I do not want to conceal this from you, that this Zelensky – as you say in each case – is a 'sophisticated' liar, cheat, thief and warmonger who, as you have been told, is financially benefiting from donations, but I cannot say anything more about this because I have absolutely no personal knowledge of it.

Billy:

I was also told that in connection with the story etc., that he is said to have bought a yacht worth millions. But I cannot say anything more about that because I only know what I was told. As a result, I cannot vouch for whether it is true or false, but only for "I do not know".

Ptaah:

That is also correct. But what I want to explain is that nothing is excusable about the war in Ukraine, and also that all parties involved are equally culpable for the war. It is not the people, but their leaders, for whom the people have to wage war. In Ukraine, the origin of the war is to be found in the leadership of America, which is the first cause of the war, namely in connection with NATO.

...

Ptaah:

... for my part I want to say something about what our peoples of Erra and our Federation find, namely that state leaders and peoples of other states are interfering in the war in Ukraine and even supplying weapons, ammunition and finances to help this state in a partisan manner, while on the one hand Russia is cursed and condemned in this regard, as on the other hand the war continues longer and longer and more and more uncontrollably due to this thoughtless action.

...

Billy:

... Rebels are also destroying many human achievements because the neo-Nazi like rulers are biased and, for example, public press coverage of the wars in Ukraine and the Middle East is always one-sided. Here, for example, this letter shows that such rebellious people are complaining that the government and the press – which is probably not only the case in Germany – only ever report on Ukraine and Israel and that they are practically portrayed as disadvantaged, aggrieved and innocent, while what is happening on the side of the Russians and in the Gaza Strip with the Palestinians and Hamas is simply hushed up or condemned. This is despite the fact that both sides carry out dirty deeds, commit war crimes, organise massacres, torture prisoners and then shoot them, rape children and women and then shoot them, as I have seen for myself together with Bermunda. Effectively, only what is done by the other side, by the Russians and Hamas and the Palestinians in terms of war, is commented on, depicted and witnessed. But what the Ukrainian military is doing against Russia and is guilty of evil, how the Israeli military is also raging in the Gaza Strip and committing war crimes, and how Zelensky and Netanyahu are inciting this, all of this is concealed. And as you also said, Zelensky is also taking action against the civilian population in Russia and Netanyahu is taking action against Hezbollah in Lebanon and therefore also against the civilian population, because they are inevitably affected. In other words, there is practically only partisan anti-propaganda against those who are not liked and who do not fit into the partisan concept, so they are simply made to look bad and whose mutual and hostile sides are not a hair or an iota better than those who are cheered and everything is made right for them to stay on top.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_875

Billy:

... Zelensky, who as a Jew goes begging in all kinds of countries worldwide for weapons, ammunition, other war material and money, which the governments of various countries actually give him, as usual without the consent of the people concerned, because they are not asked at all.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_877

Billy:

... And America, whose Republican Party wants to withdraw from donating money, weapons and ammunition to Zelensky resp. Ukraine, as Quetzal said recently, who observes and registers everything in the American government very closely, will be harassed by the fallible part of the German government. The Federal Chancellor himself will then be the one to go begging in the USA and make 'good weather' for further donations to Zelensky. Through him, resp. via him, the German government is to harass America in such a manner as to continue buttering up weapons, ammunition and money for Zelensky – while also enriching itself, as Quetzal said. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_879

Ptaah:

... We have also observed this over the last few weeks, but the murders and war crimes committed by the Ukrainian military and mercenaries are being concealed from the world public and only the actions and behaviour of the Russian side are being denounced. This is only because there is a global anti-Russian propaganda campaign, but America and Ukraine are praised and many states are deceived, which are involved in the Ukrainian war as a result of Zelensky's lies and begging, as well as America's lies and global deception.

Billy:

This is unfortunately so, which ..., which unfortunately will be unavoidable, which the proverbial low intelligence of those Earthlings who are friends of America and friendly to Zelensky and believed their lying and beguiling and thus ...

Ptaah:

Which unfortunately will not be able to be helped.

...

Billy:

... and I realised last year that a large part of the population in Ukraine is on Russia's side and not Zelensky's, so this part would love him to disappear. Just as they do not want America in their country and do not think much of the murderous organisation NATO, which is why they are also opposed to membership of NATO and want the war to prevent it. This is actually also the purpose of the war, because at least those who think clearly on this matter, namely the human beings living in Ukraine, who recognise what NATO really is, namely nothing other than a murderous organisation focused on killing and destruction, mainly at America's mercy, do not want Ukraine to also belong to this murderous society. ...

Ptaah:

... Bermunda, Florena, Quetzal, Enjana and I were tasked with observing and assessing the events of war on Earth, which meant that we were also able to observe the flight events and realised that many refugees from Ukraine chose Russia as a place of refuge and many continue to consider this. However, we were also able to find out and indeed establish that Russia is endeavouring to protect many pro-Russian human beings in Ukraine in a variety of wise ways, which is very difficult, especially now during the war, but on the other hand causes opposition among those who are hostile to Russia. ...

...

Ptaah:

... And in addition to the grouping of secret and covert neo-NAZIs in the leadership of Germany and France with regard to President Emmanuel Macron, who is incapable of reason and logic, all of whom, in their unintelligent senses and desires, are thoughtlessly taking sides with Zelensky, they are once again insidiously and subtly engaged in infiltrating their own military into Ukraine in order to participate in the war in such a foreign-intervening, murderous and destructive manner in order to politically destroy Russia as a state. But that will ... have the consequence if this delusional idea is realised after all and reason does not finally break through and the 'helpfulness' for Ukraine that has been politically fomented by America is ended and the 'helpful' as well as hypocritical and 'helping' state leaders recognise the truth and put an end to their false actions. The strange world war that has been going on for the last two years, waged by completely unreasonable state leaders and their parts of the populations who are in favour of the wrong actions of their state leaders, do not know and also cannot imagine that a truly global war is imminent that will be as vicious, terribly destructive and devastating as never before in living memory. This will be the case if the large number of unscrupulous, hateful and also partisan rulers of around 50 states – as well as the like-minded parts of their populations – continue to supply weapons, money etc. and also promises to Zelensky and he – who is truly acting on behalf of and protecting America – can wage his war, which will also incite Russia and above all Putin to do his worst. The fact that unscrupulous mercenaries are also taking part in the whole thing, costing many human lives and causing unparalleled destruction, will only be a minor matter and will be forgotten. In this regard, we have learnt that mercenaries from Switzerland are also engaged in murderous activities, which is also known to the Russian secret service, which is trying to get hold of them in order to punish them, which will probably be nothing other than an execution. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_880

Billy:

... due to America's guilt and delusions of hegemony, a long-standing war has broken out in Ukraine, which was started by Russia, but provoked by America and its desire to incorporate Ukraine into NATO. The fact that for some time now around 50 countries have been intervening through their completely irresponsible governments and equally irresponsible sections of their populations, supplying weapons, ammunition and money to Ukraine resp. to the warmonger and war fanatic Zelensky, is a threat of impending and very evil doom hovering over the whole world. The idiot leadership of the NATO murderous organisation, which is directed by America in one way or another, is secretly allowing military personnel to work in Ukraine, as certain countries are also doing – but this is concealed from the public – who support Zelensky, the warmonger and war monger, and, as a result of his begging, are supplying him with weapons, ammunition and money, thereby leading to a strange world war, a real world war in which nuclear weapons may be used. ...

And this is what happens when idiots – such as the absolutely irresponsible and incompetent French President Macron – stupidly supply weapons and ammunition to Zelensky, just as he demands this from the governments of other countries and idiotically continues to encourage them to do so, just as he also makes a morbidly stupid claim that he wants France's military to intervene openly in the war in Ukraine, just as he also demands that other countries should get involved in the war in Ukraine with their military. And if that really happens, then it is not far off that a real world war will inevitably be triggered and the use of nuclear weapons will be the result. So crazy is the bogus thinking of those Earthlings who present themselves as power-hungry rulers, but they are not only very stupid, lowly intelligent, simple-minded and truly idiotic, but completely irresponsible and ignore and harass those who are in government as righteous, responsible and not like-minded people and want peace, consequently they can do nothing at all to ensure that everything will be good all round and that the people can live in well-protected security.

Ptaah:

Unfortunately, I can only confirm this.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_881

Billy:

... And it also proves how the whole of anti-Semitism is built on completely insane and idiotically sick and stupid lies and deceptions as well as falsifications and is now being fuelled again because of Zelensky and Netanyahu – of course under the devious leadership of hegemonist America – and the hypocritical part of the insane and lying neo-NAZIs in the German government. The righteous of this German government, who want to lead the country and its people correctly in honour and dignity, can do nothing about this, because the neo-NAZIs give them no chance to do so, which is why Jew-hatred is again spreading more and more and is being practised primitively. And the fact that these neo-NAZIs alone are being cheered to the skies with their anti-Russian policies by some of their listeners among the people is not just knocking the bottom out of one barrel, but of all barrels. This also whitewashes the war crimes of the Ukrainian army and its mercenaries and other foreign Western military forces – which are secretly involved in Ukraine, which is of course concealed – while Russia alone is accused of being the evil war criminal military. And the fact that around 50 countries and parts of their populations are being misled into supplying weapons, ammunition and money to Zelensky – who is enriching himself from this – and are blind to the truth about what is really going on, is causing a world war of the kind that has never been realised before. However, this now threatens to spread even further and become an effective world war – which is what America is striving for in its hegemony mania – with the threat of nuclear war looming in the skies of destiny. This is because the war-mongering, megalomaniac and power-hungry Zelensky is thoughtlessly supplying weapons, ammunition and money etc. to the war fanatic at his begging – of course with the devious support and propaganda of the greedy and world-domination-addicted America, which under the senile President Biden wants to keep Russia down by all nasty means. And the irresponsible arms and ammunition suppliers do not think about the fact that this could lead to a nasty nuclear war and that the murder and destruction in Ukraine will continue unabated. However, the suppliers and supporters of weapons, ammunition and money do not care, because they are not the ones suffering and do not have to take the fall, at least not until there is such a worldwide bang that they are affected. But it is still the case that lies and fraudulent claims are being spread in order to keep the senseless war going. This not only costs more and more human lives, causes destruction en masse and brings unspeakable suffering, but also creates much and more enmity through lies and deception, not only against Russia, but among humanity itself, creating more and more discord among them. This is also because sensible sections of the population are now slowly realising what is really being played out in Ukraine and that America really has its dirty fingers of world domination madness in the game, but also that the hidden and lice-ridden neo-NAZIs in the German government are also playing a false game and secretly working to promote anti-Semitism, while superficially playing and displaying friendliness towards Jews. In return, they also denigrate those who want to do the right thing and honestly mean what they say in order to truly create peace and resolve the unjustified hostility towards Jews that is based on old-fashioned and rather lousy lies. This neo-NAZI pack is a herd of evil degenerate and misleading predatory elements who pretend to be pro-Jewish, but in reality run around in sheep's clothing, biting bloody and lacerating and revealing their predatory nature when the right opportunity presents itself.

And if we now look at the Ukraine war as a whole, then this leads me to say – as I know from Quetzal's source, who has fathomed the reason for the Palestinian attack – that the time of war arose in Israel and Palestine because the hatred of the Jews flared up anew as an imitation process and began to take effect. This is because, as a result of Zelensky's worldwide begging, many insane rulers of various countries and considerable parts of their populations took sides with Ukraine, which is 'led' by the Jew and war fanatic Zelensky. And everything is now happening as I already said at the beginning of the Ukraine war, precisely because Zelensky is known to the Palestinians as a Jew-believer and the rulers of various countries are helping him with weapons, ammunition and money etc. with the agreement of like-minded sections of the population and are playing 'good friend', although various of those 'helping' are anti-Jewish, but are hiding this in a playful way and hoping that the low intelligence of many others will not recognise this, but that they will make quite a big profit of some kind as a result.

...

Billy:

... As for the further question regarding the fact that states – there are about 50 of them, whose rulers are completely irresponsible and partly corrupt and are thoughtlessly working towards a real world war breaking out after all and expanding the strange one that now prevails – are supplying Ukraine resp. I would like to answer the question of who is supplying weapons, ammunition and money to Zelensky in this way: as a matter of principle, I do not engage in politics and also refrain from expressing any opinion in this regard, but I constantly endeavour only to state the facts and events from a clear and neutral point of view, without making any judgements. Thus I see that the rulers – and those parts of their supporters – with their actions of supplying weapons, ammunition and money etc. to Zelensky – who according to my and also your Plejaren knowledge is a warmonger and war fanatic who is undoubtedly in the service of America – are for the first time in world history waging a world war such as has never been seen before. And as this will also continue in the future, the whole thing threatens to degenerate into an open world war, which will no longer be limited to Ukraine, but threatens to spread to other countries. In the worst case scenario, this could also involve the use of nuclear weapons, as this scenario is already looming on the horizon.

The idiots of the government bosses, as they are called by Mrs ..., whom I would like to divide into the righteous and the unrighteous, are the unrighteous in their low intelligence, those who do everything they can to support this strange world war in the interests of America's hegemonic mania, which they cannot grasp in their boundless stupidity and simple-mindedness as well as in their rampant irresponsibility. ...

4. This continent {America} was also inhabited by humans of extraterrestrial origin - from spacefarers and their descendents - around 2,500,000 years ago, by your time reckoning.
5. But, as usual on this world, they got in each others' hair and annihilated themselves.
6. They invented atom bombs and exploded them in a blitzkrieg.

...

12. Those who wish to see hard evidence can find it at any time and view it and think about it.
13. There are sites of former cities which stood there many, many thousands of years ago and have been melted by atomic hells into glass-like masses.
14. The best preserved testimonies have become curiosities in your time because the Earth human does not know their genesis.
15. But very well known in this regard are names like "Death Valley", which, however, also still has a relationship to other events in the present day.
16. The "Valley of Fire" near the city of Las Vegas is another witness to the past and the timeless, atomic insanity of humans who populated the Earth again and again.

Valley of the Golden Mummies

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Valley_of_the_Golden_Mummies https://www.guardians.net/hawass/Valley_of_the_Golden_Mummies.htm

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_221

{Note: This information was given on 30 December 1987, more than 8 years before the accidental discovery of the tomb in late-February/early-March 1996.}

Billy:

Good, then I would like to ask you something in reference to Egyptian mummy tombs. It is always maintained that the clairvoyant Cayce, or whatever his name is, is to have said that underground cities and large mummy tombs, etc. are still buried in Egypt. What is to be made of this?

Quetzal:

74. Such cities and tombs actually exist, but they have not been found up to the current time.
75. For example, one of the largest mummy tombs, which comes from the 1st and 2nd century A.D., is located in the Egyptian place of Bahariya.
76. In this tomb, about 10,000 mummies are buried, together with a lot of gold.

Billy:

And, have the archaeologists not found anything there yet, or are the graves already robbed?

Quetzal:

77. So far, the earthly archaeologists still have no notion or even knowledge of this large tomb.

Billy:

However, the giant tomb will certainly be found one day, right?

Quetzal:

78. I have no information about that.

Billy:

Then in relation to this, have you made no looks into the future or probability calculations or even journeys into the future or otherwise made any clarifications that could give enlightenment in this respect?

Quetzal:

79. No, until now, it was not of importance for us.

Billy:

Well, then just not. It also is not so important.

Vincent van Gogh death

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Vincent_van_Gogh#Death

Billy:

Then a question about the Dutch painter Vincent van Gogh. He was a maniac and plagued by depression. He is said to have killed himself, was reported earlier, but today this is denied by forensicists who say that everything indicates that he was murdered. According to testimonies, Van Gogh dragged himself back to his accommodation, seriously injured, where he was questioned by the police, including whether he had sustained the gunshot wound himself, to which he is said to have replied: "I think so". That does not seem to me to indicate that he did it consciously, because he might have been in some kind of delirium and didn't know how he got shot. Anyway, I don't think it sounds like murder or suicide to my ears. Something just can't be right about the whole thing. ...

...

Ptaah:

29. Everything is based on empty and false assumptions, which are very unfortunate.

30. The fact is that van Gogh neither committed suicide nor was he murdered because the incident was the result of an unfortunate accident.

31. My father Sfath clarified the matter at the time and found that Vincent van Gogh suffered not only from the onset of insanity, but also from a strong persecution mania, which was the reason why he obtained a weapon and always carried it with him in a hidden way.

32. On the 27th of July 1890, when he went out to the surroundings of the village in which he had found shelter, he set up his easel, to which he had attached a small self-made tray, and placed his weapon on it so that it could be quickly at hand should someone attack him.

33. What then happened was that the gun had a misfire and the bullet hit van Gogh as he stepped carelessly in front of the barrel of the gun, explicitly at the moment the misfire occurred.

34. So he did not want to kill himself, but the whole thing resulted from an unfortunate coincidence based on carelessness.

Billy:

That probably explains his answer, "I think so," when he was questioned by the police. The handguns at that time weren't foolproof yet, so it's easy to imagine that van Gogh's gun suddenly had a misfire or self-ignition and the shot went off, which hit him, which he died of almost 30 hours later.

Venus

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Venus>

see also The Destroyer (comet)

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_005

Semjase:

39. The Flood 10,079 years ago (related to the year 1975) was caused by a gigantic comet, which has already caused a lot of damage and has been traversing the universe since time immemorial.

40. We call it the "Destroyer", and we know that it has already been racing through outer space for millions of years.

...

46. The last major catastrophe that emanated from this comet was about 3,500 years ago, as I have already mentioned.

47. To be precise, it was 3,453 years ago according to your calculation of time.

48. Due to this comet, an event took place, which is very rare in the universe, namely a planetary transplantation:

49. By the monstrous Gewalt of this giant comet, a planet, just developing life in a very distant planet system of the SOL system, was flung out of its orbit and driven out into the outer space, in a trajectory parallel to that of the destructive giant comet.

50. For more than 130 years this planet then trailed far behind the giant and deviated only infinitely slowly from its path.

51. Then, 3,453 years ago, the Destroyer penetrated the terrestrial solar system and brought the planetary orbits into disorder by its gigantic forces.

60. The comet, however, shot through the terrestrial solar system and raced around the Sun again off into the outer space to return in 575 ½ years.

61. But the slower following planet, carried along in its wake, which was about the same size as the Earth, shot past the Earth at a distance of about 600,000 kilometres and was captured by the attraction force of the Sun.

62. By its tremendous power, it forced the new planet into an orbit between its closest satellites, namely between Mercury and the Earth.

63. And since then, this "transplanted" and "immigrated" planet has been known to the Earth-humans, and s/he calls it "Venus."

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_029

Semjase:

74. Millions of years ago a giant dark star in another space-time configuration destroyed half a planetary system in many light-years distance from the earthly system.

75. After the destruction of that distant system, the wanderer rushed out into the vastness of space, entered the space-time structure of the Milky Way of the DERN universe, and set course for Earth.

76. By large and small planets and by the Sun it was forced into a new course, which consequently had to bring it again and again into the SOL system.

77. Known as the Destroyer, it stubbornly followed its new course and over the course of millions of years created a firm path for itself.

78. But this orbit often led the Destroyer uncontrollably to planetary systems or other wandering stars or comets, which were pushed off course by its gigantic size or attracted by its attraction and destroyed or abducted.

79. This also happened only a few thousand years ago when this gigantic Destroyer tore an object into its tow and brought it many millions of kilometres outside of the Earth's range, to the earthly planetary system.

80. The destroyer itself passed very far out of Earth's range, while the object in tow, however, came dangerously close to Earth and caused devastating disasters.

81. The whole solar system got into disorder at that time, and all planets were pushed into new orbits.

82. But the harmony destroying object was forced into an orbit between Earth and Mercury by the gravity of the large planets and the Sun and was unable to leave the system.

83. And as the brightest planet of the SOL-system, the dragged object orbits the Sun since then and is called Venus by the Earth-humans.

84. This event, when Venus was introduced into the terrestrial solar system, took place thousands of years ago.

85. Due to the events of that time, the planet was steered into a very quiet orbit, thus it has one of the least eccentric orbits.
86. This is the actual consequence of the very close flyby of the Earth at that time, which also influenced the rotation time of the planet Venus.
87. Due to the gravity of the Earth, the invading Venus was torn around and began to rotate retrograde.
88. And as a consequence of the very short transit time through earthly gravity, the rotation of the intruding planet [the future planet Venus] could not increase again, so that it attained only an extremely slow rotation time and thus has the slowest rotation time of the whole solar system.
89. Thus a day on Venus lasts 117 earthly days, whereby the rotation time around the 3 degree inclined axis of the poles amounts to 243 Earth days.
90. The Earth's gravity robbed Venus of its own rotational energy during its passage thousands of years ago, and a very large frictional heat was generated. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_061

Semjase:

37. For about 1,000 years the Earth was spared from major catastrophes, until the year 6906 [before 1976], when the Destroyer once again caused enormous devastation on the Earth and destroyed many things.
38. After that, the Earth ball became very quiet and it took until the year 3453 before another catastrophe broke out, which was again the fault of the giant comet Destroyer, which drove Venus into its present orbit and triggered the Santorini catastrophe with its massive pulling forces.
- ...
55. Venus was torn out of Uranus' system by the gravitational-pull effect of the Destroyer and by various other factors and drifted on the Destroyer's trajectory, in its wake, so to speak, apart from the fact that the comet giant was much faster and left its appendage far behind.
56. When Venus was torn out of the system of Uranus, it was very slow in its initial speed.
57. This happened about 8,590 years ago from the present time, i.e. during a Destroyer passage through the SOL system, before it had reached the constant of 575.5 years again.
58. In this run, the orbit of the comet was 632 years, 57 years above the constant of 575.5 years, which is so puzzling to us.
59. Venus moved on an extremely slow elliptical orbit away from its original system and made a dangerous orbit between the other planetary systems, and thus also around the central sun and the system sun.
60. This orbit paused Venus until 7,957 years ago, thus over 632 years [cycle duration], when the Destroyer came again and changed its orbit again and brought it on course towards Earth, while the giant itself came into dangerous proximity to the Earth and caused violent destruction and flooding.
61. This was the second deluge of the last 12,000 years caused by the Destroyer.
62. Through these events, the Destroyer once again changed its orbiting time and went through the SOL system on the next run, without causing any damage, passing very far away from the Earth.
63. Already at the next passage, however, it had the constant of 575.5 years again, namely 6,906 years ago, and again Venus got into its orbit and changed its course again, but now so much that it got into orbit near the Earth and around the central star.
64. It stayed there until 4,058 years ago, when it was affected in its orbit again during the next passage of the Giant comet.
65. At that time, the Destroyer had an orbital period of 605 years.
66. Torn from its previous course, Venus now took a course that slowly but surely had to lead directly to Earth, which actually happened.

67. Exactly 3583 years ago, Venus had reached a very slow orbit, which would have led to Earth even without another appearance of the Destroyer.

68. But then, 3453 years ago, the Destroyer, which had regained the 575.5-year constant, came back, shot past the planet that was constantly thrown out of orbit at a distance of a few hundred thousand kilometres and finally tore it into its orbit, which Venus now inevitably and finally had to bring to Earth.

69. After a short time, the Destroyer shot past the Earth, in its wake Venus, which came very close to the Earth and caused the Santorini catastrophe.

...

Billy:

That is more than grandiose, but now tell me, since when has Venus been in its current orbit?

Semjase:

78. That is included in my explanation:

79. After passing near the Earth, it was channelled into its present orbit.

Billy:

Oh, yes, of course. One thing is not yet clear to me about the whole thing: You have now talked about planetary systems on several occasions, but I have noticed that in our SOL system you talk about several planetary systems, for example a planetary system of Uranus. On the one hand, this is a question that I wanted to ask you anyway, but on the other hand it is also a question in response to your recent remarks on the subject, because I do not fully understand all that. We are here in the SOL system, and we do not have any planetary systems other than our individual planets here.

Semjase:

80. You see things from the wrong perspective:

81. A planetary system is described as such when a large planet has smaller planets gathered and orbiting around it.

82. The SOL system, however, is called this because SOL is the central sun and thus forms a whole system with all connected planetary systems.

83. You can see from this that any major planet with a minor planet orbiting this planet is called a planetary system with the minimum number of one, which is called a planetary system by us, while a central sun has at least one such planetary system orbiting it.

84. Such a central sun usually has a certain name for all human life forms, like your central sun is called SOL for example, while you also name the planetary systems like Jupiter or Mars, etc.

85. But SOL means that this is a central sun, a sun that has gathered several smaller planetary systems around it.

86. All other planets or large planets belonging to this central sun are called planetary systems if they have at least one smaller planet of their own orbiting them, because for the smaller planets the large planet holding them is the mother system.

87. So their sun is the shining one, the shining one and the mothering one.

Billy:

Man, oh, man, now I have made a mess. You know, you should have told me that before, because those things led to misunderstandings. According to your explanation, Jupiter and Saturn, for example, are planetary systems, right? And the planets of the planetary systems are probably the moons, right?

Semjase:

88. Sure, that is so.

Billy:

Man, oh, man, that is what is causing trouble. We do not call these planetary systems, but simply planets. A system according to us is a sun, a SOL, which has different planets of different or uniform size, regardless of whether they still have their own satellites.

Semjase:

89. This is very illogical, but according to your values, you may go along with it.

...

Billy:

... But again a question concerning the planetary systems that the Destroyer hastens through: What do they mean? Are they somehow planetary systems of other fixed stars?

Semjase:

97. No, not at all.

98. When I speak of distant planetary systems in connection with the comet, I mean the distant systems of the SOL system, because other fixed stars outside the SOL system cannot be reached by the Destroyer in its orbit because they are much too far away.

Billy:

So you really mean only our planetary systems like Uranus, Neptune, Jupiter and Saturn, etc.?

Semjase:

99. Certainly, I am not talking about any other systems than these, according to your terms, planetary systems of the SOL system, if you understand it better that way.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_130

Semjase:

130. It simply concerns that on the planet Venus, a peculiar process began about four years ago, completely transforming the entire planet.

...

132. At the time, enormous elemental storms started on the planet, which changed nearly the entire surface of the planet.

133. Enormous masses of dust were thrown up and drove through the very dense and extensive cloud layers into free space.

134. How this was possible, however, is still absolutely unknown to us, because naturally speaking, the gigantic cloud layers would have had to absorb the millions of tons of dust and throw them back to the planet's surface mixed with water.

135. In a direct path, however, the dust that arose from storm erosions left the planet and drifted to the Sun.

136. By this, the dust was burned up over the Sun's outer envelope and was destroyed.

137. By the drifting off of this planetary matter, however, and by similar movements of enormous amounts of dust on the planet Venus, it changed its entire surface to a very great extent.

138. Tremendously deep rifts and valleys were excavated, while on the other hand, also huge mountains came to light, ranging up to about 12,000 metres high beneath the cloud layers and steam layers.

Billy:

That is so incredible. If I remember correctly, the highest mountains were only about 10,000 metres high about five or six years ago.

Semjase:

139. Sure, but this has completely changed in only about four years, and it is not to be expected that this will soon fall to a new change.

Billy:

Then it could remain so in the future?

Semjase:

140. Sure.

141. So far, we only know that the whole process was triggered by the Sun on the one hand, but a long and very thin, extended arm of that huge dark nebula, toward which the SOL-system is drifting, played an even more important role.

Billy:

By that, you probably mean that dark nebula that drifts between the constellation Hercules and our solar system and toward which we are flying?

Semjase:

142. Yes.

Billy:

How is it, actually? Will our system certainly drift into this dark entity?

Semjase:

143. So far, it seems so, yes, but the amount of time until then is still long.

Billy:

But I now do not understand two things: on the one hand, that millions of tons of dust could penetrate through the Venusian clouds and also go out into space, because if dust gets into the clouds, then it connects to the tiny droplets that constitute these clouds or make them up. This then means that everything together must fall back to the planet's surface. On the other hand, I also do not understand that the dust, as you say, drifted towards the Sun and was destroyed there, because an extension of the dark nebula ...

Semjase:

144. Listen to me:

145. What you mentioned with regard to the amounts of dust and the clouds, that is of good correctness.

146. But now, as we found out, which I already explained, many millions of tons of this Venusian dust drifted up because of gigantic storms, by what means an opening arose in the cloud cover.

147. However, this could only happen because magnetic storms, triggered by various factors of the Sun, reached the planet Venus, which, in further development there, led to primeval world-like elemental storms.

148. Explaining this in every detail, however, would be too much.

149. This was on the one hand, and the magnetic storms of the Sun, with great certainty, must have been triggered by the aforementioned extension of the dark nebula arm.

150. Certain elements of the extension, at any rate, indicate this.

151. For reasons still unknown to us, a magnetic maelstrom around one hundred million kilometres long formed from the resulting magnetic storms, which interestingly enough hit the planet Venus precisely and held firm to it for several months and travelled with it.

152. The dust of Venus was then pulled up into this magnetic suction, along with all that planetary matter that likewise turned into dust because of the primeval world-like storms and their frictional effects.

Billy:

Ah, now I understand things better, but tell me, how long will these storms keep on going, and what is probably going to happen with the dark nebula arm? And, have our scientists not noticed these processes? Surely they should have seen the drifting off of the dust.

Semjase:

153. You do not seem to have listened to me properly, because I just explained that the storms lasted for several months.

154. To be precise, they raged on for 9 months.

155. Since then, peace prevails on the planet again in this respect.

156. The dark nebula arm, which, incidentally, was to be calculated in its length to the parent nebula in several hundred billion kilometres, slowly dissolved and disappeared.

157. As to your other questions, it is to be explained that the scientists of the Earth could not track or detect these processes because their technological devices are insufficiently developed.

158. They are simply inadequate.

159. They were not even able to detect the drifting of the planetary matter because there also are not any suitable apparatuses or instruments, etc. available for that.

160. The extension arm of the dark nebula, which ran to the outer edge zones of the Sun, was less than 1,600 kilometres in diameter when it hit Venus, while it still had about 199 kilometres to the Sun.

(Explanation: the reverse principle of the tornado, like a whirlpool effect.)

161. The measurements, therefore, also cannot be determined from the Earth with the devices that are still unsuitable for such purposes.

Quetzal:

486. Here, look, these are the exact dates of the years of appearance of the Destroyer in the SOL-system as well as its respective exact orbital period, in addition to various data that give you other values, such as disturbances of the Earth by the Destroyer and by Venus, which was torn out of the solar system of Uranus by the Destroyer and brought onto Earth's course.

...

Billy:

...

Year B.C.	Orbital Period Years	Special Event
- 6,339.5	575.5	Destroyer tears Venus out of Uranus' orbit and drags it behind it towards Earth's orbit.
- 6,104	Small flood	Venus breaks into the Earth's orbit and disturbs its own rotation to such an extent that a new rotation time is created, combined with violent earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, floods and elementary storms.
...
- 3,545		Venus stabilises and fixes its own orbit around the Sun.
- 2,058	605	Destroyer slightly disturbs Earth's orbit and Venus, causing the latter to suffer a polar collapse and acquire a new proper rotation time. Minor catastrophes occur on Earth, but they are not of great significance.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_165

Billy:

Now I understand; but tell me, the Russians have now, once again, sent two probes to Venus and, at the same time, also garnered soil material. If they can now actually examine it, what will come of it?

Quetzal:

83. It will not be very much, but still a very good and great success for the Earth scientists.

84. Their devices will not be of long durability on the planet Venus because they are not built for the extreme temperatures there.

Billy:

They cannot, indeed, because about 500 degrees of heat prevail there on the planet. After a short time, the things lie lame. But once they can actually get the rocks into the probes and examine them, they will have to have gotten those of the bedrock because the surface layers were torn off by the space suction that took place around two or three years ago in all, right?

Quetzal:

85. You really think of everything.

86. Yes, they will collect and analyse the bedrock, but there are still large areas of the surface layers of the planet, despite the gigantic suction at that time.

Billy:

Then it should now also no longer be a duty to be silent about the truth of the planet Venus, and it can be said that it concerns a planet which stands only a second time in the last phases of its development, after which – in a few hundred thousand years, or in a few million years at the latest, depending on the external influences – it will awaken to faunal surface life, which is to say that it will then develop and carry primaevial world life, soon after which animals will then emerge there, as it happens on every planet of a similar nature.

Good, then I would also like to mention that you have explained to me once that already millions of years ago, four or five of these, Venus had brought the transformation point behind itself, through which magma-lava outlets have formed the ground's crust, and this was then strengthened. Now, after this process, as you have explained, only the surface transformation will take place, which, on the one hand, will result from the collection of space debris, like dust, acids and other chemical compounds, shooting stars, meteorites, and many other substances and elements, etc., but on the other hand, the remaining part will also take place out of the planet itself and from its surface, through underground volcanic upheavals and corrosion phenomena, etc. Through this – so I remember, as you said to me – the whole surface of the planet will continue to grow and, on the other hand, compress inward, through which, again through renewed transformations and corrosion, an outer coat layer will slowly but surely arise, which itself will begin to develop many kinds of amino acids once the right state is reached, after which the first life of flora will then find its beginning, which will then soon be followed by the higher floral state of life and then the first fauna-like life. But this will still take a few hundred thousand years or, in the longest case, a few million years, as you have said. If I still remember correctly, you have explained that the Earth also had to go through this development and that the outer layer of the Earth's crust at that time, as it is now currently given on Venus, already lay at a depth of many kilometres. Consequently, it can be assumed that if the present upper crust of Venus is dropped to about 5,000 to 10,000 metres of depth and is increased with new material, then the first life begins to be created, right?

Quetzal:

89. That is of correctness ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_182

Billy:

... Now, a question concerning Venus, I mean the planet Venus: all sorts of things have changed there, but I am not exactly interested in those changes that are already known to us, such as the gigantic sand reductions, etc. The atmosphere is what interests me; how old is it already?

Quetzal:

...

570. The atmosphere of the planet Venus has an age of approximately 720 million years, but still to be mentioned is that it consists primarily of carbon dioxide and is about 90 times denser than Earth's atmosphere.

Billy:

Good, and what about, for example, the weathering at high altitudes, where I naturally speak of the mountains?

Quetzal:

571. There are, among other things, lava cones that are more than 8,000 meters tall and that have diameters of up to 35 kilometers.

572. These giant volcanic cones, however, are untouched by rain and, thus, by water erosion, but they are blown over by powerful winds that often carry with themselves fine sand and very often smooth, polished rocks.

573. But the enormous and gigantic winds and volcanic cones are not just for the planet Venus because on many other planets, which are foreign to the SOL-system and which are far larger than Venus, even more enormous volcanoes, mountains, and winds prevail.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_207

Billy:

Today, I first have a question about your space-time configuration, which is practically another dimension, but which is equally directed to ours and, therefore, is therefore equally material. Our universe is called the DERN universe, how is it with our dimension and your dimension, what do you call these?

Quetzal:

1. We denote your dimension with the term Goran, while we call ours Siras.

Billy:

Aha, and these two dimensions, respectively these two different space-time configurations, are materially identical in their buildup and existence?

Quetzal:

2. That is of correctness.

Billy:

And as it stands with the Destroyer, then, it would also have to consist of matter, as this is also existent in our space-time configuration, right?

Quetzal:

3. That is also of correctness.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_238

Ptaah:

613. Your assumption is correct, because my daughter did not give any information about an event, so that the events around the entry of Venus into today's orbit were not completely explained. There was already another planet in its current orbit. ...

614. Yes, a planet with a diameter of 6,100 kilometers orbited the sun on today's Venusian orbit.

615. It collided with the destroyer and was thrown from its orbit directly towards the sun, torn into it and destroyed.

Billy:

Then it dissolved into gases, so to speak, while Venus took it or a similar orbit around the sun, and has been orbiting our mother star ever since.

Ptaah:

616. So it happened.

Billy:

Then the planet was about twice as big as our Earth moon, or in other words, it was about half as big as the Earth.

Ptaah:

617. You can make these comparisons, yes.

Billy:

You could also say that it was about 1/7 smaller than Mars.

Ptaah:

618. That's also true.

Billy:

So, did you have a name for this planet, too?

Ptaah:

619. In our records it is called Skill. ...

620. ... skill means nothing other than 'desolation' in the sense of the language evaluation handed down to us.

Ptaah:

731. Today's planet Venus, as it is called by Earth-humans, is still a very young planet, only 3.04 billion years old, although the uppermost layers of the planet's surface are only 976 million years old.

732. This is because they were and are formed by the ancient, permanent and still present volcanism of the planet.

733. As a former satellite of the solar system URANUS, 8330.5 years ago, calculated backwards from today, it was torn out of its orbit by the traveling planet destroyer and brought in tow by the giant to its present orbit around the sun, as my daughter Semjase explained to you in 1975.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_257

Billy:

Semjase told me pretty much at the beginning of our contacts that the destroyer has been doing his mischief in our solar system since time immemorial and destroyed about 22 million years ago or so old homeworlds of the Lyrans. To my knowledge, however, these lay in a different space-time structure, shifted by a fraction of a second to our space and time. How is it there that the destroyer came after the destruction work with the old Lyranern into our space-time-structure?

Ptaah:

164. The Destroyer then broke through a space-time barrier created by the ancient Syrians, as we still use it today, but in a modernized form, as you would say.

165. At that time, these passage or dimensional gates, as we call them, were constructed in such a way that they opened as soon as any object approached.

166. This also happened as the Destroyer approached, who through unfortunate circumstances came to one of these dimensional gates, shot through and entered this, your space-time continuum, then found his way into this solar system.

167. Today this would no longer be possible, because our passage gates from one dimension to another or to the DAL universe have already been constructed and secured for several million years in such a way that they are probably constant in one place, but only open in response to very specific impulses emitted by our spacecraft.

168. So today it would no longer be possible for a world body to pass unintentionally through one of our many dimensional gates.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_467

Ptaah:

... the Destroyer, which came out of our space-time-structure through a dimensional gate into your space-time-structure and caused a lot of trouble in it, which is why we removed it from the SOL system some years ago and made it harmless.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_556

Ptaah:

64. Except for the planet Venus, all other planets in the SOL system have formed within the system itself and have remained on their original orbits.

65. The planet Venus, however, as you know, was dragged into the interior of the SOL system by the destroyer, as a result of which the direction of rotation also changed, and this was counter-clockwise, as you call it.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_561

... Venus is an 'unfinished' planet, one that could develop into a flourishing planet over millions of years, if all the necessary requirements are met. And it is to be said that Venus can become a flourishing planet, just as another planet has been in almost the same orbit around the

sun. About a billion years ago, there was a slightly smaller planet in the same place in the habitat zone as Venus today, but it was torn away by an elemental cosmic event. This planet was not Venus, of course, but a planet not much smaller than Earth, and it was this planet that was swept away by a much larger wandering star (the wandering sun) drifting through the system, but with another small planet already in its wake, but which freed itself from its wake and settled in the orbit around the sun in place of the small planet that had been swept away, which was already bearing its first vegetation. This cosmic catastrophe, however, changed the state of the torn away planet to such an extent that many volcanoes erupted and devastated the surface, after which the wandering star and the torn away and towed planet came into the direct range of SOL gravity and plunged into the sun. Another event that took place about 3,700 years ago was that Venus, which at that time was still a satellite in the ring system of the planet Uranus, was torn out of its home system by another large wandering planet passing through the SOL system and was brought to its present location in its tow more than three and a half millennia ago. This very large wandering planet, called the 'Destroyer', which was about 1.72 times larger than Earth, traversed the SOL system for a very long time and wandered out into the Kuiper Belt, until it returned to the interior of the SOL system at an average rate of about 575.5 years, but this dangerous light-emitting wandering planet was finally taken out of the SOL system by the Plejaren towards the end of the 20th century. ... Thus, in the orbit of the former vegetation-bearing sister planet of the Earth, which had mountains, valleys, fields, forests, lakes, oceans, blue skies and light clouds, Venus was dragged there, but it was a volcanic planet. The first volcanoes that erupted from the surface of the ice planet dragged away by Uranus - today's Venus - created an atmosphere composed mainly of carbon dioxide and water vapor. ... According to the Plejaren, about a billion years ago or a little more, the planet that used to be on the site of today's Venus and was then torn away by a wandering star, is said to have had a vegetative appearance similar to that of the Earth at that time. A slightly blue sky and clouds of water vapor were also part of the planet's appearance, as were rushing rivers and lakes and seas that burst their banks. Green ferns and mosses were present in their original form, and so the first living unicellular organisms also existed from which higher life could have developed. But this was not to be the case, because the action of a wandering star from the depths of space destroyed all harmony and turned the flourishing planet, which had once been on the site of today's Venus, into a volcanic hell. Its mother star, the sun was also affected when the wandering star tore the planet out of its habitable zone and plunged into the sun together with it. ...

Vietnam War

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Vietnam_War

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_871

Billy:

... Also in the Vietnam War, in which South Vietnam, North Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos were involved and which America officially started in August 1964. About this war, I will say that Asket told me and told me that America had invented and also spread a purposeful lie that a North Vietnamese torpedo boat had carried out an attack on a US naval ship in the Gulf of Tonkin for absolutely no reason. An unparalleled lie and false report that served the purpose of giving the USA a reason to legally intervene in the Vietnam War, which had been raging as a civil war between capitalist South Vietnam and communist North Vietnam since 1955. The deliberately deceitful lie, which was manufactured under the patronage of US President Lyndon B. Johnson, was used by the US military as an opportunity to intervene in the Vietnam War. So America attacked North Vietnam on a massive scale in 1964, with the war then lasting until 1973, which I followed at times – of course Asket and I were always together and so she was by my side – and so we saw what was happening there, which was just war atrocities. From their flying apparatus, we saw heinous things and barbaric atrocities committed by the Americans resp. the US military, which I could never forget and which I still see today when I think about it. The US military not only raped women, but also girls who were certainly not even 10 years old. Once they had done their 'duty' – sometimes whole groups of soldiers raped one woman or girl after another – they were simply shot or stabbed to death.

I remember from Asket's explanations that the North Vietnamese received counselling help and weapons from China and the Soviet Union at the time. The Americans wanted to prevent and block this, which is why the lie of an alleged attack by North Korea on a US naval vessel was invented under the patronage of US President Johnson. America supported South Vietnam then, as it does today – the Americans also stayed in South Vietnam, as they always have wherever they could and can gain a foothold. They also intervened financially and with military advice in South Vietnam – which is of course still the case today. The motivation for all the support given to all countries by America resp. the USA is solely to be found in the American delusion of hegemony and in the fear of Russia and China. But the fact that America suffered a crushing defeat in the Vietnam War is also due to certain consequences of America's megalomania, which is based on the delusion that it is invincible, but which will be proven otherwise.

Billy:

Have you not announced recently, however, that several volcanoes erupted on the Earth and had not been registered by the seismographs?

Quetzal:

77. That is also of correctness, but the aforementioned cloud stands in no connection with that.

78. The eruptions were much too small for them to have been able to be registered by the most sensitive devices on Earth.

79. One of these eruptions was on the continent of Africa, one in the Russian wilderness, another in the vast seas of Oceania, one in the Asian region, and the last in the pre-zones of Antarctica.

Billy:

Man, that is a whole series, and no one supposedly had actually noticed anything?

Quetzal:

80. That is not of correctness.

81. I spoke of the fact that the scientists made no relevant findings from the aforementioned volcanic eruptions with their seismological devices.

82. Otherwise, several of the eruptions were observed very well, but only by Earth-humans of a non-scientific nature, which is why also nothing became known about that.

Billy:

... I also wonder whether the adept Voyager 1 sent out by the USA will obtain good results at Jupiter?

Semjase:

55. According to our calculations of the flight path of the probe, this has to pass very close to the star and to several moons of Jupiter, which means that good results have to be obtained, if the apparatuses of the observation equipment work flawlessly.

Billy:

Does that mean, therefore, that the time comes when the scientists will discover that the so-called Red Spot of Jupiter is, in truth, a self-rotating, funnel-shaped storm hole in the wildly surging high surface of this unfinished sun and that this funnel hole forms the centre of a gigantic and many thousand year-old storm? And does this also mean that it will now be found out that not only do Saturn and Uranus have a ring system but also even Jupiter, only that it is, indeed, of a very different kind than the other two at Saturn and Uranus?

Semjase:

56. Surely, that should actually be ascertained, for the probe will be steered so close to the celestial body that it should record these things, but that will hardly be the case because Jupiter's rings consist of nearly invisible particles that are so minutely small and transparent that they can only be registered as clouds with special apparatuses.

57. Jupiter's spot, however, will be recognised as a mighty storm.

75. To our knowledge, this cloud moving through space was also registered by the devices of the American NASA, which were sent to Jupiter and Saturn, etc., but the authoritative scientists could not do anything with the mysterious messages of their apparatuses when they received these from their devices.

Billy:

By that, you probably mean the Voyager probes?

Quetzal:

76. That is of correctness.

Quetzal:

18. One moment, my friend – here, you see?

Billy:

Fantastic, it fills up half the screen – but, man, how it looks! The thing is really scratched.

Quetzal:

19. The cosmic radiations and the frictions with dust particles, particularly from Jupiter's and Saturn's rings, have not passed by the probe without a trace.

Billy:

Oh, I see; that is why. Is the thing still functioning, then?

Quetzal:

20. The inner parts of the probe have only taken minor damage from the radiations.

21. Nevertheless, the damage does not affect its function.

22. It will still work perfectly for a long time.

126. You know about the intrigues of the responsible ones, which are established through their secret service, and are advanced or set off through revolutions and wars throughout the world.

127. But you also know that through the American, Soviet and Israeli secret service, murders, assassination attempts and political murders are committed in very great numbers, and that the same secret services set off political confusions and topple governments, and so forth.

128. But what is still unknown to you and the Earth-humans is the fact that in many revolutions and small wars the powers directly take part and commit monstrous crimes.

129. Not only that, they do not submit to the world order regarding atomic regulations, and continue to conduct nuclear trials and so forth, and consequently contravene all rules and regulations, no, they also pilfer and rob the required materials by murder and manslaughter.

130. But far worse things yet are carried out through the military and through the secret service, in that they directly interfere in revolutions and wars of other peoples, and commit hundred-fold and thousand-fold murders.

131. This, however, they do in the cunning and infamous manner, that everything looks as if the directly involved ones, or any sub-groups of these, are the guilty ones.

Billy:

That is easily said because again and again crazy extremists of terroristic character appear in the smallest groups, who organise kidnappings, storm and occupy embassies and schools and state buildings, murder human beings, and then collect millions in extorted money for it, so that they can then make a joyful and pleasant life for themselves with it. And the responsible ones of the countries even help this riff-raff in that they, on the one hand, yield to the blackmailing, and on the other hand, even carry out similar actions, whereby it is still given to them that they have and exercise the damned power to provoke wars, whereby, in this regard, they can even engage the damned religions in this, in particular the Christian churches, who themselves really do not want to have peace, but by all means seek and advocate that the countries of the Earth produce war armies and war material, accumulate and stockpile these, in order to be able to wage war, always under the guise of the strange and crazy shouting that, indeed, peace according to God's order, and additionally, love must prevail on Earth. If one then addresses these idiots and power mongers about this fact, then they say as a response that each country needs an army with adequate weapons in order to be able to ward off an invading enemy. This is an idiocy beyond compare, because if all states have uniformly peaceful intentions and act accordingly, then no country needs armies and weapons of war. A regular security army with corresponding weapons would then suffice to be prepared for contingencies, e.g. if inhumane life-forms from outer space were to attempt conquest, etc. Nevertheless, I must say that your idea of a worldwide 'Free Peace Combat Community' would be very good within the framework mentioned and indeed, should also be striven for, but which alone would not be enough in today's world. All the crazy warmongers and terrorists, anarchists and demonstrators, etc. could not, for the time being, be subdued and brought to their senses with words and the spiritual teaching. It would require, in this case, a special armed army that would have to comprise millions of men and which would intervene immediately in every single country and create peace and order where any rebellions, terrorist acts, and wars, etc. begin to threaten or erupt. Also this army would then have to be responsible for immediately and mercilessly segregating for life all participants in such acts of hostility to peace, within the framework of how you have done it for millennia, that the wrongdoers are taken to special guarded and lonely islands, etc., male and female separated, from where they could never return to society.

Billy:

And those unthinking participants of the people who then go to war for unscrupulous rulers and murder fellow human beings unknown to them, whom they neither know nor who have done anything to them, are just as lowly intelligent and simple-minded as their rulers. The latter keep a low profile and remain in the background, so as not to be humiliated, but it is precisely they, as the culprits of the whole, who should be facing each other and fighting it out with each other. But the lowly intelligent of the people simply let themselves be bullied by the powerful of the governments, possibly lick their butts and die for them, because they are fundamentally of the same mind and the same character as the latter, and at the bottom of their being they are immediately ready for violence and killing, if even one louse crawls over their liver.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_871

Quetzal:

... And even religious sciences of various disciplines emerged, which since then have vehemently defended their fantasy lies, fantasy declarations and their hypocritical behaviour have since vehemently burdened believers and human society worldwide, forcing them to adopt hostile attitudes based on their various beliefs. The result is that peoples allow themselves to become enemies and wage war against each other, with the believers of one religion wanting to be better than those of other religions, also in the belief that their religion and their beliefs alone are correct.

Billy:

Exactly, and therefore the view then applies: if you do not want to be my brother, I will smash your head in. But whether it is religious friars or people in power who want to wage wars, sow and create enmity or otherwise cause trouble, the only correct thing would be for them to face each other and beat each other up or smash each other's skulls in, instead of their peoples having to stand on the front line and shoot each other with their supposed enemies – who have never even seen each other, nor do they know each other or have a dispute with each other – and simply shoot each other down.

Quarrellers should fight themselves personally and smash each other's skulls if they absolutely, unreasonably want to fight, consequently they do not set their peoples against each other and let them fight each other.

...

Billy:

... Basically, there is no point and no success with those idiots who live in delusion and believe that the ultimate solution is the military and war, so that peace can be created and maintained. That is why we also have so-called 'armed neutrality' in Switzerland, because the idea prevails among the delusional and lowly intelligent that Switzerland could usefully defend itself if it were attacked by an enemy state. Truly, this is just an absolutely ridiculous belief, because the country would simply be overrun, and it would only bring many deaths, suffering and misery, and also unparalleled destruction. The military fanatics and those cowardly fearful people who, in their stupidity, believe that in a war a Swiss army could defend itself against enemy attackers in such a way that the people would be safe or otherwise benefit. This completely insane view, and the even more insane belief in it, is costing the Swiss people billions in pointless money – as in every other country that has crazy people who are enthusiastic about a military army. This is fuelled by tax collections for the crazy delusions of military fanatics and other non-thinkers and fantasists, crazy and confused government heads who abuse their might to buy absurd weapons for a completely useless army, even though they have no wise knowledge of war and only fantasise about it. This is also because their Intelligendum is obviously still so underdeveloped and not developed enough for them to have a sense of logic and the necessary understanding and reason in and of themselves.

...

Billy:

On the contrary, in the jungles of South America and in the Far East, together with Sfath, I have experienced natives, so-called savages and primitives, as they are called by the so-called 'civilised', who were normal-thinking and peaceful in every wise and knew neither war nor killing nor strife, but only true peace. I have never experienced any quarrelling among these 'primitives', not even among family members. ...

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_873

{Billy (2022):}

Life and peace demand that neither weapons nor other things be produced and used for war, murder and torture etc., neither for hatred, revenge and retribution, nor also for any other violence of any kind, nor for destruction, annihilation and extermination, because they are never a way to create true peace, freedom, law and order, but only means to create discord, unfreedom, disaster and multiple death with them!

Every war is unjust, also when one party is in the right and defends itself against the breach of promise of another party and wrongly defends itself with war. Every war is to be condemned, for it can never be justified, especially not by logic, understanding and reason, for war automatically triggers counter-war, whereby violence again creates violence, as has been the custom of human beings on Earth since time immemorial, and primarily through the military, which is truly the greatest criminal evil of earthly humanity and which has never been justified since its existence, just as the military must have no right to exist, especially in this day and age. Since time immemorial, the military has been a guild of murderers organised against human lives, killing, murdering, raping, torturing and destroying without restraint, against every law of life and its order, against every human right, international law and every respect, honour and dignity of human beings. This has been the case since time immemorial, just as it has never had a right to exist since time immemorial. This is just like the atomic bombs and all nuclear weapons of all kinds, which not only threaten the entire Earth's humanity, but even jeopardise the existence of the planet Earth itself.

In addition to the monstrosity that results in the murder of human beings and the destruction of human achievements, there are also the antagonists on the side of the warmongers, who constantly and irresponsibly set fire to the warring parties, who use lies and fraudulent statements to incite the whole world and claim that they are using or intend to use certain internationally defined and banned 'weapons and other means' in the war until they actually do so, because the constant agitation is simply too much for them. In this manner, what the warmongering party hopes for becomes reality, so that internationally outlawed weapons and means are used and the war degenerates all the more.

The military has nothing to do with peacemaking, nor with self-defence, which requires controlled Gewalt and goes far beyond the instinct of self-preservation and requires a special approach. Different laws apply to self-defence than to the instinct of self-preservation; the latter requires controlled Gewalt, which alone can still protect life and save it from death. Self-defence not only fully requires sound logic, crystal-clear reason and tangible, sober and insightful reason, but also its resolute and consistent implementation with a commitment to life.

War is a work of death, like the death penalty, which is contrary to any protection of life and is therefore unjust. War, the death penalty, as well as murder and manslaughter, not only shamefully violate the rules of the right to life of every creature, every human right and international law, but war and the death penalty also turn the human beings who practise them into murderers and mass murderers. Moreover, war victimises innocent people and senselessly destroys human achievements through damage and destruction, while guilty people, such as criminals and murderers, are executed, whereby Gewalt is repaid with counter-Gewalt and revenge is exacted.

To avoid war, true logic, understanding and reason must never be forgotten – but only human beings are capable of these values, who do not ignore suggestions, possibilities and warnings in the run-up to a quarrel and in the case of accusations and disputes etc., but consider them carefully and clarify them through mutual conversation. However, this takes time, indeed a lot of time – and patience, and this patience must not be put to the test or lost. One way or another, a mutually acceptable consensus must always be found that is satisfactory to all sides and thus actually ensures peace and avoids war. But this is effectively only possible through the use of sober logic, common sense and plain reason, which must be inherent in human beings as a whole. However, if this is not part of a human being's independence, sovereignty, self-government and self-legislation, then on the one hand he/she himself/herself betrays his/her inability to make decisions, give orders and take action, and he thereby proves that on the one hand he is classified as a non-thinker, and on the other hand that he is only capable of making decisions, actions and deeds on impulse, which do not necessarily correspond to well-considered decisions, orders and actions, but rather to emotional degenerations. True knowledge and wisdom – especially with regard to what true peace is – must avoid any cause of war, because peace alone guarantees the valuable progress of individual human beings and humanity as a whole. This also ensures that human beings, through their logic, clear understanding and necessary reason, realise that every overpopulation of earthly peoples constantly promotes more and more discord and acts of war, instead of putting an end to them and avoiding further spirals of escalation. In a war, everyone loses, just as war itself also threatens nuclear war today, and it is completely irrelevant who feels or proclaims to be the winner. The wounded, the refugees, the dead and their graves, the ruins of destroyed human achievements, are always witnesses to the madness, the insanity and the senselessness of every war. The main victims are always the human beings and their achievements, in which they have put their labour and efforts. The consequences affect the entire population of the country in which the war is fought, but it also affects the peoples of the state from which the war originates. And ultimately it affects the humanity of the whole world, because as a rule everyone is partisan, but as a rule there are 2 to 4 different schools of thought in all parties and groups themselves, through which one is then emphasised and by 'persuading' the others and those below it, everything is then brought into line and decided. In addition, sanctions are imposed by the top echelons of the government, which are imposed in an unbiased manner against the guilty parties deemed to be in favour of the war, whereby it is not the guilty parties who are hit, but the populations and the economy. In every war, international law is trampled underfoot, any peace order and the order of civil society is forcibly lost. The costs of war alone destroy the hopes that peace can be achieved after the war, because then come the reparation payments for the loser(s) of the war, consequently these enormous sums, which – over many years and decades – have to be paid to the victors, naturally have consequences.

The conditions for a sustainable peace are made tougher by the payments and thus the solution for a peaceful life after the war becomes a problem, because for many states and their inhabitants these payments mean poverty and hunger, even expulsion from their homeland, because they must inevitably leave it if they do not want to starve. Then there is the environmental destruction caused by the war, which over time – like a nuclear war – can constantly bring about the end of humanity, nature and its fauna and flora, the atmosphere or even the entire planet.

The victims are not only human beings, but also the truth, because war propaganda dominates all populations of every state to the extent that the beams bend, not because of what is real, but because of the lies that become loud, but also because of the deception that is carried out, because everything is presented differently than it really is. The exuberant misinformation of warfare erases previous knowledge that is needed for the future, as a result of which the new things to come cannot be built in the form of true peace, which inevitably leads sooner or later to Gewalt and counter-Gewalt and thus to new acts of war.

Hardly anyone ever asks how acts of war actually and genuinely come about, because hardly anyone really thinks, but simply believes everything that is mendaciously and deceitfully parroted. What is really true and corresponds to the full truth is not questioned one iota, because it is believed in exactly the same manner as religious belief has already been hammered in against logic, understanding and reason and has become so firmly established as a delusion that only in the rarest of cases will a human being think and decide for himself/herself freely, self-reflectively, self-decisively, self-acting and free from any belief, as well as fully consciously, objectively and responsibly.

However, an incompetent leader who has fuelled the escalation spiral over decades or his/her entire life, as many do, especially powerful people who head the state, the authorities, a religious community, the family, a company, a corporation or any other group of human beings, is at a very high risk of no longer living as a humane and correct thinking, deciding, ordering and acting being, because his/her behaviour in power has impaired his/her healthy senses and damaged them to such an extent that logic, understanding and reason have become completely foreign to him.

Earthly humanity is constantly on the threshold of war, and when it wants to turn away from it, some idiot full of hatred, revenge, retaliation and lust for power comes along and crosses the threshold – and war, murder, manslaughter and destruction are the order of the day again. If human beings really want peace, they must stop all armaments and military interventions and abolish all military forces and thus all armies. These undermine any endeavour to create peace, because they are only geared towards Gewalt, murder and destruction, but not towards creating real peace. Every military breaks international law in a war and is an ineffective mediator and counsellor for peaceful solutions in any warlike relationship.

Many states and countless human beings provide partisan assistance and support wars and terror by supplying the belligerents or defenders with weapons for murder and destruction and all sorts of other things, also openly and maliciously condemning some and wishing them to hell, while praising others to the skies. And if we are talking about 'do-gooders' in this respect, they are the very people who make big statements such as "Never act according to the meaning of 'do unto me as I do unto thee', 'repay like with like', 'Gewalt creates counter-Gewalt', 'Gewalt creates Gewalt', 'if you do not want to be my brother, I will smash your head in' or 'no one can live in peace if the evil neighbour does not like it', 'the most pious person cannot live in peace if the person of a different faith does not like it'" etc.

All the do-gooders pretend to be fighters against evil and act like saints against their fellow human beings, but as a rule it is all just lies and deceit, because if they themselves are affected by violence, injustice or other harm being done to them, they always change their behaviour in a flash. Their words of good behaviour suddenly vanish like the wind in the desert, meaning that all the good and peaceful words they have spoken are quickly forgotten. Immediately, only uncontrolled self-defence in the form of violence against foreign aggression comes into play, such as brawling, hatred, murder and manslaughter as well as destruction, etc. Driven by self-defence, anger, hatred and wild retaliatory rage, revenge and satisfaction grow when the aggressive opponent is incapacitated. Everything goes very far beyond what self-defence requires, which arises from the need to protect and preserve one's own or another's life from death and consequently justifies the use of controlled violence.

With the onset of aggression on the part of the other person, the degenerations stored deep in the character and lurking, such as revenge, retaliation and hatred, very quickly awaken and rapidly double and triple, as a result of which all self-control is lost and everything degenerates. Everything can no longer be fought because a state of loss of self-control arises in a flash, resulting in nothing coming out of it in the future that would contribute to something better coming out of it and so the whole of the evil depths of character remain.

There is no cure for forgetting the evil qualities of hatred, revenge and retaliation that lurk deep within the character, which are present in practically every good person despite their good-talking and glossing over. These can only be dissolved and neutralised by working on them consciously and with full awareness, and by maintaining and exercising control over them in every situation. However, this is not the case with do-gooders, just as it is not the case with human beings in general, who do not care at all about the evil emotional aberrations lurking deep within their character because they are not aware of them. This inevitably leads to the fact that if physical aggressive attacks or just harassment occur from the outside through any circumstances or persons, the emotional degenerations lurking deep in the character break through to the outside in a matter of seconds and self-defence in the form of hatred, war, retaliation and violence breaks out. As a result of the failure to utilise thought, logic, understanding and reason, this inevitably leads to alternating violence and counter-violence, and not infrequently to murder and manslaughter, instead of peace and an end to the aggression with reasonable words. This is done in particular by the military, which is drilled to spread aggression, aggression and thus violence as well as murder, torture and destruction, regardless of the fact that through this and through murder, rape, torture, destruction and ultimate 'victory' no true peace can be created and no real peace will ever emerge.

Wars must be prevented and further wars of all kinds must not be activated, and this applies to political wars fought by military armies, killing human lives and destroying human achievements. This must be prevented, if only by banning the manufacture and supply of weapons or military action. Economic wars that fuel a spiral of escalation often also lead to war, so these must also be banned. Sanctions imposed by states on other states should also be banned, as these do not affect those in power who order wars and send the military to carry out mass murder and destruction, but the respective population.

In any case, humanitarian aid for victims of Gewalt is to be supported, as is the establishment and expansion of links between peace movements that mobilise to end wars on the one hand and endeavour to prevent wars on the other, as are movements that endeavour to bring the military conduct of earthly humanity to a standstill through logic, understanding and reason and to generally dissolve the military in all states of the world. This must be promoted in all areas of society and the authoritarian structures of militarism must be dissolved, so it is important to support movements that are involved in this peace work. However, it should be emphasised that it is not simply monetary donations that can solve this problem, but personality and involvement in the cause. Monetary donations should only be made where there is certainty that the full amount donated will be used for the good cause and that a certain percentage will not be written off as 'expenses' and 'remuneration money', as is legally permitted by the begging organisations, which are allowed by law to collect around 40% for 'operating costs' and 'remuneration costs'. This means that at least 40% of every donation – i.e. almost half – goes into the pockets of the 'aid organisations' to pay for 'operations' and 'remuneration'. However, this is not what donations should be used for, because every donation must be used for the purpose for which it is donated.

Every state that engages in armament and war must become willing to create peace, because the world and its humanity need peace. Consequently, the states' war-mongering against each other must be replaced by an effective logic of peace. This must be achieved through effective diplomacy, the cessation of all existing and possible pending and imminent acts of war, a complete de-escalation and the withdrawal and complete destruction of all weapons. For this to happen, the protection and strengthening of international law between all parties to the conflict must be emphasised and constitutionally enshrined as a factor of lasting value, and must also be actively and effectively observed in all dealings between the various states. Only the creation of such a worldwide state regulation can bring about a turning point in time that will truly bring about a global architecture of peace that is then stable. This alone can bring about a turning point in time that will bring about a world that guarantees true global peace, which effectively ensures common security worldwide as well as sustainability and solutions to the problems of humanity on our planet Earth.

And if I am already talking about the irrationality of the military, then it is in and of itself inevitable that I come to the acts of war in Ukraine and the Middle East and to the traditional hegemony of the Americans. All of these are nothing other than criminal machinations, and the warring leaders of Israel, Netanyahu, Ukraine, Zelensky, Russia, Putin, as well as the head of Hamas, Ismail Haniyya, and their ilk are murderous criminals who effectively walk over corpses. And that is the full truth when only Putin is labelled a criminal by the European hypocritical 'money elite' and in Germany by disguised neo-NAZI rulers, while everyone else is partisanly defended.

Billy:

... Then there was the president George Washington, who actually started the First World War with the Seven Years' War from 1756-1763, which means that three world wars have already taken place and not just two. Although your father Sfath already told me that, but I had completely forgotten it, so I only stumbled upon it again through this chronicle here. Well, Washington, as a military leader in the War of Independence, as a liberal thinker, was also a shrewd leader of state when the Constitution was being drafted. At the age of 22 he was still a British officer in the American colonies. He was thereby then involved in an incident that was fundamentally the cause of the real First World War, which shook the Earth. With 160 soldiers, in 1754, he patrolled the Ohio Valley between British and French territories. In May of that year the French sent a diplomat to get Washington out of their territory. However, the latter ordered the firing on the diplomatic corps, where through the French negotiator and about 13 of his soldiers who went with him were deliberately murdered, with Washington's hope of driving a wedge between the French and the British, because only such a conflict between the two colonial powers could lead to the success regarding the American War of Independence. This felony led to the triggering of the so-called French and Indian War, from which, two years later, emerged the bloody conflicts between the great European powers and thus the Seven Years' War, which was fought in America, Europe and Asia and therefore was worldwide, which is why this was the real First World War which, however, something which is however concealed from the world's population. ...

Billy:

... The two official wars were already in the 20th century, but if the Seven Year War from 1756 to 1763 is added, which was effectively a world war and which was fought in America, Europe and Asia, then the Fourth World War would be imminent. The First World War was triggered by the murderous machinations of George Washington – the later first US president – who was then still a British officer in the American colonies and had a French delegation of negotiators assassinated. ...

Ptaah:

60. The conspiracy was staged by the slave owner Augustine Washington, born in Great Britain in 1693 and deceased in 1743, the father of the later first President of America George Washington.

61. The conspirators counted several thousand colonists, who secretly called themselves 'Americans' in their circles and who strove to establish their own form of government, which, however, was kept secret from the outside under threat of death, which is why nothing in writing was ever recorded and nothing was ever written to the outside, so that the whole thing could always be kept secret, even to this day.

62. In 1732 his son George Washington was born, who then became the first president of the United States of America and died in 1799.

63. Early on he was involved in the conspiracy of his father, to whom he was completely addicted, following with his followers also the goal of his own 'Americans' state formation and did not omit anything to achieve this goal one day.

64. Although he lacked a good school education, as well as a valuable general education, because he was very uneducated, unread and ignorant, which he could later improve with the help of a decisive woman.

65. Overall, however, he was able to cover up the whole thing to a large extent, to which his origin as part of the economic and cultural elite of the slavery plantation owners of the state of Virginia came in very handy to him, because through his origin he also came into contact with a wealthy and influential and very cultivated nobleman named Lord William Fairfax and won his trust and help.

66. He also owned large estates in Great Britain.

67. At the age of 16 George Washington met the pretty daughter-in-law of Fairfax, Sally Fairfax, with whom he immediately fell in love and established an intimate adulterous relationship with her, which both secretly entertained.

68. Both kept this adulterous liaison alive, but of course secret.

69. This woman was the one who taught him in diverse knowledge and also improved his very weak general education.

70. The secret conspiracy was maintained by George Washington and all co-conspirators.

71. When his half-brother Lawrence Washington married Fairfax's daughter, Anne, he was of course also part of the family and was treated as a family member by her, which made the liaison with Sally Fairfax much easier, which was never known either in the family or to the outside world, because both were absolutely silent about their intimate relationship.

72. George Washington was commissioned in the autumn of 1753 by the Deputy Governor of Virginia, Robert Dinwiddie, to carry out a diplomatic mission, namely that he, as the issuer, should send a letter to the French asking them, on behalf of the British Crown, by Dinwiddie and other representatives of Virginia to give up and leave their outposts in an area disputed between France and England.

73. Washington set out on its mission on 31 October, after which he and his companions were received politely and courteously by the French and treated accordingly, but who were not prepared to make any concessions.

74. This mission, however, brought George Washington public attention for the first time, even though he had failed as an issuer.

75. Nevertheless, in the spring of 1754, when he was only 22 years old, Governor Dinwiddie entrusted him, with the approval of the Virginia House of Representatives, to take command of a small militia troop of 160 men in the spring of 1754, with the task of observing the French outposts located in the western territories as well as the strategically important points.

76. So Washington got a military position of power and gathered the Indian allies around him and had makeshift forts built in order to defend itself better against possible attacks of the superior French forces.

77. In this episode, Washington saw itself in a position to put its and its co-conspirators' conspiracy idea of striving for its own state 'Americans' into the limelight, even if the realization would still take years and it would use great military means, because it now had the opportunity to do so and it could gain great military power.

78. So, in May 1754, the Washington troops and a French troop engaged in combat because he ordered an attack, even though the French troops were under the command of a Joseph de Jumonvilles, who was on his way as an emissary.

79. Washington – his troop, of course, in principle – emerged victorious from the provoked struggle, which was effectively a raid in which the French commander capitulated, but which George Washington, shortly after the battle, had executed in his delusion of power.

80. Less than a month later Washington himself and his troops were captured by superior French soldiers, capitulating after many of his troops had been killed.

81. The French described the Füsilierung of the commander Joseph de Jumonvilles as what it actually was, namely as murder, which Washington also confirmed in a corresponding document, whereby the French granted mercy before justice and released him, after which he then denied the murder he had committed again.

82. And it was these incidents – triggered by George Washington, who was full of hatred and thoughts of revenge against the French and who saw himself as 'Americans' and thus as American – that led to the war from 1754-1763, which from the American point of view is called the French and Indian War, which is regarded as a partial conflict of the Seven Years' War, which then broke out in 1756.

83. And since at that time the entire origin of the First World War began with the machinations and triggered armed conflicts of the aforementioned 'Americans' or early American George Washington, by whose provocation the whole thing could come about in the first place – in the background together with his thousandfold 'Americans co-conspirators' – it is clear to us that the First World War was triggered by the USA with its first citizens, who secretly called themselves 'Americans' or 'American' in a later sense.

84. So George Washington's coping strategy worked, but his and his co-conspirators' intentions did not actually materialize until he became one of the founding fathers of the United States as Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Army from 1775 to 1783, with the first states emerging from the 13 colonies in 1776.

85. In 1789 to 1797 he became the first president of the United States of America.

...

Billy:

... But what is interesting is that to this day nothing has ever become public about this 'Americans' conspiracy.

Ptaah:

92. Every announcement, however small, has been punished with death.

Billy:

Are you saying that that's why people were actually murdered?

Ptaah:

93. Yes, there are 73 people in my father's annals who were hanged by the conspirators.

Billy:

This is typical for the USA, even in those days when it was not called 'United States of America', but was called 'Americans' by the conspirators, which is equivalent to 'America'. And that you judge and describe the thing 'World War I' – in which Europe was also involved and which was effectively global – as originating from the USA, that is really plausible, logical and therefore to be understood, because the conspirator George Washington was just as much an 'Americans' – as his co-conspirators were – and his insidious warlike murderous machinations led to war.

Ptaah:

94. As you say, this assessment is logical.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_704

Ptaah:

83. And this was already the case at the earliest and most fundamental times, when George Washington, before he advanced to become the first US president, had a white-flagged French negotiating troop treacherously shot dead.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_717

Sfath {1947}:

138. Even George Washington, who held the presidency as the first president of the United States of America from 1789 to 1797, was a murderer, war criminal and traitor.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_791

Billy:

... And the fact that the American rulers are naïve in their obsession with power – but the US president is particularly naïve – and do not notice that they, the rulers, i.e. the supreme boss and his satellites, are secretly influenced from the outside by the 'dark leadership', does not break the camel's back, but it is enough for everything to slowly get more and more out of hand. Moreover, the whole thing is common practice in the USA, and has been since time immemorial, ever since the first president, George Washington, came to power after the American War of Independence following a murder he committed in 1781 and was called the 'Father of the American Nation'. ...

{Note: The year "1781" is likely referring to the year in which Washington "came to power" rather than the year he committed murder, 1754.}

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_842

Juraata:

As we have followed the events on Earth since ancient times, and as our records prove, America was founded in its very beginnings by murder, when a certain George Washington shot a peacenik without hearing him when he came with a white flag to negotiate peace.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_851

Billy:

America's first president, George Washington, was, after all, a murderer who summarily shot a lieutenant of the French before he could even speak a word when the latter, 'armed' with a white peace flag on the bayonet of his rifle and with 11 men, wanted to ask for a truce. So he was a murderer, as was his father {Augustine Washington}, a wealthy plantation owner who had several thousand acres of land worked by slaves and beat 2 of his 60 or so slaves to death with his own hands.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_871

Billy:

War is nothing other than senseless murder, and America is mighty big in that regard. Even when the American War of Independence took place from 1775 to 1783 and Washington had supreme command of the American Revolutionary troops, people were killed without hesitation. George Washington, who was one of the co-founders of America and was the first president – if I am not mistaken, that was from 1789 to 1797 or so – was an unscrupulous murderer who simply shot an officer of the enemy troops during the war when he rode up accompanied by a few soldiers and 'armed' with a white flag – in other words with a peace flag, so to speak – and shot him personally before he could even say a word.

Billy:

165. In a similar context, however, I would now be interested to know how it is with the otherworld-contactees and recipients of messages from the highest levels.

166. You once said earlier that the real ones of these were also only very few.

Semjase:

181. Sure, that is so.

182. But at the same time, I only spoke of really high levels and the highest intelligences.

183. No earthly contact persons are to be found, who maintain contact with higher or lower or parallel otherworldly beings.

184. The number of these people, however, who could actually enter into connection with human beings of other dimensions, is only to be reckoned as 16 of these all over the world, but these do not use their capabilities.

...

Billy:

168. How large, then, is the number of those Earth-humans who want to enter into connection with "lower spirit-forms" and "otherworldly ones," etc. and who try this, even though this is impossible?

Semjase:

186. It is impossible for us to investigate that, but on the other hand, it also is not of importance to us.

187. Only important to us are those who could enter into connection with other-dimensioned human forms.

...

190. Only those 16 mentioned are of value, along with the 268 connections in the Earth-humans' WE-collective-subconsciousness-level.

...

Billy:

170. What am I to understand by the WE-subconsciousness-level?

Semjase:

195. It concerns subconsciousness-connections to the WE-form of the Earth-humans and, therewith, to same-dimensioned life-forms in this world's area, who stand in nowise higher in their evolution than the connection-seeking Earth-humans themselves; thus, they cannot convey or obtain any translated or higher knowledge (= collective subconsciousness).

Billy:

171. Thus, they are not higher life-forms that have an enormously high consciousness-knowledge or spiritual knowledge?

Semjase:

196. You have grasped it very well.

197. These forms are ones that are in nowise advanced from the average Earth-human by many years into the future, for in this case, the WE-collective Form is, indeed, based on the WE-subconsciousness form of the existing Earth humanity.

...

Billy:

173. If I understand correctly, is this special WE-subconsciousness-level also responsible for the fact that erroneous religious teachings become represented?

Semjase:

199. You think correctly.

200. But often, which must also be said, these connections are only imagined or even deliberately deceptive and non-existent.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_083

Billy:

2. For three days I tried to get to Mr Glanzmann, at about 2 o'clock in the morning, to find out what it was all about and why he was so out of line and destroyed his contact.
3. I also succeeded very well in my attempt, at least until I was in his immediate vicinity.
4. But if I say this immediately, it does not mean that I was able to penetrate to his aura, which I strangely did not see as blue radiation, but as violet radiation, which shimmered somewhat blurred through an enormous force field, which I was not able to analyse.
5. Nevertheless, I then tried to penetrate this force field or to break through it in order to reach the aura currents, after which I could then have drawn up an analysis from it, in order to fathom the state of things in the form of a force intensity analysis, in order then perhaps also to fetch a memory substitute from Mr. Glanzmann's subconscious, which could certainly have provided me with information about what had happened with regard to the break-off of contact.
6. However, all this failed me thoroughly, because with the penetration attempt into the force field unknown to me I collided with such a strong resistance block that I was thrown away and lost consciousness for seconds.
7. When I came back to myself, I felt something inside me that threatened to tear me apart.
8. It was lying somewhere in my chest, somewhere in the emotional centre, and it hurt like hell.
9. It was strange for me, because in this strong mass everything was unknown to me, and only the feeling of being torn apart from the inside made me almost lose my senses again.
10. I had to fight for about 15 minutes to free myself from this tremendous power, which somehow tried to kill me, it seemed to me.
11. After that I could not fall asleep again, because something kept trying to penetrate me anew.
12. So I woke up my wife, who then gave me the light that would illuminate the room all night long.
13. Only then could I breathe freely again and the vicious tearing in my chest slowly subsided.
14. Well, I was like slain after all and something seemed to weigh heavily on me, almost like a lead depression.
15. In order to get to the bottom of these strange things, I tried again in the following two nights, but with the same outcome.
16. Only, this time I was prepared for it, so I could avoid the senselessness and defend myself against it from the very beginning.
17. But I did not reach any goal with it, because I was neither able to break through the enormous force field nor to analyse it.

...

Semjase:

10. But it seems very puzzling to me which processes are involved, because such strong forms of power are extremely rare.
11. It can only be a matter of high concentration.

Billy:

25. Thus it is agglomerations.
26. That is what I thought, because it seems to me extremely doubtful that Mr. Glanzmann is able to generate such powers himself.

Semjase:

12. Sure, but his subconscious is absolutely capable of mobilising such powers and retrieving them somewhere in the collective WE subconscious, perhaps because it has located a danger somewhere.

Billy:

27. Do you mean that it was able to analyse the coordinates of my ego?

Semjase:

13. No, because when you did not interrupt your self-generated blockade, it would not be possible.

https://www.futureofmankind.co.uk/Billy_Meier/Contact_Report_084

Semjase:

11. Until then please do nothing at all, because I could not help you in any manner, because I am not powerful enough to control these forces unknown to me, which must actually be a very high form of concentration of several million units. {See previous entry.}

Questions from the Public on the Contact Report of 1st May 1989

Question:

If I look at the Arahat Athersata level, then the spirit-forms that are in it should actually have slight to greater different evolutionary stages, something like those of human beings, only much more finely graded. So those spirit-forms that have not been in the Arahat Athersata level for long have the lowest evolutionary levels, and those that are about to pass on to the next level have the highest?

Billy:

Yes, that is correct, because evolution is a gradual development of learning and knowing and acquiring true love, knowledge and wisdom. And this process is present in all gross material life-forms as well as in all realms of spirit-forms in their pure spirit-energy levels. Consequently, in every WE-form – whether material or spiritual – there are lower and lowest or higher and highest levels of evolution.

Question:

Since the spirit-forms of the Arahat Athersata level must also evolve further, as must each of the higher spirit-forms in the levels thereafter, surely there must also be a source of knowledge for them, perhaps in the form of a particularly highly evolved spirit-form in the Arahat Athersata level?

Billy:

No, in the Arahat Athersata plane, as also in every other higher plane, the impulses in this respect come from the next higher plane, as also from the memory banks of one's own plane. With Earth-humans, or as with all other human-material life-forms in the entire universe, the memory banks are also of the greatest importance, as is also the first pure-spirit level Arahat Athersata, from which knowledge impulses are deposited in the memory banks. Depending on the development of the material life-forms – in this case the human beings – they subconsciously take up this deposited information from the higher level via the memory banks, work with it and thereby gain development, hence they evolve.

Question:

If I look at the spirit-form of Nokodemion, then according to my considerations it would have to have taken a very high evolutionary stage within the Arahat Athersata level – before it reincarnated again from the Arahat Athersata level into a material human form in the material universe – about shortly before the transition into the next level?

Billy:

Yes. This is also correct. Nokodemion's pure spirit-form was already very highly developed in the Arahat Athersata level when the decision was made to return to a material human body, although the implementation could only be made possible through the decisive intervention of the highest level, the Petale level. This was because a special change of consistency had to be created for Nokodemion's spirit-form, through which alone it could be made possible for the spirit-form to return to a human body.

Question:

So is it that the Nokodemion spirit-form in the realm of the material universe occupies the highest conceivable level of spiritual development and knowledge among all human life-forms?

Billy:

Yes, that is correct. However, this level of knowledge evolution really only relates to the concerns of Spirit, Creation, Absolutum-forms, Spirit energy, Spirit planes and to the power of Spirit energy and so on. Yet this knowledge and level of evolution only reaches up to the highest level of Arahat Athersata.

Question:

So this would mean that this spirit-form has no source of knowledge and no memory banks closed up to the Arahat Athersata level? Consequently, then, the Nokodemion spirit-form is the only spirit-form in the material universe that not only has the highest knowledge of the spirit, but also constantly expands and advances it at the highest level, precisely because it is able to use all sources of knowledge up to the Arahat Athersata level.

Billy:

Yes. For there is the necessity that the Nokodemion spirit-form, in the period when it again animates a material human body, also continues to evolve in the knowledge of the Arahat Athersata level. This must be so because the spirit-form, when it one day returns to its original pure-spirit level, has not been deprived of any love and wisdom and knowledge on the highest level, but can continue uninhibitedly on the path of transition to the next higher and finer pure-spirit level.

Billy:

... But nothing can be done against this, because if you say something and want to correct it, then you are simply torn apart by the 'learned know-it-alls'. The same thing happened long before Jmmanuel, when, for example, the death penalty was imposed by drinking the kylix empty, so that practically suicide had to be committed, but which in reality and truth was a real self-execution, which took place through painful cramps and suffocation, because the kylix, in addition to the normal drink, contained the deadly poison of the unripe fruit of an umbelliferous plant. Often a human being was sentenced to death because he said and advocated something that was against the opinion of the know-it-alls, such as Socrates, because he was a free thinker and openly said that he was against all belief in gods and therefore also in a single God, which is why he had to drink the kylix by a court in the year 399 (Note Billy: Which, however, is not exactly correct in terms of the year) before Jmmanuel's birth. Even then there were human beings who did not simply believe the religious nonsense of an alleged God and gods, but used their own free thinking and perceived reality and its truth and also spoke openly about it. This even brought them death as a result of executions ...

...

And now, with regard to Socrates: something similar happened to many other human beings who were forced to commit suicide resp. to execute themselves in this way, whereby various politicians etc. were among them and this method of self-execution was still used for almost 600 years. Even in the Middle Ages it was still practised in certain cases, but this is concealed to this day – or was not openly made known – when herbalists, women as well as men, were tortured and executed because they were allegedly possessed by the devil or had made a pact with him. The accused were then called witches and sorcerers, which ultimately degenerated into accusing of witchcraft every female and every male human being and even children and adolescents who did not suit someone's purposes, demanded revenge and retribution for something, or simply wanted to inherit, but which brought worst torture and death to tens of thousands of human beings.

However, it all began with an assassination, namely when the Austrian heir to the throne Franz Ferdinand and his wife were shot in Sarajevo in June 1914. Austria-Hungary then declared war on Serbia, whose skirmishes continued in various European states until 1917, with machine guns and poison gas being used as a novelty, of course. Then in 1917, America – allied with France and England – came to Europe for the first time with its mania for hegemony, triggering the world war. This cost millions of human lives. I can still remember it well, because I was sitting at the sewing machine in the early hours of the morning sewing shirts while my father and mother slept in the next room and my siblings slept in the children's room. When I looked out of the window, I even saw the pilot of a fighter plane. However, there was no air alarm as usual, as this was probably wisely avoided for almost two hours, during which American aeroplanes thundered past at low altitude.
